THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

Official Student Newspaper of the University of Nebraska

VOL. XXXV—NO. 48.

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1935

PRICE 5 CENTS

FALL EDITION OF SCHOONER TO GO ON SALE FRIDAY

Nineteen Stories, Articles, Poems Feature Late Issue.

CONTENT COSMOPOLITAN

Instructors, Students Listed Among Contributors to Magazine.

Prairie Schooner, Nebraska's internationally known literary magazine, will make its appearance on the campus and downtown news stands today. According to L. C. Wimberly, professor of English and editor of the publication, the Prairie Schooner will present nineteen stories, articles and poems taken from over 700 manuscripts.

The staff feels that this issue of the magazine will attract much interest from both students and faculty members, because of its cosmopolitan content, as university professors, former students, and authors throughout this country and foreign lands have contributed.

Prof. M. S. Ginsburg is author of an article occupying the front page, "Horace," written in commemoration of the Latin poet's 2,000 anniversary. Two odes from Horace also appear in the magazine. "Roman Winter," translated by Margaret Morrow of St. Mary's high school of Omaha, and "Roman Spring," translated by Ruth Hanson of Deane college.

Other Nebraska contributors are Dr. Harold Stoke, with an article on De Tocqueville Democracy in America, and Dr. Martin S. Peterson who has written about William Allen White, the Kansas author and editor. Miss Mabel Langdon of the Fine Arts school has a poem appearing in the issue named "These Things Are Ancient."

Students who have contributed to the issue are Paul H. Rogers, Loren Eiseley, and Wilbur Gaffney, former Nebraskan, now with the American Book company in New York City.

REV. KOOLEN TELLS OF NEW GUINEA LIFE

Lutheran Fellowship Club To Hear Missionary Friday Night.

Experiences of a missionary in New Guinea will be recounted by Rev. M. Koolen, D. D., of Lincoln, in an address to the Lutheran Fellowship club Friday evening in Temple 203. Rev. Dr. Koolen spent several years in the colony.

LITERARY SOCIETIES HOLD JOINT MEETING

Palladian Group to Honor Delian-Union Society Thursday Night.

Members of the Delian-Union will be the special guests of the Palladian Literary Society at the Arts and Science program Thursday evening. The evening's program will be under the direction of Palladian members of the Arts and Science college with Miss Jeanette Osborn in charge.

A one act play entitled, "The Eve in Evelyn" and enacted by Evelyn Osborn, Harry West, Robert Harrison, Helen Jorgensen and Grant McClellan, will be the feature entertainment of the evening.

Other entertainers on the program include Gladys Swift with a violin solo, Gifford Swenson in a tap dance accompanied by Milton Wittman on the piano, a duet featuring Jim Riisness and Milton Wittman, and a novelty dance by Ada Perca, Gladys Swift and Betty Anderson.

AMERICA ON ROAD TO DICTATORSHIP STATES SIMMONS

Former Congressman Talks To University Group Thursday Noon.

America is traveling the road toward dictatorship in the manner of European nations, is the opinion of Robert G. Simmons, former republican member of Congress from Nebraska, and Republican candidate for United States senator in 1934.

According to Simmons, who spoke on "Are We Losing Our Freedom?" before a group of university students and faculty members Thursday noon at the Grand hotel dictators come about by three steps, which he outlined as follows:

1. An economic crisis existing, and the calling for a popular leader.

2. Leader demanding power to cope with the emergency.

3. Leader maintaining the acquired power.

"The United States has gone thru the first step and is now going thru the end of the second step, and it is now up to the people to determine if the process into dictatorship by the third step will be followed," asserted Simmons.

Tyranny's Effects Unknown.

"Our founders," said the ex-congressman, "knew tyranny, and accordingly planned to protect their liberties so that new generations would not have to meet it. The new generations of America today do not know the effects of tyranny as they knew it."

"There is a belief that free government will continue without citizens paying any attention to it, but we must study government. People must know government when they govern themselves, but they do not know the effects of tyranny as they knew it."

BARB LEAGUE PLANS DECEMBER MEETING

Inter-Club Council, A.W.S. Organization to Sponsor Affair.

Plans for a barb "get-together" meeting to be held in the near future were discussed at a meeting of the barb A. W. S. league staged at Ellen Smith hall yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The tentative date which has been set for the affair, sponsored by the barb league in conjunction with the inter-club council, is Sunday, Dec. 8.

Dorothy Beers, president of the barb group opened the program of the meeting yesterday by giving a short discussion on the question of the manner in which youth may become better organized. The remedy to this problem which she suggested was that students and youth become better informed on important questions.

The remainder of the program for the meeting included musical numbers and a reading. "Aunt Sophonia Tabor at the Opera," was the selection which Dorcas Crawford read for the group. For musical numbers Eleanor Fabst played a semi-classical selection on the piano and Mary Cassel, accompanied by Miss Fabst sang a number entitled, "Sapphic Ode," by Brahms.

8 MEN SELECTED AS MEMBERS OF 4 DEBATE TEAMS

Verbal Battle Carried On In U Hall Thursday Evening.

14 ENTER COMPETITION

Each Participant Allowed Speech 8 Minutes in Length.

Eight men to compose four varsity debate teams were chosen from fourteen competitors after a verbal battle staged in University hall Thursday night.

Those picked to make up the teams are Robert Stiefel, Bob Wadhams, Francis Johnson, Elmer Scheele, Byrle Shuck, Arthur Smith, Leonard Kreuger, and Edwin Getscher.

The subjects discussed at the trials is the one to be used throughout the season: Resolved, that the Agricultural Adjustment Act promises to be of permanent benefit to agriculture. Judges for tryouts were H. W. Biederman of the Nebraska Farmer, Lloyd E. Chapman, and Joseph Ginsburg, attorneys at law.

Prior to the opening of the competition, Prof. H. A. White, varsity debate coach, cautioned the judges to make their decisions upon the thought and the delivery of the debator and not upon his appearance or impression. Each participant was allowed one eight minute speech except the first affirmative who was allowed one five minute opening address and a four minute rebuttal. Professor White also cautioned that these decisions are not final, and that substitutions can be made at any time.

According to Coach White the A. A. is one of the most fruitful topics debated in eight or nine years. Debates have already been scheduled with several Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas schools.

300 GIRLS PRESENT AT A.W.S. ANNUAL BALL ON THURSDAY

Prettiest and Most Unique, Comical Costumes Win Prizes.

Three hundred girls attended the toyland costume party sponsored by the A. W. S. board at the Armory, from 7 to 8:30 p. m. last evening. Prizes were awarded in three divisions for the most comical, most unique and prettiest costumes.

A program consisting of musical numbers and dances preceded the announcement of the prize winning costumes at the party. Numbers included a marimba, phone medley played by Ruth Mary Jennings; a vocal solo by Henrietta York; a piano duet by Nola Aller and Mary Lou Williams; and a toe dance by Jean Swift.

In awarding the prizes in the most unique division, Margaret Jane Pyle, in a beetle costume labeled "Quick Henry the Flit," won first, while girls dressed as three sticks of candy, Harriet Jackson, Mary Lasby, and Kathryn Young, gained honorable mention. Other outstanding costumes in this group were worn by Jean Hatton, Claudine Burt, Virginia Fleetwood, Becky Oldfather, Frances Meier, Marjorie Crabil, Jean Cook, Jean Lettwith, Mary Jane Herdman, Frances Weyer, Betty Clizbee, Donabelle Fletcher and Mary Louise Turpit.

Mary Lou Schwartz, garbed as a pirate was awarded first for the prettiest costume and in this division Jane Dimmery was given honorable mention. Other outstanding costumes for this group were worn by Natalie Rehlander, Jane Swift, Elinor and Bessie Brown, Anne Stone, Margaret Burke and Rose Albert.

Ranking first in the comical division were Barbara Griffin and Frances Boldman, portraying Popeye and Olive Oyl. Margaret Pascoe was awarded honorable mention with a Humpty Dumpty costume. Others selected in this group were: Leona McBride, Kay Risser, Ruth Ferer, Be Sommer, Alice Pihl, Myra Slotzky and Jo Rubnitz.

The next meeting of the group will occur in two weeks when an outside speaker will make an address on the subject. Thru these discussion meetings and addresses by outsiders, a study of several current business and economic problems is being made. The fraternity members finished a study by a similar method of the federal relief structure and its problems in October.

STUDENTS TO RECEIVE PAY CHECKS FROM NYA

NYA checks will be issued to students today from 8 to 5 o'clock. They will be available in the regular places, Boechuit's office in the west stadium on the city campus, and in Dean Burr's office on the ag campus.

FORMAL FROCKS FEATURE GRECIAN DRAPERY MOTIF

The Greeks had a word for it—and so have we. This new Grecian drapery which is the keynote of winter's fashions for evening wear is really different. The drapery is arranged in a variety of ways. Sometimes in front, sometimes in the back, and it is found in the bodice and the skirt, and often in both.

Fabrics are expressing themselves in these arrangements. Rich laces in gold or silver, heavy sheers, chiffons, soft velvets, silk crepes and satins—all take to this matter of shirring, puckering, pleating and soft paneling. As to color, white is indescribably lovely in these gowns. Red is good news too—every shade of red you could ever imagine from the deep du-bonnet to the very lightest and most delicate shades. Rich greens, purples, and blues, and—black and still more black.

This is an important frock: black velvet with the skirt in panels of about six to eight inches in width—swirling very high coming up to a point in the front and gathered on to a tight fitting bodice which has the newest of new—square necklines. It is cut very low in the front and brought up high in the back with a large square-cut rhinestone button. The sleeves are large flowing and graceful, they reach just to the tip of the elbow and may either be caught up with a rhinestone button or let hang, which is the newest. This gown will give you the effect of a Grecian goddess.

Heavy flowered silks are being worn this season, gold and green combinations taking a definite lead over the others. One of these has a deep V neckline in front, ending in a large gold, cross-shaped clip. Gathered at the waist, an en-

Wraps Descend to Ground In Capes of Velvet or Fur

If you wish to be completely glamorous and magnificent, add an evening cape of velvet or fur. No more cute little jackets or wraps of this-and-that around the shoulders. You may have either a cape or a coat, but whichever it is, it must have style and should be full length. Capes are rich in color, with great sweeping skirts and much swing.

They are very practical also, as many of them are reversible with one side completely different and at the same time just as beautiful. You will find that some have enormous sleeves, an important look at the shoulders, and sometimes even large fur collars.

As to the colors in these exceptional new formal coats one can find as always the ever smart black velvet with the white satin lining. Dark shades of red with linings of either bright red or a black, will make you look like a nineteen thirty-six edition of what the well dressed woman will wear.

There are many clever ways of using this year's collars to these coats to the best advantage—if you are wise you will select a collar that may be worn as a cape, a hood or a small rolled collar. This may sound practically impossible to some people but it isn't really—these collars are shirred, and when they hang they come almost to the waistline—so if you want one of the new monk hoods all you have to do is pull it up over your head. The back of this collar is lined in velvet so as to make it heavy enough and also to make it look all right on the underneath side.

And when one gets tired of this type of coat all one has to do is to let the collar down in to a cape once more and start rolling, and when one is finished one will

Others on the program will be "A Comic Bit"—Alpha Gamma Rho; "Court Room Scene"—ACBC; "The Lazy Farmer and the English Duke"—Melvin Beerman.

An orobatic act will be given by Don Whitson, which will be one of the six curtain performances. Others of this nature are: "A Bite of Magic"—Dairy Manufacturing group; clarinet solo—C. J. Propasco; "Sailors Horn Pipe Dance"—Audra Dickson; and a reading "Results of a Cider Party"—Dick Lattery.

Billy Quick and his university band will play before the production and between intermissions. All those who wish to dance, may stay and do so after the program.

Y.W. Secretary to Lead Peace Discussion Nov. 23

Miss Mildred Green, Y. W. C. A. secretary, will lead the last of a series of discussions being conducted on the general theme of "Preparing for Peace," at 6:30 Sunday evening, at the First Baptist church. The social hour is under the direction of Miss Mary Provost and Mr. Charles Adelsack.

Anyone interested in the discussion is invited to attend the informal meeting at 14th and K sts.

Lugn to Address Norfolk Group on Water Supplies

Dr. A. L. Lugn of the department of geology and of the state Geological Survey will speak before a group of farm loan inspectors at Norfolk the evening of Dec. 22.

The subject of his address will be "Well Water Supplies in Northwestern Nebraska."

COUNCIL COMMITTEE TO MEET ON MONDAY

Senior Class Group Plans Organization of 1936 Graduates.

Senior class committee of the student council will hold its first meeting at 5 o'clock, Monday evening, Nov. 25 in the council rooms, according to an announcement by Faith Arnold, who with Lorraine Hitchcock, is in charge of the committee.

Plans for organizing the senior class of 1936 will be formulated at the meeting, the chairman stated. Social functions intended to bring the seniors into a closer knit organization will be considered.

Jim Marvin, president of the class, will serve on the committee as an ex-officio member.

OLD DANCE CALLS TO RESOUND THRU ARMORY TONIGHT

Estes Cooperative Group Sponsors Party for Students.

"Adam and Eve, right and left—Adam right, Eve left—swing your partners, swing 'em high." This and numerous other calls will resound thru Grant Memorial hall Friday evening, beginning at 8:30, when members of the Estes Co-operative club and students will gather at the first old fashioned dance to be held on the campus since the days when grandmother and grandfather Modern hall-room dancing is a little quiet for Mrs. Huyck who has been attending dances with her father since she was 9 years old.

Following the demonstration of square dances by the Estes society, those desiring, will join in with the others. Members in charge of the arrangements expect this innovation, from the usual run of parties to prove popular and a successful venture.

Colored moving pictures taken at Estes park will also be shown, and a floor show will provide further entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hayes, Miss Mildred Green, and Mrs. Vera Hulaic are chaperons for the affair.

Mr. Seidell is known among the older residents of Lincoln as the most proficient dance caller in this section of the state. He has been calling square dances ever since he came to this country over fifty years ago.

Living on a farm near Lincoln in his earlier days, Mr. Seidell led an orchestra composed entirely of his children and any farm workers who stayed in his employment long enough to learn to play a violin, piano, or bass violin.

150 ENGINEERS ATTEND ANNUAL COLLEGE BUST

Series of Events Planned To Revive Interest of Students.

Over 150 engineering students gathered in the coliseum N club rooms Wednesday evening to attend the "engineers bust," the first of a series of events scheduled by the engineers' executive board to revive interest in the college's student body.

Herb Yenne of the dramatics department appeared as principal speaker of the evening, presenting a talk on "The Indians of the Southwest." The speaker, who has spent much time studying Indian tribes in Arizona and New Mexico, spoke of the various customs, ceremonies and celebrations of the tribes. He described in detail the different war and snake dances.

Other entertainment for the engineers was a wrestling and boxing exhibition and horizontal bar performance. Eddie Reynolds performed on the bars, and Fred Mallon and Jerry Adams, both engineers, tangled on the mat.

"The bust was most successful," Ted Schroeder, chairman of the executive board declared, "and a definite step was taken toward the arousing of student enthusiasm and interest in the engineering college. A large number of freshmen students were present which indicates that they are willing to cooperate."

COUNCIL AWARDS TURKEY AT BARB PARTY SATURDAY

Thanksgiving Frolic Last Major Affair Before Vacation.

DON SHELTON TO PLAY

Committee Invites All of University to Attend.

Nebraska will celebrate on the last major party date before vacation, when party-goers center attention on the Coliseum Saturday night, scene of the Thanksgiving Frolic. Don Shelton and his Kentucky Colonels will play for the dance, which is sponsored by the barb council's varsity party committee. A live turkey will be presented to the couple holding the lucky number during the evening.

"We want the whole university to celebrate, whether they have dates or not," declared Bill Newcomer, orchestra committee chairman. "The tag line will be an institution at this party, and prices have been scheduled to accommodate those unable to get dates at the last minute. Don't let a broken date spoil your fun cut in on her partner."

Orchestra Requested.

Shelton's orchestra is brought back to Lincoln by the council after members he received numerous requests for return engagement. Shelton comes back via Iowa State and Iowa university parties, following engagements in eastern colleges. Former engagements include a tour of the R. K. O. circuit and stands in Memphis, Louisville, Buffalo and Minneapolis.

After the presentation of the turkey, the winner may have the choice of having it alive or leaving it to be dressed.

Lasts Until 12.

Permission for the orchestra to continue playing until midnight has been granted; the party will start at 8:30 o'clock. New spotlights, a well prepared floor, and decorations have been planned for the success of the entertainment. Chaperons for the party will be Prof. and Mrs. Harold W. Stoke, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Rosenquist and Prof. and Mrs. Earl H. Bell.

A.P., U.P. WILL USE PICTURE NEBRASKA SWEETHEART OF '35

Publicity Committee Starts Movement to Make School Better Known.

Initiating a movement to give wider publicity to the Nebraska campus, the publicity committee of the student council announced on Thursday that pictures of the Nebraska Sweetheart have already been sent to and accepted by the A. P. U. P. and other well known news service associations.

The Nebraska Sweetheart, who will be revealed at the Kosmet Klub revue Saturday morning, will be presented to the nation by the A. P. U. P. Acme News Photo Service, Central Press Association, Danta's Greek Exchange and College Humor, according to Arnold Levin, chairman of the publicity committee.

Arrangements have already been made with the AP to present stories on various happenings on the university campus, Levin stated. The association also intends to present pictures of several campus leaders.

Plans have been made to send a writup of the 1935 Cornhusker football season to the Sportograph, national sports magazine in Minneapolis. Intramural news and a feature story on the furnishings of Nebraska fraternity houses are scheduled to appear in Banta's Greek Exchange, monthly fraternity magazine.

Members of the council committee include Bob Bulger, Marjorie Barnister, Margaret Phillippe and Arnold Levin.
