R.O.T.C. STUDENTS APPEAR IN COMPETITION

1800 Drill This Afternoon For Honors in Company, Platoon Competition.

Over 1,800 University R. O. T. C. students will close their school year this afternoon as they parade in mass and compete for honors in individual, platoon, and company drill in the annual competition.

Col. W. H. Oury, commander of the local unit, will be in charge of the parade. Regular army officers and national guard of Lincoln and surrounding area will aid military officials in judging the troops. First call for parade will be sounded at 1 p. m. and assembly will be at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon.

Awards for the best company, platoon, and individual drill will be made at the end of the afternoon's competition. Demonstrated by the cadets will be manual of arms, inspection, close order, extended order, and physical drill. The Omaha cup is presented to the winning company, and the commander in charge will receive a gold medal. Individual members of the companies placing in one, two and three order will receive bars and guidon ribbons. The winning platoon will be awarded the Lincoln Theater cup, and the platoon leader is presented with a gold medal.

"All indications point to a very successful afternoon's drill," Colonel Oury stated. "Few applications for excuses have been received and competition between the companies promises to be very strong."

Members of the R. O. T. C. sponsors club have prepared lemonade tents where participating cadets and spectators may secure refreshments during the exercises.

SCHULTE SMILES OVER NEBRASKA'S BIG SIX SHOWING

19 Out of 22 Cornhusker Entrants Win Places In Various Events.

Wearing a broad grin of jubilation over the performance of his Huskers last Saturday, track coach Henry F. Schulte is mightily proud these days. Not only because of the annexation of the Big Six title, but also because of the fine balance of the Husker team.

A Big Six ruling limits the number of trackmen to 22, and in the conference classic last week, 19 Schultemen placed in the various events. Nebraska failed to place in only one event, the 440 yard run, but only because Coach Schulte held Les Pankonin out of the quarter mile, in order to let him run the sprint.

Only four of Coach Schulte's pupils will be lost by graduation. They are Harold Jacobsen, Sherman Cosgrove, Standley Haight, and Chester Beaver, four Husker veterans who have been the mainstay of this year's team and whose loss will be keenly felt.

Dual Meet Next

Coach Schulte is looking forward to next year's track and field team without his traditional pessimism. Besides a formidable array of experienced Husker sophomores and junior standing, there is a crop of freshmen coming up that will greatly strengthen the squad. Some of the more promising frosh are Bob Allen, Leland Butler, Wayne Yarcho, Bob Simmons, Bob Mills, Bob Neumann, Beverly Ott, Ray Baxter, Dick Evans, Wesley Evans, Louie Warfield, Alfred Kuper, Frank Eatz and Fred Koch.

A dual meet with Minnesota at Minneapolis June 6 will bring down the curtain on Nebraska's sport's show for this school year, one of the finest in the history of Coach Schulte's tutelage. The Schultemen breezed thru indoor meets and won the Big Six indoor crown. Excellent showings were made by the Huskers in the Texas, Kansas, and Drake relay affairs. Outdoor competition was kept, but the Schultemen swept thru the season undefeated to attain the outdoor Big Six title as a fitting climax.

The past track season has marked a great change in Coach "Pa" Schulte. A characteristic part of his makeup is lost—a cigar. No longer do sport patrons of Memorial Stadium see Nebraska's grand old man of athletics sitting on his folding chair in mid-field, chewing the end of a long, black cigar.

"Pa" Quits Smoking.

At the close of the last grid season, "Pa" Schulte decided to stop smoking. During the football season, he had devoured the stogies wholesale, smoking over twenty cigars on a football Saturday.

GRADUATES TOUR STATE TO STUDY SOIL PROBLEMS

Professors Condra, Keim Hayes Conduct Survey Over Nebraska.

For the purpose of acquainting graduate students with land use problems in Nebraska, Dean G. E. Condra, Prof. F. D. Keim, and Prof. F. A. Hayes will conduct about 20 graduate students of the soil conservation department on a tour thru Nebraska.

The trip will take them across the small plains of southern Lancaster county, the rough lands of south Gage and Jefferson counties, the flood damaged lands of the Republican valley from Superior to Franklin, and the upland and small basins from Minden to west Phelps county. They will continue thru the small plains and canyon areas of Gage and Frontier counties, the Platte valley from Gothenburg to North Platte, the South Platte valley from Sutherland to Big Springs, Lodgepole valley from Chappell to Sidney and Kimball and the table lands of Cheyenne and Banner counties.

Next follow the Box Butte table lands and the western course of the Niobrara valley, the Pine Ridge and the gumbo lands of the western part of the state, eastward to Valentine from which they will visit the federal game reserve and the Valentine lake reserve, thence eastward thru the sandhills region to Wood Lake, across Ainsworth and the Holt table lands, southeastward thru prairies and over the hill country.

The group will study the use of roughlands and gumbo lands, the rehabilitation of the Republican valley, the problems with dry table lands and methods used in irrigation. In Pine Ridge they will study forestation methods; in the sandhills grazing and the use of lakes and marshes. In the Loess hill region they will make a study of soil erosion. They will also take special regard of the power project at Sutherland, the resettlement projects of Sioux and Dawes counties and the 80,000 acre wild life preserve in Cherry county.

Grads of 1916 Return Once Again to Campus on June 7

On Sunday evening June 7, members of the graduating class of 1916 will return to the University campus after 20 years of departure, in which fate has directed them in hundreds of different directions. Many will not be back. Some no longer feel the eternal tie of their alma mater, others have removed themselves to such distances that it would be impossible for them to return while still others have passed to a more distant beyond from which they will never return to worldly circles.

But among those that do meet for the June reunion there will be reminiscing and reflecting of bygone days and of college life with all its study and activity. Among those that come back there will be representatives in almost every walk of life, each with his account of personal successes and failures, and behind it all, each with memories of the days when he studied under the colors of the Scarlet and the Cream.

They will bring back accounts

Jayhawker Co-eds Fight 'Dutch' Dating Proposal

University Daily Kansan. As one woman, Betty Co-eds at Kansas university arose, stated their rights, and howled lustily against the "Dutch-dating" plan which the student governing association attempted to put into effect, for woe is unto the swain who would even suggest now that his date go "half and half" with him. Many are the hard looks directed his way, causing him no little embarrassment. According to students on the hill, the plan was not a success, and was never observed except at the W. S. G. A. carnival, at which it was to be initiated.

A cheerful report of the carnival has words to this effect: "Men who chose to remain chivalrous were soon put into their places and often the dates were deeply humiliated by the booth tenders when they were compelled to pay for their own chances."

But this report was painted in glowing terms of the initiation of the plan it seems, for other, and later reports on its progress are

725 Get Degrees At Commencement

MORITZ STATES SUMMER SCHOOL BEGINS JUNE 11

Registration Opens June 9; Students Allowed Six to Nine Hours Credit.

Following registration on June 9 and 10, classes for the 1936 annual summer sessions of the University will open on Thursday, June 11, according to an announcement made by Prof. R. D. Moritz, director of summer school activities. The short session for this summer is scheduled to continue until July 17, while the long session will be concluded on August 7.

According to the summer session bulletins which are available at the registrar's office, the work to be offered this year is designed to furnish not only a scholarly program of professional and academic courses but one sufficiently flexible to meet the needs of all types of students including teachers, or those preparing to teach, school supervisors and administrators, college students who desire to make up deficiencies or to continue their regular collegiate study, students who must meet prerequisites for admission to professional schools, or anyone desiring to pursue studies for their cultural or vocational values.

Regulations for the sessions this summer provide that students registered for the short session will be allowed to register for six hours credit, while those attending the long session will be permitted to earn a maximum of nine credit hours.

The courses being offered, according to director Moritz are equivalent in method, character, and credit values to those offered during the regular school year and most of the departments have designed their summer school programs in such a manner that students working for advanced degrees may complete their requirements in four consecutive sessions. Prof. Moritz emphasized the fact that the courses in the graduate college have been reorganized and are to be more extensive than in former years with unusual opportunities in both the professional colleges and the liberal arts college for students pursuing their graduate work.

Registration for the summer session will be held in the university coliseum on June 9, from 1 to 5 o'clock, and June 10, from 8 to 12, and from 2 to 5, the director announced. Anyone desiring information concerning fees, courses, and living quarters during the sessions are asked to call at the registrar's office in order to receive one of the regular summer session bulletins which outline necessary information.

Two Nationally Famous Leaders to Speak At Exercises.

Two nationally known leaders in their respective fields will speak as features of the university's 65th annual commencement exercises to be held in June. Some 725 men and women will receive degrees from the university at that time, representing the culmination of years of individual work.

Bishop James Hugh Ryan of the Omaha Catholic diocese has been chosen to deliver the annual baccalaureate sermon on Sunday afternoon, June 7. The commencement speaker will be Dr. William B. Munro, noted student of government and author of many textbooks, who is now professor of history and government and a member of the executive council at the California Institute of Technology. He will speak on "The New Era and the Old Virtues." The commencement exercises will be held on the morning of June 8.

All of the exercises will be held in the university coliseum and are open to the public. In previous years the baccalaureate services have been held in a downtown church.

Bishop Ryan has had a notable career as a clergyman and educator. He came to Omaha in 1935 after spending many years on the faculty of the Catholic University of America at Washington, as professor of philosophy. He was rector of the university from 1929 until last year.

Bishop Ryan has been cited in several foreign countries. He was decorated Knight Commander by the Crown of Italy in 1930, Grand Cordon, Order of St. Sava, Yugoslavia, 1932, and was admitted to the Chevalier Legion of Honor in France two years ago.

Dr. Munro, before going to California, was for more than 25 years professor of American history and government at Harvard university. He is the author of various books on history and government which are widely used today as texts in American colleges and universities.

Among his books are "The Government of the United States," "The Governments of Europe," "Personality in Politics," and "The Invisible Government." In addition he has been a frequent contributor to literary and political reviews.
