

NEBRASKA CAMPUS SOCIAL WHIRL

SEEN ON THE CAMPUS.

Jane Barbour alternating between the Phi Delta and Beta house. Mildred Lawrence looking very wise about D. U.'s and candy passing. Rosemary Anderson wishing that parking spaces were about two feet longer. Marian Floppert and Max Coover together a lot of late. Gordon Ultri being conspicuous in a bright green shirt (which we suspect belongs to Bob Funk). Tri Deltis doing some kind of a spring dance in the back yard. Jim Howell braving rain and hail to see Sally Flotree. Ruth Sears and Dale Oder talking things over in a cozy corner. El Farrell holding down a parking space for one of her friends. Members of typography class wading in miniature lakes in the basement of U hall. Everyone making plans to go roller skating Wednesday evening. Koemet show members planning a good time in Grand Island this weekend. Bunkey Hill tearing around in the rain with trouser cluffs well above his ankles. Fred Graham trying to hang on outside of someone's little runabout. And everyone glad of an excuse not to have to go to class.

WARNING TO WOMEN-HATERS.

Whether it's the time of year or just certain people, the "going steady" bug has certainly made its presence known along fraternity and sorority row. No longer is it smart to be true to two or more; rather, steadfast devotion to the one and only is to be preferred. A brand new combination is that of Eileen Donley and Doug Dort, Elinor Rickel and Bob Hilsback have been steady company for each other for a long time. It will probably last until Elinor wicks Bob's little "chevie" coupe. Marylu Williams has been Darwin Liggitt's one and only for quite awhile, too. Whenever you wish to find Floyd Baker, the only logical thing to do, it seems, is to inquire as to Betty Magee's whereabouts. There are several couples who are expected to take the fatal step, for instance, Helen Catherine Davis and Jack Scott, Virginia Fleetwood and Rob Ramey, "Whitey" Reed and Jackie Reynolds, and Marylu Swartz and Paul Reichstadt. There is much speculation as to when certain men on the campus will choose from the flocking admirers. John Chalmers is having a terrible time making up his mind as is Bernie McKeerney and even Delos Gay. Evidently they can't be true to less than two.

CHEMISTS DISCOVER NEW EXPLOSIVE MADE FROM ORDINARY CORN

Dr. Bartow of Iowa Says Product for Tunnel, Mine Blasting.

(By College News Service.)
IOWA CITY, Ia., April 28.—Discovery of a process by which commercial production of a new type of high explosive made from ordinary corn is possible this week was disclosed by Prof. Edward Bartow, chairman of the University of Iowa chemistry department.

The new blasting agent is derived, he said, from a waste product—inositol—which is obtained from the water in which corn has been soaked, during the process of manufacturing cornstarch.

Dr. Bartow predicted that the new explosive would be found valuable in mine and tunnel work, for excavations and for other commercial uses.

The waste product, inositol, in itself a white, harmless, sugar like substance and about as sweet as sugar to the average taste, is also being tried clinically as a possible sugar substitute in the diet of diabetics. The new explosive was developed by Professor Bartow in association with Dr. W. W. Wexer, a graduate student.

Until now the corn-sugar substance was one of the rarest laboratory curiosities, only five pounds of it a year having been available for experimental purposes. The process of extraction was so difficult and costly that its price was $500 a pound. While its possibilities as an explosive were known, its costliness and rarity made it highly impracticable.

The new process, Prof. Bartow reported, made it possible to extract as much as a million pounds a year at a reasonable cost that brings the product within the realm of commercial manufacture. Explosive manufacturers here and in Germany, he revealed, have inquired about samples of the substance for experiments.

BETAS TAKE ATO'S IN 3 TO 5 CONTEST

Teams Tie Score Twice in Muddy Battle.

Beta Theta Pi, in a hard fought 5-3 contest with Alpha Tau Omega Tuesday emerged from a sea of mud as champions of league three in the intramural baseball competition.

The postponed early in the afternoon because of rain, the game was held as previously scheduled despite mud and high water. The score was twice tied, 2-2 at the end of the fifth and 3-3 at the end of the sixth inning. Two runs by the Betas in the first half of the seventh cinched their triumph in the league competition.

Two husky Betas received unexpected baths when a crafty A. T. O. slugger placed a short grounder between shortstop and pitcher into a puddle twenty feet square and five inches deep.

Outstanding players for the Betas were Nolte, Walquist, Whitaker and McGuire, while Dick and George Cullen, Pickens and Laughlin played an outstanding game for the losing A. T. O.'s.

METHOD USED. Credit for paving the way for the discovery that Camels promote digestion goes to Pavlov, the great physiologist. Recent investigation confirms Camel's beneficial effect.
