HUSKERS NEW BIG SIX SWIM CHAMPS

Glyndon Lynde Paces Scarlet Natators to First League Championship of Season in Shattering Three Conference Records for New Marks.

NEBRASKANS LEAVE POOL WITH FIVE FIRSTS

Minormen Chalk Up 54 Points, Cyclones Cop Second With Total of 32, Kansas State Gets 11, Kansas U. 10, and Oklahoma Comes Away With 8.

Paced by Glyndon Lynde, lengthy Scarlet free style torpedo, Nebraska's Husker mermen hauled in five first places and shattered the conference clocking in all but one of them to grab first place in the annual Big Six swimming championships Saturday aft-ernoon and shove Iowa State, Big Six champs last year, out in the cold of a second place finish.

Writing four of the six new rec ords established in the fray after the name "Nebraska," Coach Jack Minor's splashers stole the show from the rest of the field, chalk ing up 54 points against the side of the ledger which gave the men from Ames 32, Kansas State 11, Kansas university 10, and Oklahoma 8

Slashing thru the water of the coliseum tank in a blaze speed which threw up a fountain of waves, Lynde lowered the record in the 50-yard free style classic to 2-10 of a second below the 24.8 second time established by Bernie Masterson of Nebraska. A few minutes later he beat Jim Pixley. Husker longer distance ace, and Jack Davis, Oklahoma's one man team, to the tape in 2 minutes 26.5 seconds. Davis held the former record at 2 minutes and 27.5 seconds.

there are thirty-four who will finish next year. First year students study forge, woodwork, farm building, animal pathology, meteorology, animal husbandry, agron-omy, farm calculation, and English. In the second year they study co-operative marketing, poultry husbandry, public speaking, dairy husbandry, farm motors, farm machinery, farm accounts, farm management, horticulture, and en omology

Sports Program.

Special physical education programs have been prepared for the short course students. They have a basketball team that competes in at least twelve games each year, and a wrestling team that competes in several matches. They also take part in swimming, boxing, and volleyball tournaments. Among other varied activities during their stay on the University campus the young men participate in parties, picnics, banquets, and convocations. They enter livestock and grain judging contests, and showmanship exhibitions. For three consecutive years the Farm Op chorus has presented the prizewinning skit at the annual Coll-Agri-Fun, an agricultural college
