

CAMPUSOCIETY

"HAVE YOU WRITTEN TO YOUR mother?" The song, heard over the radio for the last week is pretty old, but the sentiment is still there. In fact the sentiment is so strong on the Nebraska campus that fraternities and sororities are all planning Mother's day celebrations in the way of teas, dinners and luncheons for today. The social chairmen, usually perturbed over hour dances and exchange dinners, are finding their hands full and their heads spinning with decorations, favors and menus to please older people, and mothers, and even fathers from over the state will be in Lincoln as the guests of sons and daughters. This Sunday is probably the one day of the year that is given over exclusively to the parents, and university people are really taking advantage, with what we would call a right fine spirit.
