

BY THE HAUNTER.

Have you heard about the real, genuine haunter that has been spooking a certain big sorority for several weeks? It seems that almost nightly he calls and in a raucous tone and with a weird laugh he tells them that he is the "ghost of the — house."

This would not be so arousing, but almost invariably he can tell the girls what they are doing at the present time, where their rooms are located and what they have in their rooms. To say the least, which is what we're trying to do, it is indeed annoying to the girls.

Ryan, Sigma Nu, is one of the more successful lads in the romance. He had a date with a girl one night, proffered his pin half heartedly and she took it with the other half. That was some three weeks ago. The feign lives in Omaha and correspondence has flown in attempt to retrieve the jewelry, but she clings to it like gum underfoot. Now, rumor has it, young Dick has made a special trip to the metropolis to get the star. We'll give you further dope later.

Dottie Kutcher made the prom last night, but did little dancing. The reason is that while socializing a bit with Harlan Miller, she leaped upon a bicycle which she thought Milder was holding. The truth was that he was holding no bike. As Dottie lit, down went the vehicle—and likewise Dottie. As a result, three stitches were taken in her leg.

BY THE HAUNTRESS

Things happened fast and furiously Friday night when the Kappa Sig's bid half the campus to their formal, which by the way, was not a half bad party, not at all, especially before some of the mob arrived.

Old Doc Thompson shines again. This time our Delt friend had a heavy date at the D. G. house with lovely Jane Dimery, who evidently doesn't know Lynn as well as we do. Anyhow Doc was quite in his glory over the thought of a whole evening with his latest Jane. Up to date their SOCIAL EVENTS.

By Dixie Davis.

The past week end has seen a great hurly burly of social events. To start it off with a bang was the Kappa Sig formal at the Cornhusker main ballroom. Music was furnished by Russ Gibson and his orchestra. Each girl going with a Kappa Sig was presented with a crested bracelet in black and gold, a very streamlined affair.

Preceding the formal, many of the Kappa Sig's and their dates had dinner at the Lincoln hotel.

Added attraction to the formal was the fact that Ruth Laney of Denver came all the way to Lincoln to attend the formal with Yale Wiegardt, Kappa Sig. Another Kappa Sig did not have such good luck, for Johnny Miller and Ruthie Yourd were absent because Johnny is sick in bed with the flu.

Greek "Informal Formal."

In addition to Friday's formal was the "Informal Formal" of the season last night featuring the music of Dick Jurgens and his famous orchestra. The Interfraternity Ball was held at the coliseum, and the place was lighted up with the fraternity emblems and insignias as decorations.

As if it weren't enough for anyone, the Gamma Phi's exceed everyone else by throwing in their annual Jubilee this weekend. This is a very gala occurrence which brings in alumnae from all over the state, to meet with the actives, and pledges of the local chapter. Today will be the ending of it all, with a style show by the pledges, have been two others, Jane Alvey at the Tri Delt house was his first secret pash. Then came Jane Hayes at the Theta domicile, she of the camera smashing variety. Well, to get on with our story, Lynn started getting ready hours before the great occasion. A couple of brother Delt's under the able leadership of Baron Berg thought it would be quite the lark to swipe Doc's claim to fame, his tux. From then on the shack next to the gov's took on all appearances of a three ringed circus with fur flying among the squabs, of whom Lynn has often proven himself a worthy slave driver. So, my frans, let that be a lesson to you. When the red letter date arrives, keep it dark, keep it dark!

It's beginning to look like a put up job, but here's another tale about the dear ole Delta Tau's. Remember the Pi Phi pledge, Marj Corrington, who broke a date with Bob McCampbell not so long ago? Anyhow, another of the boys decided that he'd try his luck with the gal, so Jack Gellatly asked her just ages ago to the Inter-frat. But now, somehow or other Jack found himself Friday night looking for another date to that affair. Foiled again, and this time it was that good old standby "going out of town." Last time, if we remember correctly she was ill. For a pledge, we'd say that Marj is learning fast.

Found out a little inside dope on statuesque Eva Jane from the house of Alpha Phi. That young lady was just the slightest bit perturbed Friday night when one of the pledges came up to her, and let drop the hint that Miss Sinclair had been dieting, and all along her date had thought that she really wasn't hungry.

Maybe you've heard Beta Bob Pillsbury raving about the "most beautiful girl on the campus" Marie Anderson. Well, at least that's Bob's opinion of her, but then he's only supposed to be going with the gal. Came Friday night and this time the Beta pledges were being kept at home for the evening. Perhaps you read in the Rag how Marie wept because she wasn't to see her True Love for one whole evening. Well, there's a sequel to that. Don't know how it happened, but when we bumped into Marie at the Cornhusker that night, she just happened to be with a Phi Delt pledge, Bob Stuart.

starting from the time Gamma Phi Beta was founded until the present day, a repetition of the skit that was entered into the Kosmet Klub Review this fall and a banquet dinner. To those leaving we say, "Good-bye, Gamma Phi's, come back again."

New pledges announced by the Panhellenic office this week are, Lillian Ferelman, Sigma Delta Tau, and Helen Severa, Alpha Xi Delta.

Speaking of pledges, we wish to make a correction for an error which appeared in the last issue of the Nebraskan. It stated that Katherine Garmand, Betty Jane Pendleton, Opal Stebbins and Virginia Towle pledged Gamma Phi. This is wrong for all three girls pledged Pi Beta Phi. Apologies to all parties concerned.

The latest book to be written by the Nebraskan faculty is the text, "An Introduction to Business," published by Dr. Cleon O. Swyzee and Prof. Clifford M. Hicks, both of the college of business administration. The book covers 691 pages and has several new features, among them several graphic sequences of pictures which visualize to the student what the authors are explaining, and a valuable list of current articles dealing with the subject matter that has been covered. Problems are found at the end of each chapter.

Florida U. Maintains Policy Of Outlawing Co-Education

Students Look for Changes, But Not Till at Least 25 Years Hence.

The last stronghold of the "anti-co-educationist" may soon give way—in 25 years. A gleam of hope, well mingled with caution against false expectations, has filtered thru the maze of red tape and circumstances that maintain Florida as the only state in the union that does not permit co-education in its state universities.

The "Florida Flambeau," published by the girls of the Florida State college for women, broke a precedent of silence upon the subject to declare recently "if the university of Florida grows to be too large, if there is a fundamental change in the law, if the many needed appropriations are made; and if a number of other things happen, Florida State might become a co-educational institution—in 25 years."

Partial 'Dutch' Dating.

Such a change would bring relief to the boys of the University of Florida, for they go to school at Gainesville, 80 miles from Tallahassee—home of the State college. Their problem is to get the girls to and from their big parties. According to the present compromise, the girls pay their own fare to and from Gainesville, while the boys pay all the expenses of the girls during their stay.

Altho both of the state universities, for men and women, exclude the opposite sex during the winter sessions, both schools allow them to attend their summer schools. The Florida catalogues are very noncommittal on the reasons for the segregation of the sexes. State's bulletin says "Florida State college for women has as its special service the education and culture of the young women of the state." Seemingly the co-educational feature of other state schools might interfere with this dual aim.

Florida university "for men only" stresses the fact that it is one of the few schools in the country that operates on the honor system. Here in Florida, they say "there are no proctors or spies in the examination rooms, each student feeling free to do his work, or to leave the room as occasion arises. Secondly, fruits and supplies are placed openly on the campus, with the confidence that each man will pay for any he may take." The catalogue does not say that Florida's ability to work the honor system has as its foundation the exclusion of girls but care is taken to elaborate these two points in close connection.

AGRONOMY HEAD SAYS FOUR GRADUATE MEN APPOINTED TO POSTS

Schorer, Smith, Riddle, Bredemeier Accept Teaching Jobs.

A quartet of Agriculture college students have been notified of appointments to teach at various institutions in different parts of the country according to F. D. Keim, chairman of the department of Agronomy, who revealed the appointments yesterday.

William Schorer, a graduate student from the Agronomy school the first semester this year, has accepted a position as Junior Agronomist with the Soil Conservation service at Clyde, Kansas. Schorer graduated from the Iowa State college at Ames in the spring of 1937 before coming to Nebraska. He plans to continue his graduate work at Nebraska as soon as he is able to obtain a leave from his new position.

Bredemeier Goes to Iowa.

Lorenz Bredemeier, Steinauer, Nebraska, who received his B. S. degree from the University in 1934 and who will receive his Master's degree in June, has accepted a position as Junior Agronomist in the Soil Conservation Service at Centerville, Iowa.

A mid-year senior in the Ag college, Dale Smith of Fairmont, Nebraska, left February 1, for Madison, Wisconsin, where he has taken an assistantship with the University of Wisconsin. There he will continue work for his Master's degree. Smith was one of the ranking seniors in the Ag college and was graduated with the degree of distinction.

Ogden Riddle has been informed that he will receive an appointment as graduate assistant in the University of California department of agronomy. Riddle, who is a senior in the Ag college at present, will graduate in June and report immediately to Mr. C. E. Suneson at Davis, California. Riddle's home is at Bartley, Nebraska.

Miss Faulkner Exhibits Work at Art Institute

Miss Kay B. Faulkner, assistant professor of drawing and painting at the university, was the only Nebraskan chosen to exhibit her work at the Midwestern Art exhibition which was held Feb. 6 to 27 at Kansas City Art institute. She is showing a wash and ink drawing, "Grasshopper Valley."

GARMENT WORKERS SPONSOR COLLEGIATE ESSAY COMPETITION

B. A. Candidates May Enter Contest Which Offers Large Prizes.

The International Ladies Garment Workers union is sponsoring an essay contest on the subject, "Company, Craft and Industrial Unions and Their Legal Responsibilities." All undergraduates in American colleges who are candidates for a Bachelor's degree in 1938, or 1939, are eligible to compete. Prizes of $750, $500, $250, and $100 are being offered by the union.

Contestants are allowed to discuss the entire topic in general, or any special aspect of it. Manuscripts must be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long. All entries must be postmarked on or before April 1, 1938.

In commenting on the contest, David Dubinsky, president of the union said, "The purpose of the union in sponsoring this contest is to stimulate interest among college men and women in the important contemporary problem covered by the subject. I am grateful to our educational institutions for their interest in this contest as evidenced by official approval. We are especially fortunate that such a distinguished group of educators has agreed to judge the manuscripts."

The judges include: Paul F. Brissenden, Columbia university; Scott Buchanan, St. John's college, Annapolis; Paul H. Douglas, University of Chicago; Arthur L. H. Rubin, University of Chicago, and Merle D. Vincent, International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union.

Anyone wishing further information on the contest should write to the Secretary, I.L.G.W.U. Prize Essay Contest Committee, 3 West 16th street, New York City.

MINNESOTA PROFESSOR TO ADDRESS CHEMISTS

International Authority Talks On 'Reactions' Tuesday Evening.

One of the outstanding authorities in the field of organic chemistry, Dr. Lee I. Smith, chief of the division of organic chemistry at the University of Minnesota, will address chemists of the state, students and faculty of the university at a meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the auditorium of the Avery laboratory of chemistry.

Dr. Smith will talk on "The reaction between metallic enolates and substituted quinones," a field of investigation in which he is nationally recognized. Most of his research has been done with highly alkylated benzenes and quinones. The speaker is a member of the American, British, German, and Swiss chemical societies and is a member of the board of editors of the Journal of Organic Chemistry. The meeting is open to the public.

Students may work their way thru college without fear that their employment will affect their scholastic standing, according to Temple university officials. Part-time employment of students by the National Youth administration was investigated by the university and it was found that a group so employed made a better showing than a similar group which was unemployed.

NAVY ENLARGEMENT SET FOR DISCUSSION AT MARCH DEBATES

Fraternities, Barb Groups Compete in Tourney Progressively.

"Resolved: That the United States should greatly enlarge the Navy," will be the topic for discussion at the debates to be held in March, and to be concluded just before the Easter recess. The tournament will be progressive and will be conducted in two sections, one for fraternities, and one for men's non-fraternity groups.

In the latter class any two men may organize themselves into a debate team, assume a name for it, and they will be given a place on the schedule. In the fraternity groups any organized men's fraternity or equivalent (not including honor societies) will be eligible to compete. For the winner in this group the Silver Gavel of Delta Sigma Rho, a trophy given several years ago, will be given for possession until next year's champion is chosen.

Bibliographies will be ready in a few days at 111 Andrews hall. A few books on the general subject of navies will be on reserve in the university library.

Those groups that expect to compete should notify Prof. H. A. White of their intention before March 1.
