

CANDIDATES FOR MEN'S HONORARY RECEIVE NOTICES

Innocents Society Notifies 35 of Election to Candidacy.

Innocents, senior men's honorary society, has sent out letters to 35 men telling them of their selection to candidacy for the society at the election of April 7, according to Richard Schmidt, president. The method of announcement has been changed this year in order to give those declared ineligible a chance to show that they are eligible.

The 35 men are those who received the most votes at the election, including both those eligible and ineligible. If eligible the candidate was asked to submit by tomorrow evening a list of activities they have participated in. If ineligible, the man was given the reason and a chance to rectify the mistake in case an error had been made at the registrar's office.

In past years the 25 high men have been announced in the Daily Nebraskan, that list being final. The new method has been adopted as fairer, Schmidt said. Any man who feels that he was among the highest candidates and did not receive a letter is requested to get in touch immediately with an Innocent or a member of the faculty committee.

Contents of letters are to be kept confidential. Candidates finally chosen for membership, usually numbering 12 or 13, will be tapped on Ivy day, May 7. The faculty committee includes Prof. E. F. Schramm, interfraternity council; Prof. C. J. Frankforter, innocents; Dean T. J. Thompson; Prof. E. A. Lantz, student council; Prof. S. M. Corey, barb council; and Coach D. X. Bible, athletics.

STUDIO PLAYERS TO STAGE SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL OF PLAYS

Dramatic Department Hopes Bring History, Comedy to University.

University stage patrons have a special treat in store as the Studio Players open a post season run of Shakespearian plays beginning Monday, April 27. The dramatic department is sponsoring the Shakespearian festival, which will continue for the entirety of the week with the hope of bringing before the students of the university a simple performance of historic drama and comedy.

The three plays which will be alternated through the week include: "As You Like It," "MacBeth" and "Merchant of Venice." It is the hope of the sponsors of the notable repertoire of productions that they are sufficiently successful to justify inaugurating the week as an annual occurrence. Miss H. Alice Howell, head of the department of dramatics, said.

Altho the complete casts for the productions will not be announced until a later edition, early rehearsals indicate that the studio players are offering its patrons everything that they could hope for in a university presentation of the kind. Hart Jenks, who is with the department this year as an assistant, and who has previously starred in "Cyrano de Bergerac" with the University Players, will enact the role of Shylock in the production of "The Merchant of Venice."

FINAL INNING ERRORS COST NEBRASKA LOSS TO SOONER NINE, 6-3

Wild Throws Give Oklahoma Victory; Spurlock Holds For Eight Frames.

Nebraska suffered her second straight setback in the Big Six baseball wars when two errors and a home run by Pitcher Clark broke up a tight ball game at Norman Tuesday afternoon and gave Oklahoma a 6-3 victory.

Jerry Spurlock, Wilbur Knight's ace left-hander, went the route for Nebraska and gave up five hits, only one thru the sixth inning. His mates got to Clark for a pair of runs in the fourth and another in the sixth to wipe out one scored by Oklahoma in the third.

The Sooner bats got to work in the eighth and brought in a frame of markers to even the count at 3-all.

The Nebraskans failed to connect in their half of the last inning, and Clark won his own ball game by parking the ball out of the lot after two wild throws had put two men on base.

Spurlock had the "Indian" sign on the Sooners up to the eighth inning. His drops and fast-breaking curves set them down one-two-three until he weakened in the last two frames. Score by innings:

Nebraska	000	201	000-3
Oklahoma	000	001	000-6

Batteries: Nebraska: Spurlock and Pohlman; Oklahoma: Clark and Steinbock.

350,000 STUDENTS TO ANSWER PEACE CALL

Anti-War Strike to Occur At 11 a. m. April 22 Thruout Nation.

NEW YORK. (ACP). More than 350,000 students, high school as well as college, are expected to answer the anti-war strike call at 11 a. m. on April 22, according to Joseph P. Lash, executive secretary of the American Student Union.

"In addition to an impressive sponsoring committee, we are confident that the strike will be supported on local campuses by wider, more inclusive strike committees than we have ever before been able to rally," Lash said.

The first student strike against war was held in 1934 and sponsored by the National Student League for Industrial Democracy. It was supported by 25,000 students, but the next year saw 175,000 demonstrating in nearly 200 schools and colleges. The current war scare in Europe and internal factors such as the huge 1936 military appropriations will bring an even greater increase this year, backers of the strike predict.

TRACKSTERS TRY TO LOWER MARKS IN RELAY EVENTS

'Pa' Schulte Sends Huskers Thru Paces Preparing for Drake Meet.

With the annual Drake Relays as the objects of their efforts, the Cornhusker track and field team put in a full day's work Tuesday under the critical eyes of Coach Henry F. Schulte and his track assistants.

A number of individual trial runs were made in an attempt to lower the various running times. Bob Morris circled the track five laps in 6:06.4 with Chet Beaver trailing his heels by a few yards. Bob West ran the mile distance in 4:39.2. Running later, both Morris and Beaver completed the 440 yard distance in :55.5.

Racing for the fun of it, Lloyd Cardwell beat out Harold Jacobsen by a few scant yards in the 300 yard distance. "Carly's" time was 34 seconds.

Coach Schulte is planning on taking a track team of twenty men to the famed Drake Relays with hopes of doing as well as they did at Kansas last week. Drake always draws the cream of the crop in the realm of track and field stars from all over the country, and Nebraska will have its stiffest competition of the year there. Texas University, who beat the Huskers out of several first places at Kansas, is expected to attend the Penn Relays, which should provide the Nebraska team with more opportunities at Drake.

Wednesday, the Schultemen are slated to go thru their paces again in their final home workout before they leave Thursday afternoon for Des Moines. All Huskermen will be suited up to participate for the Wednesday workout, and final selection of the team that will go to Drake will be made after the workout.

ATHLETIC SUBSIDIZING SUBJECT OF STUDENT DISCUSSION THURSDAY

Committee Chairman Marsh Announces Topic of General Interest.

Opportunity will be given students to voice their criticisms and opinions of a topic of growing interest on university campuses thruout the country, when the student forum meets on Thursday morning of this week. The subject which has been chosen by the student council committee is "Subsidizing of Athletics."

The forum is scheduled for 11:00 on Thursday at Temple.

The practice of buying outstanding members to take part in various sports so as to improve the college and success of the teams is not a new subject on the Nebraska campus. With the increasing popularity of this plan at many universities, there has been discussion of it here. Nebraska has always been opposed to this policy.

"This topic was chosen because of its natural interest in the student body," stated Bill Marsh, chairman of the committee in charge of preparations. He added that it was believed the forum could make more interesting if subjects were taken which were in closer contact to students than those heretofore discussed, such as the "New Deal," and others.

PARIS, Apr. 21.—Henry R. Cutler of Mount Hermon, Mass., who will be 75 years old in May, is the oldest student at the University of Paris.

He holds a D. C. L. (Syracuse), L.L.D. (Wesleyan), and an L. H. D. from the M. D. is lacking. To add those two additional letters after his name, Cutler is pursuing his medical course here, a regularly inscribed student at the Faculty of Medicine.

The American, who is father of six children and the grandfather of 20, hopes to get his degree in 1938. This is not the first time that Cutler has studied in Paris. He was here in 1887 at the Sorbonne. In 1890 he became principal of the well known preparatory school for boys at Mount Hermon, remaining in his post 42 years.

"Grandfather" Cutler is popular with younger students. Despite his advanced years, he receives no favors and follows the regular curriculum.—(College News Service).

DR. AITKEN STRESSES VALUE OF LOOKING TO LIFE'S BRIGHTER SIDE

Pastor Speaks 'On Art of Seeing Things' at Vespers.

Emphasizing the desirability of looking on the bright side of life, Dr. W. Aitken, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist church of Lincoln spoke on the subject of "The Art of Seeing Things" at the Y. W. vesper services held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

Dr. Aitken's discussion was given in the form of a discursive review of literature, beginning with the period in which Dante's writing's appeared and continuing down to the literature of the last century. Thruout his presentation Dr. Aitken stressed the fact that altho writing had once been largely of a sadder tone, the writing of the last few centuries had shifted toward themes of a happier nature.

Dante, Bunyan, Shakespeare, and Browning were a few of the outstanding authors of the earlier periods which the speaker discussed, giving in his discussion excerpts from well-known writings of the various authors. Poets of later centuries which Dr. Aitken included in his review were: Dunbar, Carlyle, Eliot, and Stevenson. He used Stevenson as an outstanding example of a man who wrote as if it were his duty to be happy, in spite of almost unendurable hardships.

Devotions for the meeting, relating to the theme which Dr. Aitken developed were in charge of Pat Lehr, member of the Y. W. vesper staff and a freshman. Y. W. cabinets and special musical numbers were offered by the vesper choir under the direction of Margaret Phillippe and Jane Hopkins, pianist of the vesper choir played a prelude of several numbers for the service.

Jane Keefe, president of the university Y. W. announced that the next vesper services would be held in conjunction with members of the Y. W. on the ag campus and would be held at 4 o'clock in ag hall, with Dr. Henry Nelson Wieman, professor of religious philosophy at the University of Chicago, as guest speaker.

Willa Cather Studied in Leanto

Famous Writer Built Own Study Hall

Fraternity and sorority members can take a suggestion from Willa Cather, famed Nebraska writer, who could not concentrate when others were making any noise, so she had a leanto built against the barn for her moments of study.

This incident with others are told in an account of the authoress in the April Nebraska Alumnus. In this leanto were a couch, a stove, and shelves holding books. The small building which once protected periods of study and incubation of knowledge which have been translated into internationally read literature, has now been demoted to a position out in the country beside a garage.

Wrote Simple Clothes. Comfort was the policy for clothes that was adopted by Miss Cather when she entered the university. She wore simple, easily-donned shirts and short skirts. She was among the first bobbed-haired coeds of the nation.

Her ambitions were first to be a lawyer, caused by an acquaintance with a lawyer. From this she shifted to the undertaker business, bending her energies toward

HORSE SHOW WILL VIE WITH PAGEANT AT FARMERS' FAIR

Give Only One Performance of 'Cerialia' at Show.

Replacing one performance of the all college pageant "Cerialia," the main feature of the Farmer's Fair, the horse show, planned on a much more extensive scale than ever before, will vie with the pageant in importance, according to Clyde White, manager of the show.

White makes an appeal to all organized women's groups on the campus to give serious consideration to choosing candidates, as the filing date will be open soon. A limited number of entries will be chosen this year, making it necessary for groups to file as soon as possible.

Fashion Parade Feature. Another feature of the Fair, new this year, is the fashion parade, in which girls will model clothes made in textile classes, and also dresses donated from various Lincoln stores. Elinor McFadden is chairman of this committee, and promises a novel presentation, as the show is scheduled to be held outdoors. Genevieve Bennett and Carol Wilder will assist Miss McFadden, with the help of fifteen girls chosen from clothing classes.

Paul Pierce and Darrell Bauder are co-chairmen of the men's exhibition, which will include an extensive livestock parade. The most superior cattle, horses, hogs, sheep and poultry belonging to Ag college will be exhibited, according to Pierce.

WRITER MUST KNOW SUBJECT, MISS MOTZ TELLS JOURNALISTS

Theta Sigma Phi Members Hear Review of Rebecca Tasker's Article.

"A writer must know what he's writing about," is the one admonition emphasized by Mary Lou Motz in her review at the meeting of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism sorority, of an interview with Sophie Kerr that was printed in a recent issue of "The Matrix," official publication of Theta Sigma Phi.

The article "Writing is not a Game," which was written by Rebecca Scott Tasker, tells of the famous fiction writer's views on how to write successful. Sophie Kerr, an honorary member of Psi chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, stressed the fact that problems must be conquered by the writer herself. She believes, according to Miss Motz's report, that writing is hard and that concentrated effort is necessary.

Logical Fiction Required. "It's absurd to use a background or invent characters which are entirely foreign to all his experience," Sophie Kerr states with regard to the young writer should choose as a subject. "All details, all facts presented must be checked over for trouble. Incidents from real life are, curiously enough, usually very unreal when put into fiction. Fiction must be logical, inevitable—and real life is seldom either."

Miss Motz included a mention of the two warnings issued by Sophie Kerr: (1) "Propaganda in stories is usually resented by the reader and, (2) Be yourself. If a writer finds that she is imitating some well known writer or group of writers she should change her reading. Quality must come from within; it cannot come from without."

"It is good for a young writer not to be too egotistical. The she has done her best writing and has still to be Shakespeare, Milton, Cervantes. It is great to aim at the stars; it is wise not to claim that you have dimmed them."

Appoint Committees. As part of the business at the meeting the president, Harriet Rosenfeld, read excerpts from the constitution of Theta Sigma Phi, for the benefit of the new members that were present for the first time. She also told of the organization's official publication and of its founding.

Committees were appointed to write feature articles on various subjects of campus interest to be sold to a newspaper. The proceeds from these articles will help to defray expenses of sending a delegate to the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi which is to be held in the near future. Four were appointed to each committee as follows: Virginia Chain and Sarah Louise Meyer, co-chairmen, Virginia Anderson, and Joyce Liehendorfer, Mary Lou Motz and Ruth McNalley, co-chairmen, and Marian Edgren and Beverly Weaver, Jean Walker and Dorothea Fulton, co-chairmen, Eleanor Clizbe, and Dorothy Bentz.

The group made plans at the meeting to hold a literary session in about two weeks. The next regular meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, April 28, at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

California Students Win Silver Cups for Best Ability in Lying Wrote Best Composition.

Berkeley, April 21.—Robert W. Brown, a junior, and Miss Dorothy Hoy, a freshman, both of Oakland, this week were the winners of silver loving cups, which showed they were the best liars in the annual University of California liars contest.

Here is Brown's story: "I was once in Greenland, buried beneath an avalanche. Somehow, I managed to get a tire pump. I proceeded to pump air until the avalanche burst and I was free. The mass of ice started to roll down hill, gathering kinetic energy as it traveled. Then I built a chute and poured some gasoline into it. The gasoline, too, collected kinetic energy and when it met the ice mass an oil well was formed."

"Truthfully speaking, I've been living off it ever since."

SALTER TALKS ON PEACE AT Y.M.C.A. DINNER THURSDAY

Member English Parliament Discusses National Movement.

Dr. Alfred Salter, member of the British parliament and of the London county council, will be the outstanding speaker at a luncheon Thursday noon at the city Y. M. C. A., sponsored by the Emergency Peace Campaign. At a mass meeting on the evening of the same day at 7:45 in St. Paul church, Dr. Salter will speak again, as will Rev. Franklin J. Kennedy, pastor of Simpson M. E. church in Minneapolis and Miss Laura E. Aspinwall, national director of student work of the United Missionary society. Dr. Salter has distinguished himself not only as a member of parliament, for his medical career is well-known. As a medical student in London university, he took triple first class honors in medicine, obstetrical, and forensic medicine. This record has never been repeated by a successive graduate. He ranked first in all England in his M. D. examination in 1896. For three years he was bacteriologist in charge of the antitoxin department of the British institute of Preventive Medicine.

Studied in America. In 1900 he gave up scientific work and settled as a poor man's doctor in Bermondsey, the poorest industrial district in England. The terrible living conditions that he found in Bermondsey led him to take an interest in civic reform, and later in national affairs.

Miss Aspinwall holds a B. E. E. degree granted by Auburn School of Religious Education at Auburn, N. Y., and has also done graduate work at the University of Chicago. "I became vitally interested in the peace movement," she says, "in connection with an R. O. T. C. scurrage at the University of Nebraska some ten years ago. When working with students at the University of New Hampshire I engaged in a long campaign to establish the right of a conscientious objector on that campus. I have given considerable time to discussion of the problem of war, with students and our young people's groups."

Miss Aspinwall is affiliated with the Discipline Peace Fellowship and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Promote Peace Campaign.

Dr. Kennedy is a graduate of Wesleyan university and the University of Rochester. He received the degree of D. D. from Allegheny college. He is an active member of the Methodist Federation for Social Service, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, and numerous local organizations.

The meetings are being arranged for the purpose of promoting a cooperative national campaign to keep the United States from going to war by "strengthening pacific alternatives to armed conflict, to support of such a liberal and economic measures as are essential to a just and peaceable world order, recruiting and uniting in a dynamic movement all organizations and individuals who are opposed to war."

The launching of the emergency peace campaign in Lincoln will be under the auspices of the Lincoln Peace Council, and the World Fellowship Council.
