

CAMPUSOCIETY

THE PLEDGES ARE COMING TA DA
Ta Da! Word has reached us from fairly dependable sources that freshmen of three of the campuses' larger fraternities, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Tau Omega, departed from the folds Monday night to have a bit of fun without upperclassmen surveillance. Leaving a trail of cracker crumbs behind them, the would-be Kappa Sigs left silently, to return late the next morning a bit worse for the wear. The A. T. O.'s, with more destructive ideas, tore the ignition from the upperclassmen's cars and played tit-tat-toe on the white walls, while the S. A. E.'s, a little less original, annexed the house silverware. All in all, we would call it a fine evening's work. More power to the freshmen—they'll be needing it right soon now.

AND THEN there's the tale of the freshman who went into the Moon to buy an Awgwan. "I didn't know what he wanted," the waiter said, "so I mixed him up some sort of a drink and he drank it." Puzzle, just what did the freshman have in mind? Could it have been the college humor magazine?

WHEN Henry Whittaker bet Mickey Moss that Iowa would win in last week's football game, he must have been rather sure of himself, because the terms of the little wager entailed the wearing of a Kappa pledge pin, and the carrying of a raw egg to school one day a week. Henry lost when Nebraska won, and now we're wondering where that egg is—and incidentally the pledge pin.

THE PHI Sig's received cigars last Monday night, when Paul Chiles of Cook announced his engagement to Ruth Lutz of Papillion. The wedding took place last night at Westminster Presbyterian church, and after a dinner at the Lincoln hotel, the couple left for New York. Mrs. Chiles was formerly connected with the university extension department.

ALICE Beekman, graduate of the university and a member of Delta Gamma, will be married Sunday afternoon in Blair to Harlow Bruer, a student in the dental college and a member of Delta Upsilon. The couple will live in Lincoln.

AFTER we go for the Gophers... the campus festivity list will be headed by the all university party at the coliseum.

TUESDAY the Delta Sigma Lambda auxiliary met for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the chapter house. After the luncheon a business meeting was held. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. R. I. Case, Mrs. Cornelius Grant, Mrs. Daniel Ruden and Mrs. D. R. C. Miller.

ALUMNAE of Gamma Phi Beta met Tuesday evening at the chapter house. Forty members of the group were present and officers were elected for the coming year. Those chosen were Dorothy Clements, president; Mrs. Emmett Gillaspie, vice president; Miss Winifred Harding, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Perry, recording secretary and Mrs. W. G. Temple, corresponding secretary.

TWENTY-FIVE members are expected to attend the Sigma Phi Epsilon auxiliary meeting at the chapter house tomorrow. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock and a business meeting will be held during the afternoon. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. R. I. Case, Mrs. Cornelius Grant, Mrs. Daniel Ruden and Mrs. D. R. C. Miller.

STEINBAUS ELECTED HEAD OF NEW ESTES COOPERATIVE CLUB

Organization Holds Its First Meeting Tuesday at Temple.

Members of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. who are interested in attending the conference at Estes park next summer met Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Temple to form the Estes Co-operative association. Officers elected to head the new organization are: John Steinbaus, president; Lorene Adelsack, secretary-treasurer, and Rowena Swenson, temporary membership chairman.

The co-operative was organized for the purpose of financially assisting students who wish to go to Estes. "We believe it will be easier for the students to pay a little at a time instead of paying the entire amount next spring," Rowena Swenson, temporary treasurer, said in explaining the new enterprise.

Ten dollars pay for one share in the co-operative, but the payment of one dollar entitles the payee to active membership. Each member is expected to pay one dollar each month toward purchasing his share in the enterprise. If, at the end of the year, a member should decide not to go to Estes the money he puts into the project will be refunded.

The meeting Tuesday night was called by Ward Bauder, innovator of the co-operative idea. Mr. Bauder explained that the new organization would sponsor several money-making projects during the year, the proceeds of which would go toward the expenses of the members at the Estes conference. The cost of attending the conference averages about 30 dollars per person.

FUNDAMENTAL DRILL TO OCCUPY CYCLONE PRACTICE THIS WEEK

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 8.—Back to fundamentals was the order in the Cyclone camp today as Coach George Veenker began to repair weakness uncovered in the Nebraska game and to point toward the Upper Iowa clash and conference encounters.

Monday, like Sunday, was a day of rest for the Iowa State team. Brief limbering up exercises constituted yesterday's drill.

Coming through the Cornhusker game without a single injury, however, the Cyclone mentor expressed his satisfaction with the Cyclone performance against the Cornhuskers by keeping his first string intact and continuing to stress the same plan of attack he has been practicing all season.

Declaring the team a long way from what might be called its "peak," Veenker outlined a week of heavy drills for the squad. Some new plays will make their appearance this week before the Cyclones meet Upper Iowa but the bulk of the next 2 weeks' work will be done after the Upper Iowa game and preceding the Oklahoma clash on Oct. 19.

Following two games for each member of the Big Six and on the basis of the showing made against Nebraska last Saturday, Veenker seemed optimistic concerning the Cyclone chances during the remainder of the season. The Kansas State-Fort Hayes upset
