AS JOHNNY SEES IT.

Today we fold up. After this feeble offering to amuse you, my stogees and I will retire to the more wholesome life of minding our own business. We hasten to add that it was not because of the dean's av that we stop. No, indeed, we're well above 60. Sixty-four in fact. Rather we give way to an unidentified successor with the feeling that we have long outlived our usefulness.

We were going to tell a few last stories today but decided that there was no percentage in taking any more people than we have already. We'll skip them and hope that our successor picks them up here and there.

So from the "has been" to the society editor-to-be we say "Good Luck," and hope that he won't run into the pitfalls we ran into when we took our fling at society reporting.

AS MARY ANNA SEES IT

Back to the social whirl if you're not too beaten down by that exam complex. Some people even look time out to whip over to a formal Friday night when the Thetas held their annual get-together at the Cornhusker. Someone in a playful mood had "I Love You Truly" dedicated to Frankie Goodwin and A. T. O's Jigger Glass, who seems to love Frankie best next to his boat. Saw Jane Locke and Bob Anderson, Janie looking super super in white chiffon, and during intermission chanced upon Dorothy Cline, who it seems to me should have been with Wallie Munson. Paul's young brother, but nevertheless turned up with Johnnie McDermott, erstwhile D. U.

And just one night later two formals on and everyone in the best of spirits. Highlights at the Chi Omega formal: Louise Stapleton's solo entwined a touch of soprano from one of the D. U. boys, who evidently was getting a bit sentimental at the time. Incidentally, the girl is now quarantined with scarlet fever or something of the sort. And at the Pi K. A. party, our style a bit cramped by other activities going on at the Lincoln. Two or three thousand people present made wrap checking a trifle difficult. Saw George Place elbowing into a tedious looking line, while Whitey Reed waited patiently about 50th from the front, like the perfect gentleman he is.

Lew Nordgren, I saw told, was supposed to have passed the candy with some girl named Lenore last week at the Beta house. And speaking of Betas, one of their pledges gave me a rather subtle ribbing not long ago. John Stoddart and a couple of his cronies chanced into the pastry shop one night and after surveying the booths with an X-ray glance, remarked, "Guess I've seen everything. Now I can go home and write my column."

While most of us were definitely in hibernation with our books, things were happening fast and furiously. For instance, Ruthie Minor, Alpha Chi, and D. U. Pine Moodie, have finally decided that three's a crowd, and the best part about it is that Ruth can cook, but anyhow that's a bit beyond the point, because the last time any of us saw Pine he still had possession of his own pin, though couldn't tell you how long that might last.

Lois Dietrich, of the Triple Triangle domicile, has lost her pin to Phi Gamma Ed Melker, or at least temporarily while he takes it to the jeweler to have it chained to his own Phi Gamma. A Phi Gamma pin, because of its size, reminds me of a shield. Don't know just how long Lois will be hiding behind it, but a chain, it seems is as strong as its weakest link.

Seeing Phyllis Jensen at her own Chi O formal Saturday night, attired in floaty white chiffon, reminds me that you really should know about Frank Kudrna's Kappa Sigma crescent and star sash recently annexed after preliminaries that have lasted right onto two and a half years now.

And as Barbara Meyer remarked when someone complimented her on her hardware, a D. G. and D. U. pin, "Yes, I worked so hard for both of them." And that's all for today.

SEEN ON AG CAMPUS

By Bob Rupp.

RUTH ANN SHELDON is back in school again. She has been in New York for the past couple of weeks. Her father was taken quite ill while on a business trip back there and RUTH ANN has been with him. Welcome back, RUTH ANN.

Wonder who it was that called for MINA JEAN YOUNG at 11:30 last Friday night at 2145 Holdrege?

And I also wonder who the fellow is that found EDITH SHOEMAKER so interesting to watch over the top of his paper every morning in the library last semester?

MILLARD STANEK won't be seen around the campus this semester. He is going home to the farm.

RODNEY CHRISTENSEN won't be around either. Seems like lots of the students are trying out this "Back to the Farm" movement. Every body is still going around with a sort of dazed look in their eyes from exams. In fact every body has been creaming so hard and going around numbing to themselves so much that nobody did anything bad enough for me to write about! That IS something!

Orville Marquardt of the ag college boarding club passed cigars to his brethren last evening with the identity of the young fortunate not given. He is the president of the boarding club organization and is graduating this semester.

Official Cornhusker prices will be maintained until May 1, because many are ordering application photographs from their Cornhusker sittings for this purpose. No additional charge. Girls who used the drape and wish sittings in tailored dress may have them without additional expense.

MAY WE HAVE THE ORDER NOW
Townsend Studio

The co-operative department of Cleveland college, where students alternate equal periods between work and school, had more students at work than in school during the last semester, according to the supervisor.

They Had to be Good to be Bad!

"Live, Love and Learn" says Robert "How to Sleep" Benchley. Robert Montgomery doesn't believe him, but Rosalind Russell thinks it's fun. Good advice perhaps, but it's also the title of the hilarious comedy romance coming to the Lincoln Theater Friday.

NU-MEDS HEAR LOCAL PHYSICIAN TOMORROW

Eminent Lincoln Specialist To Speak on Diseases of Childhood.

Dr. E. W. Hancock, Lincoln pediatrician, will speak on some phase of child diseases at the Nu-Med banquet at the Grand hotel at 6:15 Wednesday evening.

Dr. Hancock, an outstanding specialist in diseases of infants and children in this section of the country, will be introduced by James Lauridsen, president of the Nu-Med society.

The Nu-Med banquets, which are held the first Wednesday of every month, have a long history. The banquets have been held for over 20 years and many of the present day Lincoln physicians were once members.

DR. WALTER MILTZER NAMED BARB SPONSOR

Inter-club Council Outlines Plans for Intramural Basketball Play.

Dr. Walter Miltzer of the chemistry department was elected as faculty sponsor of the Barb Inter-club council at that organizations regular bi-weekly held Monday night in U hall. Dr. Miltzer will serve in an advisory capacity and will represent the unaffiliated men students on the faculty social committee.

In reporting on the progress of intramural basketball competition Reuben Denning, athletic chairman, announced that the Ag college boarding club had issued a blanket challenge to all clubs of the council to engage in a hoop clash, place and date to be set by mutual consent. Interest in ping pong may result in a round robin tournament among the individual clubs of the council, Denning said.

FIRM REPRESENTATIVES TO MEET BIZ AD SENIORS

Swift, Firestone, Grant Men Will Hold Interviews This Week.

Representatives from three different national business firms will interview bizad students during this week concerning positions with their respective firms.

Today bizad, and also seniors from other colleges, will be interviewed by J. R. Knisely of Akron, O., representing the Firestone Tire & Rubber company.

B. L. Prosch, representing Swift & Company, will discuss plans and prospective positions with seniors tomorrow, and Thursday, L. W. Boeve, representing the W. T. Grant chain, will interview bizad seniors concerning positions with his firm.

Seniors wishing to be interviewed should make appointments in Prof. P. T. Bullock's office in Social Science 306 at 10 o'clock any morning while the three men are here.

ATTENTION FROM COMMITTEE:

TEE: In a recent Rag was a story revealing that the committee had more to spend for an Ark this year than ever before. Therefore and to help the committee with its selection we quote prices on an even dozen of the more popular bands, a thousand dollars, in real U. S. money, the committee can get Fred Waring, Guy Lombardo or Benny Goodman, the latter insisting on "priv-

From the Journal. "I'll be a certain percent of the take over a given figure. Too much? Well for nine hundred you can get Eddy Duchin of the nimble fingers or at eight fifty Kay Kyser. In the lower price brackets for seven fifty Fats Waller or Jummy Dorsey will swing out. I suppose, however that the committee has about four hundred bucks and for that price they can have Sammy Kay, Joe Saunders, or Frankie Masters. Herbie Kay will oblige for three hundred. Oh, incidentally, you can get Ken Nelson for six bits...seventy-five dollars of course.

You may believe this or not —just as you like. Bob Burns "Iows it's true as gospel." The Arkansas comic, who starts work soon in a leading role of "Tropic Holiday," destined as Isa Miranda's American debut film, has seen only three movies in the past year—and not one of them with Burns in the cast!

The cinematic trio honored by his patronage were "Stella Dallas," "Make Way for Tomorrow" and "Captains Courageous," the season's leading tear jerkers.

"I like 'em sad," says Bob. You may add this to freak occurrences on a motion picture set.

J. Carrol Nash, for the first time in his screen career, was late one day recently in reporting for his role in "Highway Racketeers."

And this was his first line of dialogue: "I got here as soon as I could."

Now In The Post

"Guess who dropped in today! ...a BLACKMAILER!"

Sir William almost choked over that one. Would his wife never take things seriously? Just because she'd once been a showgirl no excuse. And then to give the bouncer a fiver—"What's the matter, darling," asked Lady Julia, "wasn't that enough? ... It was plenty. Look what happened. (Look in the Post, on page 8.)"

SHOULD I JUMP?

Imagine yourself in a plane 5000 feet up. Suddenly the engine sputters, and dies. Should you bail out—or stick to the ship and risk a landing? That's the question a flier has to answer time and again. Let an Army Air Corps pilot tell you how it feels to have to make that decision—especially at night, with a sea of blackness below.
