FISCHER FIGHTS FOR 'REAL UNION' BEFORE COUNCIL

Student Building Advocate Demands Theater in Campus Center.

"Let's build a real Student Union building that will meet the needs as the center of activities for all time to come, or let's not build one at all. To have a real Union building, we must have a theater."

These forceful words were offered by Jack Fischer, past editor of the Daily Nebraskan and one of the leading advocates of a Student Union building on this campus, at a meeting of the building committee of the Student Council attended by W. F. Wilson, architect for the proposed building.

No Theater Planned.

At present, the E-shaped building submitted with the PWA application has no facilities for the construction or the addition of a theater, added Fischer. "Last year, at the request of this committee, Mr. Wilson drew up a set of plans for an L-shaped building which would allow for the addition of a theater at any time which it might be available."

Fischer commented on the size of the ballrooms planned for the E-shaped building, declaring that they will not be large enough. He also stated his belief that although the building should be built for utility first, it should have something out of the ordinary as all other Union buildings do.

Build in Units.

"If the building we want and need cannot be built for $400,000, let it be built in units," was Fischer's closing remark. "If the students will work and keep interest in the building alive, some day they will have all the units of the building complete and as a result there will be a Student Union building of which we can all be justly proud."

CLOSED SECTIONS BEGIN THURSDAY STATES CONGDON

Registration Exceeds Last Year; Students Advised Choose Courses Soon.

As registration proceeds, faster than at this time last year, but slower than in February, the first list of closed sections will be issued to instructors this morning. Dr. A. R. Congdon, chairman of the assembly committee, reported. There is a possibility that college registration, expected to close Wednesday, may remain open today because of the last minute rush.

"Beginning Thursday there will be closed sections," Dr. Congdon stated. "The longer the students wait, the smaller the choice of classes and instructors they'll have." He expected between 2,500 and 3,000 students to register before Saturday noon, the deadline set for registration.

A re-registration fee of $3 will be charged next fall to all students who fail to submit their applications this week. Fees will be paid in person or by mail, to the finance secretary's office not later than Sept. 3, 1936; otherwise a late registration fee will be charged. Each student will receive a mailed statement of his fees before Aug. 15, or if he does not, he is requested to notify the registrar's office.

The customary procedure is being followed in registering. The student will obtain his credit book from the registrar with his identification card. With the aid of his advisor he will then fill out an application. When it has been approved by the advisor, the form will be left, together with a statement of outside activities, with the dean of the student's respective college.

New students and those not in school this semester will register in the coliseum in the fall, beginning Sept. 15 and 16.

VAN ROYEN WILL SHOW TWO SWISS PICTURES

Public May Attend Showing of Films at Former Museum Tonight.

Two films of Switzerland, "The Furka-Oberalp Railway" and "Arosa and Its Surroundings," will be shown Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in Former Museum, room 105. Dr. Wilhelm Van Royen, assistant professor of geography, will present an explanatory discussion as the films progress.

One picture shows scenes in and around Arosa, winter sports center in the Alps. The second film is a pictorial journey by rail along the Bernese Oberland, from the upper Rhone valley to the valley of the upper Rhine.

The films, first shown Tuesday night, are loaned to the geography department by the Swiss Federal Railways. It is the plan of the department to show one or two films of foreign countries every year, according to Dr. Van Royen. The showing this morning is open to the public.

LAWYERS FORM ASSOCIATION TO UNIFY STUDENTS

Nebraska Law School Group To Promote Class Friendship.

Formation of the Nebraska Law School Students association, a self-perpetuating organization open to all law students, was announced and outlined Wednesday by Bill Deakins, president of the senior law class and acting head of the new group.

Conceived by Dean Henry H. Foster as an agency to promote friendship among the law classes and to integrate law school activities, a constitution was accepted by an assembly of the lawyers some weeks ago, now complete except for adoption of by-laws and election rules.

Club Room Provided.

A large room on the second floor of the law building has been taken over by the association, redecorated, and furnished with upholstered metal furniture, purchased with voluntary one dollar membership dues. The rooms may be used by any law student, whether member of the association or not.

Activities will be confined to such school activities as sponsoring the annual law school day, management of club court trials, and the law school banquet, according to Deakins. The association is governed by a board of directors, composed of class presidents as ex-officio members, and two representatives from each class.

Directors this year are Bill Deakins, senior president; Meredith Nelson and Harry West, senior representatives. Junior president is Vernon Clemans; representatives are Jim Begley and Palmer King. Freshman president is Adrian Tollen; Bert Durkee and Pliny Moody, representatives.

FEDERAL INSPECTORS TODAY REVIEW BOTH R. O. T. C. REGIMENTS

Battalions Form at 2:50; Cadet Col. Cheney To Command.

First call 2:50
Assembly 3:00
Bat. adj's call 3:05
Regt'l adj's call on signal

Both regiments of the R. O. T. C. will be reviewed this afternoon by Colonel Sutherland, Seventh Corps area, and Colonel McMaster, commanding officer of Fort Crook, as a feature of the annual federal inspection.

The first regiment will form on the north half of the mall east of Nebraska hall while the second regiment will use the south half. On the regimental adjutant's call the regiment will form on the road north of Memorial hall in a line of battalions in close column of companies, the second regiment to the left of the first. Here they will be reviewed by the inspecting officers. Cadet Colonel Tom Cheney will give the commands to both regiments.

Col. W. H. Oury, commandant of cadets, stated that no information was available as to the showing made by the cadets when they were examined in class yesterday by the inspectors, but he believed that they did well. He thought that the review today would be better than any to date. The R. O. T. C. contingent has been rated as an honor regiment every year since 1924 with the exception of 1926.

After the review the regiments will move to the parade ground in rear of the power house where the companies will be inspected. The first regiment will be on the south side of the field facing east while the second regiment will face in the same direction on the north side of the field.

Delta Gamma, Farm House Win Highest Scholastic Averages

Orchestra to Give Concert Sunday

The Little Symphony orchestra of the university, which returned late Saturday night, May 10, from a four day concert tour of Nebraska, will present a homecoming concert at 8 o'clock Sunday night, May 17, at St. Paul's Cathedral in Lincoln, using the same program which they gave during their tour.

Raymond R. Reed, clarinet instructor on the School of Music staff, will conduct the orchestra. Soloists will be Mrs. Lenore Burkett Van Kirk, professor of voice, and Carl Steckelberg, professor of violin. The program includes the overture to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," Schubert's Symphony in B minor, Mendelssohn's Concerto in E minor, Sarasate's Zigeunerweisen, and Glazounow's Bacchanal from "The Seasons."

Cover 600 Miles.

On its tour the 22 piece orchestra traveled in a specially chartered bus, covering 600 miles, and presenting eleven concerts. It was the orchestra's first concert tour, but the affair promises to be an annual one, according to Mr. Charles Hoff, who managed the group and made the trip possible.

Members of the little symphony were enthusiastic concerning the future of the group and the tour. "The most surprising thing about the trip was its smoothness and lack of accident," Eunice Bingham, a member of the orchestra commented. "The nearest that we came to misfortune was when our bus almost ran over a herd of cows in the road."

Play With Voyos.

"Most of our time was spent in riding from one town to another," said Margaret Baker, another member of the group. "The first day out we sang in the bus, but after that we slept or ate ice cream cones. At every stopping place we ordered ham sandwiches, though we were given gorgeous food at our hotels. Our last day on the bus some of the boys with us brought out tin flutes and ocarinas—funny instruments that sound like turtle doves, very low and cooling. We played with voyos, too."

Play To Packed Houses.

Almost all of the group were deeply interested in music and were soloists in their own right, and the majority planned musical careers. All expressed delight over the cooperation they had managed to give each other in their concert.

Their audiences in the day time were mostly high school students who came back stage after the program to ask about the music summer school, and in the evenings they played to adults. One afternoon concert, however, was given before first and second grade children. Without exception they played to packed houses, and were given excellent notices in the town papers.

Top Fraternity Wins Cup for Twelfth Consecutive Semester.

Farm House, for the twelfth consecutive semester ranked at the top in the scholarship averages of social fraternities for the first semester of this year. Delta Gamma topped the list of women's division of Greek letter social organizations.

Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary and professional music sorority received the highest average of any organization on the campus with an average grade point of 3.345. They were closely followed by Omicron Nu, honorary home economics club for women. The Omicron Nu average was 3.344.

In determining the average grade points by which the groups are ranked, four grade points are awarded for each hour carried with a grade of ninety and above, three points for each hour between 80 and 89, two points for each grade hour between 70 and 79, and one point for each grade hour between 60 and 69. Zero grade points are awarded for each credit hour incomplete, one grade point is subtracted for each credit hour conditioned, and two grade points are subtracted for each credit hour failed or dropped in unsatisfactory standing. To obtain the average for each group, the total grade points are divided by the total number of hours carried by the group.

The average of all students enrolled in the university was computed as 2.273. Women's average was much higher than that of the students in general, and the sorority women received a grade higher than the non-affiliated women. The sorority average was 2.562; the women in general, 2.540; and that of the non-sorority students, 2.526. Just the opposite was the record made by the men. The non-fraternity students received an average grade point of 2.087; men at large averaged 2.080, and the organized groups averaged 2.071.

Highest average made by any truly social fraternity was that attained by Sigma Alpha Mu. Their grade was 2.688. Beta Sigma Psi, (Continued on Page 2).

FRAT COUNCIL IN UPROAR AS RIGGS SELECTED PREXY

Beta, Independent, Wins Post While Greek Council Politicos Squirm.

Raynor Riggs, a member of Beta Theta Pi, the fraternity which is either independent or a one-club faction, received 14 votes against 13 for president of the interfraternity council, but the meeting adjourned with uncertainty reigning and the rest of the officers unelected.

Greek council put up a candidate for office and Beta, as an independent faction, nominated a man. Greek Council had 13 votes, Progressives 13, and Beta 1. Progressives backed the independent party, the final vote being 14 to 13 for Riggs.

Say Beta is not Faction.

Fireworks, which had been occurring frequently all thru the meeting, increased instantly with Greek Councils on their feet insisting that Beta wasn't a faction. According to tradition factions alternate with the presidency and secretary post each year.

"It is very obviously our turn to have the presidency," a Greek Council leader declared. "As far as there being a third faction, it is impossible because a party has to file with the student council before it is a faction. No fraternity or group of fraternities had done this previous to the election."

Another meeting will be held Tuesday, when the committee of committees, to which the dispute was referred, will make its report. By what the Betas do and by what the committee of committees does the present political mix-up will become clarified—or more mixed up.

COED COUNSELORS INSTALL 150 NEW MEMBERS SUNDAY

Names of Selected Girls to Appear Tomorrow Says Erma Bauer.

Installation of about 150 new members of the Coed Counselor organization will take place on next Sunday afternoon, May 17, at 3 o'clock, in the afternoon at the Alpha Phi house, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Erma Bauer, chairman in charge of arrangements. New members of the organization, who were recently elected by the Coed Counselor board will be announced Thursday.

Those who have been selected to serve for the coming year as Coed Counselors, were chosen from lists of names submitted by the various organized houses on the campus, with equal representation being given to both barbs and members of Greek organizations of the university.

Letters have already been sent out to those who will be installed on Sunday afternoon, according to Marylu Peterson, Coed Counselor board member, and board members in charge of the ceremony are completing preparations for the service at the present time. Girls participating in the installation ceremony are asked to wear white, Miss Peterson stated.

Duties, which the newly elected members will be expected to perform during their next term of office, will be largely in aiding new freshman girls to become oriented with university life. During the first few weeks of the new school term, Coed Counselors will play an active part in helping freshman girls to register, and to become acquainted with the activities on the Nebraska campus.

The first mass meeting for the new members of the group will be held on Thursday, May 21, according to Miss Peterson, at which time instructions will be given to each girl in order to acquaint them with the Coed Counselor organization and the type of work which they will do during the summer months, in preparing for the welcome of freshman girls matriculating in the university next fall.

MILLS IS NAMED CORN COB HEAD; CLOSE ELECTION

New Pepster Prexy to Take Office at Opening of Fall Term.

Web Mills, sophomore in the college of arts and sciences, was elected president of Corn Cobs Wednesday evening in one of the most hotly contested elections in the history of the university pep organization. Mills will take the chair that has been held by Ted Bradley during the past year, at the opening of the fall term.

The election results are being contested and will be referred to the judicial committee of the Student Council for arbitration. The petition to the council bears signatures, it is rumored, of 23 men.

Other officers who reaped the spoils from the political battle were: Austin Moritz, who will succeed Roy Kennedy as vice-president; James Evans, secretary, formerly occupied by Bill Newcomer, and Earl Headlund, treasurer, who follows Robert Hutton to the position.

Preceding the election of officers the group discussed questions of immediate importance to the organization and initiated two pledges: Edwin Getscher, Delta Theta Phi, and James Little, Lambda Chi Alpha.

WAR LOGICAL RESULT OF TARIFF POLICIES STATES DR. GILMORE

Economics Instructor Talks To Business, Professional Girls' League.

"Imperialistic war in Ethiopia and Manchuria, and perhaps soon in eastern Europe, is a logical outgrowth of the exaggerated protective policies of recent years," said Dr. E. A. Gilmore, jr., of the Economics department of the University of Nebraska in addressing the Business and Professional Girls' league at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening.

"As a consequence of the extreme specialization of modern industry no nation today possesses within its own boundaries or those of its colonies all of the raw materials essential to self-sufficiency. The so-called 'sated' powers, namely, England, France, the United States, Russia, and the Dutch Empire, are, however, very much better off in this regard than Germany, Italy, and Japan, the chief 'hungry' nations.

"Unless the growing populations of these latter countries are permitted to obtain by trade the materials which they lack, it is inevitable that they will attempt to force to expand the areas under their control. Rising tariff barriers in all parts of the world have played an important part in closing the avenues of peaceful trade expansion to these countries, and, in this process, the United States must accept a large share of the responsibility. Greater freedom of world trade would materially lessen the incentive to conquest and at the same time would improve the standards of all nations."
