

ANNUAL BASKETBALL DINNER ON TUESDAY

The Nebraska basketball team was entertained Tuesday night at the annual spring basketball dinner in the Grand hotel, with twenty-six attending. Coach Browne led a discussion on new rules, outlined plans for spring practice and next year, and presented letter winners of the past season with sweaters. Other speakers were Kenneth Lunney, Morris Fisher, Bud Parsons, and George Sauer, eGeorge Wahlquist, Henry Whitaker, Harry Sorensen, and Harvey Widman, four members of the squad who will be seniors next year, were also on the speaking program.

SPRING PRACTICE FOR BASKETBALL STARTS TUESDAY

Browne Inaugurates Series Of Lessons in Cage Sport.

Nebraska's third season of spring basketball sped into action Tuesday afternoon as some twenty cage enthusiasts pulled the curtain once more on the tactics of the court.

Ushering varsity and freshman candidates for next fall's Husker quintet thru the first practice session of the spring campaign, Coach Harold W. Browne, overlord of the Nebraska maples sport, inaugurated a series of twelve basketball lessons. The series, which will stress fundamentals and team play alike, will feature a different aspect of the game with every new assignment, as well as review the essentials of previous lessons.

The pre-competition operations which started Tuesday afternoon will continue thru the first week of May, during which time four scrimmages will be staged. The first contest, altho not definitely scheduled, will be waged sometime next week.

Veterans of last year's competition and freshman candidates will fight for places on the Scarlet aggregation on equal terms. Coach Browne stated Tuesday. Every man in suit has an equal chance, depending on his ability, and will be forced to stage a heated battle for starting recognition.

Experienced candidates returning are George Wahlquist, Harvey Widman, Henry Whitaker, Harry Sorensen, Leland Hale, Harold Baker and Merrill Morris. Freshman candidates include Floyd Ebaugh, Dan Lefrel, Lyman Morgan, Curtis Nelson, Bob Parsons, Paul Amen, Richard Bradley, Elmer Dohrmann, George Scott, Clifford Scott, Calvin Carstens, Jock Campbell, Noble Ayers and Erle Datt.

Morris Fisher will furnish Coach Browne the only assistance in the tutoring department, George Sauer being occupied with track duties.

The Big Six conference schedule will be completed late in May, and the non-conference tilts added later, but the Husker road journey for next Christmas is now definitely assured. Starting Christmas day, the Scarlet basketweavers will travel to the coast and return to Lincoln before the holidays close. The trip will include games with Stanford, University of California, Southern California, Brigham Young and the universities of Wyoming, Utah, Denver, and possibly Nevada.

FUNK STARS FOR NEBRASKA IN K.U. CINDER CARNIVAL

Huskers Show Improvement In Individual Placings at Kansas Relays.

Paced by Glenn Funk, Central City middle distance ace who finished second in the Big Six conference cross country run last fall, Coach Henry F. Schulte's Husker cinder delegation to the Kansas Relays Saturday came home with a decided improvement over their last year's showing at the Laurence festival.

Placing in only one of the relay events, the Scarlet scantlyclads took a firmer hold on the individual opportunities of the Kansas carnival to nab a second, three thirds, and a tie for another.

Glenn Funk left the Laurence battlefield with the highest Nebraska ranking, finishing second to San Romani of Emporia Teachers in the 1500 meter run. Funk hauled down a 4:03.3 clocking, finishing behind the Emporia runner after leading for a few yards midway in the race. Hardy of Missouri, who whipped Funk two years straight in the indoor mile competition, finished a poor fourth.

Bob Warncke, Milford got his first taste of major outdoor competition by spanning 22 feet 10 inches in the broad jump for third place. Lloyd Cardwell, Seward athlete was forced out of the running by an inch, finishing in a five-way tie for third place in the pole vault, clearing the bar at 12 feet 6 inches. Owen Rist got the iron ball out 47 feet 1-2 inches to land the third place in the shot put, and Fred Chambers fell to third in the javelin throw.

The medley relay combination of Funk, Rail, Beaver, and Roberts copped a poor fourth in the lone Husker placing in the relay events.

26 GREEK GROUPS VIE FOR HONORS IN TRACK FRAGAS APRIL 24, 25

Each Fraternity May Enter Eighteen Men, Says Petz.

Cornhusker fraternity spike slingers will vie for the supremacy of their respective houses Wednesday and Thursday afternoon on the Memorial stadium oval, when twenty-six Greek letter organizations clash in the annual interfraternity track meet. According to Harold Petz, director of intramural activities, each fraternity will be limited to an entry of eighteen men, altho each man may enter all of the eight events if he desires. Two track and two field events will be staged each day. Wednesday's program furnishing the 100 yard and 440 yard dashes, discus, and broad jump, and Thursday's competition featuring the 220-yard dash, 110 yard low hurdles, high jump, and shot put.

Girls' Intramural Teams Must Register by May 3.

Teams for the two preliminary meets in intramural swimming must be submitted at the W. A. A. office by Friday, April 26, according to Miss Shelby, W. A. A. sponsor. Each participant must complete at least five practices by Friday, May 3.

The winners of the preliminaries will participate in a final meet to be held approximately the second week of May. It is important that practices are begun at once during the free swimming hours at the pool, which are: Monday, Wednesday, Friday—4-5 p. m.; Monday—7:30-8:30 p. m.; Saturday—1:30-3:30 p. m.

Several regulations are necessary for the competitions:

1. Each participant must have a health permit.
2. Each participant must have at least five practices. These are to be reported at the swim to Beth Phillips, who is at the pool during free hours. Members of swimming classes may count the class periods towards their practices.
3. No one participant shall be allowed to enter more than three events, only two of which may be for speed.
4. No one team may enter more than two individuals in one event. Following are the scheduled events:
 1. 100-yard free style relay (four individuals).
 2. 25-yard free style.
 3. 25-yard racing back stroke.
 4. Novelty relay (four individuals).
 5. Side stroke for form.
 6. Breast stroke for form.
 7. Plunge for distance (30 second time limit).
 8. Diving.
