

VINES' SERVICE LIKE RIFLE SHOT

A most fitting way to describe the service of Ellsworth Vines is to say that it has all of the speed and power of a bullet fired from a current edition of an army rifle.

Not only is the service fast, but Vines is no slow poke himself. By the time the ball has bounced on the other side of the mean, Ellsworth is up to midcourt.

Fred Perry is no setup, however, and it is our opinion that he is in what baseball fans would term a batting slump.

Walter Senior, who defeated Bell in the warmup match, will go a long way in pro circles with the hard volley and good net game that he possesses.

John Bentley, sports editor of the Lincoln Journal, interview Maj. Biff Jones on the air edition of the "I May Be Wrong—But" column.

Nebraska's generalissimo noted an improvement in the team's offensive work and this has been one of the high spots of the spring drill sessions, Maj. Jones said.

W.ather permitting, the first outdoor tri-color meet of the year will be held Tuesday.

COLD WINDS SEND HUSKER TRACKMEN INSIDE FOR DRILLS

Prep School Cinder Stars Come to Stadium for Schulte Lessons.

The weatherman played another prank on the Husker trackmen the last two days, and sent down a cold wind, which slowed down workouts Friday and Saturday.

Orders to all men were to take a brief warm-up and turn in. Bob Simmons turned in by far the best performance of the day Saturday, running one of the fastest quarters of his life.

Paul Munson, another tri-color man, got one javelin throw good for 180 feet in the brief workout he took Saturday.

Friday and Saturday were high school days at the Husker track. The attendance on these days was much better than a week ago.

Coach George Baldwin brought two men from Milford to take advantage of the coaching offer of the Nebraska coaches and varsity men.

Coach George Baldwin brought two men from Milford to take advantage of the coaching offer of the Nebraska coaches and varsity men.

To Coach Ray Jenkins of Ohio, goes the honor of driving the farthest to take advantage of the Husker coaching offer.

Another sophomore satellite at Texas is Bryce Gatewood, high hurdler. Gatewood has already this year run the hurdles in 14.8 and his coach, Clyde Littlefield, expects him to improve on that time.

Relay Teams Good. The Longhorns boast an outstanding sprint relay team virtually every year and this season is no exception.

Among the defending champions will be Sumner of Emporia Teachers in the 125 yard high hurdles. Sumner won the hurdles at the Missouri Valley A. A. U. meet in 14.6 last year and then went out to California where he was fourth in the hurdles at the national collegiate meet.

Dick Kearns of Colorado will be out to recapture the title he won in the decathlon here last year. Several weeks ago Kearns won the septathlon at the Colorado relays, indication that he should make a strong bid for another championship.

In the discus throw John Pritchard of Oklahoma will receive most of the fans' attention. Pritchard tossed the discus 168 feet 7 inches last year as a freshman, the best throw made in the United States.

Proceeding the relays will be the 34th annual University of Kansas interscholastic track and field meet on Friday, April 22.

Out Early at Texas. Down in the Southwest, where weather conditions permit early outdoor competition, the University of Texas boasts a number of stellar track men.

The Longhorns got their first taste of competition March 5 in the Border Olympics at Laredo.

KAHLER SCAMPERS GOALWARD, SCORES LINEMAN'S TALLY

Fireworks Pop as Huskers Propel Pigskin Into Pay Territory.

Backs don't score all the touchdowns as Bob Kahler, flankman, proved yesterday afternoon on the old ball lot when he carried the mail on an end-around play to pop up with the first tally.

Fireworks were continually popping during the work-out in the way of brilliant plays and long runs, but failed to mature in the final "umph," necessary to push the pigskin across into pay dirt.

The varsity lacked the necessary drive and were repulsed by their teammates, later to capitalize on Kahler's fleeting heels.

Replacing the first string after the initial touchdown were George Seeman and Kenneth Shindo, ends; Vernon Naprud and Edgar Thompson, tackles; Bill Holman and Leonard Muskin, guards; Bob Burres, center; Herman Rohrig, Bill Anderson, George Porter and Theo Thompson, backs.

Wilbur Gaffney, who received his master's degree here in 1928 and his B. A. degree a year earlier, has recently been engaged as editor of a well known New York publishing company.

T. T. Smith of the physics department addressed Camera club members Tuesday night at the university on the subject of lenses.

PHI CHI FIVE MEETS KAPPA SIGS WEDNESDAY. These Phi Chi cagers, winners of the medical college league cup, will meet the Kappa Sig crew Wednesday night to decide intercampus supremacy.

Walter Luther, second string half-back, again had the misfortune to sprain his ankle.

The game swung off with Lloyd Grimm and Bob Kahler, ends; Sam Schwartzkopf and Bob Mills, tackles; Bill Pfeiff and Warren Alfson, guards; Charlie Brock, center; Marvin Plock and Jack Dood, halfbacks; Thurston Phelps, quarterback; ad Bill Callihan, full-back, taking charge of the ball and swinging down the field.

The prize story of this week end concerns six of our more prominent campus personalities. It seems that Paul Amen, Frances Goodwin, Dow Wilson, Lucille Anderson, Eddie George, and Mary Austin started a picnic one week night last week.

The party waxed merry until two fellows with hats down over their eyes and collars pulled up, rang the door bell and asked to use the telephone.

Needless to say, the culprit's left three very scared young maidens in their wake. Miss Anderson began to cry, and Miss Goodwin mumbled something about being glad she hadn't worn her diamond.

Curiously enough, the boys didn't seem to be particularly worried over the whole affair, and soon it was seen why.

But it certainly doesn't take a detective to see the wonderful bargains in GOLD'S budget shop.

to miss out. Street dresses, suits, smart gowns for afternoon or evening—all can be found in the Budget Shop priced at only $6.50.

Peewee says he has another tip for you. He says the A. T. O.'s are going to build an addition onto their house in the very near future.

Maybe you have one of those swell imported tweed suits that are becoming so popular in GOLD'S men's section.

And George Bastian was in town over the week end. Miss was making the arrangements for his wedding to Jean Metz next summer.

Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity, held a big meeting last Thursday evening. What we actually mean is that they held a big meeting after they adjourned to Way's Inn.

Peewee wants me to go out with him to make the rounds tonight so guess we better quit, but we will be back Tuesday.

CUNNINGHAM TO HEADLINE FIELD AT KANSAS RELAYS

Annual Event on April 22, 23 Expected to Draw Many Star Tracksters.

LAWRENCE, March 24.—The 16th annual Kansas Relays April 22 and 23 is expected to draw its usual star studded field, headlined by Glenn Cunningham, the world's greatest miler.

New American records have been established at each of the last four Kansas Relays and others may go by the board this year.

Alton Terry of Hardin—Simmons threw the javelin 229 feet 2 1/2 inches, 3 feet farther than any American had ever thrown the javelin before.

The previous year Kansas State Teachers College of Emporia's medley relay team, anchored by Archie San Romani, had established a new intercollegiate record of 10:12.7 in their event.

Indiana to Stand Out. On the basis of showings made indoors and early outdoor results it appears that Indiana will stand out in the relay races once again and Texas will have the strongest team in the individual events.

Last year Indiana made the greatest showing any single school has ever made in the relays. The Hoosiers captured the 880 yard relay, mile relay, two mile relay, distance medley relay and mile team race.

Indiana will be represented by another strong team this time, but will probably find the competition tougher. The Hoosiers' only losses by graduation, however, were Don Lash, distance ace and Bob Collier sprinter.

JAY MENTOR CONCERNED OVER MOUND PROSPECTS

Kansas Opens Diamond Slate April 12 Versus Kaggies Hickory Swingers.

LAWRENCE, Kas., March 26.—The baseball team of the University of Kansas is rounding into shape and is looking forward to its opening game with Kansas State April 12.

Pitchers are Coach R. L. Conger's main worry and it appears that Howard Dexter and Ralph Dugan may be the men to team with lettermen George Kloppenberg and Cliff Brass.

Frank Komatz, Steve Cave and William Wasmaker are leading candidates for the first base job, while Bert Barnum and Cyril Johnson are battling for the second base post. Lester Kappelman, regular shortstop last year, is back and the third base position is being contested by Ray Napier and Ray Conklin.
