

Huskers Must Beat Tigers to Stay in Running

BROWNEMEN GO TO MIZZOU SATURDAY

Scarlet Quint's Title Hopes Depend on Success in Invasion of Bengal, K-Ag Camps on Last Road Trip of Big Six Season.

Eyes of the Big Six conference will focus on Columbia Saturday night where the Nebraska Cornhuskers engage the Missouri Tigers in the outstanding hoop game of the week. Kansas university plays Oklahoma at Norman Saturday night, but the game is virtually "in the bag" for Kansas, who is here snug in No. 1 position in the conference standings.

At present the Brownemen stand as the only possible contenders for the conference laurels. Should they drop this one to Mizzou, which is far from improbable, there would be only one remaining team in the "six" that would be "Big." Kansas, Mentor Browne realizes the importance of the affair, but he has been wasting no time chewing his finger nails up to his elbows. Instead the drills have been intensified and the proper attitude has been instigated in team members.

Mizzou Starts Slow.

The Missourians, in the first acts of their cage drama, were unimpressive, losing consistently. One defeat was to the Kaggies who make up the bottom of the Big Six list. As the season progressed the Tigers removed the prefix from "unimpressive" and were transformed into the proverbial rolling boulder gathering moss. The last engagement of the Huskers and Coach George Edward's men ended in a 31-26 triumph for the Scarlet in any thing but a colorless battle. Nebraska was hoop-minded in the first half, amassing an early lead with Whitaker and Wahluquist as the torch bearers, but in the second division a trio of sharpshooters from the Mule State began peppering the basket and it was not long until the lead melted like a snow man in July. The three hot shots were Strom, Beer and Powell. These same three still know the location of the basket and should no doubt serve as well duelists for Whitaker, Parsons and Wahluquist.

Must Play There.

The final score read 31-26, but a well earned victory for the Huskers. Another pessimistic factor is that the first meeting of these two schools was on the home boards, on which Nebraska has lost nary a game. The game Saturday calls for a trip to Columbia. The believed unbeatable Kansas was pressed to the limit for a victory last week over Mizzou. This fact you may or may not disregard, just as you choose.

One of the predominating characteristics of the Tigers is the consistency with which they attempt tallies from as far back as the foul circle. In the last contest the Huskers allowed them to shower the basket with such attempts, but common conjecture says that tomorrow night it will not be so.

The sum of the whole situation is that Nebraska, to save her own epidermis and to give the Allen boys a chase for their coins, must not lose. Disregarding Missouri's potency for a few moments we see that at no time during the season has Nebraska had more excuses for being in fine fettle. Donating the subs the action last Monday evening, showed Browne that he has at least two benchsters who should be allowed to drink from the same cup as any of the starters, Leacox and Nelson. Leacox kept many mouths ajar as he dropped shot after shot thru the oval without ticking the rim. Larry, it might be said, had a "half Nelson" on the game with his follow-ins.

Sooner Soph Leads Scorers.

Individual conference scoring took a big shakeup this week as a substitute guard from Oklahoma, Livingston by name, potted six goals from the field to mount the crest of the scoring list. He is low scorer so far as actual points go, but because of the fact that the Kansas melees was the only conference game in which he had participated his percentage was top.

Ray Ebling of Kansas is the true leader with fifty-nine counters in five games and Burns of Kansas State, the former leader, and George Wahluquist of the Huskers nip closely at his heels.

HUSKER MATMEN GRAPPLE TONIGHT WITH TOUGH JAYS

Adam 'New Deal' Promises 'Money's Worth' for Wrestling Fans.

Tonight, starting at eight o'clock wrestling patrons have in store for them one of the greatest exhibitions ever staged in the coliseum. Coach Jerry Adam has inaugurated a "new deal" policy by which the public is insured of their "money's worth" in seeing wrestling bouts featuring aggressiveness and continual action.

Kansas University is Nebraska's guest and foe tonight, and from sport page observations, the Jay-hawkers are touted to be a strong squad with an especially powerful lightweight group.

Benno Funken, heavyweight, will captain the Huskers tonight. A subject of much debate is whether or not Don "Flash" Flannick, Omaha veteran, will be sufficiently recuperated from a recent illness to wrestle in the 165 pound class. It is highly probable that "Flash" will grapple tonight, but if he is unable to, Sol Levine, his substitute, will very ably fill his place.

In the 175 pound division will be "Dutch" Simons and Carl Yost. Fred Mallen and Allan Fredericks are the Huskers in the 155 pound class. Ray Larson is the 145 pound wrestler, and Julius Wittman, 135 pounds, Clee Smiley, 126 pounds, and Fred Webster, 118 pounds, comprise the Cornhusker lightweights.

Freedom of the press—Following a statement by the mayor of Champaign, Ill., that all gambling houses had been closed—once and for all—a Daily Illini reporter wrote a story of his experiences during an afternoon in a horse race betting dive in the college town. The Daily Illini managing editor was threatened to be brought before a grand jury because he refused to disclose the name of the staff member who wrote the story.

CAGE TEAMS DISPLAY ADVANCES AS SECOND ROUND OPENS FEB. 6

Director Horney Praises Greeks' Play in First Games.

Play in class "A" basketball moved into the second round Thursday, Feb. 6 with most of the teams showing marked improvement. "The brand of play is of an unusually high caliber for such early competition," declared Bill Horney, intramurals sports director, "and I look for some good exhibitions of basketball by the time the quarter-finals roll around."

Phi Psi continued its winning ways in League 1 with a 37-4 conquest over Zeta Beta Tau, while Kappa Sigma nosed out Beta Theta Pi by an 11-10 victory.

League 2 found Sigma Nu chalking up a 20-4 win at the expense of Phi Sigma Kappa, and Chi Phi appropriating a game from Sigma Chi, the scoreboard reading 27-8.

Games Lop-Sided.

The games in League 3 were of a lop-sided nature, the Delta Tau Delta flippers white-washing Sigma Phi Epsilon, 42-0, while the Phi Alpha Delta cangesters subdued Alpha Sigma Phi, 30-4.

In League 4, Sigma Alpha Epsilon romped away with a 32-4 triumph over Theta Chi. Phi Delta Theta took the other League 4 skirmish with an 11-6 victory over the Farmhouse.

Phi Gamma Delta administered a 23-7 defeat to Delta Upsilon in League 5, Xi Psi Phi completing the competition with a 35-4 decision over Sigma Alpha Mu.

HUSKER MERMEN FACE GOPHERS IN COLISEUM TODAY

Minor Expects Minnesota to Furnish Toughest Foes of Scarlet Season.

University of Minnesota, constant nemesis of Cornhusker athletics, has come to town in the form of a swimming team which will splash against the aquatic ace of Nebraska in a dual meet this afternoon at 2:30 in the coliseum pool.

This meet is the initial one of the Huskers' 1936 schedule, and is the toughest assignment of the season according to Coach Jack Minor. Coach Thorpe is labeling his Gopher squad "the best in history," which statement bodes trouble for the Cornhuskers. Last season the Huskers won the Big Six swim championship but lost to Minnesota in a nonconference battle at Minnesota.

Nebraska's lineup: 440-yard free style relay team.

Jack Barry, Pete Hagelin, Warren Calland, and either Douglas Dort or John Krause; 200 yard breast stroke, Bib Gibbons and Bob Thornton; 150 yard back stroke, John Gavin and Ralph Ludwig; 50-yard free style, Glynndon Lynde and Bob Thornton; 440-yard free style, John Krause and Pete Hagelin; 100-yard dash, either Warren Calland or Jack Barry; 220 yard free style, Jack Barry and John Krause; 300-yard medley relay, Bob Thornton (breast stroke), Pete Hagelin (back stroke), Glynndon Lynde (crawl stroke); diving, Harry Kuklin and Kelvin Deming.

insurance plan, a $12 yearly outlay obtains for a student insurance against hospital, medical and nursing costs in excess of $10 and not to exceed $250 and for surgical operations not to cost more than $250.

The plan was originated after one student had been killed and five others injured in a recent auto crash. It is contingent upon acceptance by 60 percent of the student body of 1,150 and the insurers have committed themselves for only one year because of a lack of statistical information regarding group insurance on college women.

The policy would be in force during vacations and holidays and for seniors even after they had left the campus.
