SEEN ON THE CAMPUS.

Dust, dust everywhere, and nary a breath of fresh air... an Alpha Phi reading a magazine and contentedly munching a candy bar during Convocation... Jay Campbell and Dottie Clark buying gas for Doc Plimpton's car and taking the Sig Alphas riding... Applause and plenty of it due Irving Kuklin, the boy who does the tapping in the Kosmet Klub show, and Everett Decker because he's a born comedian both on and off the stage... Mr. Lancaster calling for a motion from the class to strike a perpetual absentee's name from the roll... "Boo" Ball sitting on the infirmary porch holding conversations with his visitors who shout at him from a safe distance... Mayor Bryan down at the station to see Mary Fislar off and suggesting that it would be appropriate to kiss her goodbye... Sig Alphas staging a picturesque water fight and lights out in the Kappa house and Sigma Delta Tau house while the girls observed proceedings from their windows...

SEVEN VOCAL, PIANO NUMBERS COMPOSE 26TH MUSIC CONVO

Quartet Completes Program Of Advanced Students In Music School.

With a program composed of seven vocal and piano selections interspersed with numbers by a male quartet, the school of music yesterday presented its 26th musical convocation at 4 o'clock in the Temple theater.

The program, presented by advanced students, began with "Fantasia in C Major," Hayden, played by Genevieve Agnew, a pupil of Mr. Harrison, Thais Mickey Weinbrandt, studying under Mrs. Polley, then presented the first vocal number, "These Are They" from "The Holy City," by Gaul.

Jane Hopkins, who is studying under Mr. Schmidt, played "My Joy," by Chopin-Liszt, on the piano. Walter Reusch then sang "Nocturne" by Beethoven, and "October's Brown Ale," by DeKoven. Mr. Reusch is a vocal student of Mr. Tempel, Perry Beach played the first movement of "Italian Concerto" by Bach. Mr. Chenoweth is the piano instructor of the student.

Male Quartet Sings.

Mrs. Thomas presented a pupil, Margaret Kimmel, who sang two numbers, one by Easthope-Martin, "The Minstrel," and the other by Spross, "Let All My Life Be Music." Chopin's "Etudes Op. 10, No. 6 in E flat Minor, and Op. and Op. 25, No. 2 in F Minor" were played on the piano by Merlene Tatro, a pupil of Miss Morley.

A male quartet composed of James Lawson, Clinton Sturdevant, Clifford Sturdevant, and Ralph Sturdevant, sang "The Lord Is My Light," by Adams, and "Gypsy Wind," by Wooler. The quartet has been directed by Miss Wagner.

April Blue Print Features Sewage Disposal Article

(Continued from Page 1.) Sewage Treatment Works, the first of four huge major projects in the formulation of a broad policy of artificial sewage treatment. "Each of these projects is the equivalent of a large city," states Mr. Salter, and each has separate intercepting sewers and treatment plants. "The Southwest plant is by far the largest activated sludge plant in the world."

As a part of the four treatment projects there has been built a total of about 180 miles of intercepting sewers," states the article. "The total cost of the artificial sewage program, including plants, interception sewers and appurtenances, when completed, will be in excess of $200,000,000." Results however indicate the value and efficiency of the complete program, the death rate from typhoid fever having been lowered from 64.4 per 100,000 population to .36 per 100,000. This is about one person per each 300,000 and is the lowest typhoid fever death rate for any large city in the world.

Land Transportation History.

Although "transportation is almost as old as man, its major developments have come during the last hundred and twenty-five years," according to Gerald Brown in his story on the "History of Land Transportation." Tracing the development from prehistoric times when sleds were used and the wheel was invented, the story tells of the chariots of Roman times and the subsequent addition of two wheels to form a carriage. Stage coaches followed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, and the buggy sprang into its zenith with the introduction of steel springs about 1830 and rubber tires in 1886. Mass production came in and such names as Studebaker, Brewster, Durant, Fisher, Timken, and Garder (later to be

CARTER, GOLDING WIN FROSH ART CONTESTS

Students Model Proposed Memorial to House State Charter.

Victor Carter and Gilbert Golding, both of Lincoln, were announced Wednesday as second place winners in the architectural contest in which the members of the first year class in architecture participated.

"A Charter Memorial," subject of the contest, called not only for a drawing of the proposed memorial, but also a model of it. In these intra-departmental contests, the students are assigned problems, and when the work is completed it is submitted for judgment to a jury composed of members of the faculty and local architects. After the judging, the students assemble for the critique, at which both the good and bad points of each drawing and model are pointed out.

In this competition it was assumed that "The United States Government has decided to return the original state charters to the respective states. The State of Nebraska plans to erect a memorial to house its charter."

Mr. Carter's model provides for a square memorial, to be built of stone. The roof is tiered and at the top is surmounted by an urn. Above the door is a star, symbolic of the state's position in the union.

Mr. Carter is a sophomore in the college of engineering. Upon graduation, he intends to practice architecture in Nebraska.

Mr. Golding's model depicts an octagonal shaped concrete structure, each corner of which terminates in a tall, erect figure. He is a junior in the engineering college, a member of the band, on the Argvawn staff and a member of Gamma Lambda. Following his graduation, he also plans to practice architecture in Nebraska.

Both models will remain on display for a few days in the architectural library, room 24 in the Temple.

noted in the motor car field) were prominent.

The advent of the automobile brought the collapse of the carriage industry beginning about 1905. The first locomotive was invented in 1830, but railroads did not begin to capture the public's fancy until about 1850. The first transcontinental line in the United States was opened in 1869, and the invention of the Pullman car and air brake were major contributions. More recently, of course, have come the introduction of diesel powered, streamlined, high speed trains.

Dean Ferguson Writes.

Dean O. J. Ferguson discusses a subject near to the hearts of all good engineers in his corner this month entitled "Inventive Imagination." He states that invention usually consists of putting together in new combinations elements with which we are familiar. He advises all prospective inventors to study their particular fields carefully and thoroughly, for invention, a form of research, requires familiarity with the field in order that the inventor may see the opportunities or deficiencies of present practice.

Roger W. Wallace, senior in mechanical engineering, and Harold C. Hafner, senior in chemical engineering are discussed in the department, Nebraska's Engineers.

BAND SOCIETY DISCUSSES JOINING NATIONAL GROUP

Committee Appointed to Obtain Information On Procedure.

A special committee was appointed to investigate the procedure necessary to affiliate with the national band honorary, Kappa Kappa Psi, at a meeting of Gamma Lambda, band fraternity last night. The music society discussed the possibilities of linking up with a national organization and moved to table the matter until further information could be obtained. Gamma Lambda was at one time affiliated with a national society.

The organization also discussed the possibility of designing a special hand letter to be awarded on a standard of merit as yet to be drawn up by the society. Plans were discussed for an all-band banquet to be held April 28, if arrangements can be made. Preparations for a future initiation were also discussed.

Stanley Michael was elected to act as publicity chairman for the society.

CHEM SOCIETY HOLDS ROUND TABLE SESSION

Iota Sigma Phi Members Conduct Symposium on Trade Elements.

At the final meeting of Iota Sigma Phi, Tuesday evening, ten members of the honorary chemistry society discussed the "Physiological Effects of the Trace Elements." The symposium, conducted as a seminar, dealt with the elements which are present in small quantities in the human body.

The talks were: Cesium by Doris Ann Hagelin, Beryllium by Ida Carr Elore, Silica by Mildred Peppmiller, Magnesium by Eleanor Omer, Selenium by Eloise Benell, Copper by Viola Jelinek, Thallium by Charlotte Venable, Manganese by Rosalie Breuer, and Fluorine by Elaine Cruise.

And colleagues, one from each of the institutions in the Ivy League: Brown, Yale, Princeton, Williams, Dartmouth, Amherst, Columbia and Wesleyan) will compete in bringing their faces out of the "rough" with a minimum of strokes and no slices.

Critic Finds Bar-O Ranch Hit But No Professionals

(Continued from Page 1.) the touch of any drama but easy comedy. The difficult acting required for successful satire is out of the question with such actors. Yet this fact has deterred none from the gate receipts of past Kosmet shows. One of the preceding critics described Mr. Yenne's script as "typical Kosmet Klub material." It should be; it was written for Kosmet Klub.

Kermit Hanson as Mrs. Van Fleet, the gay divorcee, truly steals the show. So excellent is Hanson's acting and so humorous his manner of speech, that he makes his audience almost forget that he is a man while he continually rocks them with unceasing mirth. There were no "bulges in the costume" here that made the audience acclaim him for his performance.

So enthused and captivated by the performance did the audience become that they lost themselves to the production, and before the close of the first act were "hissing" the villain, John Howell, and applauding the hero, Don Boehm. Howell ably mixes his 1937 apparel (green plaid trousers) with the typical long moustachioed villain of the nineties.

The songs in "Bar-O Ranch" are truly outstanding. Regular fans of Kosmet Klub declare them to be the best assortment ever included in one play. Not a few of the audience were singing "I'm Riding Back to Arizona," written by Joyce Ayres and David Ross, as they left the theatre. Tumultuous applause was offered Boehm when he sang "Now I have Lost You," by Portia Boynton and Smith Davis, and "This Is a Night for Love" by Russ Whitaker. Equally well accepted were the other six songs offered by various members of the cast and pony choruses.

Even Irving Kuklin's greatest applause didn't arise from his well known dancing ability, altho his combination rumba-tangoohchy koochy number does create a small panic. His hip rolling action and flirtatious manners probably elevate him to the place of a second comedy lead.

A disappointment is due for those who have not as yet seen the show. Altho comical in the few lines he has, Thurston Phelps is sadly miscast. His humorous manner, well known on the campus, and which made him stand out over the other members of last year's pony chorus, have been wasted by placing him in a role that buries his talent. Here's hoping he may have an opportunity to display that talent in next year's show.

Always comical, the pony chorus is again one of the favorites of this year's show with Jimmy Baer shining as a dancer, and Bob Ledley and Bill Pugsley just shining.

Despite the reception these broad shouldered and husky voiced actors and actresses might receive by New York's theatre goers, to Nebraska students who attend Kosmet Klub shows expecting, not professionals, but raw boned and humorous amateurs, this show is good.

HANSON WRITES MUSIC FOR ORCHESTRAS DANCE

Dancers to Give 'Conflict' Accompanied by Peru Man's Work.

A musical composition by Howard Hanson of Peru, composer of the "Merry Mount," opera, will accompany a dance number entitled "Conflict," included in the recital presented by the Orchestra Friday evening. The routine will be danced by members of the dance club of Omaha Municipal university who appear as guest performers.

Mr. Hanson composed "Conflict" for a symposium dance presented at a district physical education convention in Omaha last year. His most important work, the opera "Merry Mount" was presented by the Metropolitan Opera company a season ago.

Another of the dances by the Omaha group will be done to beautiful "Chorale" by Bach. Betty Fellman, pianist for the club, composed music for three other numbers.

CREATIVE ACTIVITIES BOARD PLANS AG SING

Schedule All Agricultural College Songfest for Middle of May.

An all ag college sing is being planned by the Creative Activities Board for the evening of May 21 at the ag campus outdoor amphitheater, announced Milton Gustafson, chairman, following a meeting of the board yesterday.

Tentative plans for the program include special vocal numbers, dramatizations of songs, and musical readings. The aid of the dramatic club will be enlisted in the planning of the entertainment.

Members of the board include Milton Gustafson, La Verne Peterson, Louise Turner, Wyona Keim, and Ward Bauder. Also assisting in the formation of plans are Dale Theobald, chairman of the dramatic club, and Katherine Jones, who has had a considerable amount of work in summer camps. The objective of the board in planning the sing is to have a gathering in which every student and faculty member of the ag campus will participate.
