LOCAL STATIONS PLAN BROADCAST BALL HIGHLIGHTS

KFAB, KFOP Describe Grand March, Introduction of Honorary Colonel.

PRESENTATION AT 9:15

Jimmy Joy's Dance Band to Play for First Event of Formal Season.

Broadcasting a complete description of the Honorary Colonel presentation and Grand March, radio stations KFAB and KFOP will this Friday evening present to the radio world an account of the Military Ball, the gala event scheduled to open officially the formal season on the Nebraska campus. The ball will commence at 9 o'clock in the coliseum Friday evening Dec. 6, and will continue until midnight.

The honorary colonel will be presented to the large number expected to attend at 9:15 o'clock, immediately after which will follow the grand march. The method of presentation has been kept secret, as has the identity of the colonel who was selected by students at a recent election. She will be one of four girls: Elizabeth Moomaw, Lois Rathburn, Sancha Kilbourn or Virginia Selleck.

Parade to be Formed.

The ceremonious grand march, led by staff and battalion majors and senior and junior officers with their dancing partners will form a glittering parade to be reviewed by the honorary colonel, Colonel Richard Rider and his staff.

Jimmy Joy and his featured NBC and CBS orchestra will play at the event. The band just recently completed an engagement in Louisville and after the ball Friday evening will leave for Chicago, where they are to appear in the well-known Trianon ball room. Joy recently played at the Willow ballroom in Pittsburgh, and the Totem Pole in Boston. He has been a prominent artist on (Continued on Page 3.)

Politicians Seek Program To Replace AAA-McKelvie

BY DOROTHY BENTZ.

Describing the governmental AAA program as "a mess of pottage dished up to take the place of another panacea for the farmer, the farm board," Sam R. McKelvie, publisher of the Nebraska Farmer who is to appear on the student forum program today, declares in an editorial appearing in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post that the public is beginning to notice that political strategists are searching for something to take its place.

The editor believes that the present program is merely a repetition of the McNary-Haugen bill or the export debenture proposals in a different form. Political maneuvers of this kind intended to help the farmer are not new.

Farmers Seek Equality.

These movements have all originated in the middle west, as did the author of the article. He was born and reared on a farm and

Ted Husing Names Jerry LaNoue for All-American '11'

Jerry LaNoue, husker halfback, was picked for All America honors by Ted Husing, sports commentator, it was learned Tuesday evening. LaNoue has already been placed on several all star Big Six aggregations.

Consistently good all season, the Wisner flash showed to advantage in the Minnesota-Nebraska game that Husing witnessed and announced over the radio here. In that fray, LaNoue made Nebraska's sole score following a 26-yard run.

LaNoue closed his collegiate football career when he played against Oregon State on Thanksgiving day, in spite of the fact that he put in but two full varsity seasons. He spent almost the entire year of 1934 on the bench after being injured at the start of the Wyoming seasonal opener. His brief play in the Wyoming contest was ruled as a full season play.

EDUCATORS HERE TO DISCUSS CIVIC LEADERSHIP PLAN

Annual Conference Political Science Teachers Opens Friday.

Political science teachers and educators interested in developing civic leadership on the part of students in the secondary schools will assemble here Friday evening and Saturday for the annual conference on political education in Nebraska. All sessions will be held at the Cornhusker hotel, according to Dr. J. P. Senning, chairman of the political science department at the university. About 100 delegates from Lincoln (Continued on Page 2.)

MISS CARPENTER STARS IN COMING PLAYERS DRAMA

Three Act Production, 'The Lake,' to Open Monday Evening.

HILL TO ASSUME ROLE

Graduate of '33 Returns to Play Part in First of Year's Tragedies.

Margaret Carpenter, arts and science junior and veteran of last year's hits, will star in the forthcoming University Players' production of Dorothy Masingham's "The Lake," the three act drama which will open Monday night in the Temple theater.

Not since her sensational debut as "Hanna" in "The Shining Hour" last season has Miss Carpenter had a role that suited her dramatic talents so completely. As "Stella Surree" she is called upon to run the gamut of emotion from supreme happiness to utter despair. Her work in early rehearsals promises to surpass anything that even her most ardent admirers from past performances may expect.

"Big Hit" Expected.

Irving Hill, who needs little introduction either as a student or as a member of the Players, makes his initial appearance of the year as he assumes the role of John Clayne, Stella's lover and husband. In view of the work done by Hill in last year's sensations (Continued on Page 3.)

GRIDSTERS GUESTS OF UNIVERSITY CLUB AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Cornhuskers 'Marked Men' in Eyes of Ohio State Coach.

Francis Schmidt, Ohio State football mentor and former Nebraska gridiron star, was principal speaker at the annual Cornhusker dinner sponsored by the Lincoln University club at which conference championship medals were presented to individual team members, guests of honor at the banquet.

Lauding the Nebraska players for a gain taking Big Six honors, Schmidt pictured the Huskers as "marked men" in all of their games because of league domination. "Every one of your opponents makes your game with them a homecoming affair, and as a result you have to be better on your 'off' days than they are on their 'on' days," he explained.

Schmidt, who graduated here in 1907, declared that no game lies the appeal for youth with courage like football, where the real test lies in not whether the contestant is knocked down, but whether he stays down.

Coach D. X. Bible, who responded for the team, stated that there was no sector of the country dominant in football today. Medals were presented by Phil Aitken, city golf champ, and Dr. Carl Bumstead, president of the University club, welcomed the guests.

Former grid stars who attended the affair were Ralph Wenstrand of Omaha, Charles Wilke, J. G. Mason and Earl Eager of Lincoln, and George Lyon of Falls City, college room mate of Schmidt.

Dr. Harry Kurz Speaks at Second French Luncheon

Dr. Harry Kurz, chairman of the romance language department spoke briefly in French at the second French luncheon held Wednesday noon at the Grand hotel. Miss Katherine Townsend, instructor in romance languages, is sponsor of the luncheons which will be held about once a month during the year. All conversation was carried on in French.

Browne Presides at Area Rules Committee Meeting

W. H. Browne, Husker basketball coach, will preside over the annual basketball rules discussion meeting for coaches and officials in the Lincoln arena at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 11 at Lawlor's.

KAPPA PHI PLEDGES FOUR GIRLS AT MEET

Methodist Group Gathers For Report, Program Wednesday Night.

Pledging of four girls, Barbara Golden, Olga Gadekin, Darlene Hansen, and Marian Sedle formed the first part of the program at the meeting of Kappa Phi, Methodist girls' sorority, held Wednesday evening in Ellen Smith hall.

Following a report of the national council of the sorority held this summer at Bemidji, Minn., given by Alyce Mae Anderson, president, a skit, "A New Deal in Kappa Phi," was presented. Those taking part were Valeda Davis, Mary Carolyn Hollman, and Dorothy Beers.

The meeting was closed with group singing. The program was planned by Helen Caulk, chairman of the committee, Alyce Mae Anderson, and Belle Graves.

HUSKERS VICTORS IN INTERNATIONAL JUDGING CONTEST

Third Consecutive Win at Chicago Livestock Exposition.

Nebraska representatives brought national fame to their school Wednesday as the agricultural college meat judging team won first place in the tenth intercollegiate meat judging contest held annually as part of the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago. Wednesday's victory was the third of its kind for Nebraska in the history of the exposition and consequently permanently won the trophy offered by the National Livestock and Meat association.

Team Members.

Nebraska's representatives on the team which was judged as the best meat judging group in the nation were: Vincent Arthaud, Cambridge; Ward Bauder, Glenvil; and Burr Ross of Rosalie. Mr. Arthaud was also acclaimed the high ranking individual judge of the meet with a total score of 817 out of a possible 900. Second place for individual judging was won by Maxwell Smith of the University of Pennsylvania. Ward Bauder, another of the Nebraska members, won the trophy with fourth place for individual work and Burr Ross was placed twelfth.

Field of Eleven.

The Nebraska team won from a field of 11 of the best teams in America and brought Nebraska the distinction of being the team that has won the trophy three times and thus obtained permanent possession.

Other schools which placed in the contest were: Iowa State College, of Ames second; Pennsylvania State College third; and Ontario Agricultural College, of Guelph, Canada, fourth. The winning team scored 2,393 points out of a possible 2,700 in the nine different judgments of beef, pork and lamb carcasses and cuts.

Mr. William J. Loeffel acted as coach of the Nebraska squad.

FIRST SCHOONER SALE REPORTS ENCOURAGING

35 Workers on Drive Meet in Temple Wednesday Afternoon.

First reports of Prairie Schooner's subscription drive were given at a meeting of 35 Y. W. C. A. workers Wednesday afternoon at the Temple. The number of subscriptions turned in was decidedly encouraging, according to Jane Keefe, who is in charge of the drive.

Making the Prairie Schooner popular in Lincoln is the ideal of the present campaign. The magazine, while receiving national recognition for its literary value, is sold very little on the campus, only 25 percent of the subscriptions going to students.

Downtown districts are being canvassed this week. Sororities and fraternities are to be covered beginning next Monday.

Another meeting will be held in the Temple today at 5 o'clock, at which time the definite number of subscriptions will be known and can be published. The goal of the drive is set at 500, with an individual quota of five.

Book Store Committee To Hold Meet Monday

Student council committee on the used book store will meet next Monday at 5 o'clock in the Student Council rooms in U hall, it was announced Wednesday by Frank Landis, co-chairman of the committee. A review of all the information on book stores which was gleaned from other schools by last year's council will be given. The project is now under consideration by the board of regents.

STUDENT COUNCIL SETS DEC. 18 FOR PROM ELECTIONS

Filings for Committee Posts To Open Preceding Week.

DELEGATES ARE NAMED

Irving Hill, Mary Yoder to Attend Kansas City Convention.

Wednesday, Dec. 18, will be the date of election of junior-senior prom committee members, the student council decided at a meeting Wednesday. Filings for the post will open Dec. 11 and close at 5 o'clock Dec. 17. With a change in rulings, decided upon at Tuesday's meeting, three women and three men from the student governing body will be elected to the committee. Heretofore only two men and two women representatives from the council have been on the committee.

Irving Hill and Mary Yoder were chosen as delegates to the National Student Federation convention which will be held in Kansas City, Dec. 27 to 31. The Nebraska representatives will attend as non-voters since the council is not a member of the federation.

The group voted to amend the constitution to provide for a woman representative from the school of music and one from the graduate college on the council.

Following a report by Eleanor Clizbe, chairman of the organization committee, the body granted charters to the Social Chairman's club, the Col-Agri-Fun organization, and the Estes Co-operative group.

Bill Marsh, chairman of the committee on student forums, reported on the first open convocation which will be held this morning and urged council members to assist the committee in securing campus support.

INTERCLUB COUNCIL, A.W.S. LEAGUE WILL SPONSOR RECEPTION

Members of All Barb Houses And Faculty Invited to Open House.

Barb Interclub Council and A. W. S. League are sponsoring a Barb open house at Ellen Smith hall, Sunday, Dec. 8 from three to five. Members of all organized Barb houses on the campus and all faculty members have been invited to attend the informal social affair.

"The big thing, of course, will be the opportunity to meet and become acquainted with other students and faculty members," stated Dorothy Beers, A. W. S. League president.

Handbills signed by William Newcomer, Interclub Council president and Dorothy Beers, were distributed to all organized houses Thursday.

Co-chairmen of the program committee are Mary White and Will Reedy, assisted by Marjorie Francis and Austin Moritz. Games for the afternoon will be planned by Doris Riisness and Byrle Shuck, co-chairman, Dorothea Winger, Jim Riisness, and Gretchen Budd. Ardis Graybiel and Eleanor Oldfather will have charge of securing chaperones.

Invitations were planned by Dorcas Crawford, chairman, Shirley DePew, Edith Filley, and Sally Griffin. Publicity is being handled by Rowena Swenson and Alvin Kleebe, chairman, Elinor Nelson, Birden Jensen, Joyce Grubb, Goldie Barner and Wilbur Beezley. Elizabeth Edison is chairman of the refreshments committee, assisted by Helen Closs, Marie Willey and Janice Gonzales.

Sigma Delta Chi Members To Gather at 5 Thursday

There will be a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the basement of U hall, according to Jack Fischer, president. Eugene Dalby will give a convention report, and the program for the remainder of the semester will be outlined, Fischer indicated.

Meeting Called for Teaching Candidates

All candidates desiring teaching positions, either for second semester or for the school year 1936-37, are requested to meet in Social Science auditorium, Dec. 5, at 4 o'clock. This meeting is very important and it should be attended by all who have not previously registered in the placement bureau.

COUNCIL SPONSORS OPEN FORUM TODAY

General Dismissal of Classes Not Granted; Professors May Use Own Discretion at Excusing Courses For Initial Convocation.

M'KELVIE, CLARK DEBATE POLITICAL TRENDS

Governing Body Launches Program to Give Opportunity Of Learning More About Current Questions Of State and Nation.

Although a general dismissal of classes has not been granted by the administration, professors may use their own discretion at excusing students to attend the first open student forum Thursday at 11 o'clock in the Temple theater, it was announced Wednesday by Bill Marsh, chairman of the council forum committee.

Samuel McKelvie opposing administration policies and C. L. Clark speaking for the new deal will address the convocation. Following the fifteen minute period allotted to each speaker, students will have an opportunity to question the speakers or to assert their own views, Marsh stated.

The convocation's purpose is to give students an opportunity to learn current political views in the state and on the campus. Each person asking a question will be allowed two minutes and the speaker will have three minutes in which to answer, so that as many questions as possible can be covered during the allotted time.

"This is the first chance university students have had to express their opinions on political matters and to learn the different views of these two political leaders," Bill Marsh explained.

Publisher of the Nebraska Farmer, McKelvie has served as governor of the state and as member of the federal farm board during the Hoover administration. He has for many years been active in state republican party politics.

Mr. Clark is chairman of the democratic county central committee with which group he has been associated for the past fourteen years. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees at the university.

Bill Marsh will preside at the open discussion and will pick at random from the audience those who wish to ask questions of the speaker. Students and faculty are urged to participate in the discussion.

DEC. 6 DEADLINE FOR COLL-AGRI-FUN REVUE PARTICIPANTS' FILING

Event to Take Place Dec. 14, Chairman Don Joy Announces.

Names of all students participating in Coll-Agri-Fun Revue must be in Dean Burr's office on agricultural college campus by Friday, Dec. 6 at 5 o'clock in order to be checked by student eligibility rules. The date for the agricultural Fun Nite has been set as Saturday, Dec. 14, and the performance will be held in the Student Activities building, according to Don Joy, chairman of the Coll-Agri-Fun board.

"In the eight skits and four curtain acts we are presenting, an attempt has been made to introduce more interest and color than ever before," declared Bonnie Spanggaard, assistant chairman of the board.

The score card by which judges will consider the acts as set up by the Coll-Agri-Fun group is as follows: Presentation, including technique, general effect, scenery and property, 50 percent; subject matter, 30 percent; audience reaction, 15 percent, and originality 5 percent.

Tickets are now on sale at the agricultural executive office, and the following committee have tickets: Lois Lichter, Lois Allen, Alice Soukup, Eleanor McFadden, Hannah Srb, Earl Heady, Glen Klingman and Milton Gustafson.

FOUNDER OF HOME EC IS HONORED AT DINNER

150 Are Expected to Attend Annual Banquet on Dec. 5.

Ellen H. Richards, founder of the Home Economics movement, will be honored at an annual dinner, sponsored by the Home Economics association, Thursday, Dec. 5 in the agricultural college cafeteria at 6:15.

"We expect at least 150 to attend the banquet, and promise a ally acquainted with their faculty members," stated Elsie Goth, president of the organization.

Dr. I. C. Philbrick, of the Pharmacy college, will tell of her intimate friendship with Miss Richards, and Miss Fedde, will speak on "Looking into the Future of Home Economics."

Freshmen and upperclass commission members have been in charge of the tickets. Chairmen of various committees for the affair are: Elsie Buxman, Bernice Rickett, Ruth Carsten, Gladys Klapp, Ruth Henderson.

EXPECT 125 AT ANNUAL MID-WINTER BANQUET

Traditional 'Hanging of the Greens' Dinner Stated For Tonight.

Over 125 student and faculty women are expected to attend the traditional "hanging of the greens" dinner, the midwinter affair, when Ellen Smith hall is decorated in greens from Estes park. The banquet will be held Thursday, Dec. 5 at 5:30, with girls on all major boards on the campus, Y. W. C. A. cabinet and staff members, and faculty advisers as guests.

Dorothy Beers is general chairman of the affair, assisted by members of the social staff, Jeanne Palmer and her program and office staff have charge of the program.

Ruth Mary Jennings will play a medley of Christmas selections on the merimba, followed by Virginia Amos who will give a reading appropriate to the season. An octet from Lincoln high school will sing several selections, and Leona McBride will give a reading, "So This is Christmas."

SATTERFIELD TO STUDY FOR MANAGER POSITION

University Graduate Chosen To Enter Training at Washington.

Dr. M. Harry Satterfield, who received his Ph. D. in political science here in 1933 and who was at one time a fellow in political science was recently chosen by the federal government to enter training in Washington, D. C., for the position of community manager.

Following Dr. Satterfield's graduation from Nebraska he held the position of director of research in the department of agriculture in Nebraska. After this he entered the federal service and for the past year has held the position of assistant state director of rural resettlement in Nebraska.

Dr. Satterfield left Wednesday to take from two to four months training which will prepare him for a responsible position under the management division of the resettlement administration. He was chosen as one of twelve from fifty candidates representing parts of the whole United States.
