Washington Post declares him to be a "Pontius Pilate holding in leash by the authority of his personal and towering personality a rabble that would tear to pieces its prey without thought of the law or justice." A Boston Herald critic was attracted by his voice, declaring him to use it as "an instrument would use a great instrument. His vacillation was made very real and moving."

Repertoire of Dietz includes parts from such writings as the Bible, Goethe, Hauptmann, Ibsen, Kleist, Schiller, Shakespeare, Sudermann, and Werfel. At the theatre tonight the dramatist will give readings from Shakespeare. Selections from German literature will be taken from Goethe and other famous writers of that nation.

BARBS SCHEDULE THIRD NEBRASKA 'HOP' FOR NOV. 21

Dance to Feature Music of Clyde Davis' Orchestra Saturday Night.

Elated with the evidenced popularity of the Cornhusker Hop last Saturday night, when more than 600 couples attended, Barb Interclub council will sponsor another such Hop in the coliseum Saturday evening following the Kansas State game. Granted permission of the coliseum because no other organization is sponsoring a party there on that date, the council has promised a party equal to any that it has sponsored.

Clyde Davis, one of Lincoln's best known and most popular orchestras, has been engaged for the affair. Although all plans for the dance have not been definitely settled, the sponsors have assured that the party will be of the type that the last two Cornhusker Hops have been.

Anticipate Crowd.

"We are anticipating a large crowd who will be celebrating the probable Kansas State defeat," said Austin Moritz, president of the Interclub council. "We know now just how the Cornhusker Hop meets with the campus students and we feel sure that this dance will be no exception."

"All the students know just what this orchestra has to offer because it has appeared on the campus many times. It has proved to be one of the best attended orchestras that has ever appeared here and it is an all around popular orchestra on the campus," said Victor Schwarting, who is in charge of publicity for the dance.

"Colored spotlights, the coliseum decorations, and Clyde Davis and his NBC recording orchestra will make this Cornhusker Hop the same as the other two we have had," Byrrie Shuck, president of the Barb council said enthusiastically. "We are spending a great deal of time and money in making this affair a real celebration for a defeat of the Wildcats."

Admission to the dance will be seventy-five cents per couple.

RAG TYPELICE SET TO SQUELCH YEAR BOOK GRID SQUAD FRIDAY

Sports Scribes Give Marshmen Outside Chance as Leading Publications Revive Traditional Pigskin Rivalry Tomorrow at Four.

BY WID BURNERY.

Epithets, threats, and accusations flew thick and fast in the basement of aged U hall Wednesday afternoon as the Daily Nebraskan and Cornhusker staffs, set about in preparation for the 1936 edition of the most bitter grid rivalry of the middle west. Although it was impossible to reach Mr. Sells in order that he might voice his estimate of the attendance for the game, an advance sales indicated that a considerably larger number than attended the Pitt game last week will be on hand at the Russian flats Friday afternoon to witness the traditional drubbing awaiting the subsidized yearbook eleven.

When queried as to the possible outcome of the clash, the man what gets paid the most for laying around in the Cornhusker office, "Pretty Boy" Bill Marsh, could do no more than mumble something about sometime way back when U hall was still more than a basement, when the yearbook gang won a game on a lucky break. However, on finding that there was no possible way of sidestepping the issue, the South side (Continued on Page 2.)

Three Nebraska Sweetheart Candidates to Go on Air In KFOR Radio Interview on Eve of '36 Kosmet Show

BETTY VAN HORNE. LOUISE MAGEE. MARGARET BLAUFUSS.

Announcer Jack Hanson to Question Coeds for Fifteen Minutes.

BY PHIL SOUTHWICK. "And you, Miss Blaufuss, and you, Miss Magee, and you, Miss Van Horne, what is your conception of the responsibilities of a Nebraska Sweetheart?" Thus may KFOR announcer Jack Hanson open his radio interview with Margaret Blaufuss, Louise Magee, and Betty Van Horne, three candidates for the coveted title of Nebraska Sweetheart of 1936.

Endeavoring to bring to the air-waves the 1936 Sweetheart on the eve of the presentation at the Kosmet Klub Revue, but finding it impossible to learn the identity of the candidate chosen before the appointed hour, KFOR will meet the situation by presenting all three in a fifteen minute interview at 8:45 p. m. Friday.

Miss Pedley to Talk. Cynthia Pedley, last year's Sweetheart, will introduce the program with a brief explanation of the tradition of electing and presenting a Nebraska Sweetheart, a tradition begun in 1929 when Knute Klub presented a Thanksgiving Day Revue, the first of the present series of fall shows. It was for this first presentation that Kosmet Klub members, Joyce Ayres and Lomar Burling composed "Sweet Nebraska Sweetheart," the theme song used in the ceremony.

Serving as interrogator, KFOR announcer Jack Hanson will question each of the candidates in turn, inquiring about her scholastic interests, her campus activities, and particularly about her reaction to the honor of being named the one official sweetheart of the university.

Candidates Prominent. Mr. Hanson will discover that Margaret Blaufuss, Kappa Kappa Gamma from Omaha, has achieved a very enviable scholastic record and that both Louise Magee, Delta Gamma from Lincoln, and Betty Van Horne, Delta Delta Delta from Lincoln, are members of Student Council. In addition, Miss Magee is a prominent member of Tassels, girls pep organization, and Miss Van Horne organized and chaperoned this year's trek to Kansas for the Jayhawk-Husker football game. But despite this diversity of interests, each of the candidates remains close enough to the vortex of the social whirl to merit the title of Nebraska Sweetheart.

ARMISTICE THEME OF COVER DESIGN ON NEW ALUMNUS

Stastny, Swanson, Teale, Ware Contribute to Latest Issue.

With Armistice Day as its cover theme the November issue of the Nebraska Alumnus magazine made its appearance Wednesday, Nov. 18, in an unusual camera study on the cover, a bugler is seen playing taps before the coliseum. The inscription on the building above the bugler reads "In commemoration of the men of Nebraska who served and fell in the nation's war."

In the opening article of the magazine, Dr. Olga Stastny, who graduated from Nebraska medical college in 1913, relates some of her experiences in the hospitals of France, Czechoslovakia, and Greece, following the World war. Dr. Stastny received several medals and much honor for her work in "cleaning up the debris," left by the war.

Swanson Praises Bible. The inside account of how a Texas coach recommended by Knute Rookne built up the Nebraska football team, is related in an article entitled "The Story of Bible," by Clarence Swanson, a member of the committee that brought Coach Dana X. Bible to the university eight years ago.

A warning that problems in administration will arise with the erection of the Student Union building is delivered to students and alumni by Ralph Reeder, editor of the publication.

COUNCILMEN TURN THUMBS DOWN ON FOUR PARTY RULE

Other Universities Found Successful in Dealing With Orchestras; Levin Appoints Committee to Investigate Various Methods.

Social Chairmen's proposed "Four Party rule" was decisively defeated at the close of a lengthy and heated discussion when the Student Council met to consider legislation on the ruling yesterday afternoon. Declaring the suggested restriction in number of house parties to four on each weekend night to be unnecessary and incompetent, the council repudiated the group's negotiations with the Musician's union.

"It is the belief of the council, that the fraternities and sororities should be allowed to have as many houseparties as they wish," stated Arnold Levin, president. Following a suggestion of the body, he appointed a committee who will begin immediate investigation of methods used at other universities to deal with orchestras, both locally and nationally famous.

Committee Named. "We want to see this important work placed in the responsible hands of a student council committee," Levin declared. "We cannot feel confident that this social chairmen's group is permanent; it does not even have the absolute cooperation of all its member fraternities." The committee appointed to work on the problem is composed of Don Boehm, Ruth Newell, Ed Schmid, and Margaret Harvey, who will cooperate with Prof. Lantz, faculty advisor to the council.

Frank Landis, recent delegate to the Big Six conference at Kansas university, addressed the council in favor of accepting the restriction. "There were 13 to 14 house parties on the campus the (Continued on Page 2.)

CLASSES OUT FOR FINAL PEP RALLY TO RAISE MORALE

Gay Colors Predominate on Saturday for Annual Pennant Day.

No classes—plenty of pep. At exactly eleven o'clock Friday morning, loyal Cornhuskers will assemble in front of Social Sciences for the last home game rally of the year, and a big one at that. With the Big Six title at stake, plenty of enthusiasm will be evident to bolster the spirits of a Pitt-conscious campus.

Honoring members of the varsity squad, Francis, Cardwell, Douglas, McGinnis, Ellis, McDonald, Yelkin, and Fischer, all of whom will be playing their last game under the colors of the scarlet and cream, the rally will proceed from in front of the Social Sciences building, down O street, and up sorority and fraternity row.

"Because all 11 o'clock classes will be dismissed we want the largest rally of the year," said Ted Bradley, innocent in charge of rallies. Afternoon classes will be held as usual, however.

Members of the Tassels will present scrolls to the honored members of the squad and song sheets will be distributed to rallyers in order that the affair will hold all the spirit possible.

"There is a big possibility that the team might bog down at the last minute because of the Pitt defeat," said Web Mills, president of the Corn Cobs, "and we are planning one of the best rallies of the year in order that victory might be assured."

At the game, which has been depicted as Pennant Day, a conglomeration of colors will be surged forth to make the last home game the most colorful of the season. All students are urged to wear to the game the brightest colors they have.

NATIVE FILIPINOS LEAD PANEL DISCUSSION ON INDEPENDENCE

Candido Servida, Lazaro Gomez Present Philippine Sentiment in Regard to Freedom; Bstandig, Aman Forward American View Point.

With a culture that is predominantly American, and with economic interests that are tied up with Asia, the Philippine Islands present a paradox to statesmen, according to Rex Aman, presenting, the American attitude towards Philippine independence at a panel discussion sponsored by the university Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening in the Temple building.

Candido Servida and Lazaro Gomez, two Filipino students here at Nebraska, presented the views of their people on the question of independence. Gomez quoted statements from President McKinley and Taft in which Filipino independence was predicted as a practical goal. Coming down to the present, Gomez cited the tribes from the south, and of the later discovery by Magellan.

Even before the Spanish-American war, the natives had started movements for independence. Gomez questioned statements from President McKinley and Taft in which Filipino independence was predicted as a practical goal.
