

AG CONVENTION CALLED SUCCESS BY COLLEGE DEAN

Over 1,200 Farmers Attend Activities During Past Week.

VARIED PROGRAM HELD Crop Regulation, Parasites, Cattle Breeding Were of Special Interest.

That the Organized Agriculture week, which was adjourned at the close of the last general session Thursday morning, was a great success was the opinion expressed by Dean Burr of the Agricultural college when he stated that over 1,200 farmers attended the convention, accomplishing much in the several special interest groups and general meetings.

Several Nebraska professors took active part in the program, with some being elected to positions of importance in the organization. Prof. H. C. Filley, head of the department of rural economics, was elected secretary of the Nebraska hall of agricultural achievement, and P. H. Stewart, extension agronomist at the college of agriculture, was re-elected president of the Nebraska Crop Growers association.

Those making addresses were: Prof. M. A. Alexander of the animal husbandry department; Prof. R. R. Thalman, in charge of the cattle feeding experiments at the college; P. H. Stewart, state extension agent in agronomy; Ivan D. Wood, state extension agent in agricultural engineering; A. W. Medlar, professor of rural economics; M. H. Swenk, professor of entomology; and Miss Bess Steele, of the home economics department.

Prominent Men Speak. Such important subjects as the control of plant parasites, regulation of crops and cattle breeding were discussed in the special interest groups. In the general meetings there were addresses by prominent men such as Chester C. Davis and Dr. A. G. Black, federal AAA chiefs.

To provide diversity to the program several social events took place, among them the Master Farmer dinner, held Tuesday, and the Farmer's Family Fun Frolic held in the activities building, at campus, Wednesday night.

Organizations sponsoring Organized Agriculture week include: Nebraska State Crop Growers association, Nebraska State Honey Producers, Livestock Breeders and Feeders association, Farm Equipment association, Nebraska Farm Bureau federation, Poultry association, State Horticulture society, Hall of Agricultural Achievement association, and the Nebraska Home Economics association.

PEACE CLUB DISCUSSES LITERARY DIGEST POLL

Members Talk on Questions of Nationalism and Patriotism.

MEET HELD WEDNESDAY

Questions on war and peace distributed to students in the Literary Digest peace poll were discussed by members of the Nebraska Peace club at a meeting in the Temple Wednesday evening.

The general discussion on the measures in the poll was led by Grant McClelland with special reports on the individual questions by Jeanne Palmer, Gayle Caley and Lucile Berger.

The poll is being conducted on the campus by the Daily Nebraskan and is the first vote on questions of nationalism and patriotism taken at the university. The five general questions on attitudes toward war are:

- 1. Do you believe that the United States could stay out of another great war? (a) If the borders of the United States were invaded, would you bear arms in defense of your country? (b) Would you bear arms for the United States in the invasion of the borders of another country? 2. Do you believe that a national

NOVEL LIGHTING TO FEATURE AG PARTY

Pester Plays for Event Sponsored by ASAE Friday Night.

A novel lighting system will feature the party to be held Friday night in the Student Activities building on the Ag campus under the sponsorship of the student branch of American Society of Agricultural Engineers. Mel Pester and his ten piece orchestra will play.

The chaperons will be Professor and Mrs. E. E. Brackett, Professor and Mrs. L. K. Crowl and Professor and Mrs. L. A. Bingham. It will be one of the best parties on the Ag campus this season, according to Wayne Thurman, chairman of the arrangements committee, and he urges all the students to support the event by attending.

Harriet Cruise Kemmer, CBS Artist, On Month's Theater Tour, Returns To Lincoln for Week's Appearance

Once the toast of the Nebraska campus—now acclaimed by a nation, Harriet Cruise Kemmer, Columbia Broadcasting System artist, returned this week-end for a visit to the home town and an appearance on a local stage.

Rushing about the lounge in a downtown broadcasting studio, greeting friends and former fellow-artists, Mrs. Kemmer seemed to increase the tempo of activity in the room with her vivacious personality. Wearing a smart black dress trimmed with a narrow white collar, she smiled when asked what year she bid good-bye to Nebraska. "My days at Nebraska didn't end with graduation, because my work kept me in close touch with the campus," she confided to a reporter. "For several years I was busy with rush parties, downtown parties, and university functions, in addition to my programs at KFAB."

After leaving Lincoln in 1932, Mrs. Kemmer was featured on the Pennzoil program at the Columbia studios in Chicago, and later sang for the Marlboro cigarette hour. Last summer, she toured the East with the musical comedy "Spices of 1934," and is now a studio artist at WBBM in Chicago. A four weeks stage tour contract meant a chance to visit Lincoln, so she signed.

"This won't be my first appearance on the Orpheum stage," Mrs. Kemmer said assuringly, "for that occasion was an all-university night show which occurred while I was still in school. It's the memory I'll never forget."

A. L. LUGN TO SPEAK TO LUTHERAN CLUB

Geology Professor Talks On Geography of Palestine.

"The Geography of the Holy Land" will be the topic discussed by A. L. Lugn, associate professor of geology at the regular meeting of the Lutheran club at 8 o'clock Friday night in room 205 of the Temple building. Melinda Anderson has been appointed program director, and will be assisted by Marvin Trautwein, social activities chairman, and Irene Apfelbeck, chairman of the refreshments committee. All Lutheran students are invited to attend.

X-RAY SUBJECT TALK BY DR. SPENCER AT PHYSICS CLUB MEET

Professor to Demonstrate Magic Eye of Science Friday Night.

Speaking on the penetration ray or magic eye of science and medicine, the X-ray, Dr. R. C. Spencer, assistant professor of physics, will give an address and demonstration before the Physics club on Friday evening, Jan. 11, in Brace laboratory. Doctor Spencer will open his talk by a review of the historical background of the X-ray which is largely a summary of the work of Roentgen, after which he will explain the nature and application of the ray as it pertains to scientific investigation as well as to industry.

Doctor Spencer's demonstrations will deal with the experiments that led to the discovery of the mysterious X beam and several applications of the department's apparatus to research work. Following these demonstrations the X-ray installations of the university will be surveyed by the group. With the different outfits in operation Mr. Spencer will explain their theoretical principle.

He stated that the department's equipment is designed for research work rather than for practical application, and therefore his talk will only touch on the high voltage phase of the X-ray which includes its medical use. Mr. Heater, club president, stated the meeting will be open as usual to all who are interested in the subject of the evening. Because Heater is on the sick list, Mr. Rust, co-sponsor of the club with F. L. Roth, will introduce the speaker and preside at the informal discussion of X-rays following the speaker's talk. The meeting is scheduled at 7 p. m.

ART WORKS OF MISS LUX RECEIVE HONORS

Oil Painting of Graduate Will Be Exhibited in Joslyn Memorial.

Miss Gladys Lux, graduate student of the university, has received recent honors thru several works of art. The selection of her oil painting, "Blanket of Maple," one of this year's "fifteen" exhibitions to be displayed in the Joslyn Memorial was her latest work.

The picture to be displayed in the memorial is one of a typical back-yard scene, showing the blanket of snow on the trees, the road beneath, and the inevitable red barn. It was exhibited for a year at the Kansas City Art Institute, from where it is being moved.

A writup in a Paris art review recently released complimented Miss Lux on her work as an artist. The French paper, La Revue Moderne Illustrée des Arts de la Vie, praised Miss Lux for her recent accomplishments in the field of painting. Miss Lux works with oils and water colors.

Methodist Students to Hold Party January 11

An all Methodist party will be held Friday evening, Jan. 11, at 8 o'clock at St. Paul's church. Ruth Hornbuckle and Viola Rolofson have charge of arrangements. All students are invited to attend.

FOUR WIN PLACES ON DEBATE SQUAD IN JAN. 10 TRIALS

Judges Select Pester, Landis, Steadman, Stover from Field of 6 Men.

TEAM AT FULL STRENGTH

Varsity Goes to Denver for Rocky Mountain Meet Febr. 5 to 7.

Four men chosen in the third, and possibly last, debate tryout Thursday evening, Jan. 10, bring varsity debate squad up to full strength. Eugene Pester, John C. Landis, Charles W. Steadman, and John Stover, won places from a field of six men, two who were signed up failing to appear because of illness.

Speaking on the proposition, resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent international shipment of arms and munitions, the contestants were allowed eight minutes, dividing their time between construction and rebuttal.

The immediate reward of the winners will be a trip to Denver, Feb. 5 to 7, to compete in the Rocky Mountain region tournament, and in addition other contestants are being scheduled for next semester. The judges, Lloyd E. Chapman, assistant city attorney; Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, department of botany; Floyd E. Leavitt, investment service, rendered their decision on the basis of the speakers' ability and material presented.

Professor White, debate coach, said he believed this topic would meet the general interest, and expressed himself as being pleased with the way in which the debaters handled it.

MATHEWS SPEAKS ON CRIMINAL DETECTION AT MEDICAL MEETING

Wisconsin Professor to Talk At Gathering of Society Friday in Temple.

"Use of Scientific Methods in the Identification of the Criminal" will be the topic discussed by Dr. J. Howard Mathews of the University of Wisconsin at a meeting of the American Medical Society at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in the Temple theater. Director of the course of chemistry at the Wisconsin University, Dr. Mathews is one of the few scientists in the United States to take up the study of crime as an avocation.

Using lantern slides, Dr. Mathews will show how certain murder mysteries and his own work is unique in the number of ways in which he has applied scientific methods which have hitherto not been used in crime detection," Dr. Pagel related.

Since his work has attracted considerable attention, he has been featured in many metropolitan newspapers and magazines. It was pointed out, Dr. Mathews has given many lectures relative to his experiences and studies in crime detection to many police schools throughout Wisconsin, and his accomplishments have been endorsed by police authorities in that state.

"His talk will reveal many true detective stories which will be found to be more interesting than the fanciful tales of story writers, and in addition, furnish a real scientific method," Dr. Pagel related.

The address by Dr. Mathews will feature the 16th gathering of the Nebraska section of the chemistry society, and the meeting will be open to the public with no admission being charged, Dr. Pagel stated.

University Health Service Cares for 1,276 in December

Despite the large number of students who returned home for the holidays, the University Student Health Service cared for 1,276 patients during the month of December, according to figures compiled in the Health Bureau's monthly report, released Wednesday.

This number included 485 treatments for men and 339 for women. Swimming examinations totaled 88, and examinations for intramusculars, 73.

The report, also shows that 270 children in the Nursery school were given inspections and twelve employees, including FERA and student FERA workers, were examined. In addition, fourteen x-ray pictures were taken, and fourteen house calls were made by university doctors. The student dispensary filed 189 prescriptions, and the student infirmary completed twenty-four hospital days.

Dr. Walker to Address Women's Club at York

Dr. E. R. Walker, associate professor of botany, will address the Women's club at York, Nebr., Monday, Jan. 14, 1935. Miss Walker's topic will be "A Botanist's Impression of the Hawaiian Islands."

BARB ORGANIZATIONS PLAN SECOND PARTY Interclub Council, A.W.S. League Sponsor Dance Jan. 18 in Armory.

Dancing in the armory to the tune of a five or six piece orchestra will be the diversion at the second all-barb party Friday night, Jan. 18. The party, which is the second of a series, is in charge of the Barb A. W. S. League, with Evelyn Diamond at the head, and the Interclub Council, under the leadership of Bill Newcomer. Chaperons for the evening will include Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Corey, Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Gaba, and Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Brenke. Those in charge of the party were allowed the use of the armory thru the courtesy of the social dancing class, which gave up both the time and the place. Admission charges will be 10 and 15 cents, it has been announced. A committee helping Bill Newcomer includes John Stover, Bob Harrison, and Adolph Cinfel. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

Y. W. ANNOUNCES CANDIDATES FOR OFFICES SUNDAY

List of Nominees for Election January 16 Chosen By Committee.

The committee on nominations for the Y. W. C. A. elections scheduled to be held Wednesday, Jan. 16, completed the list of nominees Thursday, according to a statement made by Elaine Fontein, chairman of the committee.

The candidates will be announced Sunday. Two girls have been named for each of the following four positions which are open: president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

All Y. W. C. A. members may participate in the election, and all are urged to do so, particularly those who have been active in the work during the past year, according to Miss Bernice Miller, secretary of the organization. The standards which the committee used in selecting the nominees consisted of the following 9 points: Sincere friendliness with every type of girl, purpose, intelligence, leadership, energy, fearlessness, varied interests, religious appreciation, and knowledge of the Y. W. C. A. and the student Christian movement.

The election will be held at Ellen Smith hall on the city campus and the Home Ec building on the Ag campus. The Ag chairman will be elected by the Ag students also on Jan. 16.

"The process of joining the Y. W. C. A. has two phases, the signing of the purpose card and the payment of membership fees," stated Miss Miller. "Both must be completed before a name can be put on the membership files. These must be completed by Tuesday, Jan. 15 at 11 a. m. A list of members must be typed off, so early attention to this will be appreciated by the Y. W. C. A. office."

GIBSON TO SPEAK AT FORUM, Y. W. VESPERS

Students, Faculty Invited To Hear St. Louis Pastor.

LECTURES SLATED JAN. 15

Rev. George M. Gibson, religious leader and lecturer, will speak before several university gatherings during his visit here as speaker at the Nebraska Minister's convocation. His first appearance will be at the World Forum luncheon Tuesday noon, Jan. 15, at the Grand hotel, where he will speak on "A Churchman Looks at Education." At 5 o'clock Tuesday he will speak before the weekly vespers meeting at Ellen Smith on the subject "A Handful of Stars."

The Council of Religious Welfare, sponsors of the luncheon, and the Y. W. C. A., sponsors of the vespers service, extend invitations to students and faculty members to hear this speaker, pastor of the Webster Groves Congregational church of St. Louis, Mo. The luncheon Tuesday noon is priced at twenty-five cents a plate, and reservations may be made thru Dr. Chas. Patterson, professor of philosophy.

According to promoters of the minister's convocation, Rev. Gibson is "a frequent speaker at student groups, labor gatherings and churches, as an interpreter of religion as a social force in world problems."

BEAUX ARTS BALL IS TOPIC OF TRUSTEES

The annual Beaux Arts Ball will be the topic under discussion at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, to be held Friday morning, according to Miss Mabel Langdon. Definite plans for this, one of the most gala of local performances, will be formulated then, she stated. This is the eighth annual Beaux Arts Ball, and will open the forty-fifth annual exhibition of Nebraska Art.

SCARLET INTENT ON TRIPPING CYCLONES

Husker Basketball Squad Concentrates Full Power, Time, Energy on Big Six Campaign Which Opens In Coliseum Saturday Against Iowa.

WIDMAN REPLACES M'DONALD AT CENTER POST

Whitaker, Baker, Parsons, Wahlquist Other Starters, Sorenson Available for Duty; Invaders Have Six Victories, One Conference Win.

University of Nebraska basketball team turns its full power, time and energy towards hitting the mark in another Big Six campaign from now on, beginning operations with Iowa State in the coliseum Saturday night. Faced with the apparently insurmountable task of overcoming the invading Staters, Coach O'Browne put the final touches on his Scarlet and Cream quintet on Thursday before leading his men into the stormy basketball waters of the conference.

One change will be made in the lineup as announced early in the week, Harvey Widman of Mead replacing the ineligible Lester McDonald at center. Widman will be supplemented in the center's duties by Harry Sorenson of Hardy. Ordinarily playing guard, at which post he scintillated as a sophomore last year, Widman was moved to center early in the year, but may be used in either position.

With the lone exception of center, however, the team will remain as given, Henry Whitaker, St. Joseph, Missouri, and Howard Baker, Grand Island soph, starting at forwards, and Bud Parsons, Lincoln, and George Wahlquist, Hastings, at the guards. Parsons, the only senior member of the hoop squad, will captain the Huskers in their initial conference performance.

The Iowa State team will arrive in Lincoln Saturday morning and will probably work out in the coliseum sometime Saturday morning. They will travel from Ames to Omaha, where they will spend Friday night, and will return to Omaha immediately after the game. With six non-conference and one conference victory already in their hunting bag, the Cyclones are given more than an even chance to come off on the long end of the score Saturday night. Sport critics and scribes have picked the Iowans as co-favorites with Kansas for the valley title, and it is not a difficult task for them to get the nod in their tussle with Nebraska.

Ranking the two teams by competitive scores against common opponents, the Cyclones are given a distinct edge. The only foe both have met on the maps is Iowa university, and where Nebraska ended second best by a 31 to 24 count in an overtime period, the Iowa State college of agriculture and mechanics triumphed 44 to 33. But unless basketball is a greatly different sport than football, where competitive scores aren't worth a tinker's darn, the rankings against the Hawkeyes can be thrown in the waste basket before written down.

WOMEN'S GROUPS TO GIVE 'THE ENCHANTED APRIL' ON JAN. 22, 23

Proceeds from Production of English Comedy Go To Y. W., A. A. U. W.

CAST HOLDS REHEARSAL

Songs, girls, music, and uproarious comedy are offered to those who attend the Coll-Agri-Fun show, Friday, Jan. 18, which promises to be one of the best ever presented, according to Catherine Agnew, chairman of production committee. Eight skits and four curtain acts have been chosen for the annual event, and the show, as now scheduled, will give everyone at least two and one-half hours of entertainment.

The skits and curtain acts which have been chosen by the Coll-Agri-Fun committee, are to be presented by prominent organizations on the campus. A few of the skits that have been chosen include a medicine show by the Farm operators; a takeoff on the recent World's fair, entitled "A Century of Progress"; a chorus, "Opening to Songland," and many others. In the curtain acts are readings, vocalizations, and stunts. The first rehearsal of the entire show was held Thursday afternoon.

BETAS, ALPHA O'S TO SING AT MAPLE TILT

Billie Quick's Band Will Provide Music During Iowa State Game.

Working in conjunction with the Tassels in an effort to put spirit and entertainment into the period between halves of the basketball games, the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Beta Theta Pi fraternity will present a short program of songs in the rest period of the Nebraska-Iowa State game Saturday night.

Each group will have approximately five minutes in which to render its selections, after which both will collaborate with the spectators in singing Nebraska songs. Billie Quick and his Nebraska band will furnish music before the game and will also play between the halves.
