

By Emory Burnett.

It seems as tho: Elwood Randol chose the wrong name for his column. In my estimation, something like "Jaws to You" would have been much more appropriate, in view of the fact that Randol contracted the mumps shortly after starting this column.

In this column yesterday, Vernon Packard made a plea for increased interest in intramural sports. Today, I have something to offer which I believe will serve to increase interest in the university intramural sport program.

All American, All Big Six, and All any other conference you want to mention teams are regularly chosen at the close of a sports season. Why not have an All fraternity basketball team, chosen by vote at the end of the season of the men who have taken part in that sport? After the team has been chosen, a game could probably be arranged between the All-Star team and either the Frosh or the Nubbins.

The Daily Nebraskan would sponsor such a vote. Each fraternity team would choose its All-opponents team, and submit that team to the Nebraskan sports department. The Nebraskan would then have the votes counted, and award places on the All star team to the men receiving the largest number of votes for All opponent teams.

H. G. Petz, director of intramurals, is in favor of this plan. He feels, however, that it would be undiplomatic for the intramural department to select the team. He feels sure that, if a team is chosen, a game can easily be arranged with the freshmen basketballers, and possibly a game with the Nubbins.

I feel that this plan would inevitably increase interest in the intramural sports program among the student body. These would then be something besides the end of the season to look forward to. Everyone would be pulling for his or her favorite to make the All star aggregation, and would take in more of the games. The final game with the frosh or nubbins would probably draw a very large crowd for intramurals.

Think it over, you fraternity players. If you have any suggestions, the Nebraskan will be glad to consider them.

JOURNALISM GROUP SCHEDULES ADDRESS BY LASELLE GILMAN

LaSelle Gilman, editor of a newspaper in Shanghai, China, speak of his work and experiences.

Mr. Gilman, visiting relatives and friends here in Lincoln, was graduated from Nebraska university in 1932. He wrote a short story which was printed in the Jan. 29 issue of Collier's. Gilman is also a friend of Johnston Snipes, university graduate, who is now reporting in China.

Ed Murray, president of the journalistic organization, will explain the purposes of Sigma Delta Chi and plans for initiation of new members will be discussed. Prof. Gayle C. Walker, sponsor of Sigma Delta Chi, will give a short talk about the fraternity. Plans will also be brought up for the second annual gridiron dinner, first successfully staged last April 1.

Today's luncheon, to be held in the Egyptian room of the Lincoln hotel, is open to all sophomores, juniors and seniors in the school of journalism.

Scarlet Cagers Meet Loyola U. Here Saturday

K-Aggies Prepare for Final Game Against Huskers February 21.

Coach W. H. Browne and his Scarlet cagers will take time out in the Big Six basketball race this week to play a non-conference game with Loyola university of Chicago in Lincoln Saturday night.

Feature One-Man Defense.

When the Huskers play the cagers from Loyola they will run into a virtual one-man defense. Mike Novak, reputed to be one of the biggest players in the country, will be the mainstay of the Loyola defense. Six feet nine inches tall, Novak is famous for his leaps into the air to block opponents' shots just before they reach the basket. He is an important cog in the Loyola offensive machinery, too.

Wildcats Complete Season.

MANHATTAN, Kas., Feb. 18.—Four Kansas State basketball players, all on Coach Frank Root's first seven, will play their last college court game here Monday night when the Wildcats complete their 1938 season against Nebraska.

This senior quartet, all 1937 lettermen, includes Ed Klimek, Manhattan, forward; Allen Burns, Kansas City, forward; Howard Cleveland, Muscotah, all Big Six football quarterback, guard; and Gerhard Poppenhouse, Manhattan, guard. All have been mainstays on the K-State team this year and their places will be hard to fill when the next cage season rolls around.

Nebraska jumped back into the conference race last week by knocking over the previously undefeated Oklahoma five and is expected to show the Wildcats a busy evening. The K-Staters have shown considerable improvement in the past two weeks and promise to close their 1938 campaign with a good game against the Cornhuskers.

Wildcat Coach Frank Root has juggled his lineup recently, but the Wildcat mentor will likely start his all-letterman five against Nebraska.

HUSKER TANKERS HOLD DUAL MEET WITH AMES

Bob Thornton Enters 200 Yard Breast-Stroke After Operation.

Friday the Nebraska swimming team makes a second trip, this time to Ames, where they will engage in a dual meet with Iowa State.

Iowa State probably has the strongest team in the Big Six conference. They have outplashed Gustavus Adolphus and Charleton colleges. Minnesota trimmed Iowa State 47 to 28 but decisively whipped Nebraska 64 to 11.

Pete Hagelin, swimming coach, can't see much hope for Nebraska. He states that "Iowa State should beat us by 10 or 15 points." Wimpy of the Cyclones took second in the Big Six meet last year in the 220 free style while Halterman, who swims the 50 and the 100, took third in the breaststroke in the meet last year. Both veterans are back on the Iowa squad again this year.

McCaffree New Coach.

Charles McCaffree, coach for the Cyclones, is a new man in the Big Six Circle. For the past six years he has successfully coached winning teams of the Battle Creek, Mich., high school.

One good piece of news has put joy in Hagelin's heart. Bob Thornton, two year letterman and conference champion in the 200 yard breaststroke is having an operation on his nose, and expects to be able to swim in the Big Six meet. Thornton did not report to the squad this year because of sinus trouble.

Only portrait in the collection is "Corinne" by Elsie H. Erwin, a study of a handsome young woman with chestnut hair.

In connection with the water color display is a group of lithographs by Robert Riggs from the F. M. Hall collection of the University. Three of his plates are black and whites of prize fighters, essentially action pictures. Other of his plates show landscapes, some of European origin, but his most amusing lithographs are taken from circus life and depict clowns and acrobats.

to the conventional blue, red and white ribbons.

Also on the tentative program of the show are a bidding contest and a number of special features. Entrants in the bidding competition will be judged on their ability to evaluate purebred and market livestock. Cash awards, medals, ties and ribbons will be given in two groups, one for students and one for other entrants.

Judges in every event will be men from outstate who are qualified as experts in their respective subjects.

Officers of the Block and Bridle club are Earl Hedlund, president; Jim Bunting, vice president; Carl Swanson, secretary-treasurer. In charge of the arrangements for the Junior Ak-Sar-Ben ball are Earl Heady, Philip Sutton and Paul Fidler.

Schumadeke Manages Show.

Officials working on the stock show are Earl Hedlund, master of ceremonies; Lester Schumadeke, manager; Tom Aitken, assistant manager; Ted Doyle, ringmaster. Committee chairman are as follows: Russel Jacobson, decorations; Don Magdanz, clothes and cards; Carl Swanson, special features; Loway Corman, program, music and prizes; Jim Bunting, building and arena.

Superintendents of the livestock showing classes are: Horses, De Los Johnson; dairy cattle, Chris Sanders; beef cattle, Jim Sanders; hogs, Tom King; sheep, John Lonnquist.

NUBBINS OUTCLASS LUTHER WITH 65-34 SCORE TUESDAY NITE

Doniver Lund Chalks Up 27 Points in Brilliant One-Man Stand.

Despite the 27 points scored against them by Doniver Lund, the Nubbins downed the Luther college basketball team Tuesday night by a 65 to 34 count. Lund was the whole show for the Luther five, scoring all his team's 17 points the first half and dropping in 10 more the second half.

The Nubbins left no doubt as to their superiority as the starting lineup accounted for 57 of Nebraska's points. Tallman lead the Nebraska scorers with 19 points. In second place was Hulbert with 11.

Nubbins Play Hebron.

Wilson, Campbell and Duncan were best defensively for the the Huskers, while Ejklif, O. Gustafson and G. Larson looked best for Luther.

The Nubbins play at Hebron tonight. Hebron features another "one man team" in Jimmy Dutcher, consistently high scorer. Nebraska downed Hebron 60 to 27 early in the season.

The summary:

Nubbins	fg	ft	f	Luther	fg	ft	f

HUSKER MATMEN MEET CYCLONES THURSDAY NIGHT

Nebraska Listed Underdogs Against Strong Iowa State Squad.

Coach Jerry Adams and his Cornhusker wrestling squad will leave tomorrow morning for Ames, Iowa, for a dual meet with Iowa State. On Saturday, Nebraska will meet Iowa State Teachers in another dual meet at Coe, Iowa.

The squad which will make the Iowa trip will probably be changed slightly from the team which represented Nebraska so far this year. Bill Horn and Jim Brownell have been working out regularly and one of them may replace Jerry Adams in the 165 pound division.

Nebraska will be the underdog for both meets. The two Iowa schools are two of the strongest wrestling schools in the state. Iowa State has a record of six matches won and one lost this year in contrast to the Husker record of one match won and four lost.
