

NEBRASKA CAMPUS SOCIAL WHIRL

SEEN ON THE CAMPUS.

"The show must go on" in spite of the many difficulties encountered by the cast of "Southern Exposure".... Billiamina Strong, the heroine of the production, finds herself continuously pursued by admiring romances; but why not? The flowing green evening dress that adorns him, I mean, her, is most alluring and captivating. Thurston Phelps manages to start a romance with a different make-up girl each evening making it very difficult for the girl to get his eyes penciled and his lips rouged in time for the first curtain. Jack Pace does his best to keep order backstage but his attempts prove futile—reason: Molly Carpenter is usually entertaining the resting actors with her crazy antics and impersonations, thus leaving Mr. Pace somewhat in the background. There seems to be quite a conflict in the Temple keeping Kosmet Show and Shakespearean casts separated. Marjorie Bannister and Virginia Amos wander about aimlessly trying to find their fellow play-actors to practice scenes from "As You Like It" with them. In the stagecraft room some of the stage design class members are busy every night with poster lettering and who should be helping them Wednesday night but John Chalmers who says his specialty is lettering (you should have seen the result) also we are wondering who is taking care of his new addition to the S. A. E. family. He claims that colie pups have always been a favorite with him and managed to get one that the Phi Phis had up for auction. Joe Schramek and Dick Schauffstal have been hired as the little thing's private nurses. Getting back to the Temple we find Bill Garlow counting the money over and over again trying to make everything come out even, and the pony chorus using a jar of cold cream apiece, trying to remove all traces of that "school-girl" complexion, in order to be on the Temple steps in time to meet their gals after the show.

Around Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In flood and tornado stricken states youth and NYA projects have been performing yeoman service. WFA and NYA headquarters here report that in flood swept and windwhipped towns, north and south, NYA workers did valuable emergency work. Serving as runners and messengers, boatman, truck drivers, guards and amateur firemen and nurses, young people transferred from NYA projects to specially created emergency projects gave a good account of themselves in aiding to avert danger, and later, to relieve suffering.

Last Monday Washington's youngest son set swarmed across the white house lawn to take part in this town's juvenile social function, the annual Easter egg rolling. Practically all taboos were declared null and void as the white house policemen stood around with jovial grins watching tow headed toddlers, be-furberled pickaninies, freckled faced little boys and starchy little girls rolling around the grounds making divots of the well kept lawn, climbing trees, pummeling each other in an ecstasy of excitement, doing practically everything but rolling eggs. Democracy was in full flower bearing strong resemblance to a riot in a colossal kindergarten. Adults unaccompanied by children could not enter and stood outside the gates looking on at Very Young America on the loose.

Witnesses, one of whom was your correspondent, saw evidence of racketeering, raising its ugly head to mar the scene. Mrs. Blair Bannister, wife of Treasury under-secretary, asked a policeman at one of the gates whether she

SEEN IN THE WINGS.

Kitty Huwaldt and Harvey Coyse together a lot... George Scott exhibiting a beautiful sunburn... Helen Jane Johnson and John Groth having a bit of a tete-a-tete in one of the more quiet places... Virginia Anderson and Harriett Hoenig roller skating... Clarissa Bennet and Al Clarke careening widely around corners in Al's little run-about... Ebby Broady driving a slick blue V-8... Sancha Kilbourne embarrassingly inquiring as to the whereabouts of magazines in the library... Charles Reilly wishing for a motorcycle... Jack Nicholas playing hide-and-seek in the green house... everybody humming tunes from the Kosmet show... Jay Campbell tearing to history quiz section... Francis Boldman taking time out for a coke between meetings... D. U's enjoying their morning walk to school... Don Blunt preferring solitude at the Kosmet show... and everyone starting in on the grind for exams.

NEW officers of Sigma Chi are Floyd Baker, president; Robert Houston, vice president; James Baer, secretary; Stanley Blackburn, treasurer, and Max Horn, magister.

GIRLS of the Palladian literary society will entertain other members at the annual banquet Saturday evening. The banquet will consist of a three course progressive dinner, the first course to be at the home of Jean Marvin, the second at the home of Gladys Swift, and the third at Lydia Newell's home. The theme for the banquet is to be "The Old South" and will be carried out in the menu, table decorations, and program. Betty Anderson is chairman of the committee in charge of general arrangements for the affair. About 65 are expected to be present.

DELTA Sigma Lambda announces the pledging of Wesley Evans of Norfolk.

self told Davidson that after he left the white house

he would be fun to sell cheeses and pate de foie gras in a little shop they both knew of in Paris. Republicans pointed out that they would be only too glad to arrange matters in the coming election so that the president might gratify his whim. The number one dealer is cracking under the strain, they opined, if he's beginning to dream wishfully of the life of a cheese merchant. One thing the story, as run by the papers, seems to have overlooked. A fact that eliminates present significance from the tale. And that is that it all took place two years ago, in 1934.

SALTER FAVORS COMPLETE FREE TRADE IN WORLD

if the people of Japan are to enjoy a tolerable existence, the country needs to export ten million persons. Japan is following the evil example set by the European nations and has made no secret of her intentions.

In speaking of Italy, Dr. Salter remarked on his visit to that country that she has been in America scarcely more than 48 hours, confirmed by asserting that if there had been no Hitler and no Mussolini, all economists are agreed that with the desperate conditions a crash would have to come sooner or later. He disclosed an opinion that the countries were to some extent justified in their present actions.

"Men would rather fight than starve," he reminded his listeners, quoting statistics to show the unequal distribution of the necessities of life among the nations of the world. Like America's pacifist Frederick Libby, he sees the world divided into the two unequal groups, the "haves" and the "have-nots."

Must Solve Problem.
"As long as this problem remains unsolved, there can be no peace," he stated and it is because of this that he came to the conclusion that "war is certain" unless some opportunity is made for nations to sell their products in the world market and possibly to buy, or, in a general way, unless all nations practice the Christian doctrine of good will.

Miss Aspinwall praised the newly organized organization of Veterans of Foreign Wars and showed her enthusiasm in the ability of youth to carry on in the great task of working for world peace.

Dr. Kennedy, in his address, spoke of the three attitudes toward the peace question: the attitude of those who believe in peace at any price, of those who believe in armaments, and of those who oppose armaments, but reserve the right to fight in defense of their country.

TIME FILMS PICTURES OF FUTURE WAR CLUBS

Screen Program Tells Story Of Princeton Founded Organization.

By The Associated Collegiate Press.
NEW YORK CITY.—The story of the organization and growth of the country's latest phenomenon, the serio-comic Veterans of Future Wars, which has spread from Princeton university to most campuses throughout the country, is dramatically told as one of the principal episodes of the new March of Time on the screen released nationally April 17.

Although scarcely two months old, the "Veterans," brain child of three Princeton undergraduates with an hilarious idea of prepaid patriotism and a bonus before they fight, now has more than 20,000 members and 144 posts over the country.

March of Time.
The March of Time turns its cameras first on the university and college undergraduates today, much more aware than was his father of the world outside. It shows the political clubs which exist on every campus and the interests of the youth who must fight the next war. Marching across the world's front pages they see the armed forces of Europe and hear in new terms the old story of 1914. They know of the activities of the Veterans and their fights for bonuses.

The episode shows the start of the Veterans of Future Wars and the sensation it caused at Princeton. Soon 50 schools had organized and an office had been opened in the corridors of the national capitol appeared a new kind of lobbyist to buttonhole politicians. As veterans and bonus advocates strike back, the idea behind the national travesty is shifting and broadening. The profiteers of future wars and other similar groups are organized.

Pranks Assume Importance.
Today, however, the undergraduate pranks have begun to take on a deeper significance. As the Veterans of Future Wars incorporate in New Jersey and become a new national youth movement, the film points out that they are potentially capable of killing, thru ridicule, many a warped idea that today menaces the peace of the world.

Several hundred college students took part in making the film and camera crews were sent to the campuses of Princeton, Rensselaer Polytechnic at Troy, N. Y.; and Sarah Lawrence college at Bronxville, New York, in order that every part of it might be authentic.

It is the first time that the March of Time has devoted an episode to the activities of the undergraduate and it will be of interest to students everywhere as a photographic record of their interests this past semester.

J. D. HICKS TO SPEAK ON NEW FRONTIERS AT TODAY'S CONVOCATION

"He left the presidency in a blaze of glory, still a young man. Probably no president had ever enjoyed holding office so well. He was not a successful ex-president and doubtless regretted repeatedly that he gave up the office when he could have held it. Perhaps this sudden death in 1920 was all that kept him from another nomination and election. What the course of history would have been had Roosevelt been president instead of Harding, no man will ever know."

Prof. J. L. Sellers, of the university history department, and president of the association, is presiding over the convention.

Nominees May File for Spring Election May 4

Filings for nominees in the annual spring elections will be open May 4 to May 8. Three members of the publications board and thirty student council members will be chosen.

All potential candidates are advised to clear up all disputes as to eligibility which may arise before that date. Irving Hill, president of the student council under whose supervision the elections are held, suggests that all organized groups be considering worth while candidates for office.

The elections will be held Tuesday, May 12.

ing pacifism, avoid the red and communist labels which American youth movements are in constant jeopardy from." Dr. Salter dismissed it with "There are too many intellectuals, really leaders of the country, to endanger a laborite being called a 'red' and having anyone take it seriously."

A third party in America, built along the same lines as the British labor party, is very possible, Dr. Salter believes. But he hesitates to say what agencies will organize it, since he is not acquainted with the American political situation. He arrived in New

RADIO REVIEW

Outstanding events in two of the most important track meets of the season, the Penn Relays at Franklin Field in Philadelphia and the Drake Relays at Drake University Stadium, Des Moines, Iowa, will be broadcast over the CBS chain today and Saturday. Ted Husing, Columbia's ace sports announcer, will describe the Philadelphia meet, and John Harrington of WBBM, Chicago, will announce the events at Des Moines. Important events on Friday's card from the Penn Relays include the 400 meter run at 1:15 o'clock; the quarter mile at 2 o'clock; Saturday at the Drake meet there will be the special 1,500 meter race between Cunningham, Sears and Williamson which will be broadcast at 3:30, and the one mile college relay championship of America from the Penn Relays at 3 o'clock.

Carol Gibbons, internationally known band leader, will direct the British Broadcasting Corporation Orchestra and a group of headline artists in a revue broadcast from London this afternoon from 12:30 to 1:00 p. m. over WOW.

What they won't think of next! Just how fried chicken tastes and sounds when served and eaten 5,500 feet in the clouds has been investigated by Willis Cooper and Willard Farnum, author and actor of "Flying Times," popular aviation dramatic serial. Cooper, in the interests of realism, arranged the flight with United Air Lines. For an hour Cooper and Farnum were transported over Chicago and Lake Michigan in a Boeing transport plane, while they ate, listened to the correct sounds for a future script and noted every possible detail of the serving.

Cooper discovered that a meal served on a modern transport plane sounds different from a meal served anywhere else. A special composition is used for plates and cups and when a fork touches one, it is a "soft knock" instead of the usual clinking sound of cutlery and china.

ANN HARDING, ONE OF HOLLYWOOD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL SCREEN STARS

Ann Harding, one of Hollywood's most beautiful screen stars; the Yacht Club boys, popular night club quartet; two members of the Olympic basketball team, and Lillian Emerson, young movie star, will be Smith Ballew's guests during the weekly Chateau program tonight at 8:30 over WOW.

During the program Miss Harding will present a special radio dramatic version of one of her pictures, "Holiday." Miss Emerson came to the attention of motion picture executives when she played as Clark Gable's leading lady in a radio drama last fall. Within a few months she received a movie contract.

Frank Lubin and Carl Knowles, captain and forward respectively, of the Universals Pictures basketball team which will be the American Olympic team at Berlin this summer, will be interviewed by Ballew. The Yacht Club boys achieved fame in New York Night clubs and their continued popularity led to a motion picture contract. They will sing the latest tunes in their own manner while Ballew will offer current song hits accompanied by Victor Young and his orchestra.

The 43rd annual running of the Maryland Hunt Cup Race, one of the most spectacular and difficult events in the world for amateur riders, will be described Saturday afternoon over an NBC network including WOW.

The race will be held in the Worthington valley, about 20 miles from Baltimore, and will be broadcast by Clem McCarthy, NBC sports expert, from 2:45 to 3:15 p. m.

Donald Woods and Anita Louise handle the romantic leads in "The Story of Louis Pasteur" which is now showing at the Lincoln Theatre with Paul Muni playing the role of the famous scientist.
