

VOLLEYBALL GOES TO SEMI-FINALS

Beta's, Sig Ep's, Pi K. A.'s Undefeated After Fifth Round of Intramural Competition in Coliseum Wednesday Night.

Three Greek volleyball sextets emerged from the fifth round of competition Wednesday night with a unanimous string of victories and consequently with a cinch on the title of their respective leagues. The three all-victorious clubs thus far are Beta Theta Pi in league one, Pi Kappa Alpha in league 2, and Sigma Phi Epsilon in the third league.

Phi Kappa Psi also has a clean slate thus far in the fourth league although they still have a game remaining to be played before they will have definitely clinched their league title.

Beta Theta Pi did their title clinching last night by virtue of a 2-0 defeat over the Phi Sig aggregation. It was their fifth game of the tournament having already had little trouble disposing of Acacia, Farm House, Sig Chi and Zeta Beta Tau. Thus far they have not been forced into a third game.

League four although it is as yet incomplete rests with Phi Psi in the lead by virtue of victories over

NINE HOUSES NOT IN INTRAMURALS

Greeks Urged to Enter Remaining Sports.

Nine fraternities have yet to enter the five remaining intramural contests on the interfraternity calendar, it was revealed Wednesday by intramural officials.

Greek letter house athletic managers are urged to file entries with the intramural department as soon as possible for golf, tennis, horseshoes, softball, and track. The pairings and schedules will be released as soon as the entry list is completed.

lar positions away from the veterans the outlook is much better than it was a year ago. Amen, George, and Ziegenbein have been putting a lot of steam into their efforts and should get somewhere on interest alone. The only injury so far this season is a broken jaw hung on Bob Behr, sophomore hurler, when he was hit by a line drive off the bat of Wampler.

SPORTS FLASHES: The suggestion has been made that Judge Landis do a little work for the salary he is paid and try to clear up some of these holdouts in the major league. . . Both Nebraska entries in the Golden Gloves finals in New York the other night were dragged over the coals pretty badly before the bell saved them. . . Helen Willis Moody had been working out regularly and plans a big season this summer. She intends to compete in all the important tourneys again this year. . . Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian University forward passer, is supposed to be a first rate baseball pitcher too. . . The tennis troupe that is coming to Lincoln with "Big Bill" Tilden later is putting on some good shows thruout the United States and everyone seems satisfied, according to the reports.

All fraternity debates will be staged in the chapter houses of the fraternities taking part and the barb debates will be held in the rooms of the Palladian society and the Delian union in the Temple.

All teams must debate both sides of the question before the close of the tournament.

ILLNESS LOWERS HUSKER'S RELAY REPRESENTATION

Harwin Dawson Unable to Travel With Other Three To Texas.

Because of the illness of Harwin Dawson, stellar Husker relay man and broadjumper, the Cornhusker delegation to the Texas Relays Saturday was cut down to three men, Coach Schulte announced Wednesday afternoon.

Lloyd Cardwell, Sam Francis, and Harold Jacobsen will be the trio of Nebraskans in the meet. Accompanied by Coach Schulte, they will leave Thursday morning for Austin aboard the Zephyr. The meet will be March 29 with track groups expected from all southern and valley colleges.

Dawson Missed.

The quarter mile and half mile relays were disrupted by the loss of Dawson. Dawson is an old hand in the baton passing business, and Coach Schulte would not attempt to substitute a new man in his place so early in the spring. Two relay races are the most important phases of the meet, and after a coaches meeting Wednesday, it was decided to take Cardwell, Francis, and Jacobsen, all of whom are Big Six champions in indoor competition.

As previously planned, "Cardy" will take part in the broadjump and high hurdles, Sam in the shotput and discus throw, and "Jake" in the century dash.

Weather Favors South.

Southern colleges are far ahead of Nebraska in that they have had favorable weather for over a month, during which time they have been working out-of-doors. They have become orientated with the outdoor elements, while the Huskers have had only a few outdoor rehearsals.

The remainder of the track squad will drill this weekend under Harold Petz and Ed Weir, assistant track coaches, in preparation for the Kansas Relays April 18. A Husker group of twenty or more tracksters will probably attend this meet.

de Bergerac," and that he understudied Walter Hampden in the leading role. During this same eastern stay he played in nearly every eastern city and finally ended up in Chicago where he played for some time with a Shakespearean society.

Now Hart Jenks is returning to his Alma Mater as guest artist to aid in the production of the play that he and Miss H. Alice Howell, dramatic department head, have so long hoped to bring to the city of Lincoln. He is playing the part of the ugly Cyrano who submerges his love in order that he might help a more handsome cadet win the girl with whom he is in love. It is that same role in which Mansfield and Coquelin furthered their already notable glory.

And altho he admits that the production of the work is a tremendous undertaking, Mr. Jenks seems confident that performance will be a success. The cast is one which will approach almost anything that the professional eastern company has to offer, he boasts.

Prizes will be awarded to the three winners of fifty, twenty-five, and ten dollars in order of their ranking in the tournament. Participating in the contest will be ten engineering students from eight Missouri Valley universities.

All engineering students have been invited by Ralph Doubt, president of the local A. S. M. E., to accompany Profs. A. A. Luebs and J. W. Haney to the meeting.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

Omaha's newly formed "N" club is going to try and solve a difficult athletic problem here at Nebraska. It is a known fact that many high school football, basketball, and track stars are going out of the state for their education merely because they are made good offers for their athletic services. What student wouldn't go to a university if all of his tuition and expenses were being paid for? Nebraska has definitely declared against such practices. That leaves the question, "What are we going to do about it?" The newly formed Omaha organization thinks they have the answer. Advertising. Thru advertising they hope to get enough athletes at Nebraska to keep the coaches larger stocked for many years to come. Just how they are going to advertise isn't known, but they will have to do plenty. Just at this time, with Minnesota, Notre Dame, Pittsburg and other colleges with "big time" teams announcing spring turnouts of over 150 men it appears certain that their methods are reaping results and that the Huskers are going to have to do something drastic if they plan to keep up the fine teams they have had for the last few years.

By the way, this is Captain "Biff" Jones' last year with the Bombers. According to an order issued last year by the war department there will be no more army officers allowed to coach athletics at land grant schools. This also removes Major Ralph Sasse as coach at Mississippi. The notice came at the end of Major Sasse's contract, but Jones had another year and he will be allowed to fulfill his contract. His successor hasn't been given much thought yet by the university officials. They know they won't have much trouble getting a list of applicants as soon as they want them.

The all-university boxing tournament was a success despite the scarcity of entries. There is a general belief that only those with a great deal of experience dare enter such a meet. This is the wrong idea. Where else is experience to be gained if not at the bottom? These tourneys provide a fine opportunity for the man new to the boxing game to get the "feel of the ring" which is one of the primary steps in the education of a good boxer. Nebraska offers a fine chance for the newcomer and it is surprising how few of the many who wish to become great fighters take advantage of it.

The Grand National steeplechase, supreme test of horse and horsemen of the world, will be run Friday at Aintree, England. The American-bred Bagatelle II was scratched late Monday, which leaves only six American owned horses in the event. The outstanding contender from the United States is "Pete" Bostwick who will ride Castle Irwell, fourth choice at 16-1. Golden Miller, winner in 1934, remains the favorite at 6-1, with Reynoldstown, winner last year, second choice at 13-2.

Nature has done her best to thwart Coach Bible's plans for a week of passing practice. With strong March winds approaching gales the passers are having a hard time finding their marks. Any pass is bound to look bad after being blown in two or three different directions before it comes to earth. There is little opportunity for the passer to judge his accuracy and the receiver has to whip all over the lot trying to outguess the wind.

The top leaves of all tobacco plants tend to give a definitely harsh, alkaline taste. The bottom leaves tend to acidity in the smoke. It is only the center leaves which approach in nature the most palatable, acid-alkaline balance. In Lucky Strike Cigarettes, the center leaves are used.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.
