"TO THE RHYMING AND THE
chiming of the bells, bells, bells"
... once more we trudge along the well worn trails to classes, fervently wishing that we had registered for twelve hours of "pipes" ... instead of the eight to five nightmare before us. And the blinding snowstorm without is so much easier to face than that required course, we should have taken three years ago. Those of us who appear in class from five to ten minutes late find to our sorrow that the most advantageous position (the back row) is already full to overflowing and that the only place to sit is front ... center. The first week of any semester is always devoted to group discussions of the joys of sleep and vacations ... and to incoherent mutterings about changing registrations and dropping classes. But sooner or later we start looking forward to week-ends again and give up the struggle against this thing called a "higher education."

SEEN on the campus: Barbara Ann Murphy waiting impatiently in the drug store for her "Woolfie Doozie" (could she possibly be referring to Clair Wolfe) ... Donnie Cameron playing hop-scotch in the hall at Sosh ... Pledges with the average making blues, all being sure that they passed in "Drug lab" ... Natalie Rehlander going cowboy in brand new boots ... Bonnie Bishop exclaiming that she has finally "matriculated" ... Bowling enthusiasts talking about strikes and spares and things, that the common herd just can't enthuse about ... Some debate as to whether or not the D. U.'s have a fourteen year old pledge ... Mary Heaton still trying to keep Bill and Russ apart ... Gene Pester making snow angels for his unrequited love ... Dick Paul, one of Beta's "Beta" boys speculating on love and its liabilities ... Jane Temple wondering if "body mechanics" is a course in the engineering college ... And everyone with galoshes wearing them ... And everyone without galoshes trying to get a ride down town to buy some!

questionable possibilities even tho at times it seemed that a lack of experience might have hindered her best work.

Hill Holds Attention.
The third male part which completed the masculine cast for the production, was taken by Irving Hill, whose performance justified the praise bestowed him for work in previous Players hits. The remaining feminine characterizations were taken by Harriette Leeson, who reflected the part of the talkative Mrs. Parker in a fitting manner, and Julia Viele, the maid.

The entire play is extremely modern in tone and is set in a modest but comfortable apartment in the heart of New York. The settings, which were done under the direction of Don Friedley, portrayed the true modernistic atmosphere of the production. The play extends from the opening scene of early spring in Act I to the dawning of autumn in the final act.

The world premiere performance of the former Nebraska student's own production was warmly received by the audience after every act, and the applause following the final curtain was so great that two curtain calls were demanded. Altho the play seemed slightly slow in its earlier stages the final act was exceedingly bright and warranted every comment in its favor.

Harold Felton was formerly a member of the University Players during his attendance at the University of Nebraska. He graduated from the Nebraska law college and since has moved to New York where he is living at present. Although this is not his first play it is the only one ever attempted by the University Players.

The play was given under the direction of H. Alice Howell, chairman of the department of dramatics.

According to Frank Lloyd Wright, long the storm center of American architecture, America suffers from "too much so-called education."

Coed Sandra Says
"The new Cartwright College Frocks at Gold's Kampus Korner are simply devastating"

● And you can take Coed Sandra's word for it ... they are slim, young fashions created just for the gay life of campus trotters. So snatch a second from your busy life ... drop into our Kampus Korner ... and see these last words in style by Cartwright. You'll be all excited about them, too. Cartwright frocks are exclusive with us in Lincoln ... we are exceedingly proud to announce. And we cordially invite you to judge them for yourselves. Spring, you know, is just around the corner ... we admit that sounds a little far-fetched today ... but we do know that it's high time you were settling your clothes problem for a new season. And we offer our solution ... Cartwright creations in the Kampus Korner at Gold's.

Black Eyed Susan
A creation of satin back crepe with sausy lingerie trim. Ultra-modern in black or navy ... spiced with white, in just the right places to broaden the shoulders and accentuate the wasp-like waist.

Button-Button
Very pert with white pique trim ... and superb big buttons. You will spend your leisure moments saying "doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief." But with a dress like this, your leisure moments will be very few.

Daisy Won't Tell ...
Though Daisy may keep it a secret, we're sure the big moment won't be able to refrain from whispering, "you're adorable." With a gay sophisticated print in an enchanting floral design, you are bound to make a "hit."

And we've oodles more ... simply shrieking with individuality ... charm ... "coedish" chic. And they all boast of name titles, as intriguing as themselves. Let us introduce a few:

*A Stitch in Tim,
Little Stiff
New Comer*

*Hearts and Flowers
Ring-a-Ling
Monsieur Beaucaire*

Here's one cigarette that writes its own advertising ..

It's like this—
You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen— Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it?
Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?
Wait a minute—
It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.
