HOPES RISE WITH RETURN OF BAUER AT QUARTERBACK

'Chief' on Sidelines as Mates Wallop Frosh, 'B' Teams in Drill Wednesday.

VARSITY TAKES DEFENSE

Oklahoma Mentors Dismiss 'Nebraskans Laying Down' Reports.

Had you watched the Cornhusker football team in its regular midweek scrimmage Wednesday evening, you would have been forced to conclude that Head Coach Dana X. Bible is a very deceiving individual.

The Nebraska gridiron dictator usually gives the appearance of smiling, genial, amiability. But yesterday he turned into a stern, unsmiling slave-driver, cracking the whip over his varsity steeds that meant business, pure and simple.

After giving his pupils a two-day vacation Monday and Tuesday, the Scarlet mentor really got down to business Wednesday. Although the first stringers worked on defense during the whole period against Sooner plays, they were kept on the run every minute, with two freshmen elevens, a B team squad, and three or four assistant coaches combining to give them a good time of it.

Frosh Oppose Corn Cobs in Tug-of-War At Oklahoma Game

To determine whether or not the '35ers can discard their scarlet toppers, a selected group of freshmen will pull against the sophomore Corn Cobs in a tug-of-war battle between halves of the Cornhusker-Sooners football game Saturday.

According to Dick Schmidt, president of Innocents, the organization which sponsors the red cap tradition, approximately thirty chosen frosh will oppose the same number of soph.

If the freshmen win the affair, they may discard the toppers; but if the sophomores win, the freshmen must continue wearing the caps until Nov. 10, the day after Homecoming.

Last year no interclass rivalry existed between the freshmen and the sophomores. In previous years Olympics or other methods of class competition were held for the underclassmen.

chess plays off all the ground they gained. The fighting spirit and the general atmosphere of effective vacation at Manhattan, and news, which was evidently absent shrill yelps of "Pour it on!" and "Kill 'em!" were themselves enough to set the frosh back on their heels.

Nebraska hopes soared to higher altitudes with the announcement from Coach Bible that Henry Bauer will be in the starting lineup this Saturday. The regular Husker quarterback was not in varsity suit Wednesday, Johnnie Howell filling his berth, but he's expected to be in shape by game time Saturday.

The remainder of the first squad which withstood the second-hand Sooner attack Wednesday will probably remain intact as the starting lineup. In the backfield were Sam Francis, Jerry LaNoue, and Lloyd Cardwell. Les McDonald and Bernie Scherer were at ends, Harold Holmbeck and Fred Shirey at tackles, Kenneth McGinnis and Johnnie Williams at guards, and Bob Mehring at center. Holmbeck will act as game captain against the Sooners, altho Jimmie Heidt was alternating with him during the session.

HUSKER MENTOR SCHEDULES NINE FOOTBALL TILTS

Minnesota, Indiana, Iowa, Two Big Six Teams Played Here.

EXPECT LARGE CROWDS

Pitt, Kansas State, Missouri, Iowa State Met Away From Home.

Described as the greatest football schedule in Cornhusker football history, the 1937 nine-game grid slate was completed Wednesday by Dana X. Bible, university athletic director and head coach. Three Big Ten teams, Pittsburgh and five teams of the Big Six are included in the lineup.

With Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa of the Big Ten and Oklahoma and Kansas of the Big Six competing with Nebraska in Memorial stadium, an unusually attractive home schedule for 1937 will be offered. Games away are Pittsburgh, Iowa State, Missouri and Kansas State.

Athletic authorities believe such an impressive home schedule will attract still larger football crowds to Memorial stadium. Attendance figures last year and to date this season have been unusually high and merited the signing of three important Big Ten teams, it was pointed out.
