

NEBRASKA CAMPUS SOCIAL WHIRL

A.G.R. PLEDGES.

Pledge officers at the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity are: Robert Pelky, president; Cleo Smiley, vice president; Rex Brown, secretary-treasurer.

Kappa Delta will honor their new pledges at a tea given for them, Sunday, September 27, at 3 to 5 o'clock. Jean Tucker, social chairman, will be in charge of arrangements.

Joyce Malzacher will act as president of the Chi Omega pledge class this year. She will have as her co-worker, Betty Flory, who is secretary-treasurer.

The officers of Kappa Delta's pledge class are: Mary Elizabeth Hester, president; La Verne Marcy, vice president; Virginia Clair Charnock, secretary; Armorette Holmes, treasurer.

WE CORRECT CANDY PASSING.

Wilma Wagner who passed the candy Monday night, did the trick at the Delta Zeta house not at the Alpha Delta Theta house, as stated in the Tuesday Daily Nebraskan.

A O PI PLEDGES ELECT OFFICERS.

Barbara Kryger was elected president of the Alpha Omicron Pi pledge class at their first meeting Monday night. Other officers chosen were Jean Meents, vice president; Mary Provost, secretary-treasurer; Dorothy Archer, rush chairman and Mary Jane Hendricks, publicity representative.

4-H Health Champs Use Sleep, Water and Milk in Abundance

AMES, Iowa.—A quart of milk each day, two quarts of water and 9.8 hours of sleep—these averages taken from a questionnaire answered by 97 4-H club girls who represented their counties in the 1936 state health contest at the State fair, prove that winning a health championship is not accidental.

Practically all the girls drink milk. Results of the survey compiled by the extension service of Iowa State College show that some "get away" with only one glass daily and get their quota thru milk foods, but there are others whose "two quarts" bring up the average. And the two quarts of water doesn't come in coffee or tea. Only eight girls reported ever drinking any coffee and 10, tea.

Spinach is coming up. About 65 percent of the healthy ones eat this unsung vegetable. Parsnips, cauliflower and kale—less common vegetables—were among the least popular.

Twelve girls wrote an emphatic "no" to the question "Do you eat candy?" The other answers, in varying degrees affirmative, indicated that the sweet tooth was pampered as much as good nutrition allows.

There is no lying in bed of a morning for most county health girls. All but eight get some work done before breakfast. Most of them help prepare the morning meal, some prepare the school lunches, and about a fourth reported doing outside work, such as feeding chickens, milking cows and other chores.

Beans won the poll in a vegetable census. Some girls like them canned, some like them fresh and some dried, but all of them eat beans. Peas were second, with only one girl putting them on her black list. Carrots, cabbage, lettuce and tomatoes were the other four high vegetables, being in favor with approximately 90 percent of the girls.

The cause of colds may still be a mystery to scientists, but the 4-H health contestants apparently know how to circumvent them.

English Shifts to Guard Post

Shifting his 200 pounds to a guard post, on the Cornhusker is Lowell English who hopes to bolster up the center of the Bibleman line. English is 5 feet 11 and is active for his weight. Last year he earned a major grid letter playing center.

Only six of the 97 ever had signs of colds.

Being healthy did not come as a surprise to the 97 state health contestants. They knew they were healthy, because all but 12 had had a physical examination during the last fair, in addition to the regular county contest examination before the fair.

RAMBLINGS.

No excuses, explanations, or greetings from the author of this column. You have never heard of him, aren't going to hear of him now, and will never hear of him in the future. It is one thirty in the morning, this space has to be filled and there is no available copy. There is nothing to write about, whatsoever, so we will have to write of nothing. Personally I think maybe we are all going to be wearing sunflowers after the November election, but then this is a non-political publication and the editor calls himself a democrat. By the way, have any of you ever visited the village which our much respected editor and student council president calls his home? I went to see him last summer and stopped at a filling station along the road to ask how far it was to Rosalie and was rather surprised to learn that I was on the main street of the town at the time.

We won a little money from a fraternity brother tonight. Anybody should have known that Joe could send his friend to the showers before the sixth round. Gambling in the fraternity house seems to be quite the thing of late. Just the other evening two young gentlemen called at the house to invite one of the boys to a church

RULES GOVERNING ORGANIZATIONS AND SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

Following is the list of rules on social functions recently released by the faculty committee on student organizations:

"All non-athletic organizations and social functions are under the supervision of the senate committee on student organizations, which may enact such special rules, subject to the chancellor and the board, as it may deem necessary for the proper control of such organizations and functions. Organizations coming into financial relations with the public shall submit their accounts to this committee for audit" . . . Bulletin of the University of Nebraska.

According to the general bulletin, the faculty committee has established the following special rules, effective upon publication:

1. Social gatherings, including those of college or departmental organizations, may be held only at times when there will be no conflict with regular classes. Evening gatherings, except those that are adjourned before 8:30 p. m., may be held only on Friday, Saturday, or midweek nights immediately preceding holidays. Dances and card parties may not be held on Sundays.
2. Departmental clubs, not social clubs, may hold one meeting a month which extends after 8:30 p. m. except in residential districts. Additional meetings must be held before 8:30 p. m. or on Friday or Saturday night.
3. All university parties, formal or informal, shall close not later than 12 o'clock midnight.
4. All organization parties, picnics, and student migrations where women are present shall be officially chaperoned. Notice of such parties shall be given to the dean of women, and the names of the sponsors submitted to her for approval at least two days in advance, preferably on the Monday preceding the party. At all entertainments not given in private homes or organization houses, members of the faculty are to be included among the guests invited to sponsor parties.
5. Dances may not be held in pavilions or dance halls outside of the downtown district except by special permission of the committee on student organizations. Out-of-state orchestras may not be engaged for student parties without the permission of this committee.
6. Subscription dances and parties may not be held without approval of the faculty committee.
7. Exchange dinner dances may not be held on midweek nights except between 6 and 8 p. m. Hour dances may be held on week end nights only.
8. Smoking on the dance floor is not permitted. The president of the organization and the floor committee are responsible for the enforcement of this rule.
9. Alumni organizations and mothers clubs may hold social gatherings in organized houses on weekday afternoons.
10. Each student organization (except fraternities and sororities) shall submit a detailed budget covering its dues, earnings, and expenditures of every nature, bearing the approval of the organization's faculty sponsor, and subject to such direction as may be deemed necessary by the committee or its subcommittee on budgets, audits and expenditures, to the student activities agent for approval. Each organization shall conform to its approved budget in so far as its expenditures are concerned.

reception Friday evening, but were rather rudely interrupted by a brother who came down the stairs shaking the bones and asking the invitee when he was ready.

We might discuss our friends of the Argus and Cornhusker staffs but knowing the editors of each and thus being able to anticipate any comeback in all its sense feebleness we won't bother to take issue.

It seems that an interfraternity council election was held tonight and everything ran as smoothly as could be hoped. There was no "two-bit politicking" and without the slightest doubt the best man was elected. The only explanation we can offer for this quiet election is that the peanut politicians of the campus must have been tapped innocents last spring and consequently aren't participating in their favorite sport this fall.

Thus far we have entirely accomplished our purpose. We have planned to say nothing and have hoped to fill up the necessary space and both seem to have been accomplished, so we will bid you adieu forever with a quiet, good morning.

He's Happy Man.

This seldom photographed but much discussed gentleman is John Kent Selleck who complied when the photographers told him to register happiness over the sale of 15,000 season books, a cinch sellout for the Pitt-Nebraska game and other indications of a big Nebraska season from an attendance standpoint. No longer does Selleck even bother to wrinkle his brows over stormy weather on the mornings of games. The sale of season books assures the financial success of the season before it is started. Selleck's official title is business manager of athletics at Nebraska U.

Conventions such as this have proven so successful on other university campuses that Nebraska's Mortar Board chapter felt it a worthy cause, according to Jean Walt, president. "We extend a most cordial invitation to all faculty members who might care to attend, and especially to advisers of the various major women's organizations. We feel these people will be able to give valuable advice during the discussion, as well as to become acquainted with the student's ideas."
Committee chairmen who have charge of the convention include: Marylu Petersen, general chairman; organization and registration, Elinor McFadden; contacts, Rowena Swenson; speakers, Erna Bauer; publicity, Eleanor Clizbe.

W.A.A. TO GIVE PARTY FOR FRESHMAN GIRLS

Miss Palmer to Acquaint Women With Possible Extra Activities.

Honoring freshmen women, the Women's Athletic Association will sponsor a party Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in Grant Memorial hall. "This will be an opportunity for new women on the campus to acquaint themselves with the different athletic activities which they may enter," stated Jeanne Palmer, president of the organization. "We cordially invite them to attend," she continued.

Demonstration of intramural activities which will take place during the year will provide the entertainment of the evening.

Pat Lehr, W. A. A. executive council member, is in charge of general arrangements for the party. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

Due to registration in the woman's gymnasium, the party had to be postponed last week.

Alcohol motor car fuel, processed from Nebraska corn, has been placed on the market. It is said to be powerful stuff. Wonder if it can exceed the other kind of alcohol processed from Nebraska corn?

Mussolini is getting to be more and more of a homebody. Now he's ordered the Italian delegation to bolt the international conference on broadcasting. Sanctions created through hatred in it dice's mind for anything international or cooperative.

English twins suffer identical pain when only one is ill or injured. When one has an earache, the other complains of a similar disorder; one is now in the hospital suffering from an eye injury, and the other is in bed with the same affliction. Think how the one must feel when his brother is dosed with castor oil.
