COUNCIL TO SET DATE OF COMING FALL ELECTIONS

Student Body Will Decide on Time to Vote on Class Officers.

FILL ATHLETIC POSITION

Senior in Governing Group to Be Named to Board of Control.

Setting dates for fall elections, choosing a member of the athletic board, and making final arrangements for chaperons to Kansas State will comprise the business of the student council when it meets at 5 o'clock today in University hall.

Nebraska's Sweetheart, honorary colonel, and junior and senior class presidents are to be elected this year and the council will decide whether or not all four elections will be held on the same day.

The student governing body will elect a member to the athletic board from the senior members on the council. The board is made up of one representative from the council, one athlete, and several faculty members.

The council must select two chaperons to accompany Husker fans to the Kansas State game.

Reports will be heard from the bookstore committee, junior class committee, and the committee investigating early publishing of pledge lists.

Howard Dobson and John Stover will fill vacancies on the council.

Murmurs By Ray Mur

THE biggest thing that happened yesterday: A student pulse contributor whose initials are S. M. C. pointed out in no uncertain terms that he for one still held the back-numbered opinion that the University of Nebraska and the university athletic associations were both parts of the university.

From reading the papers we see that Iowa State has an exquisitely beautiful union building that everyone on the campus uses lots and lots. The point was, if you did not get it, that "flat, pious Lincoln" has no concentrated caking center for 25 percent of the students to use and 100 percent to pay for.

BUT there is another side to the above barb view of the question doesn't consider. If the union performed no other function except housing the book store, students would save enough on used books to pay the nominal assessment for the union. Other schools are going to have new buildings on their campus as the result of the federal loans.

The inevitable war thought! An Englishman said. The sun never sets on graves of English soldiers killed by English bullets. During the last war munition plants were known to remain unharmed on battlefields that were otherwise thoroughly played with cannon holes and planted with the hate seeds of salesman.

ONCE upon a time not so long ago, the inmates of this institution staged a riot in the interest of the long since dead spirit of pep. Classes walked out pretty generally and those that didn't won the disfavor of those who did. Well, as the story goes, some rioters then stormed U hall to break the classes of the then tyrannical head of the French department. This feminine potentate locked her classes with her pupils on the inside. A rioter trying to unlock the door by draping his chassis thru the transom was buffeted soundly on the head and shoulders by the perpetrator of French. Anyway, the rioters succeeded and climaxed their coup by turning a fire hose into U hall to drown the cockroaches. Students, a new crop of cockroaches is flourishing in U hall.

SPEAKING of the Gopher plague that is coming to make war on the corn crops of this fair state on Saturday our family barber said this among other things: I predict that Jerry LaNoue will be remembered in football annals when Cardwell is just another insurance dead man.

MILITARY HONORARY REVEALS LIST OF 55 NEW MEMBERSHIPS

Salyards Gets Only Perfect Grade in Pershing Rifle Tryout.

Fifty-five basic drill students were elected to membership in Pershing Rifles, honorary basic organization, at a meeting of the group held at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Nebraska hall. The men were selected on the basis of grades received in tryouts which were held last Tuesday afternoon at which one hundred and six men took the tests.

"We do not want the men who failed to make the grade this time feel that they do not have another chance," John Brain, captain of the Rifles, stated. "According to present plans, we will hold another tryout sometime before the Christmas vacation, and if any man still has the desire to become a member of Pershing Rifles, he should attempt to increase his knowledge of military training as much as he can in the next month or two and he will then be given another opportunity to prove his ability."

The only perfect grade given by the army officers who conducted the tryouts was received by John Salyards, Wayne Abbot and James Baer had grades of 99. Besides these three, those chosen in the honorary's new pledge class were: Harlan Milder, Robert Dunn.

Bible Tells Team Must Get Scoring Punch Before Facing Gophers.

Minnesota and Nebraska are the lures of Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon. If you're looking for a super-thrilling football battle that for dynamic spectacle and pulse-quickening entertainment surpasses almost anything in the world of sports, it's doubtful if you'll find another gridiron exhibition like it in America.

You'll have to hurry, however, if you plan on being able to say to your grandchildren, "I was there." There isn't an empty seat in all Memorial stadium, except for the bleachers. There are 5,000 seats available in the stands at such end the Husker fortress will be "full up," lock, stock, and triggerguard. The only other possible place for additional seats is on the track in front of the box seats, and John Selleck doesn't intend to use it. The parade seats have been utilized only once in Cornhusker football history, in the Nov. 2 game with Notre Dame, when 37,100 fans squeezed through the gates to see the Scarlet subdue the Notre Dame eleven 17-0 in the last engagement between the two schools.

Look for Big Crowd.

John Selleck, athletic business manager, isn't counting on equaling that record this Saturday, but he's pretty confident that the $2 admission price won't prevent the bleachers from being filled and establishing the second largest crowd in the Nebraska gridiron studio. Although the seats across the track won't be constructed because they obstructed the view from the box seats, the bleachers will bring the crowd beyond the former 35,000 mark which witnessed the Husker.

BARBS HOLD PART IN CELEBRATION OF GAME

Kentucky Colonels to Play For Dance; 500 Expected To Attend.

Five hundred are expected to attend the varsity party to be held in the coliseum Saturday night in celebration of the Minnesota game, according to James Marvin, barbs council chairman. Music will be furnished by Don Shelton and his Kentucky Colonels.

"This is to be our big party of the year," stated Bill Newcomer, council orchestra chairman. "The band is undoubtedly the best we have brought to the campus this year."

The Kentucky Colonels, led by their guitar-playing maestro, Don Shelton, is new to this region, a short engagement at Lake Okiboji, Iowa, being the closest they have come to Lincoln. The band has played steady engagements at Minneapolis, Chicago, Buffalo, and other cities in the east. Comedy song numbers by Louis Wilkins feature the orchestra's entertainment.

No preparation of any kind will be added to the coliseum floor, the council announces. "The glaze has been worn off, and we are going to leave the floor just as it is," stated Marvin. "Any-one wishing to test the floor may do so any time this week."

Lackey Attend School Masters' Club Meeting

Dr. E. E. Lackey, associate professor of geography, and Supt. F. E. Sorenson of Syracuse, a graduate student in geography, attended a meeting of the School Masters' club at Norfolk last Saturday. Professor Lackey was informed of his election to membership in the club, an organization composed of the leading educators of the state.

Others attending the meeting included R. L. von Treba, of the federal soil and erosion service; J. F. Raif, chief engineer of the CCC erosion service; H. E. Engstrom, chief engineer for the state and soil conservation service; Dean W. W. Burr, Dean O. J. Ferguson, Director Brokaw, Professors Eveneger, Mickey and Brackett, all of the university; J. H. Stoekely, of the U. S. forestry service; and A. T. Lobdell, representing State Engineer Tilley. This was the first of a series of such meetings.

All Reserved Seats Sold for Next Game

A complete sellout of reserved seats in Memorial Stadium for the Minnesota-Nebraska game next Saturday afternoon was announced Tuesday by John K. Selleck, manager of student activities. Workmen are now busy erecting additional bleachers at the north end of the stadium. The stadium itself has a seating capacity of 29,430, and the combined bleachers will hold 5,555. If both the stadium and bleachers are filled to capacity, as is expected, it will mean that a record crowd of 34,985 or thereabouts will have jammed the ramps to witness one of the top-notch games of the season.

Ducats for bleacher seats are now selling at the student activities office for $2.00 each. Knothole tickets will not be honored at the Gopher-Husker fray, but for the benefit of those who hold knothole tickets, the university will operate a gridgraph at the coliseum.

CAMPAIGN FOR BLUE PRINT SUBSCRIPTIONS BEGINS ON THURSDAY

Unprecedented Sales Drive To Include Students in Engineering.

A sales drive, heretofore unprecedented in the history of the Nebraska Blue Print, will be opened Thursday morning as a student to student campaign in every department of the engineering college will get under way, according to Pete Jensen, circulation manager. With the hope of increasing their subscription list over that of previous years, and of arousing an interest among freshmen and sophomores in the engineering publication, each student enrolled in the college is to be contacted within the next few days, announced Jensen.

Each monthly issue of the Blue Print will contain a detailed feature on some engineering project or activity, written by some graduate of the college. A column by Dean Ferguson, short engineering articles, alumni news, departmental and society news, and a humor section, written by Franklin Meier, constitute the rest of the publication.

"Go-Fur the Gophers" is the campus battle cry as Nebraska's team and students alike prepare for the invasion of Minnesota's mighty Viking horde Saturday.

Encyclopedia Says Gophers Devour Corn Husks; Pest to Agriculturists

The following remarks on the Cornhusker foe of next Saturday were excerpted from the Encyclopedia Americana in the hope of being of assistance to Coach Bible. "The gopher is a burrowing American rodent that honey-combs the earth. This geomorphic species has stout rat-like form, powerful fore legs adapted for digging, and large cheek pouches opening outside the mouth. They do extensive damage by undermining the ground and disturbing or devouring roots and plants (including corn husks)."

"This troublesome little animal that is one-third tail is sometimes called the pocket gopher or pouched rat. All gophers are a pest to agriculturists. (Oh, oh, sounds bad.) Efforts are therefore made to exterminate them in various ways, of which the most effective is by suffocating them with bisulphide of carbon, placed in their holes by saturating some porous object and rolling it into the burrow. Several pamphlets issued by the Department of Agriculture describe the creatures and their habits and give directions for their suppression."

35 GREEK GROUPS ENTER SKITS FOR KLUB PRODUCTION

Kosmet President Schwenk Asks Directors to Meet Monday.

CALL FOR CURTAIN ACTS

Winning Fraternity, Sorority Each Will Receive Award.

Thirty-five skits were filed at Kosmet Klub offices before the deadline Tuesday afternoon to enter preliminary competition for production in the 1935 Fall Revue. According to Klub president Clayton Schwenk, the number of registrants far exceeds the entries of any previous year.

A meeting of all skit directors has been called by Schwenk, to be held in the Klub offices in University hall Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The name of the skit and an explanation of its type must be presented by the skit director at this meeting to prevent duplication in production ideas. "About ten groups have already planned their acts around an 'Amateur Night' theme," Schwenk disclosed.

Two separate awards will be made to the winning fraternity and sorority, since separate entries must be made for each group. A larger number of curtain acts, which will not be entered in general competition, is requested by the Klub.

Manuscripts of each act will be checked Oct. 22, and preliminary judgments will be held from Oct. 28-31. Final selections of skits to be included in the Revue will be made from Nov. 4-7. The Stuart theater has been rented for the morning of Nov. 22, when the show will be presented.

Orchestrations for individual acts will be made by Eddie Jungbluth, whose orchestra will play for the show. Appointments to discuss routines with him will be made for skit directors by the Klub, and rehearsals will be planned at the convenience of the entrant.
