

Greek Letters Enter Initial Round of Cage Season Tonight

PHI GAMMA DEFENDS TITLE IN CLASS A; 26 HOUSES ENTER

Eleven Games Scheduled for Wednesday; Sig Chi 'B' Defenders.

Tonight the curtain goes up on the first performance of the 1937 intramural program with basketball, as played by 26 fraternities and 17 barb groups, as the feature attraction. Fraternity interest in both the class A and B quint competition has reached a new high and strife among the Greek letter houses is expected to become unusually keen.

Defending champions in the interfraternity competition this year are Phi Gamma Delta in class A and Sigma Chi in class B, but whether or not the two houses can retain their hoop crowns will be determined after this year's rivalry opens up.

BARB CAGERS TO TAKE MAPLES TONIGHT FOR INTRAMURAL TOURNEY

Clippers Rated Favorites Among 17 Quints in Competition.

Eight teams will swing into action in the barb intramural basketball tournament in the coliseum tonight at 8 o'clock. Seventeen teams have entered the competition and have been placed in four brackets by lot.

The Clippers are two-to-one favorites in the tourney, according to Lee Nims, Interclub Council member in charge of the affair, who has watched most of the teams during their practice sessions. A majority of the clubs have been working out on the coliseum courts in the early hours of the afternoon since the cage season got underway about three weeks before the holidays.

TASSELLS PLAN ACTIVITIES FOR BASKETBALL SESSION

Women's Pep Club Meets To Nominate New Sponsor.

Tassels, girls pep organization, met Tuesday evening to discuss plans for the second semester and to elect a new sponsor. The meeting was held in Social Science, room 105.

Virginia Fleetwood was appointed to reserve a block of seats for the Tassels in the reserved section at the basketball games. Mascots, Dorothy Jeanne Browne and Barbara Bible will be invited to attend the next game with the organization.

An invitation will be extended Theodora Lohrman, a former Tassel and graduate of 1936, to become a sponsor of the organization. Miss Pauline Gellatly of the speech department is also a sponsor.

SNOWBOUND—AS WHITTIER DIDN'T WRITE THE THING

(Continued from Page 1.) years) turned their eyes to the heavens with memories of those good old days when winters were winters and it was more profitable to farm the land than to rent it to the president.

So all the agriculturists rested their feet on the old boy burner and shed tears of joy over the prospects of the first crop since the old jersey had twins. As one of the more rustic, of our earthy brethren voiced his sentiments, "It isn't so much for myself that I would like to see another good crop. I remember one when I was a boy, but I sure wish we could have another one for Junior's sake."

The storm is over now, and the whole neighborhood is out to open the road. There are twenty-four in all, 23 of those hearty tillers of the soil, and one of those colored sons who made the sad mistake of returning home from college. It is a great battle, 23 men doing the regular routine of their rural residence with one lone soul staging a feeble defense of modern education at the end of a shovel handle. It was far into the night before that hearty crew gave up their shoveling quest in favor of evening chores, and the lone representative of that pitiful few who are out to get a college education rolled himself into bed, with participation of a long night of rest, but such was not in the offing for the luckless lad for scarcely had he given himself to sleep when the party line rung out a call for help to open the road for a doctor.

Victory is won. It was a sad relating of the same old story for the wouldbe student, they shoveled without a stop from 12 until 8 the next morning but those noble neighbors won in their fight against the elements and it was a commendable victory indeed. The doctor got thru, the falling man is reported to be recovering, and the champion of the cause of modern education is looking for a way back to school, just as the final bell for an Ec 11 class is sounding in the halls of Sosh.

Say what you will, there has never been a more valiant defense of higher education. When the slightest pause for rest was greeted by jeers from fellow workmen, he stayed with his shovel and the victory was won. But despite that most noble defense, the last words of the champion of the cause are "You can have your university and all the comfort that goes with it, but for downright manliness give me those wide open spaces of northeast Nebraska, where men are men and the plumbing is out of doors."

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Teale will visit friends at the University of Arizona during the Christmas holidays. Mr. Teale is an assistant instructor in the department of Romance languages.

WOMEN ORGANIZE RIFLE CLUB AT MEETING TODAY

Prospective Members Asked To Attend Session in Grant Memorial.

All women who are interested in rifle marksmanship are requested to meet this afternoon in Grant Memorial gymnasium in order to organize the Women's Rifle Club. Maxine Wertman, manager, is calling the assembly at 5 o'clock. The prospective members are meeting for the first time this school year for the purpose of discussing eligibility, the program of the year and organization.

HUSKER GRAPPLERS POLISH MANEUVERS FOR K-STATE CLASH

Wrestlers Get First Taste Of Inter-Collegiate Play on Home Mat.

Back from the Christmas recess, Coach Jerry Adams' wrestlers are busily polishing their grappling maneuvers in preparation for the season's opener here Jan. 16 with Kansas State. The dual with the Wildcats will be staged immediately after the conclusion of the Husker-Cyclone basketball fracas.

This will be the first taste of competition for the Cornhuskers and the second for the K-Staters, who are booked to face the redoubtable Southwestern State Teachers college the latter part of this week.

While most of the performers used the recent holidays for relaxation, several grapplers used this intermission to the best advantage by putting in many hours of unflagging rehearsals. Ray Larson, 135 pound letter winner; Freddy Webster, monogram possessor in the 118 pound group; Milburn and James Knight, Al Burling, Bill Lake, Fred Wink, Jerry Adams and Ed Sauer are those who frequented the sub-coliseum floor mat to what their strides.

Tryouts This Week. Team tryouts in the 165 and 175 pound divisions are on the menu for this week, announced Mentor Adams yesterday as he looked at several of his proteges going through arduous workouts. To egg the tusslers into more animated practice rounds, Instructor Adams has issued a statement to the effect that tryouts will be held next Monday to determine the personnel of the squad which is to face the Manhattanites.

The Huskers have an imposing schedule this year. During the latter part of February the Adams-coached bonedriers trundle onto a train and head for the east, where they are engaged to meet Franklin and Marshall college, Temple U. U. S. Naval academy and Kent State university, then stopping at Iowa City to face the strong Iowa Hawkeyes. On March 5 and 6 the coliseum will be in a hullabaloo as circuit brethren gather there for the Big Six conference wrestling tournament.

Coaches Worried. It was intimated yesterday afternoon that the Husker coaching staff was none too pleased with the scoring punch of the traveling Nebraskans.

"They get plenty of shots," one of the coaches made known, "but that ball just never goes in." The floor play is supposed to be super according to all reports, but the points just fail to roll in. Nebraska's team stands higher physically than it has stood for years, but its height has been to little avail as yet.

Amen, Hale, O. K. Two new scoring boys were found en route in Paul Amen and Lee Hale. Parsons scintillated as per usual as did Floyd Ebaugh with his same steady game. Sorenson can only be termed as very hot as he dazzled with floor play and added his bit with tallies. Baker ranked high in points, but was low in percentage of shots made.

Of the seven sophomores on the squad none has waved any banners of brilliancy on the mat except in spurts. However, Browne is still burning his candle in the window with the hopes that Elliott, Baxter, Werner, Schock, Kivonda, Grimm, or White will come thru.

Tho it has not been set in concrete, the starting Husker lineup includes: Hale, Amen, or Baker, forwards; Ebaugh, center; Parsons and Sorenson, guards.

ROVING HUSKERS MEET TIGERS IN FINAL ROAD TILT

Mapleleum Enter Last Lap Of Eastern Journey At Columbia.

The meandering Husker cagers spent Tuesday getting things in readiness for a potent member of the Big Six, the Missouri Tiger. Coach George Edwards' men are one of the two undefeated fives in the conference.

St. Louis, Washington U., Colorado U. and Denver U. were wiped from the map with ease by the Bengals and thus far they have been most impressive in the way of offense of any team in the circuit. Last week the snarling onslaught captured an average of 37.7 points in four games.

Both Fives Strong.

The Huskers are now boasting of the fat of a ten game diet, while the Missourians have scarcely marred the maples in their four encounters. Both fives, Nebraska and Missouri, have met strong opponents with a slight edge going to Nebraska for ambition.

Another likeness is in returning veterans, Nebraska's Bob Parsons, Floyd Ebaugh, Elmer Dokrman, Howard Baker and the rest of the old timers can shake hands of familiarity with the invading Tiger band.

Huskers Took Two.

With the similar teams last year the Huskers forgot their mercy and beat the Tiger unmercifully with both fists to the tune of two sound thrashings. The first, at Nebraska and at this same time correspondingly, found the Huskers enjoying a 31-26 win. Edwards' men had a couple of hot shots in Beer and Powell that annoyed our Whitaker and Wahlgren considerably and it was only thru defense that the Nebraskans staved off a futile Mule state rally.

At the time of the challenge last year both Missouri and the Huskers were tottering on their first cage venture of import, but this year the Brownemen have a six game advantage, which should spell something, even if it is only "x."

Coaches Worried.

It was intimated yesterday afternoon that the Husker coaching staff was none too pleased with the scoring punch of the traveling Nebraskans.

IOTA SIGMA PI TO HEAR CIVIL SERVICE CHEMIST

Miss Olive Hartley Will Talk Tonight on Openings for Women in Chemistry.

"Women in the Fields of Chemistry in Civil Service" will be the subject presented by Miss Olive Hartley in her address at the regular meeting of Iota Sigma Pi, national honorary chemistry sorority tonight.

Miss Hartley's experience in the chemistry laboratories in the Civil Service and Patent offices in Washington and study under famous chemists give her a knowledge of this subject which the members of this society found especially interesting and instructive.

Preceding the talk by Miss Hartley will be a business meeting led by Miss Charlotte Venable, president.

A Hideout, Eh?

"Come into my private office and there I will show you the writing on the wall," the informant confided.

The room was small and dusty. A small stream of water trickled into a blackened, historic sink. Pasted on the wall was the complete source of the startling information. There were 2,628 shooting this year. Last year there were only 2,291 shootings, 337 more individuals being shot this year than there were last year.

One thousand fraternity men and 703 sorority women were shot at during the past three months. Statistics also showed that 434 seniors and 316 juniors faced that demon with the just for shooting.

UNIVERSITY DEBATERS TO ARGUE K-STATERS BEFORE PREP GROUPS

"We are presenting these debates before the high schools because the question to be discussed is the state high school question for this year," Coach White stated.

Representing Kansas State will be Elton Whan and Edward DeClerk, both experienced debaters. Whan is a junior at the Kansas State University and is majoring in commerce. DeClerk is also a junior and is majoring in general science.

Equally experienced are Curtiss and Ivins. Both men were representatives at the Topeka Legislative held early in December and each was placed on a committee at the assembly.

SCHULTE TRIBE OPENS INDOOR CINDER SLATE WITH JAYHAWK MEET

Mentor Views Prospects As Trackmen Embark On Title Defense.

Out to pluck the Jayhawks, who come here for an indoor track meet Feb. 13 against the Huskers, Coach Henry Schulte supervised yesterday's workouts under the east stadium, as some 30 team aspirants unlimbered kinks and other retardments. Mentor Bill Hargriss' charges are out to avenge last season's carnage dealt them by the Schultemen.

With football pushed into the background until spring, several members of Preceptor Dana X. Bible's football eleven have stepped into track habits to aid the Big Six indoor champions to defeat the Mount Oread performers. Fred Shirey, husky tackle, has been teaming with Bob Mills, another footballer, in the shotput event, and both have been sailing the iron ball thru the ozone for several good pre-season recordings.

Mills has thrown the ball around 45 feet and is still continuing to extend that mark. Bill Pfeiff, state prep shotput champion last year, Bob Kahler and Don Gilbert are blazing the trail for the fresh shot men, and are looked upon by Coach Schulte as future material in this event for the 1938 varsity clique.

Several Lettermen.

Besides Shirey, other lettermen working out yesterday included: George Galloway, Neil Atter, pole vaulting; Les Pankonin, gunter mile; Bob West, Fred Materson, Wilson Andrews, miler; and William Gish, hurdler. Eldon Franks and John Brownlee are quartermilers in the non-lettering class, while Art Hennrickson, Fred Koch, Paul Owens and Alfred Kuper are distance men who have yet to earn their varsity spurs.

Bob Neumann, sophomore, is working out in the catapulting sport.

Jim Mather, versatile trackster from Arapahoe; Dale Schroeder, Jack Callon, Scott, one-fourth miler; Max Garrett, pole vaulting luminary from Cheyenne, Wyo., and Orville Clum, sprinter, are members of the '40 class who have received praise from the instructor.

Sam Francis, all-America full-back and Lloyd Cardwell, star halfback, are expected to return to the campus either Thursday or Friday from San Francisco, where they, along with End Les McDonald, represented the west in the annual East-West grid classic played New Years day. Francis holds the indoor conference ironball throwing record, having abdicated this lure last winter at Columbia, Mo., while Wild Hoss Cardwell is the high and low hurdler king.

The indoor track schedule: Feb. 13, Kansas at Lincoln; Feb. 27, Kansas State at Lincoln; March 6, Big Six conference championship at Columbia, Mo.

College World

If the burglar who looted a fraternity house at the University of Southern California had been an olympic star he would have had some chance of getting away with his pilferings.

He ran down the dark avenue as fast as he could go, but faster footsteps gained on him. Before he got a block away, he was tackled from behind—tackled by Harold Smallwood, national 400 meter champion.

Ross Allen, noted wild animal hunter of Florida, recently sent the department of biology at Lehigh university five additions to its vivarium: a southern corn snake, a red rat snake, a yellow chicken snake, an idigo snake, and a water moccasin.

Don Heap, star halfback of Northwestern university, is flying high these days. He has been doing solo flying in the plane which he and four other students bought. Heap expects to apply for a private pilot's license soon.

One hundred percent of the engineers who graduated from the University of Detroit last June are now employed, according to Ralph R. Johnson, industrial co-ordinator.
