Emanuel Wishnow Features Spring Music Concert Monday.

Large audiences were present at the spring concert of the St. Paul choir, under the direction of William G. Temple, when they presented two groups of five selections each at St. Paul church Monday evening. Emanuel Wishnow, violinist, in his four selections, displayed an unusual ability and skill.

Paul W. LeBar, organist, accompanied Mr. Wishnow. The choir presented as its first selection, "Pater Noster," by N. Kedroff, followed by "Evening Hymn," by H. Balfour Gardiner, "Ye Sons and Daughters of the King," by Volckmar-Leisinger, "Nunc Dimittis and Gloria," arranged by Asschenbrenner, and "By Babylons Wave," by Gould.

For his group of selections, Mr. Wishnow chose "Nigun," by Bloch, "La fille aux cheveux de lin," by Debussy, "Romance" by Wieniawski, and "Danse Espagnole from 'La Vida Breve'" by De Falla-Kreisler.

UNION RECEIVES ADDED FEDERAL FUNDS IMPETUS

PWA Announces 15 Per Cent Increase in Project Funds.

STUDENT COST REDUCED

Petition Campaign Extended To Reflect Greater Campus View.

With the announcement of a 15 per cent increase in the amount of money advanced by the government under the new PWA plan the advantages of obtaining a student union building as a result of the current drive have been materially increased according to those in charge of the campaign. With the new arrangement 55 percent of the necessary amount is loaned instead of the former 70 percent.

Since the students will have but 45 percent of the cost of the building to pay back the student assessment will be considerably reduced, according to Jack Fischer, chairman of the drive. With this added impetus to the campaign another canvass of the campus for signatures on the petition is going to be conducted in order to acquire enough signers to reflect a greater majority of student opinion in favor of the union.

Thirty students have designated their willingness to help with a personal contact drive to get more signers. According to those directing the circulation of the petitions a majority of the affiliated students have affixed their names to the petitions and the barb element is yet to be reached.

"Although the unaffiliated students are the ones who will be benefited most by the centralizing force of the union, they are the ones who have been slow in answering the call for signers," Jack Fischer stated. "With the new (Continued on Page 2.)"

Little Gods Galley

Jean Brownlee, W. A. A. President.

By Regina Hunkins. It was all because her parents sent her to a camp when she was eight years old that Jean Brownlee became interested in sports and decided that she wanted to spend her life directing camps. Since that time she has been to camp almost every summer, and has spent her winters in school, especially in the physical education department.

During the past year Jean Brownlee served as president of the W. A. A. Council. In her junior year she was president of the swimming club and junior attendant to the May Queen. Among her other activities she lists Orchestras, Tasseles, and the Physical Education Honorary.

"I think that students should enter the activities in which they are interested or those which are related to the professions they intend to take up," Miss Brownlee stated.

Miss Brownlee's activities have been those which are connected with sports, for anything along the line of athletics interests her. She likes to swim, and to ride, and to dance especially. And then, when she's tired, she likes to read. She enjoys poetry, with the writings of Don Blanding and Rupert Brooke rating first. When the Delta Gamma's had their picnic the girls presented her with a volume of Rupert Brooke's poems, in appreciation for her work during her year as president.

One of the highest honors which Benson high school, in Omaha, has to offer its graduating women is the title of "Best-All-Around-Girl," which went to Miss Brownlee when she was graduated. She was also vice president of her senior class, a member of the student council, and a member of National Honor Society.

During her junior year in high school Jean went to Florida to school. "That was lots of fun," she says. Lindenwood, a women's college in St. Charles, Missouri, was the scene of her first year of college life.

The experience, she says, was in-

An Appeal to Intelligence.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL'S union building proposal was laid before the Board of Regents Saturday, only to have action postponed until June while an attempt is made to secure more signers of the union petitions. While some half the student body has signed the petitions, the board apparently feels that a sizeable majority should signify its endorsement of the idea before further action is taken.

Consequently the drive is being pushed forward through the examination period by a few hard-working and persevering students.

The Nebraskan has too often pointed to the advantages of the union plan to again go into detail here. But the stupidity of arguments against it, the inability of many who oppose it to appreciate what it would accomplish, and the utter lack of foresight and patriotism to the school and its interests demand one final effort in behalf of a cause whose whole tenor is advancement of the University of Nebraska and its student body.

Today large masses of unaffiliated students who certainly comprise the majority body of the university, complain that they have no chance to participate in school activities, no chance to strike up acquaintances and friendships with other students, no opportunity to become an integral part of that real student body which symbolizes the spirit of the university and carries on its traditions.

Yet these self-same students for whom the union building would do the most are its most stubborn opponents. Such an attitude is difficult to understand.

L. A. White Explains Workings Of State Relief Organization

By Lloyd Friedman.

Hoping to raise the economically stranded American farmer to a self-sustaining plane consistent with American standards of living, L. A. White, state director of the Rural Rehabilitation program, explained the inside workings of the Nebraska relief organization in an interview recently following his talk before Prof. T. T. Bullock's university class in real estate.

Leisurely resting behind the smoke screen of his pipe, this director of the fortunes of many a cornbelt farmer told how the university is cooperating in helping to make their program a success. The rehabilitation division has received advice and assistance from the extension service, the college of agriculture, and the university in all phases of the work. These services include passing upon feasibility of family rehabilitation plans, surveying and testing soil, and planning the arrangement of buildings for farmstead projects.

Program Very Young. "Inaugurated in March, 1934, the program is really too young to make any predictions as to its success or failure," stated White. "But during this period the work has been in the process of development along definite lines of procedure and has now reached the point where definite accomplish-

ACTION ON QUOTA PLAN DELAYED BY WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Panhellenic Board Refers Sorority Membership to Committee.

Referring the proposal for a sorority quota system to a committee, the Panhellenic council Monday delayed action on the suggestion that the sororities limit their membership. Dorothy Caters, president of the group called a special meeting of the council for Wednesday at 5 o'clock at which time the committee will make a report and the body definitely decide whether or not to establish a quota system.

The committee which will investigate quota plans is composed of Kathleen Long, Dorothy Caters, Virginia Selleck, and Emma Bauer. The matter was referred to a committee after a heated discussion which ended with a vote indicating the majority favored consideration of a quota system.

The plan as suggested at a panhellenic meeting the first of the month, proposed to either limit the total number of women living in a sorority house or to limit the number of pledges. The purpose of the plan is to equalize sororities so that smaller organizations will be able to avoid financial difficulties. Proponents of the plan feel that by limiting the membership of sororities, smaller groups will be able to build up their membership thus putting organizations on a more equal basis.

At the last meeting of the year Wednesday, Phi Chi Theta, honorary business women's sorority, will make Prof. C. R. Martin, head of the Business Organization department, an honorary member and initiate four girls at a ceremony to be held in Ellen Smith hall, at 4:45.

Doris Hiatt, Caroline Davis, Aileen Marshall and Virginia DeTar are the girls to be made active members.

A dinner honoring the new initiates and Professor Martin will be held at the Shrine club at 6:30. Special guests will be Mrs. O. R. Martin, and Dean and Mrs. LeRossignol.
