

COUNCIL PASSES NEW ELIGIBILITY ELECTION RULES

Candidates Required to Be Carrying 14 Hours in Good Standing.

DISCUSS CLOSED NIGHTS

Group Provides Method for Filling Vacancies During Year.

Special eligibility rules for Student Council elections, to apply to next week's balloting, were passed at a meeting of the council held Wednesday afternoon in University hall. New requirements raise the number of hours in good standing a candidate must be carrying to fourteen, but provide that delinquencies received in preceding semester will not affect eligibility. Provision to fill vacancies occurring in the Council during the year were made, the new member to be chosen according to the same class, college, sex, and in the case of men, political faction, by vote of members. The bill was passed as an amendment to the constitution, repealing article 6. Discussion of closed nights for next year's calendar was held, actual allocation of dates being postponed until the next meeting. Seven major parties have petitioned for closed nights. Suggestion was made from the floor to determine the order of the three major parties—Military Ball, Prom, and Interfraternity Ball—by lot, since they have all petitioned for the same date, and rotate the first date among them in years following. The proposal was referred to a subcommittee. The report of the eligibility committee, which was accepted with amendments, includes the following requirements for candidates for Student Council seats: 1. Must meet university re-

Spring flowers will be used thruout the rooms. Guests will be received at the door by Ruth Haggman, Jean Palmer, Elizabeth Shearer, and Leon Hoag. Louise Hossack and Ann Bunting, both past presidents, and Polly Gellatly and Julien Dietkin, sponsors, will pour. Elsie Buxman, chairman in charge of arrangements, is being assisted by June Wagner, Ruth Nelson and Virginia Pitchford. Immediately following the tea, active members will hold a meeting at which they will choose pledges to fill the vacancies left by this year's graduates.

REPRESENTATIVE TO INTERVIEW SENIORS

Dr. Valentine Addresses Students About Bond Firm Positions.

Dr. R. W. Valentine of New York City will be at the university next Wednesday to interview graduating seniors in regard to positions with a well known bond firm, according to Theodore Bullock, associate professor of economics and business law. Dr. Valentine formerly taught corporation finance at the University of Illinois and has been on this campus to interview seniors several times before. "He has," according to Professor Bullock, "chosen several of our seniors for positions in his firm." Bob Thiel, who was business manager of the Cornhusker last year, is still working in the Chicago office of the firm, and according to a letter from Dr. Valentine, is making good progress. Any senior interested may have an opportunity of meeting with the representative. Professor Bullock stated that there are a good many calls for seniors with sales ability and experience, many of which he cannot fill because he does not have a list of qualified persons.

INDICATIONS THAT OLD AGE PENSION LEGISLATION IN THE STATE LEGISLATURE IS VERY CLOSE

Two bills dealing with the pension are in conflict. Gov. Cochran would like it to be financed by the extra cent gasoline tax. Another plan to impose a sales tax for the needed revenue is known as the O'Brien plan. One of the two will have to give way to the other. It is thought the committee may indicate its preference.

BRADLEY NAMED NEW HEAD OF PEP CLUB WEDNESDAY

Roy Kennedy Elected Vice President; Newcomer Secretary.

HUTTON NEW TREASURER

Marvin Reveals Surplus in Cobs Treasury Over Last Year.

Ted Bradley, sophomore in the arts and science college from Beatrice, was elected president of Corn Cobs, campus pep organization, for the following year at an election of officers at its meeting Wednesday evening in U hall. Other officers are Roy Kennedy, Newman Grove, vice president; William Newcomer, York, secretary, and Robert Hutton, Lincoln, treasurer. In his farewell remarks, the past head, Irving Hill, praised the club for their work in the past year in proving themselves an energetic and worthwhile organization. He asked that the members get behind the newly elected officers and they will keep the group in the eyes of the campus as an active society. President Bradley as he took over the chair, said that if the cooperation that was shown last year be continued by the members, the Corn Cobs will have another successful year. Reporting a surplus in the treasury over the beginning of the year, the outgoing treasurer, James Marvin, declared that the organization was in better financial condition than in the past year.

HOLD MEETING FRIDAY

Shurtleff Urges Students To Sign Petitions For Project.

Plans for the proposed second hand bookstore will be presented to the Student Council committee at a meeting of the group in the council rooms Friday afternoon. No definite action has been taken on the number of changes and suggestions to be made, but the ideas submitted will be more complete than those previously suggested. "The committee will appreciate all the cooperation the student body can give us," stated Don Shurtleff. "We are planning a system of personal contacts to be made in the near future and petitions will be posted on bulletin boards in Social Sciences, Andrews Hall, Ellen Smith, Mechanical Arts building and Administration hall on the Ag campus. Students who have not signed the petitions, are urged to do so at these places. A representative of the committee will be there to explain the proposed idea." It is hoped that the most objectionable feature of the plan, disposal of out of date text books, will be eliminated by a system of exchange with book stores and (Continued on Page 2.)

W. A. A. COUNCIL TO RETAIN CONCESSION RIGHTS NEXT YEAR

Jean Palmer New Manager; First Council Meeting Thursday Noon.

Final arrangements have been made which allow the W. A. A. council to be in charge of concession during the coming season of football and basketball games, it was revealed Wednesday by Elizabeth Bushee, president of the organization. Jean Palmer, sophomore in the college of arts and science, has been named concession manager, she announced. Miss Bushee also stated that the new council would meet for the first time Thursday noon in the W. A. A. lounge at which time plans for the annual picnic of the group will be discussed. Both new and old council members, the sports board, and intramural representatives are invited to the picnic which will be the first event ever held at the new W. A. A. cabin. The cabin is to be finished this week and has been built with profits obtained from concessions in past years. Beth Taylor, chairman of the cabin committee, described the new structure at a log sidings building with a large living room, fireplace, kitchen and sleeping room with accommodations for sixteen people. It was built as a convenience for all women in the university and will be officially opened in the fall. Its location is three miles northeast of Bethany and Cotner boulevard.

FORMER HUSKERS HOLD GOOD JOBS, FINDS BIZAD DEAN

LeRossignol Meets Many Alumni on Trip to New York.

That one group of former students and graduates of the university are doing well in their respective vocations and have excellent opportunities for promotion is reported by J. E. LeRossignol, dean of the College of Business Administration who recently returned from New York where he attended a meeting of the American Collegiate Schools of Business. Stopping at Schenectady, N. Y., on his way to New York City at the invitation of M. L. Frederick, personnel director of the General Electric company, and who was in Lincoln recently interviewing students for his firm, Dean LeRossignol met several former university students who are at the present time connected with General Electric. According to Dean LeRossignol, graduate of the Bizad and Engineering colleges make up a majority of those taken on by General Electric, and in the past have hired many from the university. Among the graduates in Schenectady are George W. Hyatt, '30, Guy S. Hyatt, '23, M. Lloyd Loomis, '34, Charles M. Skade, '33, Rudolph B. Erney, '30, Don S. Robb, '28, and Dan A. Nettleton, '23, Nettleton, according to the Bizad an, has just returned from a trip around the world in the interests of the General Electric company. Other Nebraska men who are with the General Electric company at other offices include Gerald L. Philippe, '32, and Henry A. Strathman, '30. The General Electric company starts most of its new employees from the university in the accounting department, and in time they are promoted to the selling department, and are often sent to branch offices of the company.

UNION COMMITTEE CALLS MASS MEET

Chairman Fischer Asks Committee of 100 to Assemble Thursday Evening to Rouse Enthusiasm Among Students for Project.

WILSON DISCUSSES PLANS FOR BUILDING

Architect Suggests Present Site of Ellen Smith Hall as Best Location for Edifice; Structure Would House Campus Activities Offices.

Scheduling a mass meeting of the "committee of 100" on the student union building project for Thursday evening in Social Science auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, the executive committee directing the drive heard plans and specifications for the proposed structure discussed by Architect Arthur Wilson at its special meeting Wednesday afternoon. Jack Fischer, chairman of the executive group, has called the general meeting to stir up more interest among the students to get behind the project. "Co-operation is needed," he stated, "to obtain more petition signers, and it is only thru a 100 percent signified student support for the union center that the board of regents and the PWA board will ever consider the granting of funds." Gives Burnett's Ideas. Presenting the ideas of Chancellor E. A. Burnett to the committee, Wilson pointed out that the most popular location for the union building would be on the present site of Ellen Smith hall. The corner would be convenient for the fraternities and sororities, as well as being in the center of the downtown campus. The prominent Lincoln architect stated that property costs would almost prohibit the corner east of the present location of the women's activities as a site for the union. In outlining the plans of the three story building, Wilson said that the second floor of the building would be situated slightly above the street level and would be the main floor. A large ballroom is planned for this floor to take care of the majority of campus (Continued on Page 2.)

ANNUAL FEDERAL EXAMINATION OF CADETS FINISHED

Inspection Completed With Regimental Parade at 3 O'clock Today.

The annual federal inspection of the Nebraska regiment of the reserve officers' training corps got well under way Wednesday and was ready for the final ceremony to be completed Thursday. Major John H. Van Vleet is in charge of the training inspection while Col. R. H. McMasters will inspect the administrative facilities. The opening feature on Wednesday's schedule was the inspection of the senior cadet officers from 9 to 11 a. m., which was immediately followed by an inspection of facilities for practical instruction and for offices and classrooms. Junior officers were inspected from 1 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon and were followed by a classroom inspection of first year basic students. The inspection of second year basic students from 4:00 to 5:00 terminated the events of the first day of government inspection. Thursday morning will be spent in more classroom inspection of freshmen, sophomores and juniors. The main feature of the whole procedure is scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock, when the entire regiment will assemble for the regimental parade.
