

BY THE HAUNTRESS

By student poll taken yesterday at Ellen Smith Hall and practically everywhere else on the campus DOROTHY VAN PATTON and BOB BEGHTOL, Theta and Beta, were unanimously elected most romantic couple.

Famous grifter from the Delt house, JOHNNY HOWELL, has been seen flitting hither and yon with little MARY CLINE, shrieking violet from the D. G. house. Said Johnny when one of his friends congratulated him on winning her affections, "I have always liked the quiet simple souls. It gives a man such a superior feeling to be able to talk about himself to a good listener."

JUNE STEBBINS, lovely bond Pi Phi, and HARRY PROUTY, D. U. go their separate ways. They both feel that they're much too young to be seeing so much of each other.

Phi Psi's big activities man, THURSTY PHELPS, has decided to give up marriage for a career, and he really has some excellent offers. Just now he is debating between a position as special adviser to the Camp Fire Girls of Lincoln and an opportunity to take to the high roads as Fuller Brush salesman.

Bob Metz who has been doing the Haunter column of late has banned all Sigma Nu dirt. In fact he declares, the Sigma Nu's just aren't doing anything at present. They're the biggest bunch of woman haters on the campus.

Just to prove that the gay social whirl has not completely caught up all the coeds, FLORA ALBIN, Tri Delta is giving up more trivial affairs for the study of music. She and BILL GRAY have attended no less than 37 concerts in the past month and spend most of their time playing symphonic records on the new victrola they invested in so that they might better enjoy the higher things of life.

D. U.'s lady's man, LEONARD DUNKER, has at last found the perfect girl, only until yesterday he had to admire her from afar. When he finally got a date with her, he asked her to go steady. Friday the girl takes possession of his pin. The girl in question is tiny Mary Vogel. They make such a perfect pair.

Sig Alph BOB WAUGH comes to us with his troubles. It seems that this young lad is a bit on the bashful side. The girl he has been dating for the past three years would probably appreciate some gesture of affection, but alas, Bob scarcely knows what to do when he takes her to the door. (He has not, you see, ever kissed a girl.) Could some of the brothers please help him out?

AL LEFFERDINK, Sigma Chi pledge yet, finds the same difficulties as Bob. Only in his case, pitching woo is against his principles.

He is wondering if just holding her hand in a show would satisfy.

Biggest scoop of the year! The A. W. S. board announces 2:30 nights for heavy dates, 2 o'clock for medium dates and 1:30 for lightweight ones (they forgot to mention whether they were referring to mental capacity or that measured by the scales). Yes, rules are liberal at this, the white spot of Nebraska.

APRIL FOOL!!!

BY THE HAUNTER

We have just seen Jane Bell, K. K. G., and one of the better Betas wheeling down the street in a baby buggy.

All the pledges in the fraternities and sororities on the campus have walked out on their unsuspecting brothers and sisters because of the two awful hell weeks that were dished out to them.

Everybody is so happy that yours truly has taken over this column because it is going to be kept so clean and we mean very clean. There will be no dirt about any certain persons in this column from now on. Yea, if it were only true.

Listen my children. Two days ago, a man entered all of the sorority houses and stole the silk stockings that were drying from their evening wash. Even the ones that had never been worn were taken. Now, the femmes put up an awful howl because the gents don't like to have their dates come out without leggings because their knees glisten when the moon shines down on them. Well, our young ladies didn't go out until the viper brought back the necessary articles. This is all true if you can stand it but yet maybe it is a joke.

We hope you have a perfectly lousy time during spring vacation and you don't do anything that will get you into any trouble that will get you into this column. It would be terrible to have to tell any secrets on any persons. April Fool and stuff!

BOOKSTORE ISN'T SO VERY INEFFICIENT

(Continued from Page 1.) report of Mr. James Watchem, state accountant, as he completed a thorough checkup of the bookstore on the Nebraska campus. "As near as we can ascertain, the bookstore is running on the usual 40 percent profit basis," Watchem declared. "We found only 43 cases where bookstore employees received their books cheaper than the student public. This is indeed a clear record."

Burying the Hatchet. The audit and investigation by Watchem has settled a long dispute between members on the inside of the bookstore and members of the student council committee of bookstore investigation. Although no member of the state auditing department has ever been allowed to delve into the records of the university, Mr. Watchem was made an exception because of the demand.

Members of the committee maintained that they were unable even to "go behind the counter in the bookstore." When inside bookstore members consented, the state accountant was called in. "What! In Good Condition?" Mr. Watchem was indeed gratified to find the bookstore in such good condition. He said that he had heard many nasty rumors about the organization and that he expected to find more corruption and graft than he did. He has suggested, however, that the bookstore books be audited once every month.

"It is not in my scope to say whether or not I believe the bookstore is setting its medium of exchange too high," Mr. Watchem said. "But I certainly do believe that students of the future should keep their eyes open toward the bookstore. It's an interesting place."

The university purchasing agent who has complete charge of the student bookstore could not be reached for a statement.

N. U. SPORTS OFFICE GIVES PREP STARS BOARD & ROOM

'Billy' DeCorrevont Nibbles At Cornhusker Inducements

Late dispatches from Chicago this morning indicate that Bill DeCorrevont, Austin high football star, who had previously said he would attend Northwestern, has definitely decided to accept Nebraska's offer of room, board tuition, books, and spending money, plus 100 per month for incidentals, and will enroll here next September.

DeCorrevont stated that it had always been his secret ambition to become a Whitespot competitor, adding that it was not the athletic offer which influenced him, but the high scholastic standards of the school whose departments of study rank higher in every field than those at Harvard, Chicago, Johns Hopkins, Minnesota, Yale, or such places.

The five other Austin high players who were to enroll with Bill at Northwestern will also accept Whitespot offers, preferring to follow DeCorrevont through thick and thin, and from Northwestern to Nebraska.

FEDERAL DICKS EXPOSE THRILLING CAMPUS HOAX

The money had been collected on the campus Wednesday by 100 university students working thru the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and ostensibly was to be used to aid oriental students in war torn areas of the far east.

Police declared they had established beyond reasonable doubt that the culprits (meaning the orientals) were expropriating the monies to finance a Barber's school in Suchaw. Only mystery yet to be cleared up was how the "China Clippers" had established connections with the university "Y" offices.

Burdock Shomes in Case. Burdock Shomes, expert linguist from the department of justice who has snared more than one glib-tongued felon, said that the pilfering of the 150 grand was undoubtedly an inside job and that it was not in any way connected with recent moral lapses on Wall st.

Shomes said that subversive foreign elements (representatives of the Chinese Barber's school) had propagated local religious leaders into promulgating the campaign for funds. "Above all, students who contributed to the little circular cheese boxes yesterday should not be put out," he said. "Such a thing could happen to all of us."

Let Us Be Cubtle. Instead of taking a blood test to determine the racial purity of all who participated in the campaign and who may have been in cahoots with the swindlers, Burdock Shomes will employ a much subtler method of apprehending.

All students participating in the drive will be required to learn and recite the Gettysburg address backwards. Those who do so with most facility will be under strong suspicion, Shomes asserted. "It is a well known fact that Chinese people do things best backwards."

GOLD'S DRINKING

In the spring, young men's fancies turn to love and so forth. At least that's what Pee Wee said when he saw George Shackelford at the Royal Grove Tuesday night. And he wasn't with his true love, Wilma Pulliam either. Oh well, as we said, in the spring young men's fancies turn to—etc.

And here is another little newsy bit before we all take a well earned rest... from our heavy curricular work. Jean Rowe of the Lincoln General Hospital and the Kappa House seems to have at least one true love. While she was walking on a cane, recuperating from her recent injury, this suitor was at her elbow at every step. Of course we couldn't tell what went on between steps, but it is said that one of her former good friends approached Bill Williams, the white slave driver, and asked him how he was progressing with Miss Rowe. Bill retorted, "Well, I have her ear, don't I?" Pee Wee says he wishes he knew a girl with an ear.

But you don't need a car if you have one of these new Bush Jackets and a new pair of slacks from GOLD'S. Of course Harry Prouty has a swell car and shows darn good taste in his clothes. Even at that he was going to be on the safe side when he bought a Bush Jacket at Gold's. You ought to have a permanent "in" at the Pi Phi house with that swell campus outfit.

A very funny thing happened Tuesday evening at Way's Inn when Lou Lipman was sitting with Bill Sacket. A small boy about four years old walked up to the table and, after eyeing the occupants, said, "Hi, Daddy!" to Lou. You may draw your own conclusions, but Pee Wee isn't saying.

Pee Wee tells a good tale about John Stoddart, Herb Glover and Lou Uordgreen with their dates on a picnic not so long ago. It seems that they found the desired spot and he fellows proceeded to lay out the site for the party, piling blankets in three definite and distinct piles. The girls sat in the ear, watching the proceedings and when all arrangements had finally been made, they refused to get out of the ear.

The fellows, so Pee Wee said, sat on their respective piles of blankets and consumed the refreshments while the feminine members of the party looked on. When the refreshment containers were empty, they all went back home. Perhaps that is what is called a good picnic. At least the dates didn't cost much.

And it doesn't cost much to take advantage of the marvelous barrel sale that is being held at GOLD'S the rest of this week. A great saving is available to you fellows who have been waiting to get that new spring outfit. You can be fitted from the skin out at the greatest savings in years by dropping into GOLD'S men's section this week.

It is rumored that A T O George Unthank has an inside track to the girls in the house just north of the Pi Phi house. If any of you fellows are curious, just ask George.

We wonder why the Tri Chi sign was painted on the walk leading up to Helen McLaughlin's residence. Have you friends in the dental college or do they just want you to keep them in mind?

Overheard at the drug, "Now that H. Me. is president at the Kappa house and has taken her tribe out of here at noon, a fellow can hear himself drink his own soup." Maybe they don't have soup at the Kappa house, D. K.

Love to all and we will be seeing you after vacation. In the meantime, be good.
