

Campus CAPS and GOWNS

A FAMOUS MAN ONCE REMARKED THAT CLOTHES AND personality make the charming woman. We, in a smug undertone, add that accessories make the clothes, and in this fall of simplicity, severe necklines and plain wrist treatments, suits and dresses demand a good deal of this and that to relieve them. Mademoiselle suggests scarves, big woolly ones in the plaid of your Scottish ancestors (if you have any), and little triangle ones covered with the emblem of your sorority for your throat. Matching the neckpieces, but not the suit, bright gloves of washable doekin stitched with contrasting threads, and purses, enormous envelope ones that look like overnight bags and carry everything dear to the collegiate heart. And if you have money to spend for trifles, you can get one of the pseudo-wicked Spy vanities, fitted with a mirror that detaches three of its four corners to give you a view of some interesting man in the next booth (all unbeknownst to your date of course). In fact, you can please any little quirks of fancy with this fall's accessories. If you're different, you're smart.

The collegiate swing personified Kragshire "Airliner" plaid back coats. They're at Ben Simon's in unusual weaves, checks, and diagonals, and all of them with the Kragshire woven-in plaid back that gives warmth without weight. Buy one now in Ben Simon's, second floor.

Looks like a new campus romance, Dick Barkus, S. A. E. pledge and Joyce Malsacker, Chi O young un. Saw them last evening at the house party given by the brethren, both looking like the proverbial Canary.

For those new gowns, directoire, empire and princesse, you'll be wanting a different coiffure. Let Mr. Ben and Mr. Walter in RUDGE AND GUENZEL'S SALON CONTINENTAL re-style your hair. B7147 for appointments.

The old unknown admirer tale, this time it's about Elaine Krieger, Kappa pledge, who got a bottle of one of the better brands of gardenia perfume from some anonymous male. Later, some time later, she found that it came from a former fiancé of one of the actives who favored that brand herself. Humm, looks like a bit of a break. Might prove interesting.

Your latest accomplishments along the knitting line can be blocked at SOUKUP & WEST-OVER MODERN CLEANERS so that they will look like the most expensive Bradleys. Your other knit garments and your fall coat can be made like new by calling F2377.

It was just a high school romance until Jeanie Meentz, A. O. Pi freshman, walked down the street with another man. When Beta Pledge Bass saw her, he flew into a temperamental fit and demanded a breakup. Now they're going together again, but under different regulations. Jean may do anything she likes, except date out on the boy friend.

Just another mad dash—so the freshmen described the rally last Thursday. They tell, among other things, of Betty Dolphin's welcoming the crowd at the Pi Beta Phi house, clad in new red pajamas, and of the Kappa pledges confined to their respective rooms to study. They tell, too, of how certain innocent things started up the stairs at the Sigma Nu house and were instantly grabbed and brought back.

You'll be shootin' high, wide and handsome in HOVELAND SWAN-

SON'S newest shoe model, Hi-Lad. It's in ankle high suede, with short laces and scalloped piping, flexible as a formal slipper, useful as a text book. Try a pair for the Minnesota game. They're in the downstairs shoe department at HOVELAND SWANSON.

Considerable comment has arisen at the Alpha O house over the meaning of the "35" on Les McDonald's sweater (the one he had his picture taken in). Nelle Lippit, a new gal at Nebraska this year, stuck by her idea that the numbers signified the date of his graduation.

They're all going to Minnesota next week! Kappa Clarissa Bennett will be with George Eager, and when Web Augustine, Phi Psi pledge gets on the student special at 7 Friday evening, he will be in company with a Theta pledge. With other Husker enthusiasts they'll arrive at 8:10 a. m. Saturday and will return at 8:15 Sunday morning.

Delta Upsilon has brought something new. This year its pledge, Bob Youngson by name, who hails from Brooklyn. His dates (with little pledges from hither and yon) find that he thinks and talks of nothing but Brooklyn and looks upon Nebraska as the college in the sticks.

Fall is here. Visit our new larger store. You will find hundreds of hats from which to choose. All the clever new styles of the season. Felts from $1.49 — fine velours at $3.85. VERA'S HAT SHOP., 1343 O.

KIRKPATRICK TO GIVE RECEPTION FOR MEN TODAY

In order that all male music students may become better acquainted with each other and their faculty, Howard Kirkpatrick, director of the school of music, is giving a reception this afternoon from three to five p. m. at the ladies' lounge of the Lincoln University club. Sinfonia, honorary musical fraternity, is sponsoring the reception.

Mastersingers, male quartet, composed of Art Barnaby, Bob Bellamy, Walter Reusch and Bill Miller accompanied by Milan Lampbert; Parvin Witte, vocal selections and a woodwind quintet (flute; Ray Reed, clarinet; Ray Ryerson, bassoon; Victor Molzer, oboe and Dick White, horn, will present the program. Bill Miller, president of Sinfonia, is in charge of arrangements. Bob Stookey, Ray Ryerson, Richardson Dougall and Fred Nebe assisted.

Rosenlof Gives Addresses At Teachers Association

Dr. G. W. Rosenlof of Teachers' college gave five addresses at the Custer County Teachers' association meetings at Broken Bow Thursday and Friday. Next week he speaks before members of the Wyoming State Teachers association and also before the civic club group at Casper on the subject "Education and Democracy." Rural school board directors heard him in an address on "Education, a safeguard to democracy" at Wahoo last week.

CLYDE DAVIS' BAND TO PLAY FOR FIRST PHI Upsilon MIXER

Home Ec Honorary Invites All Uni Students to Party Friday.

Featuring Clyde Davis and his popular Lincoln orchestra, members of Phi Upsilon, honorary home ec sorority, are sponsoring an all student mixer for university students on Friday evening, Oct. 9 from 8:30 to 12 o'clock in the Student Activities building on the ag campus.

The mixer, first of the year to be staged on the Holdrege campus, will be open to students on the city campus, as well as those enrolled in ag college, according to Elsie Buxman, chairman in charge of general arrangements for the affair, and members of the honorary are anxious that a large number plan to attend on Friday evening.

Band to Broadcast.

As a special attraction of the party, the orchestra is scheduled to broadcast over station KFOR from 9:30 to 10 o'clock, according to Miss Buxman's report.

Explaining that the honorary has made a special effort to secure a good orchestra for the mixer, Miss Buxman commented, "Davis' band is regarded as one of the most popular orchestras in Lincoln at the present time, and we are assuring students attending the dance a good time."

Chaperones who will be present at the affair are: Prof. and Mrs. Anton Frolick and Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Anderson.

The committee in charge, headed by Miss Buxman is made up of Althea Barada and Raymona Hilton.

Admission prices which have been set for the party are twenty cents for ladies and thirty cents for men.

ART DEPARTMENT DISPLAYS WORKS IN MORRILL HALL

An exhibition of drawings, paintings and sculpture by members of the department of fine arts, opened Oct. 1 and will be on display until the 15th. The collection, which is shown in gallery A, Morrill hall, contains drawings, water colors, oil paintings, and sculpture.

Members of the faculty represented in the exhibition are Dwight Kirsch, Kady Faulkner, Morris Gordon, Ramond Williams, and Louise Mundy. All work by these members has been done recently and has not been shown in any other exhibition in Lincoln.
