The subject under discussion in one of Dr. Werkmeister's classes last week was free will, so the prof challenged anyone to appear on the campus clad in pajamas.

History repeats itself it seems, and Fred Shirley who would rather make love than history anyhow has this time fallen head over heels with Rosalie Mott.

A. T. O. Bob Sandburg's resistance is anything but low. Last week he had a date to the Park with Marie Anderson and that very afternoon she discovered she was coming down with a case of mumps.

Bob Wadhams may be having fun with his panning, but his bating average has certainly slumped at some houses. Not long ago he called Jane Bell for a date which she considered practically an insult.

Harold Niemann at last found the girl of his dreams. The only trouble is that she's wearing a pin and besides he doesn't even know her. Yesterday he was feeling very dejected when he walked Fred Remington with his Denture to cheer him up.

Jackie Fuller, Alpha Phi, and Bruce Lyon, Sig Chi, have been saying for the past week that they were not going the narrow path any more but it leaked out to yours truly that they were planning to pass the stuff.

AG-GRAVATIONS

Another campus heart throb is now definitely out of circulation since Claude King hung his pin. That hanging has been expected for some time, and it looks like all it took was the moonlight Saturday night. The lucky girl was Addie Cole, the girlhood sweetheart and home town girl.

Lawrence Tomich, A. G. R., and Ray Cruise, Farm House, had to go a thousand miles into the sticks to bury the hatchet. It happened during spring vacation, and if what they say is true, politics were not even discussed the whole time. One of the other of those boys sure must be slipping.

Here is an item that would be called a scoop in any man's gore column. Dean and Mrs. Burr were chaperoning the A. G. R. swing session Saturday night and after the ball was over they drove Mrs. Wiebusch, A. G. R. house mother, out to that house. When they arrived Mrs. Wiebusch discovered that her house key was inside.

Advertising Age Gives $1,000 Prizes, 2 Trips In Essay Competition

Spring is back again and a young man's heart turns toward love; anyway it did Saturday night. Cars were full of lovers most of that night. The Kappas had one swell party but the children didn't seem to like it because everybody was parked out in someone's car sooner or later.

The Haunter has been threatened by somebody who has no room to talk. Or has he? You children probably read about it in Master Wadhams's Dirt Diggings by Pee Wee, Sunday. Well, he threatened me and my spooks. We are not afraid because we are good people.

Peg Weaverling, the Pi Phi wild woman, is having trouble with her Kansas City boy friend. He heard that she had been two-timing him so he called up from the big city and bawled her out. He talked to her for half an hour or maybe it was an hour. It was a swell argument.

John "Jingleheimer" Bock, the woman hater of the Sigma Nu house (and the only one) has finally come out of hiding and is seeing some girl on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Anyway he is all dressed up on those days. He wears his new spring suit but he claims he is trying to wear it out so he can buy a new one.

Jean Fetter, Pi Phi, has been making daily visits to the Phi Delt house. Jean can be seen going in that house about the same time of day, every day. Nobody knows who or what the attraction is.

Jackie Fuller, Alpha Phi, and Bruce Lyon, Sig Chi, have been saying for the past week that they were not going the narrow path any more but it leaked out to yours truly that they were planning to pass the stuff.

We met Mary Anna Cockle Saturday night for the first time and the first thing she said was that she had not written her column and wondered if we could tell her anything for her news. Fine stuff and we work so hard.

HUSKER PUBLIC SPEAKERS COMPETE AT IOWA STATE

Winners of Regional Meet To Enter National FFA Contest in K. C.

AMES, April 11.—Iowa State college will again be host this year to the regional public speaking contest of the Future Farmers of America. The contest, with winners from 12 states competing, will be held here Aug. 8.

The winner of the regional contest at Ames will compete in the national F. F. A. public speaking contest at Kansas City, Mo., in October.

LENTEN SERVICE PUTS STRESS ON DECISION MAKING

On Wednesday at 9 a. m. Dr. R. J. Pool will conduct the service; on Thursday at 11 a. m., Dr. Harry Kurz, and Friday at 10 a. m., Dr. Dewey B. Stull.

The program this morning includes a call to worship; a scripture; a cello solo—Nocturne in C Sharp Minor, Chopin, by Mary Louise Baker, accompanied by Margaret Baker; the meditation, and the postlude, Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Second Movement, Brahms.

Dr. W. H. Morton of Teachers college told students and faculty attending the first Lenten service yesterday morning that "to follow Christ is not a pink tea affair, which appeals only to the simple and the namby-pamby.

The message of the Christian religion is vital and fundamental to the life of the nation," Dr. Morton stated. "This has been testified to by the words of many of our great national leaders. This same Christian religion has guided the destinies of many of our great businesses and industries. But to the individual, regardless of his creed or faith, the Christian religion has meant the most. All through the New Testament we find its messages reaching out in service to single individuals. Christ himself exemplified the Christian life in His daily living. And how the Christian faith took hold of individuals is well shown in the conversion of Paul and his life of service."

"The Christian faith has organized men into dynamic groups. Men and women who have accepted Christ will be active in spreading the truth—a faith that gives men the will to do and strive. Following Christ may mean sacrifice, work and hardship, for the Lord says 'no man, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.'"

Former University Coed Publishes Oriental Novel

'Like Water Flowing' Gives Mrs. Mackay's Views Of Chinese Life.

Out of her experiences as a member of the foreign colony of Peking, China, Margaret Mackprang Mackay, former University of Nebraska student, has written a novel "Like Water Flowing." The book was penned in China under the criticism of Pearl S. Buck and her husband, Richard J. Walsh.

Mrs. Mackay came to Lincoln in 1924 as Margaret Mackprang of Oxford, Neb. On the campus Miss Mackprang was active in journalism, serving as a member of the Daily Nebraskan staff. She belonged to the Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Leaving Nebraska, Miss Mackprang finished her education at the University of California at Berkeley in 1928. There also she was active in journalism, affiliated with Theta Sigma Phi, national professional journalism sorority.

On Sing-Jap Sidelines. After her graduation, Miss Mackprang married A. H. Mackay and followed him into the Orient on business. The couple stayed for several years in the foreign colony of Peking; Mr. Mackay transacting business, Mrs. Mackay observing life to portray it in her novel.

Throughout the present Sino-Japanese conflict the Mackays have lived in Tientsin, important as the present Japanese military base. While Tientsin was the scene of hostilities, several shells and a number of aerial bombs fell within a few hundred yards of the Mackay home. The compound of their English neighbors was damaged considerably. Chinese refugees lived in the stables behind their house and on the sampans on the creek nearby.

The book is being published by John Day company of New York, who publish the Buck books.

BARB GROUP TO FINANCE TRIP BY SELLING TICKETS

Interclub Council Offers Ducats for Turnpike Opening Dance.

In order that the Interclub Council may send a group of delegates to the national convention of Independent Men's Organizations, which will be held in Norman Okl., during the latter part of this month, members of the council are at the present time selling tickets for the official opening of the new Turnpike this Saturday.

The Turnpike, which was recently burned to the ground, has been completely rebuilt and redecorated. Henry Halstead and his 14 piece band from San Francisco will furnish their own distinctive brand of music, which promises to please everyone. Tickets may be bought from members of the Interclub Council at the standard price of $1.65 per couple for this big opening dance. They will be on sale this evening and for the rest of the week.

ENGINEERS CONVO HEARS HARVEY DAVIS THURSDAY

Stevens Institute President Talks on 'Psychology in Industry.'

Guest speaker at the all engineers convocation to be held Thursday at 11 a. m. in social sciences auditorium, will be Harvey N. Davis, president of the Stevens Institute of Technology and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Davis is making a special trip to Lincoln Thursday to address this convocation on "Psychology in Industry."

Following his address here, Davis will go to Omaha for the convention of student engineers where he will give the principal address at the annual dinner to be presided over by D. I. Payne, senior in the department of mechanical engineering. Davis will return to Lincoln again Saturday to speak before members of the Lincoln interprofessional institute on "What the Other Professions Can Learn from Engineering."

HONORARIES REAR NOTED SCIENTIST, DR. W. M. STANLEY

ford Hicks, secretaries of Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa, respectively, will announce the new members in each organization. At the annual dinner, Dr. Harry Kurz will preside and introduce Dr. W. M. Stanley to the members. At the evening convocation, to which the public is invited, Dr. Manter will preside.

Active in Research. Dr. Stanley is a member of the staff of Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research at Princeton. Popular scientific journals and newspapers throughout the country have made much of his research with virus material that seems to be non-living under some conditions and living under others. He succeeded in isolating the virus causing mosaic disease of the tobacco plant. Hitherto, says Dr. Manter, this virus has been considered living material altho too small to be seen with any microscope.

According to Dr. Manter, the Princeton scientist also discovered that a virus can undergo mutations as many living things do and that it is probable that a host plant or animal can build up immunity against one variety of a virus and transfer the protection to prevent infection with the pathogenic variety.

Dr. Bascom announced that graduate students elected to full or associate membership in Sigma Xi and new officers will be made public some time in May.

THETA NU TO HOLD MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT, 7:15

Theta Nu, honorary premed fraternity, will hold its regular meeting Wednesday night, April 13, in Bessey hall, room 201, at 7:15. All members are expected to be present.

There is a sign over the door of the editorial department of the Journal where we are writing this. Pee Wee, sitting on my shoulder, called my attention to it and he thinks it should be our watch word in pounding out this column.

The card says, "Wise is he who can compress many thoughts into a few words—Aristophanes." Following, then, the suggestion of this famed Greek, we give you the following bit, "Buck Wheat" Powell. Phi Delt, gave party, Athletic Club, Omaha, Whee—Whee!

This guy Aristophanes may have known what he was saying concerning girls talking on a sorority house phone, but he sure was off from the angle of a newspaper columnist. Here we had planned on telling up a lot of spae, but it's too late now.

Luckily for you girls, it isn't too late to tell you about the new hand block linen dresses in GOLD'S campus shop. They will be just the things for these hot summer days. The colors and patterns are really attractive, particularly when they sell for only $10.00.

Last week was rather hard on a few of our fellow students, what with raids on several betting establishments and the week end visits by the local coppers to several of our more prominent fun places. Pee Wee says he was there at all of them and could tell plenty about lots of people but he won't. That's one thing about Pee Wee. If you do something awfully good or get in an awful jam his bill is closed. It's just his idea of trying for that happy medium.

In our former little item about T. N. E.

we forgot to tell you about their pins. It might be of interest to some of you to know that they are peaceful looking skulls and are worn on the back of their left lapels. And, by the way, this is Tuesday, isn't it? Might look around the Grand Hotel at noon today. The boys might be having a little session there again today.

Before we leave you boys we might clear up one little thing. Rumor has it that you might be plotting an unhappy party for Pee Wee and me. Pee Wee isn't worried because he can fly faster than you can run. I'm not worried either because I am quite certain that you would not relish publication of your membership, would you?

Charley Brook walked into GOLD'S Saturday wearing an N sweater. He walked out a few minutes later wearing a new bush jacket and carrying his sweater under his arm. Speaks pretty well for GOLD'S bush jackets.

It's a pretty good guess that quite a number of you gals and boys are just a little irked about the last minute substitution of another band for Jack Denny at the Turnpike this week end.

They say that Elinor Kiekel has the best collection on the campus of those lucky charms that they give away at the Pig and Whistle.

ENJOY THE POST TONIGHT They fought thirst, madness, death and the sea... 25 DAYS IN A LIFEBOAT! WHEN the British tramp steamer Trevesa sank a few years ago, 24 seamen were suddenly plunged into a desperate adventure, one of the longest unbroken voyages in an open boat on record. For 25 days, and 2300 miles, they sailed the Indian Ocean, jammed tightly into a tiny lifeboat. When they finally sighted land, the boat was lighter by the weight of seven men. The hitherto untold story of that voyage is in the Post this week. The Open Boat by FRANK E. CROFT ...please... please... Make him love me instead of my sister! WHEN you're a girl of 16, and the boy you love has eyes only for your beautiful elder sister, nobody could blame you for trying out that old belief about a prayer to St. Rita to achieve the impossible.
