GREEKS SIGN MASTERS' BAND

BROWNMEN WHIP COYOTES 48 TO 27

Leacox, Nelson Lead Nebraska Quintet to Romp Over Invading South Dakota Basketeers; Huskers Relinquish Margin Only Twice.

By ED STEEVES.

In one of the unsalutest demonstrations of basketball ever presented on the Cornhusker hardwoods Coach W. H. Browne's shock troops collected the heavy bounty of 48-27 on the South Dakota university Coyotes Monday evening. With the bench habitation completely revolutionized Husker fans saw the experienced members of the squad take our northern neighbors into camp unassisted in their own inevitable way that mixed occasional spots of well oiled caging with erratic passing and mirth-fetiching acts of unavoidable comedy.

A near capacity crowd tunneled through drifts and seemed well compensated in spite of the listless brand of ball. Like a stiff game of follow-the-leader the Dakotans matched almost every tally of the Huskers through the entire first half, tying the score at 17-all as the stop watch needle neared intermission time.

Early Lead.

The only time when the invaders held a point advantage over the Brownmen was for nearly a minute after McDowell sank the ice breaker in the initial two minutes of play. Leacox, who can be termed as one of the head men without contradiction, knotted the count within the next two seconds and as a result of a foul on that shot he boosted the score one notch, giving the Huskers the lead which they never relinquished.

A see saw form ensued that was not conventional but highly entertaining as the two quintets seemingly accepted the turn about fair play system, racing up and down the boards consistently bobbling set-up after set-up. Then came a momentary flash that vanished like the glow from a firefly as the elongated Larry Nelson began dropping points almost habitually. In a period of a minute and a half he had one basket from the front and two from the charity line carved on his belt.

Buck Scintillates.

Elmer Dohrmann followed in for a pair of points only a split second before Leacox broke into the point column again, giving the Scarlet an 11-2 margin.

Probably the most spectacular man of the evening was little Bob Buck, who had a well mastered passing attack and who was slicker than an oiled eel with his dribbling. It was he who lifted the gloom from the Dakotan picture by salting away three counters and giving impetus to a belated rally. Amen tallied and Honeyver, McGinty, McDowell, and Bill Ryan dusted the net for seven points to match Dohrmann's 2 and Hale's pair. At this point, perhaps the highest point of interest of the entire fracas, found a balanced score board of 17-17.

The fans in suspense soon found cause to exhale sharply as Nelson and Hale gave an unprecedented exhibition of piggy back. Nelly regained his equilibrium, however, and came through with a duo of unconscious overhead flips, as the gun sounded—Nebraska 21, South Dakota 19.

The second half found about as

Positions open on the news-writing and departmental staffs of the Daily Nebraskan will be announced at a staff meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock. All regular reporters and those wishing to begin reporting the second semester are asked to attend.

USED BOOK STORE TO OPEN IN FEW WEEKS IN REGENTS LOCATION

Will Move to Social Science When Library Commission Vacates Rooms.

Because it is impossible for the library commission to vacate its room in the Social Science building until March 1, machinery for the operation of the university's second hand book store will probably be set into motion in Regents book store in Administration building as soon as there is available room. The announcement was released Monday by L. W. Seaton, operating superintendent.

Inquiries have already been sent out to faculty members in order to determine which books may be used the next semester and second hand books may be acquired in a few weeks in the administration book store.

Students planning to sell books used in previous semesters are urged to wait until the new plan begins operating, since 50 percent of the value of the book will be offered. Those wishing to buy second hand books will pay 75 percent of the original cost of the book.

Plans for furnishing the new book store, which will be located in the rooms in the Social Science building formerly occupied by the library commission, are being formulated at the present time, according to Mr. Seaton and enough steel shelving with which to arrange the library has been obtained.

In commenting on the manner in which arrangements are being forwarded, Mr. Seaton said, "We are disappointed at not having the space to get organized and to get our business under way immediately, but students may be assured that we will endeavor to accomplish this as soon as possible."

The book store is to be under the supervision of the student council and a paid manager will be in charge of the store. Operating Superintendent Seaton of the university will cooperate with the council in its management.

IRWIN RYAN FILLS EDITOR'S POST ON DAILY NEBRASKAN

Pipal, Levin Are Appointed Managing Editors for Next Term.

AWGWAN STAFF CHOSEN

John Edwards Edits Humor Magazine; Baker Is Business Head.

At a meeting of the publication board held Wednesday, Irwin Ryan, Lincoln, class of '36, was chosen as editor of the Daily Nebraskan for second semester, succeeding Jack Fischer. George Pipal, '37, from Humboldt, and Arnold Levin, '37, of Rosalie will act as managing editors of the publication replacing Virginia Selleck and Ryan.

News editors chosen to complete the staff include, Dorothy Bentz, class of '37; Johnston Snipes, '36; and Jane Walcott, '38 all from Lincoln; Donald Wagner, '37 from Homer and Eleanor Clizbe, '37 of Valentine.

Ryan has served on the paper for two semesters as managing editor and two terms as news editor. Both Pipal and Levin have acted as news editor for two semesters.

Truman Oberndorf, '37, of Lincoln retains his post as business manager, assisted by Robert Funk, '37, Lincoln; Robert Shellenberg, '37, Omaha; and Robert Wadhams, '38, Lincoln.

John Edwards, '37, of Lincoln, succeeding Howard Dobson, will head the Awgwan editorial staff, assisted by Louis Cass, class of '37, Ravenna, who will act as managing editor. Business manager will be Floyd Baker, '37, from Omaha, who follows John Jarmin.

PWA OFFICIALS TO ACT ON UNION REQUEST FEB. 14

Panhellenic Council Donates $100 to Fund for Furnishing.

Altho the application for the $400,000 student union building of the university will not be officially acted upon by PWA officials until Feb. 14, the Board of Regents committee has selected a location for the new building, according to Chancellor E. A. Burnett. The most favorable site is on 14th and East of Teachers college and covering the north side of Ellen Smith hall. Davis and Wilson, Lincoln architects, have been approved by the committee as architects for the building.

One hundred dollars was pledged by the Panhellenic association, governing council of Greek letter societies, according to reports received by the Student Council Union building committee Monday afternoon. This contribution sends the fund well over the $12,000 mark.

Funds which are being pledged at the present time will be used to defray expenses for the furnishings of the activities center, according to Irving Hill, chairman of the Union committee. The 45 percent grant and the 55 percent loan for which the application is being made, applies only to the financing of the building. Funds to furnish it will have to be raised by the student body.

RED CROSS EXAMINER TO TEST SWIMMERS

University Women to Try For Life Saving Permits.

A. T. McCue, field representative for the American Red Cross life saving examiners, will be in Lincoln this week to give tests to all university women wishing to gain permits to be life saving examiners. The examinations will be given at the Lincoln high school Thursday and Friday nights from 7 to 10 o'clock, and Saturday morning from 9 to 12 o'clock.

A practice period for those wishing to take the tests will be held Wednesday night from 8 to 10 o'clock at Lincoln high school. While in Lincoln Mr. McCue will speak at a Red Cross luncheon Friday noon, Feb. 7, at the chamber of commerce. He will speak on "New Phases of the Red Cross Program for Accident Prevention and First Aid on the Highways."

IRWIN RYAN.

Irwin Ryan, of Lincoln, senior in the college of arts and sciences, who will serve as editor of the Daily Nebraskan the coming semester. He has been managing editor, news editor and sports editor of the publication, and is a member of Innocents, Interfraternity Council, and Sigma Nu.

Y.W. CABINET HEADS TAKE OFFICE TODAY AT REGULAR VESPERS

Jane Keefe to Direct 20 Staff Executives for New Year.

Y. W. C. A.'s new executive cabinet, which will function for 1935 will be installed at the vesper service Tuesday, Feb. 4 at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall. Twenty girls will officially take office, heading the various staffs and offices of the organization.

Jane Keefe will act as president; Caroline Kile, vice president; Maxine Durand, secretary; and Barbara DePutron, treasurer.

Following is the list of staffs and their chairmen: Membership, Jeanne Palmer; Creative Leisure, Betty Cherny; Publications, Eleanor Clizbe; Personnel, Katherine Winquist; Ag. President, Ruth Schobert; Conference, Katherine Hensy; Finance, Maxine Durand; Freshman Commission, Caroline Kile; International Relations, Winifred Nelson; Nebraska in China, June Wagener; Personnel and Family Relations, Rowena Swenson; Posters, Doris Weaver; Project, Alben Marshall; New Citizenship, Marie Kotour; Vespers, Frances Scudder; and Vesper Choir, Margaret Phillippe.

The new cabinet members met for the first time with previous staff chairmen at the mid-semester setting-up-conference Friday and Saturday of last week. A review of the staff work of 1935 was led by Lorraine Hitchcock, president of the organization for that year. Following this Frances Scudder acted as toastmistress at a banquet, honoring the new cabinet leaders.

Rev. Walter Aitken, pastor of St. Paul Methodist church in Lincoln, spoke to the group after the banquet on "Your Own Personal Religion."

Saturday morning, Feb. 1, the group met at the city Y. W. C. A. to set up goals for the new year in collaboration with the national association. These aims will be discussed at the first meeting of the new cabinet Wednesday, Feb. 5 at 7 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

"If you would pass the jokes we use, You should see those we refuse."

In this manner, John Edwards, newly appointed editor of the Awgwan, announced a contest to procure more original contributions to the joke columns of the monthly humor publication. As an added incentive, the Awgwan will pay one dollar for each of the three best jokes, paragraphs, or poems submitted to their office on or before Monday, February 10, at 5 o'clock.

Altho many of the readers have expressed no particular criticism of the magazine's content, the editors have been beset with waves of protest from some students who think that the jokes should be more original and more humorous. This contest, it is believed, will give these critics an opportunity to submit the type of jokes which they consider humorous. It is not

RADIO ENTERTAINERS TO PLAY SATURDAY

Fraternities Pay Largest Sum in Year for Outstanding Orchestra of National Repute; Musicians Come Here Directly From Chicago.

Frankie Masters and his nationally famous dance band will be the outstanding attraction at the annual Interfraternity ball, scheduled for the Coliseum Saturday evening, Feb. 8. Masters will journey to Lincoln directly from Chicago, having recently returned from a highly successful stay at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco.

"Masters' melodies have excited praise from every corner of the nation and his is undoubtedly the most commendable band ever signed to play for a university party," according to Ralph Eldridge, chairman of the ball committee. "A greater amount of money is being spent for the orchestra this year than for several years on the Nebraska campus," he continued.

Frankie Masters was featured in the high spots of night life at the World's fair and has since justified his rank among the leading dance orchestras of the nation with performances at the leading hotels and night clubs of Chicago, New Orleans, Los Angeles, Houston, Galveston and in many other metropolitan centers. His broadcasts from the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman in Chicago last summer aroused comment all over the country.

Masters is not alone a director for versatility is the keynote of his makeup. He is composer, singer, banjo player, producer and business man all rolled into one. His appearance, according to those who know him, is more closely akin to that of a college sophomore than to anyone's conception of a member of the vast army of rhythm dispensers.

Featured vocalist with the orchestra will be Carolyn Rich, who has appeared over both the NBC and CBS networks out of New York and who has been featured at the Stork club, the Park Central hotel and the larger theater circuits in the metropolis.

Feature Rogers, Powell. With Masters also will be Allan Rogers and Jack "Scat" Powell, featured vocalists, both of whom have been presented over the networks and at many of the nation's smarter hotels and clubs.

Masters' debut in the orchestra field was made at the Tivoli theater in Chicago, where he occupied the stage for over six years. Lengthy engagements at many prominent Chicago clubs followed in rapid succession and he was installed at College Inn of the Sherman hotel where he held sway during the first World's fair in 1933.

Ticket sales under the direction of Committee Chairman Bernard McKerney will be handled in individual fraternity houses by representatives of the interfraternity council.

Supporters of Safety Drive Assemble at State Capitol.

Supporters in the drive for accident prevention and safety promotion throughout the state of Nebraska will assemble in the state capitol at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, Feb. 13, at a conference called for the purpose of discussing ways of eliminating traffic accidents which annually take the lives of an unprecedented number of people in the state.

The Daily Nebraskan safe driving campaign which was inaugurated recently against "stupid death," prepared for concerted effort during the second semester with the announcement that the drive will be continued under the new editor of the publication.

Blanks pledging support to the drive and windshield stickers can be obtained in the lower corridor of the Social Science building. Included in the pledge are promises to drive sanely; not to pass a car without clear vision for 100 yards ahead; not to jump traffic lights; watch for pedestrians stepping into the line of traffic from parked cars; stop at all stop signs; no passing on curves or hills; and look for cars in the rear view mirror.

Investigators of the conference hope that the organization of a State Safety council will result from this meeting and all those interested in assisting in this project are invited to attend.

CHOR MEMBERS TO APPEAR AT VESPERS

All vesper choir members are requested to be at Y. W. C. A. vespers, Tuesday at 5 o'clock, according to Margaret Phillippe, choir director. There will be choir practice at 5 on Thursday at Ellen Smith hall and all girls who are interested in singing in the choir are urged to be present.

WERNER ADDRESSES GROUPS IN NORFOLK

High school students and business and professional women of Norfolk heard Dr. O. H. Werner, professor of principles of education, in two addresses Monday.

Book exchange for ag campus students who wish to trade or sell text or other books is being sponsored by Phi Upsilon, professional home economics sorority, in Agriculture hall on the ag campus. The exchange was started Monday morning and will continue for one week, according to Elsie Goth, who is in charge of the activity. Those who wish either to exchange or sell books are requested to bring them to the hall, where members of Phi Upsilon will be on duty. The sorority will do the best it can for each customer, Miss Goth promised. A profit of 10 percent is to be kept.

ORFIELD GETS LEAVE OF ABSENCE FOR YEAR

Prof. Lester B. Orfield, associate professor of law, has been granted a year's leave of absence to take over duties as associate counsel for the social security board at Washington.

James A. Doyle, Omaha, who received his Ph.D. degree from Creighton in 1924 and his LL.B. from here in 1933, has been appointed assistant professor in Professor Orfield's place. Doyle received cum laude honors and was ranking man in his class here. He has been with the department of justice.
