

ANNUAL FINE ART EXHIBITION OPENS AT BALL TONIGHT

Public Invited to Student Affair First Time in History.

MUSICAL SKIPPERS PLAY

Tableaux, Murals Made by Composition Class Decorate Hall.

Opening the annual exhibition of student art work, the Fine Arts ball will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in Morrill hall under the direction of the art club. Musicians will furnish the music for the annual affair which is open to the public for the first time in its existence.

The evening's entertainment will consist of dancing, a musical program and silhouettes for everyone present, which will be cut out of black paper, according to Miss Nellie Ferris, president of the art club.

Tableaux showing famous persons in action and quarter length murals will be used to decorate the hall. The murals have been made by members of the composition class and will be auctioned off at the ball.

Dagmar and Daphne Payne will present a comedy skit and a soft-shoe tap as the first number on the program. Theda Chapoton and Eleanor Farrell will present another tap number and Art Elliot (Continued on Page 4.)

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DANCING CLASSES TO GIVE RECITAL TODAY

Interpretive, Tap, Folk Dances on Closed Program.

Dancing classes of the physical education department, under the direction of Miss Claudia Moore, will present dances which they have been working on during the year Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The program is not open to the public, but only to members of the staff and the dancing classes.

The recital is given annually by the interpretive dancing classes and this year the tap and folk dancing classes will be included.

There has been no special preparation for the program because the dances presented are those which are a part of the regular class work. The program will include "Topsy," "Sambo," "University High," and routines done to "Stay As Sweet As You Are" and "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" by the tap dancing group. Two English Morris dances "Bean Setting" (a stick dance), "Blue Eyed Stranger" (a handkerchief dance), and a country dance, "Black Nag," will be presented by the folk dancing class.

The advanced interpretive dancing class will do "Dynamic Canon," unaccompanied. The two intermediate classes will present a Spanish dance by Bizet and "Revival Road" to the music of Henry Harry Waring "Go in to Heaven on a Mule." The beginning class will dance a "Courante" written by Handel. The recital takes the place of the last period of class work and is the method used to sum up the various dances that the department has been working on this year.

SCHOONER SALES SET NEW RECORD FOR OPENING DAY

26 Contributions Found In May Issue of Magazine.

Maintaining the editorial policy of popularizing the Prairie Schooner by the inclusion of material of a more general interest that was started by the staff in the winter issue, the spring edition of the magazine went on sale Thursday morning on the campus stands. The May number of the university literary medium will be mailed to subscribers off the campus Friday morning.

H. P. Behlen, Schooner business manager, announced that the campus sales were unusually large, setting a new record for first day sales. The reduced price of 25 cents per copy is still in vogue despite the increase in the size of the publication. The sales campaign which is being conducted by Gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising sorority, will be continued Friday, Behlen stated.

The Schooner's spring edition is one of the largest ever to be issued according to Prof. L. C. Wimberly, editor of the publication. Among the magazine's twenty-six contributions are ten poems, seven short stories, and a number of articles with a wide range of interest according to the editorial staff. This is the largest number of authors ever to appear in a single issue of the Schooner.

Signatures of 2500 Students Show Support Pledged by Campus.

Petitions bearing the signatures of 2,500 students and signifying their support of the proposed second hand book exchange will be presented at the 11 o'clock meeting of the Board of Regents Saturday, Virginia Selleck, chairman of the bookstore committee, announced Thursday.

The petitions will be accompanied by tentative plans for management of the project formulated by the committee after considering plans in operation at other schools at the present time. In striving to include the best features of other plans, the group provided for an exchange to be run in much the same way as the Regent's bookstore is now operated and suggests eventual consolidation with it.

Dick Fischer, Irving Hill, Virginia Selleck and Bonnie Spangard, members of the executive group, will appear before the board and explain the plan to them.

NEW 'N' BOOK STAFF ANNOUNCES CHANGES IN 1935 PUBLICATION

College Traditions, Jargon, Functions Explained to Freshmen.

Directed by Beth Taylor and Jim Marvin, staffs of workers from the Y. W. and Y. M. are winding up the work on the "N" Book, the freshman's catalogue of university information. Beth Taylor, editor, has announced several important changes and improvements in next year's book.

As usual the book will contain certain information concerning the campus, the major activities, the faculty, and a catalog of school events. Miss Taylor stated that the plan of having the pictures of the presidents of the campus organizations as well as writings about the organizations would be enlarged this year. It is hoped, she said, to give each organization a page.

Along with the page of college traditions, which is meant to give the freshmen an idea of just what important functions to expect, will be a new page acquainting the new students with college jargon and campus customs. One of the main attractions of the book in the school year calendar which contains the dates of university affairs and announces closed nights.

Jim Marvin is handling the business side of the booklet. The staff working under Miss Taylor on the project consist: Vera Schneider, Georganna Lehr, Eleanor Clizbe, Esther Stein, Muriel Krasne, Katherine Cahill, Alice Soukup and Regina Hunkins.

'Ladies of the Jury' Draws Full House in Third Revival

By Meredith Overpeck.

If one ever wondered what went on behind the closed doors of a jury room, their questions might be solved, could they but see Fred Ballard's "Ladies of the Jury," the latest University Players' production. The play was given Wednesday evening at the Veteran's Hospital and opened at the Temple Thursday evening. The performance this evening will be the last one.

For a third revival, this comedy drew a capacity house. It is a truly funny play, and the delightfully absurd proceedings which go on in this mythical courtroom would draw an audience anywhere. It is one of the best plays the Players have given here this season. Mr. Ballard might have written the part for Miss H. Alice Howell, for the role is really hers. As a society woman "Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane," she shows that perhaps a society figure can be of some good to humanity after all. The character she created was noble, as she wayed the other jury members to vote her way, thus changing the verdict of the case.

Bob Reade, a former Player, officiated as Jayn S. Pressley, the jury foreman, with ease, and contributed more than his share to the situation. The two sweet young things, "Miss Cynthia Tate" and "Alonzo," the poet, were romantically and youthfully interpreted by Pauline Gellatly and Dwight Perkins. Many Mixer, the little ex-chorus girl who strummed the ukelele and "fell" for "Tony Theodophilus," the Italian, was Mae Posey, with Pete Sumption as the foreigner. Hart Jenks changed his dialogue from Shakespeare to Scotch, and in this play appeared as the Scotchman, "Andrew Mac Gaig."

Melvin Fielder as a real estate man in love with "Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane," made a grand entrance with shaving lather all over his face, as "Spencer B. Dazey." His one big worry was that he wouldn't get shaved before the jury went back to the courtroom. Veronica Villnave as "Evelyn Snow," Molly Carpenter as "Lily Pratt" and Lorraine Brown as "Mrs. Dace" were the other three women on the jury. Armand Hunter did his usual finished piece of work as "Steve Brown," a jurymen with a wife, two children and a gasoline station waiting for him at home.

ARCHITECT PRESENTS UNION BUILDING PLANS FOR APPROVAL TODAY

Standings of Petition Teams Will Be Announced at Friday Meeting.

Members of the student union executive committee will meet at 4 o'clock in the Student Council room in University hall Friday afternoon to make final plans for the union building.

Mr. Walter Wilson of Wilson and Davis, architects who are drawing up the plans for the proposed building, will present the final draft for the three story structure at that time. It was revealed Thursday by Virginia Selleck, a member of the committee.

Plans for the building will be submitted to the PWA authorities along with a petition for funds to finance its construction. It is hoped that sketches of plans for the ground floor and the third floor can appear in the Daily Nebraskan within the next few days, Miss Selleck stated. Plans for the main floor were printed a week ago.

New standings of the fourteen teams formed at the start of the union drive to secure petition signers will be announced by Corrine Clafin at the Friday meeting. In the last check up on petition signers Miss Clafin's team was in the lead with 305 signatures to its credit. The group headed by Don Shurtleff was second with 148.

Other teams in their order were Jack Fischer, 144; Bonnie Spangard, 94; Burton Marvin, 93; Lorraine Hitchcock, 73; Dwight Perkins, 72; Dick Fischer, 57; Violet Cross, 51; Lee Young, 43; Virginia Selleck, 27; and Irving Hill, 11.

Members of the committee announced that a definite setup as to the allotments of the funds had not yet been announced in Washington and that no further steps can be made until that is done.
