Whitaker, Leacox High Men In Intrasquad Cage Conflict.

AMEN TOPS 'B' SCORERS

Snappy Scarlet Uniforms, Novel Red Sox on Basketeers.

Cornhusker athletic fans turned abruptly from Sugar Bowl gossip and the departed football season Wednesday afternoon in favor of the things that were happening in Coach Harold Browne's basketball domain. Erecting the first milestone on the 1935-36 cage boulevard, a first-string "A" team romped through a "B" unit, 47 to 22, in the first intrasquad battle on the coliseum maples that will provide headquarters for sports followers during the next three months.

Sophomore Standouts.
Resplendent in a snappy scarlet outfit featuring novel red socks, a strong veteran aggregation comprising Henry Whitaker, Bob Leacox, George Wahlquist, Lee Hale, and Harvey Widman, and two sophomore standouts in Bob Parsons and Floyd Ebaugh, had little trouble downing the White opposition. An impenetrable defense headed by Harvey Widman and George Wahlquist and some excellent White ball handling kept the B squad on the under end all through the game.

Out on Fouls.
Bud Leacox and Henry Whitaker headed the scoring for the Reds with 9 points each, seconded by Paul Amen with 8 for the losers. Bob Parsons did everything well before retiring in the second half on fouls, and Paul Amen was the big shot for the Whites in every department of play.

CONDRA HEARS FROM COLLEGE GRADUATES

Work of Former Students, Professors Reported to Office.

Word from graduates and friends of the university has been received lately by the conservation and survey division, according to Dr. G. E. Condra, chairman. Work that is being done by former students and professors at the university is regularly reported to that office.
A letter received by Dr. Condra from Paul H. Roberts, acting director of the Shelterbelt project, commends the co-operation of the conservation and survey division with the Shelterbelt staff. He informs Dean Condra that the Conservation and Survey Division gave better co-operation than any other agency in the shelterbelt zone.

Miss Carpenter Stars in Coming Players Drama

"Wednesday's Child" and "Yellow Jack" players audiences are anticipating another "big hit" in the third Players' offering of the season.
Clara Christensen, a graduate of the class of '33 and a veteran of the Temple stage, returns to play the difficult role of Mildred Surridge, Stella's mother. The author has provided an unsparring picture of a domineering mother, and Miss Christensen's early performance promise to excel the nurse in "Romeo and Juliet" and the grandmother in "Another Language," which found her at her best as a university performer.

Strong Supporting Cast.
Supporting these three proven stars will be a strong cast of both experienced and new players headed by Pertis Boynton, Elizabeth Betzer, Donald Buell, Clair Wolf, and Era Lown, who promise to give a performance duly fitting to a play that has played to packed houses on Broadway as well as the other theatrical centers of the world.
"The Lake" is the first serious drama attempted by the players this season. The dramatically emotional scenes keep the play moving at a high pitch and should meet the approval of even the most critical drama loving patrons.

Setting Unusual.
The locale of the play is a spacious English country estate furnished to the likings of the very exacting Mrs. Surridge. The demands of the scripts are placing unusual limitations on Don Friedly, scenery director, and his handling of the settings should be one of the high spots of the picturesque theme. The second act of the production moves to a large tent marquee at Stella's fashionable wedding.
Miss H. Alice Howell, director of the University Players is in general charge of the production with Herbert Yenne doing the stage direction.

Campus Photographer Wins International Distinctions

BY HELEN PASCOE.
Few Persons have not heard the well known story of the man who built a fortune on a shoe string, but another tale which was recently unearthed is that of a man on the Nebraska campus who as a freshman in high school started a successful career with a discarded camera. That man is Richard W. Hufnagle, better known to most students and members connected with the university as the "campus studio photographer."
Has Many Displays.
At present, the photographer has gained distinctions in international displays as well as in some of the most outstanding national exhibits, with his black and white prints and natural color photos. Included in the points of the map where Mr. Hufnagle has sent his black and white prints and succeeded in receiving the honor of having them "hung" are salon exhibits at three places in England, a display at Antwerp, Belgium, the recent San Diego international exposition in California, and the second annual exhibition of Professional Photography held in Bevier hall at Rochester, N. Y. The latter exhibit afforded the most competition, according to the photographer, since it included the entries of professionals. In this display Mr. Hufnagle showed four of his black and white productions.
In Who's Who.
As the result of his success and achievements in photography exhibits, the photographer has been ranked in the list of "Who's who in pictorial photography," compiled by the American Annual of Photography, which is published each year.
Not confining his work to black and white prints, however, Mr. Hufnagle has developed the hobby of making natural colored prints and in this line of photography has also gained recognition. Five Nebraska views were sent in natu-

INTRAMURAL SPOTLIGHT ON WATER POLO SLATE

Pi K.A., Phi Psi, Sigma Nu Win First Bracket Games Wednesday.

Sigma Chi won the consolations of the soccer intramural tournament from Beta Theta Pi by the tossing of a coin after a 1-1 tie Wednesday afternoon, as the water polo competition came into the spotlight with six games played off in the coliseum pool Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Yelkin kicked the goal that tied the count for Sigma Chi in the last thirty seconds of the game.
Delta Sigma Lambda dropped a nip-and-tuck game to Pi Kappa Alpha last night 8-9. Galloway of Pi K. A. scored all of the points for his team. Lutton nearly won the game by a series of free throws, but the final whistle cut short his one man rally. Phi Delta Theta lost 16-0 to Phi Kappa Psi, and Sigma Nu took their game from Acacia 21-6 for the other Wednesday night encounters. Sigma Alpha Epsilon took Alpha Gamma Rho to town 29-2 in Tuesday's headliner. Delta Upsilon lost to Chi Phi 7-10 and Lambda Phi Alpha took a defeat from Sigma Chi 2-4.

100 GIRLS HEAR MISS ARNOLD AT MEETING

Freshman A.W.S. Members Learn of Cornhusker Staff From Editor.

Approximately 100 girls were present to hear Faith Arnold, editor of the Cornhusker, speak on the organization of the Cornhusker staff, at the freshman A. W. S. held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.
Giving as a background the former method of selecting staff members of the Cornhusker by student vote, Miss Arnold outlined the process in which the present staff was selected, including both the business and editorial staff organization. She explained that for the last six years, following entrance to be judged by the National Scholastic Press Association, the Cornhusker had been rated either an All-American or First Class publication.
Mary Edith Hendricks, president of the A. W. S. board and Jane Barbour were present as special guests at the tea representing the A. W. S. board. Elsie Buxman, A. W. S. board member who acts as sponsor of the freshmen group, poured the tea, while Betty Mayne, president of freshman A. W. S. and Barbara Selleck served as co-hostesses for the affair.
