New Facts.

SOME flowery aspersions are cast at the Interfraternity Council by B. H. in this morning's Student Pulse column.

Evidently the ruling of the council is void on everything, says B. H. because they let this one rule pass, or, as he really means because each of the twelve fraternities who were taken for a ride by a local paper was not soaked a full fine of $50 for a minor and unintentional violation of rushing rules.

To any thinking person, it is not surprising that the twelve chapters revealed their new numbers after being inveigled into thinking that the official list had been released.

Opinion of the interfraternity council was asked at its first meeting of the year concerning the best course of action. Not one voice was raised in objection to the nominal fines proposed by the judiciary committee at that time.

Still, B. H. insists, four or five large fraternities are running not only the judiciary committee but the council. Now the judiciary committee according to the constitution is composed of the council officers and faculty advisors.

Perhaps B. H. would also be interested to know that council committee appointments and other work are carried on by a committee of committees, composed equally of members of each political faction.

As a matter of fact, the so-called small fraternities have played a greater part in council activities in the past year and a half than at any time in its history.

The Interfraternity Council no doubt welcomes constructive criticism for which there is some basis, for the council knows its organization is far from perfect.

But those who have faults to find should first ascertain the facts instead of basing their ranting and raving on some unfounded prejudice.

STUDENT PULSE

Brief, concise contributions pertinent to matters of student life and the university are welcomed by this department, under the usual restrictions of sound newspaper practice, which excludes all libelous matter and personal attacks.

Who's Show Is It?

You are absolutely right. School spirit is lacking. School spirit should be lacking as long as the athletic department of the university caters more to the citizens and less to the students.

The afore-mentioned athletic department created a terrible mixup in their system of handling student activity tickets this season. After all, university football games should be primarily held for university students.

But when many students are shoved out of their rightful place to seats on the goal line, while at the same time outsiders are sitting directly behind the cheering section, how can you ask the students to show a better spirit?

For ten years I have been a loyal Nebraska fan, missing only two games in all that time. And now, since after all it is the students who make the show possible, I and many more fellow students feel that we rightfully deserve more than goal line seats.

Just Nothing More or Less

The Interfraternity Council is nothing more or less than a group of four or five men representing the larger fraternities.

The Judiciary Committee is composed of men from the larger houses. What chance do the smaller houses have? The original rule by the council was that each fraternity pay fifty dollars to the council if the names of rushees were released without the approval of the council.

I for one will never again pay any attention to the rulings of the Interfraternity Council, because of this one slipup. The Interfraternity Council is nothing more or less than a bunch of pussy footers.

BURNETT, BRACKETT TALK AT COUNTY FAIR

University Players, Gym Team Will Entertain Thursday, Friday.

Chancellor Burnett and E. Brackett of the ag college spoke before an estimated opening crowd of 5,000 at the annual Pawnee County fair Wednesday.

Performing Thursday and Friday evenings, the Players will present two one act plays. On Thursday the first of these will be "The Boor," with Era Lowm.

Friday night the audience will see "What Price America?" and "The Great Dark." The cast of the first play includes Howard, Austin, Paul Bogen, Smith Davis.

MURMURS (Continued from Page 1.) These: The first concerns the member of the economics faculty who succeeded in totaling 27 "ah's" in a single minute by the clock.

THE proverbial weather has been unpropitious for the past month. The newspapers have predicted the end of the rainy season in Africa "in about two weeks" for something like a month.
