AROUND AND ABOUT With Sarah Louise Meyer

TRUE STORIES are often the funniest. This one concerns a flighty female who could not choose one of three charming fellows...

We promise this will be the last time that Shakespeare will be defamed by adaptations. But, like Oscar Wilde's mouthpiece, we can resist everything but temptation.

Georgie Pipal: "To sleep! Perchance to dream! Ay, there's the rub!"

Polly Gellately: "The spurns that patient merit of the unworthy takes."

Not Arnie Levin: "Thus conscience does make cowards of us all."

Clayt Schwenk: "There's something in his soul o'er which his melancholy sits on brood."

Sancha Kilbourne: "Why should the poor be flattered?"

Bonnie Bishop: "Give me that man that is not passion's slave."

George Walquist: "What should a man do but be merry?"

The Vigilantes: "For some must watch while some must sleep."

To Whom It May Concern: "Tis as easy as lying."

E. A. B.: "Words without thoughts never to heaven go..."

The Y. W. C. A. can't see any value in poetry as a spur in their finance drive. We would feel hurt, but it is the fate of genius to go unappreciated.

YY UR, YY UB, I CUR, YY 4 Me.

We stand for universal franchise, but we must concede a few necessary qualifications. As pertaining to elections and such, our political science textbook says: "The road to the ballot-box should lead through the school-house."

There is actually one girl student at Lindsay College, Lindsay, Ont., Can., whose ambition is to become "a good wife for some man." The others, a survey revealed, would like to become teachers, nurses, stenographers, dieticians, writers or interior decorators. Wouldbe teachers led the list.

BROWNE SEES BRIGHT CAGE SEASON AHEAD; FIVE VARSITY RETURN

Basketball Talent Whipped Into Shape for Games On Schedule.

Coach W. H. Browne, basketball mentor, is viewing the rapidly approaching season thru ultra rose colored glasses. The usual skimmed milk of basketball talent has almost over night been transformed into the cream of the crop.

Browne can't help wearing mourning when he thinks of the graduation of Bud Parsons and the ineptitude of Harry Sorenson, but with Whitaker, Wahlquist, Widman, Hale, and Baker, varsity veterans, along with Leacox, Morris, Belks, and Wampler minor lettermen, the outlook is far from dismal.

Seven sophomores, who made their freshman year a blaze of glory, have evaded their scholastic hazards and will be hard to eliminate when regular positions are assigned. The group includes Bob Parsons, Ebaugh G. Scott, C. Scott, Nelson, Dohrman, and Amen.

Of those playing their initial year at Nebraska Richards, and Bradley of Lincoln; Michealson of Sioux City; Stubbs of Des Moines; Hutchinson of Kansas; Brock of Columbus; Jacobsen of Fremont; Woolery of Hastings; Elliott of West Point; and Kovanda of Elk Creek have the most eminent high school records.

Starting Monday, practices will be held regularly of afternoons from 4 to 5. Freshmen are particularly urged to attend, so that the coaching staff may form a quintet to scrimmage the varsity when workouts get under way in earnest.

ALEXIS TO LECTURE IN JOSLYN MEMORIAL

Language Head Discusses Swedish Literature for Omaha Club.

Dr. Joseph E. Alexis, head of the department of Germanic languages, will speak at Joslyn Memorial in Omaha on Friday, Nov. 29 at 8 p. m. The subject of his lecture will be "Swedish Literature."

This lecture is the second in a series sponsored by the Noonday club of Omaha. Later in the series, George Sandzen, Litt. D., F. A. D., professor of art history and director of the art school of Bethany college, Lindsborg, Kas., will speak on "Swedish Art and its Place in the World's Art." Dr. Sandzen received his doctor of fine arts degree from the University of Nebraska.

FILLEY LECTURES TO FACULTY, STUDENTS

Talks on Grain Prices at Economics Round Table.

"Laws, Agencies and Factors Affecting Grain Prices" were described by Dr. H. C. Filley at the first meeting of the season of the economic faculty-student round table club on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 7:30 o'clock in the faculty men's room in the Temple.

Following the club's organization a year ago, it has featured discussions of current economic subjects. Dr. Earl S. Fullbrook, professor of marketing, is chairman of the executive committee in charge.

An Open Letter To Mortar Board.

nence. That is an announcement as to what activities future membership in the society is to be based upon.

For years it has been freely asserted on the campus by men and women students alike, and apparently with some degree of truth, that no girl, no matter how capable, can make Mortar Board who is not in some way connected with a Y. W. C. A. activity. And it is no secret that an open flareup was narrowly averted on the campus last spring when the retiring society finally opened its doors to two prospective members who had not entered to the activities centered in Ellen Smith hall but had done yeoman work in the fields of publications and student government.

The unjust and narrow-minded stand which was relinquished only at the last minute when pressure was brought to bear upon the society from many sides has too long been characteristic of Mortar Boards. They have set the activities of A. W. S., Y. W. C. A., and Big Sisters, upon a high and mighty pedestal and have disdained to look upon other extra-curricular pursuits which often completely dwarf in importance these hallowed occupations of women activity workers.

The ranks of the Y. W. C. A., Big Sisters, and A. W. S. are overflowing with girls whose only reason for being there is an attempt to make Mortar Board, certainly as flagrant a display of hypocrisy as could be seen. Influential positions such as student council and publications posts which are among the most important that can come to either men or women students have on the other hand been almost, some times totally overlooked, when the time for electing the new Mortar Board class has arrived.

The Nebraska does not advocate diminishing the importance of the various women's organizations which is truly merited by many of them for they do serve valuable ends. But it does advocate that activities which are not strictly women's and which are not centered in Ellen Smith Hall be given the consideration that is rightly theirs when future Mortar Board members are chosen.

The test of the sincerity of any girl who enters extra-curricular activities is the genuine interest she takes in that work. If women do not like the particular activities of Ellen Smith hall but desire to enter other and equally important student work, do just that, and render valuable service to the campus, is it any reason that they should be excluded from the society? The Nebraska believes not.

The Nebraska has not intended this to be a criticism or an indictment of this year's society, which has conducted itself honorably and well during its brief existence, and which is going forward in the right direction. But it believes that as a matter of permanent policy, the question under discussion should be answered. The Daily Nebraskan would like to have it clarified and it feels that the rest of the campus shares its opinions. What is your answer, Mortar Boards?

feat at the polls Oct. 29. Should such an upheaval take place, it would probably be a repetition of the free-for-all before the spring voting two years ago.

With little prospect for independent men candidates, who are usually plentiful in uncertain years, the ticket filings will probably compose the entire choice range for upperclass presidencies. Women's offices, however, will see no dearth of aspirants.

First Filings. For the honor office of Nebraska sweetheart, five or six of the eight widely suggested candidates had completed their filings at the activities office Wednesday night, according to unofficial reports. No senior women, however, have yet filed for honorary colonel, if the coliseum doorman is correct. Campus comment has nominated four, but it seems an old senior tradition prevents them from throwing their hats into the ring until the zero hour.

Open field running will characterize the race for women's offices. Mortar board has already indicated, and will release their official statement anytime now, that no sorority alliances will be tolerated. Under no circumstances will they interfere with men's activities, however, so their declaration will have little dampening effect on traditional vote trading between houses in the two factions and sororities.

MARVIN REVEALS THREE SPONSORS FOR DADS' PARTY

ments announced that a special amplifying system will make the music audible in all parts of the coliseum. The new lighting effects which proved so popular at the last varsity party will also be used, it was announced.

Irving Hill, president of the student council, endorsed the party in his usual impressive manner. "I heartily commend the attendance of the entire student body," he declared. "The sponsorship of the party is in competent hands, and the affair itself is universally productive of real enjoyment."

Listed among the committees which have been working on the arrangements is the chaperon committee, composed of Lenore Teal, chairman, Doris Weaver, and Gretchen Budd. The orchestra committee consists of Bill Newcomer, chairman, and Leroy Hansen. James Marvin is in general charge.
