JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Today we take up one of the most serious problems that faces mankind and all of his relatives. It is the problem of the pedestrian.

Or rather, it is the problem of what happens when two pedestrians are walking along together and they come to a corner.

The Problem. If you are still a bit confused as to just what the problem really is we shall proceed to elucidate. Two pedestrians are walking along (never mind the redundancy) for about a block when they come to the corner.

Up to this point their action has been very simple but at this juncture it grows very, very complicated. All they have to do in the middle of the block is to walk straight ahead, but at the corner they have three possible options; they can turn left, turn right, or walk straight ahead.

We will disregard the tendency to jaywalk since it is already complicated enough. Well, there they are, at the crossroads, the crisis, as it were, of their walking tour. And what happens? Neither one knows which way the other wants to turn and several hesitant steps are taken.

Suppose their journey's end is to their left front. When they arrive at the corner, then, they can either turn to the left or go straight ahead. Invariably, the one on the right will finally come to the conclusion that the one on his left will turn to the left. At the same time the one on the left decides that the one on his right will continue straight ahead.

The Climax. The inevitable happens as the pedestrian on the right swings to the left, burying his elbow in his companion's ribs and knocking him in the thigh as the man on the left plants his foot on the other guy's fallen arch. Then they disengage, laugh apologetically and tell each other that he thought the other was going the way he went.

Then the fellow on the left decides to turn left and the fellow on the right decides to go straight ahead, thus coming to a parting of the ways. They usually rejoin after the second mistake, laugh sheepishly and are all right until they come to the next corner.

This sort of thing must stop. It is wasting the energy of thousands daily, what with more and more corners coming into being. Ways of combating this social menace have been put forward by a committee of two as follows:

- 1. The destination is previously agreed upon. Then when the pedestrians come to a corner and get into trouble they merely say to each other, "I'll meet you there."
2. One pedestrian boldly takes the initiative and says, "Going my way?" as he points in the direction he wants to go.
3. They stop and quickly produce a coin carried for just such an emergency and flip to determine direction.
4. If it is a hot day, they may make a rule before they start to always keep on the shady side of the street.
5. Vice versa for cool days.
6. Instead of continuing on in double formation, they can fall into single file five steps before the corner is reached and the last one merely has to follow the lead of the first.

A word of warning, however. Do not try to use all six methods at once. One is enough. If you commit merely one to memory and practice it, you may learn to win friends and influence people. Students and faculty members will respect you. People will pause on the street as you walk by and say: "Now there goes a man who really knows how to turn corners."

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE WEIGHS TWO QUESTIONS

Men's Point System, Corn Cob Reorganization Arbitrated Today.

Members of the judiciary committee of the student council will meet this afternoon to consider the suggested men's activity system and to make revisions and slight changes in the plan as it now stands.

According to Jane Barbour, chairman of the committee, after changes have been made, the plans will have to go back to the activity committee which formulated the original set-up for approval and then go to the student council for general acceptance. Harold Benn is chairman of the activity committee.

BARB INTERCLUB DANCE.

The Barb Interclub council is sponsoring a dancing and bowling party on Saturday night from 8 till 12 at the Y. M. C. A. All students may attend by buying tickets from members of the ticket committee, priced at 60 cents per couple.

Goddess Reigns Over Ag Spring Party Tonight

Chosen Coed Will Preside Over Farmer's Fair Later in Spring.

Who will step from the stage tonight to reign as Goddess of Agriculture at the festivity which marks the climax of the ag college social season? How will she be crowned? These are the questions which will be answered tonight at the annual ag spring party, which will get under way at 9:00 o'clock in the Student Activities building.

This year's presentation will be in keeping with the "Rain" motif around which the party is planned. Presentation plans of other years have included having the goddess step from a huge Japanese fan, having her riding in on the rising moon, and various other modes of presentation.

Sternie Sternburg to Play.

Playing for the party tonight will be Sternie Sternburg and his 11 piece band. Colored lighting, cellophane strung from the ceiling, and huge umbrellas hanging overhead will make a realistic setting for the "rain" motif. Potted plants will be used to give an effect of spring.

PROF. WERKMEISTER TALKS TO LUTHERANS ON CULTURAL VIEWS

Philosopher Will Discuss Perspectives Tonight in Temple Building.

Cultural perspectives will be discussed by Prof. W. H. Werkmeister of the philosophy department this evening at the March social meeting of the Lutheran students in the Temple building, room 306. The meeting, to which the Walther Leaguers of Trinity church have been invited, is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Several musical numbers will compose a program upon which Herbert Meyer and Eldred Winter will entertain. Refreshments will be served by a group of Ag students.

Miss Croke in Charge.

Anna Croke is chairman of the program committee and Elaine Dyke and Eldred Winter will assist her. Harold Norman will be chairman of the entertainment committee assisted by Imogene Harms, Harry Kammerlohr, Ruby Hotzwalker and Marvin Wittman. Lewis Klein, chairman, Helen Scheve, Ione Rossmiller and Gertrude Bergen will serve on the refreshment committee.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Erck and Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Worthman will be chaperons.

MISS OSBORN NAMED PALLADIAN PRESIDENT

Barb Society Will Initiate Pledges in Ceremony Friday Night.

Palladian Literary Society, the oldest student organization on the campus, broke an old established custom as the members re-elected Jennette Osborn, fine arts senior, as president of the organization.

Miss Osborn held the office during the first quarter of this school year, and now succeeds Glenn Hedges, retiring president. Other officers elected by the society are Paul Lindstedt, vice president; Marie Piazza, recording secretary; Lois Giles, corresponding secretary; Kenneth Ekwall, treasurer; Curtis Johnson, historian; Beatrice Eklblad, program chairman; and Glenn Hedges, critic.

Friday evening in a closed meeting at 7:30 o'clock, the actives will initiate ten pledges into active membership. Those initiated will be Betty Binning, Helen Claybaugh, George Dinsdale, Ariene Kellenbarger, Malcolm Hayes, James Hush, Ruth Mae Pestal, Rosalie Stuart, Will Stuart and Vernon Wiebusch.

Recently pledged into the society are Charles Cleveland, Stevia DeTar and Ivan French.

Prof. Lantz Discusses 'Personality' Tonight

The regular meeting of the Comenius club will be held this evening in Temple, 203. Professor E. W. Lantz will speak on "Personality." Final plans will be made for the dance to be held April 9. All Czech students are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

PI MU EPSILON.

'EMPEROR'S NEW CLOTHES' STARS MUELLER, MEIER

Children's Theater Offers Arlo Klum in Title Role of Comic Drama.

A hilarious farce based on the story of "The Emperor's New Clothes" is the Children's theater production for tomorrow afternoon, in two performances, at 1 and 3 o'clock.

"It's like a football workout," said Portia Boynton, director of the Children's theater. "The boys had to wear overalls at rehearsals because of the wear and tear of tumbling about." Zar and Zan, Waldemar Mueller, and Donald Meier, take the parts of the two crooked weavers who weave a fine new suit of clothes made out of nothing for the emperor, Arlo Klum will play the "sissy" emperor, who parades on the stage in nothing but his shorts.

Fantastic Setting.

Into a fantastic setting of a quasi-Chinese country, many of the characters are led by the Russian style of directing, bringing them in through the audience. A huge supporting cast includes children from 3 year olds to high school pupils.

The cast: Zar, Waldemar Mueller; Zan, Donald Meier; Tein, Myrtle Bash; Ling, Rita Alger; Mang, Lora Morris; Fah, Laurence Lansing; Han, Charles Weaver; The General, Robert Alexander; The Emperor, Arlo Klum; The Empress, Marjorie Horton; The Old Woman, Jane Alvey; Citizens: La Rue Sorrell, Melvenc Collar, Evelyn Elias, and Billy Erickson.

HARRISON, MILLER GIVE SUNDAY NIGHT VESPERS

Tschaikowsky Compositions Portray Oppression of Russians.

Something of the anguish of an oppressed Russian people under the cruelty of the Romanovs will be portrayed thru the B flat minor Concerto of Peter Ilyitch Tschaikowsky as played by Earnest Harrison and Beth Miller Sunday afternoon.

This rendition by two of Lincoln's best known pianists will be given at the Lincoln Cathedral choir's last choral vesper service of the season in the Cornhusker hotel. The service begins at 5:30.

The concerto, which will take place of a speaker at the service, was one of the earlier of this composer's greatest works, and was written during an exceedingly troublesome period in his life. This is reflected in the highly dramatic and emotional aspects of the music. To preserve the spirit of this work beyond the actual playing, it is asked that no one applaud.

The choir's first anthem will be, appropriately, Tschaikowsky's "O Praise Ye God." The closing anthem, "O Gladsome Light," is by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

CATHEDRAL CHOIR PRESENTS THIRD BROADCAST TODAY

Local Choral Group Sings Over C. B. S. Hookup Through KFAB.

The Lincoln Cathedral Choir will present the third in a series of six national hookup relay broadcasts over Columbia Broadcasting System wave lengths during the Lenten season, this afternoon at 2:45, the program originating in the studios of radio station KFAB.

Title of this week's broadcast is "Ruth Gleans in the Field," one of the series entitled, "Whither Youth," depicting youth in its search for a great chapel in which members of all religious denominations shall be able to worship without discrimination or shame.

Songs to be sung by the choir are the following:

- 1. Plainsong melody, author unknown.
2. Welcome Again, Christiansen.
3. Toss it Hither, John Rosborough.
4. Oh Gladsome Light, Sir Arthur Sullivan.
5. Oh Himalay, Grenville Bantock.
6. My Faith.

Writer of the scripts for this series of broadcasts is Mrs. Edward A. Gehrke of Lincoln, while the announcer for the program is Bob Moon, Nebraska sophomore.

Nebraska's Fairest Coed Stands 5 Foot 5, Tips 116

Composite Beauty Queen's Measurements Offer New Criterion.

To "ye" men who have been trying to rate your girls as the most beautiful of the coeds, here are the "vital statistics." Judge her according to the Nebraska beauty queens.

In selecting the Nebraska beauty queen for the Cornhusker this year very special efforts have been taken to choose "the right girl," according to Editor Bill Clayton. For the first time the staff selected the girls and had them measured by members of the physical education department.

After measuring the 26 girls competing for the honor, then adding the measurements and dividing the total, the following conclusions were reached:

- Height—5 feet, 5 inches.
Weight—116 pounds.
Waist—32 9-13 inches.
Bust—35 12-13 inches.
Hips—35 7-13 inches.
Calf—15 5-13 inches.
Ankle—9 inches.

Best Dressed Coed... Natalie Rehlaender

In an aqua blue gown whose filmy folds, gathered at the waist, fell in a full skirt over a taffeta slip, Natalie Rehlaender was revealed to the annual Coed Follies audience last night at 10 o'clock in the Temple as the Best Dressed Girl of 1938.

Rosa Bouton Hall Wins Silver Cup for Follies Skit

ORCHESTRIS OFFERS ANNUAL RECITAL SATURDAY NIGHT

Cosmopolitan Dance Theme Presented in Grant Memorial Hall.

Rhythm, line and movement will be deeply impressed into the minds of those who plan seeing the annual spring recital of Orchestris, modern dance group, tomorrow night at Grant Memorial hall.

Dances which promise to be highlights of the evening's repertoire are "Negro Spirituals," "Circles," "Pictures from Life," "Jungle Ritual," "College Suite" and "Lament."

"Negro Spirituals" consists of four popular negro songs, the most gripping being "Water Boy" which William Miller, baritone, will accompany. Abstract movement in this dance pertains to action in a convict chain gang.

Study of Circles. "Circles," a study of large and small, slow and rapid circles, was received by last year's spectators so enthusiastically that its second performance is well justified.

A long dance showing different phases of our life is "Pictures from Life." Its satirical and unique movement tells of gossip, work, a village flirt, a sewing circle and the acceptance of the village flirt into the sewing circle.

Only a throbbing drum will accompany "Jungle Ritual" wherein lies its main fascination plus the dancer's percussive movements.

FRENCH CLUB SHOWS COMEDY AT VARSITY

Parisian Language Group Presents Satirical Film Saturday.

As if a pear tree could have a son-in-law! Anyway, the title of the French movie to be presented by the French club at the Varsity theater, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock is "Le Gendre de Monsieur Poirier," or Mr. Pear-tree's Son-in-law.

The story is an amusing satire of an aristocrat, who has no money, but has a title, and enjoys living on the wealth of his wife, Antoinette, and her bourgeois father. The subject derives most of his pleasure from ridiculing his father-in-law, leading him deftly into repeated comical situations.

Antoinette falls in love with her husband and finishes by showing herself to be more noble than the nobility, despite her bourgeois background. When Poirier tries to reform his luxurious household to the extent of entertaining all his old friends from the wrong side of the tracks, and Gaston gets into a duel over an alluring countess, family relationships reach a critical, if satirically hilarious point.

Written by Augier, the play has long enjoyed a fine name in the theater. Admission to the showing is 25c, with any student selling 20 tickets entitled to a free one.

JOURNALISM FRATERNITY TO INITIATE FIFTEEN MEN

Alumnus Editor Becomes Associate Member of Group.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, will hold initiation for this semester's pledges this evening in the Lincoln hotel at 5 o'clock. The initiation ceremony will be followed by a banquet, according to Ed Murray, president of the organization.

Members of the pledge class this semester are John Stuart, Robert Dreibus, Emery Hoenshall, Bruce Campbell, Fred Harms, Dick Brown, Russell Weber, Robert Rupp, Joe Zelle, Lawrence Parker, Marston Reed, Tim Parker, Ellsworth Steele, Merrill Englund and Gene Garrett.

Initiated as an associate member of the fraternity will be Ralph Reeder, Nebraska Alumnus editor.

Delta Theta Phi Takes Three Men Into Ranks at Smoker Wednesday

Delta Theta Phi, law fraternity, pledged three men to its ranks at a smoker in the law college club room Wednesday night. These three men, Irvin Obermiller, Bob Fleetwood and Ed Kirby are all Arts and Sciences sophomores.

William Mateschulat, alumni member and prominent Lincoln attorney, was the guest speaker of the evening.

Coed Spring Revue Reveals Miss Rehlaender 1938 Best Dressed Girl.

Rosa Bouton hall with their satirical skit, "More to Be Pitted Than Censored," won the silver trophy cup, and Natalie Rehlaender was presented as the Best Dressed Girl of the 1938 Coed Follies skit revue and style show last night before a feminine audience 600 strong.

Featuring a "pitching woo" scene, and a chorus of four coeds in convict stripes, the winning skit poked mild fun at the rules which govern women students on the campus. The "criminals" sentenced for staying out a minute's overtime, recited their story against a background of the music of the Prisoner's Song.

Miss Rehlaender in Blue. The silver cup, awarded for the first time in the Follies history, was presented to Bouton hall by Phyllis Robinson, A. W. S. member in charge of the show.

Appearing in aqua-blue marquisette with clustered lilies of the valley across the straight, low cut bodice, Miss Rehlaender was introduced and given a large bouquet (Continued on Page 4.)

HICKS NAMED BY U.S. CHAMBER COMMERCE TO NATIONAL BUREAU

Business Administration Instructor to Serve as Federal Speaker.

Prof. Clifford M. Hicks of the college of business administration, received official confirmation of his appointment to membership on the education committee's speakers bureau of the United States junior chamber of commerce. In this capacity he will represent the junior chamber of commerce of Nebraska as well as the national organization as a member of the national speakers bureau.

The United States junior chamber is inaugurating a two year program which has for its purpose the disseminating of fundamental principles of economics to business people of the United States. Each state has its own speakers bureau and Professor Hicks was chosen by the national organization to do this work for Nebraska.

Prepares Addresses.

Because of the high caliber research done by the Brookings Institution in the field of economics, the junior chamber plans to utilize the factual material of the institution as the basis for the addresses to be made by Hicks and other members of the national speakers bureau. It will be the university educator's duty to prepare addresses which the service clubs and chamber organizations of the state may request thru making arrangements with the Lincoln chamber of commerce.

Professor Hicks will be in Sioux City Saturday for a regional conference of the National junior chamber where the program for the year will be outlined for the north central states.
