

NEBRASKA CAMPUS SOCIAL WHIRL

SEEN OVER THE WEEKEND

What we like about these spring parties is the mixed up couples which make their appearance at all of the best social gatherings. At the Phi Delta party, Charlene Olson, Alpha Phi's pride and joy, gave the Sigma Nu house a break, mostly Irvin Ryan, while Beta Dal Tassie, one of the gal's admirers, returned to his heart interest at the Kappa house, Barbara Damewood. Just to mention a few more slightly new and different combinations we might include Bill Clayton, of photography fame, who escorted Ruth Thygeson, Don Moss and Alice Mae Livingston, and Fran Holman, D. G., who stepped out with Ed Steeves, sworn follower of Theta's Margaret McKay.

Just by the way, we wonder what Paul Amen's motorcycle was doing parked out at the Shrine club the other evening. Doubtless he was dateless, but we just were a little curious.

At last it happened! Dave Deakins' great love for Rita Alger, which he has made known to anyone within earshot, has finally materialized into a date with the charming damsel. Latest reports would indicate that they were having much of a good time together. Something's going to come from that.

Corner dancers were much in evidence, as usual, at this week's parties. We nominate Hank Whitaker as chief corner-dancer-in-charge, with Frank Sears running a close second. Sigma Chi's Bernie McKenney prefers a spot close to the orchestra where he can croon to Virginia Hunt, with whom he has been seen much of late.

SATURDAY afternoon, the active and alumnae chapters of Phi Beta Phi held a bridge benefit. There were thirty tables of bridge. White candles and pink sweet peas in silver baskets were on the tables as decorations. Mrs. O. J. Cain, chairman of the committee in charge, was assisted by Mrs. Gordon Linkart.

A. A. U. W. entertained the senior girls of the university Saturday afternoon at a tea at the governor's mansion. For the program Miss Eunice Egan played several violin selections, accompanied by Miss Margaret Baker. Also one act play was presented by the speech department under the direction of Miss H. Alice Howell. Mrs. Maurice Duetsch and Mrs. J. M. Mayhew were hostesses of the dining room in particular. Mrs. John Cortelyou and Mrs. Lincoln Frost poured. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. F. T. Darrow, chairman, Mrs. Duetsch, Miss Lucille Ledwith, Miss Helen McAnulty, Mrs. Cortelyou, Miss Margaret C. Wilson, Miss Ethel Beattie, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Mayhew, Miss Eleanor Gadd, Miss Berta DeCout, Dean, Miss Lulu Belle Moore, Mrs. T. E. Barger, Miss Marjorie Barstow, Miss Belle Farnam, Mrs. Robert A. Hill and Miss Alice G. Williams.

GAMMA Phi Beta initiation banquet was held Saturday at 6:00 in the chapter house to honor the seventeen initiates. Decorations were in mode and brown, and the flowers were pink carnations. Each initiate wore a corsage.

Bernice Proufe acted as toastmistress. Addresses were made by Glorienne Wigg on "mode and brown," Mercedes Drath on "carnations," Helen Erickson on the "crescent," and Mrs. W. A. Fraser, president of the Lincoln alumni group, who spoke on "Fidelity."

MEN'S FASHIONS NOW PREDOMINATE

Now is the time of year when men's styles are in the limelight even over the girls. The girls blossomed forth in all their spring array a few weeks ago but only during that week have the men on this campus broken forth in loud checks, stripes and good looking gabardines. White and blue sweaters seem to be a favorite with them, especially for school wear; Bob Reddish has a snappy white sweater that brings out the titian hue of his hair and the bright blue of his eyes. Dark and light grey combinations are especially popular for evening wear this season, but if you wish to startle your public, purchase a green suit with some sort of stripe or check running thru it. Jack Shoemaker has a yen for stripes, we have noticed, wearing striped suit, tie, shirt and even striped socks, all at the same time; we wonder if this might not be hard on Doty Lindquist's eyes. Beverly Finkle, another titian blond, blossomed out Friday night in a light tan suit with a touch of color that accentuated the smooth complexion that all the gals have been raving about, and the perfect molding of his nose which should be a pride and joy with him. Watch for these fashion plates now at the spring parties and notice the unusual color combinations they are introducing to us. The Esquire magazine sales must have risen several percent during the past month.

ANOTHER bridge benefit was held Saturday afternoon at the Tri Delta house. Enough for twenty tables were present. Mrs. J. J. Ogle and Mrs. M. H. Baldwin were in charge of the arrangements.

SATURDAY afternoon the Sigma Nu freshmen, accompanied by their favorite girl friends, held their annual freshman picnic. Jack Scott, president of the freshman class, was in charge of all arrangements.

CHAPERONS club will be entertained Tuesday afternoon at the Alpha Phi chapter house at 2:30 o'clock. Hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. Paul Ream, Mrs. Lola C. Hood, Mrs. Gurna Harlan, Mrs. W. A. Brown, Mrs. Frances Felton, Mrs. Dale Boyles, and Mrs. Lee J. Schmittel.

KOTSCHNIG TALKS ON DICTATORSHIP AND EDUCATION

FUCHS HEADS MODERN LANGUAGE ASSOCIATION

(Continued from Page 1). Teachers' college in an address made during the round table discussion led by Prof. Fuchs. The subject of the discussion was "Problems in the Teaching of Modern Language in Nebraska."

Mrs. Sutton speaks. Mrs. Hossie added that "this idea should be emphasized in teaching to impress upon students the importance of modern languages in a well rounded education." On the same subject was the address of Mrs. Louise Sutton of North High School, Omaha. In her talk on "The Place of Conversation in Teaching of Modern Language," she stressed the stimulation of study and instruction from the practical point of view.

The advisability of segregating students of modern languages according to their ability to group the subject, so as not to retard the rate of advancement of the more capable pupils was mentioned and discussed thoroughly during the meeting.

Translation of Faust.

Dr. V. A. McCrossen of Creighton university offered several French translations of Goethe's "Faust," and Col. George A. Skinner, United States army, presented the "Layman's Viewpoint" of the subject. Other addresses were given by Miss Abba Bowen of Brownell Hall and by Miss Annetta Spring of Lincoln high school. The entire convention attended the showing of the famous French film, "La Maternelle," at the Varsity Saturday morning. A luncheon was held at noon followed by the business meeting and election of officers.
