

Color Contrast Reflects Margot Style of Dress

Henry III's wife, the madcap Margot, is the source of inspiration for most of the coming spring styles.

The drift is toward interesting and unusual rather than impressive settings. Clips are more popular than ever.

The wasp waist, umbrella sleeve, and extended shoulder line, started by Margot and recreated in the Gibson girl period, are to be again revived.

Hats will be ridiculous to the extreme with high crowns, topped with a flower, a feather, or a whole bird.

Gray, navy blue and Panama rose, a new shade of cerise, are the prominent colors.

Other foreign and historic influences are the Spanish bolero silhouette, the French vermet fullness in front, and the Chinese tunic—all of which will play their part in the spring fashion stage.

Never has there been so much variety in tailored street clothes

PEARLS LEAD SPRING PARADE OF JEWELS

lace of pearls is fashion's latest whim. If it looks like ten cent store jewelry, all the better, for elaborate jewels of any kind, and pearls in particular, are smart this season.

Satisfaction is the reaction of well-dressed coeds to the latest in tailored street clothes.

When it comes to the choice of color, it is best to seek those which are most becoming and to which we are most responsive.

It's smarter to wear three colors this year than two, and they can be quite unrelated.

It is belts such as these that will be worn on light weight wool frocks this spring.

as at the present time. One may be well-dressed in most any combination of plain or plaid material.

Exquisite English box-coats are of sharkskin or flannel or tweed.

For the slim coed a suit with a short cut-away jacket of navy with wide reverses and edges bound with braid is very new.

One very striking coat model is entitled "Cossack General."

It is in navy tweed breasted, with fitted waist that is double breasted with a flare skirt.

70 CANDIDATES REPORT IN KANSAS GRID DRILL

Coach Wes Fry Keeps Sharp Look-Out for Kickers, Penters.

MANHATTAN, Kas., March 12.—Seventy grid candidates have been reporting daily to Wes Fry, head football coach, for spring practice sessions during the past week.

Coach Fry is keeping a sharp lookout for possible kickers and has been busy giving some of the likely prospects some work on punting.

Next fall's team is yet in its embryonic stage, according to a statement by Fry.

Afternoon Frocks Show Variety of Color, Detail

Assembling of Costume Is Important in Creation of Attractive Effect.

Pitfalls are numerous in this season's selection of afternoon attire, so those on the campus who want to list themselves as one of their prime qualities must beware of how they choose their spring costumes.

It's all a matter of how we put our costumes together. Here's an example of what to do to attain that distinctive and sought-after smartness.

Another striking afternoon dress of black wool boasts a black satin jacket, coming to the waist line in front with swallow-tails in back and enormous shirred leg-of-mutton sleeves.

Navy sheer is the basic material of another afternoon dress that will catch the fancy of the most casual observer.

Shirtwaist styles are also at the height of their popularity this season.

There is a chance for every one to look just too utterly wrong, or as smart as smart.

ures or masks, comets, butterflies, fruits, elephants, and horses.

Butoned, and fitted waistlines show a return to the wasp-waists of the Gibson girl era.

The high necklines will be soft and feminine with draped folds, tiny-pleated ruffs, or frilly collars.

chances of taking the trip to New York.

In the absence of Harvey Widman, who is in the hospital recovering from a severe leg infection sustained in a cage scrimmage, and Bob Parsons, the other guard who tripped at the hands of scholastic difficulties, Coach Browne will start Whitaker, Amen, forwards; Ebaugh, center; and Wahquist and Dohrmann, guards.

Others who will make the trip are: Bob Leasco, Larry Nelson, Leland Hale, and Howard Baker.

Drabness in Shoes Out; Dash of Color Brightens Outfits

Drabness in shoes is out and footwear this spring adds a dash of color to somber costumes.

For coeds who like a walk in the crisp, March wind, this shoe was designed. It is of gray buckskin with a rounded toe and low heel. The trimming which starts at the heel and goes around the toe, makes the foot look smaller.

For dressier occasions such as dances, what should be better than the ever popular pump? It is of blue cloth and the only trimming is white piping and a blue and white novelty buckle.

Iowa State Opens Polo Season With Illinois Saturday

AMES, Iowa, March 12.—An indoor polo game between Iowa State college, midwest collegiate champion in the spring of 1935, and the University of Illinois, Big Ten champion, to be played in the Iowa State college armory Saturday night at 7:30 will inaugurate the 1936 season for the Cyclones.

All members of the 1935 championship outfit are back for the team this year and the three-man Cyclone starting lineup, Capt. John Lewis, coach of the team, indicated. The starters for Iowa State will be: No. 1, Richard Dilworth, No. 2, Bayard Scott, No. 3, William Herrmann.

Max Gutshall, letterman; and Walt Smith, Jack Burrell, Bill Fluellen, and Leland Hughes, all sophomores, will be held in reserve.

"The compulsory loyalty oath for teachers is a symptom of 'national nervousness,'" Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of the Association of American Colleges, fondles the nation's pulse.

During these last three days, when the anniversary will be observed by a large concourse of the alumni and friends of the university, colleges and learned societies in all parts of the world have been invited to participate.

"At 17, many high school and preparatory school students are sufficiently mature to enter college," Harvard's Dean of Freshmen Delmar Leighton would lower the legal limit.

Delegates from other institutions will be received as guests of the Harvard undergraduates and will be entertained by them in the houses.

The events concerning the founding of Harvard 300 years ago constitute the beginning of higher education in the United States. On Sept. 8, 1836 (Sept. 18, N. S.) the general court of the company of Massachusetts Bay convened, which on Oct. 28 of the same year voted to establish a college at Newtown, near Boston. Two years later Newtown became Cambridge and the college was named Harvard after John Harvard, a young clergyman who bequeathed to it his library and half his property.

Celebration Program. The events in the establishment of this school, which adjoins Boston, Mass., are the occasion for the celebration to be held during the summer and early autumn of 1936. The program included the tercentenary session of the summer school of arts and sciences and of education, as well as special conferences or institutes offered by other departments of the university. Meetings of several learned societies, the Harvard tercentenary conference of arts and sciences, to be held from Aug. 31 to Sept. 12, and finally the tercentenary days, Sept. 16, 17, and 18, will all be included in the celebration.

Delegates from other institutions will be received as guests of the Harvard undergraduates and will be entertained by them in the houses.

EQUESTRIANES RIDE INFORMALLY IN SPRING SEASON

Horse-minded women may ride this season in the most informal clothes. Whipcord pants and regulation boots are favored over the more formal jodhpur pants and boots.

Many new accessories are being shown in the San Francisco stores. For instance, there is a wide leather belt with compartments for cosmetics, money, comb, etc.

Bright handkerchiefs with designs of horses, dogs, maps of states, hunting scenes are being shown for wear around the neck. String gloves will largely replace heavy leather gloves for spring riding.
