Add to list of sneakers for last... when do the AOP's go? ... and the serenades taking top honors were given also Meetin' Night, by DU and Sigma Chi...

This happened a few days ago, but so far the freshmen are not wise, and Dean hasn't received his sufficient tubbing.

Sig Ep Swedlund received a love offering from his parents last week when they came back from South Bend with a brand new '39 four door deluxe Studebaker, rust colored, radio, spot light, etc.

Delta Upsilon changed their house party from Saturday night to Friday night because some of the boys had to go hunting. What about the football players who can't go out on Fridays. Anyway, the party is open, and the public is invited. We expect great things of this party.

Gamma Phi's are holding open house after the football game Saturday from 4:30 to 6:30.

Don Delt Anderson seems to have lost quite a few things lately (if you get what we mean) for this is a notice that was posted in Soth "Lost—one girl and a pin on back, Don Anderson."

William Heard, A.T.O., graduate of last spring is working in the circulation department of Des Moines Register-Tribune. He was abroad last summer with his college orchestra spending some time in England.

Phi Mu is having an open house party Saturday evening after the Indiana game.

Frosh A.W.S. Hears Pascoe

Organization Head Discusses Functions

With special emphasis on campus events traditionally sponsored by A. W. S., Helen Pascoe, president of the organization, told freshmen of the responsibilities of her organization yesterday in Ellen Smith as Freshman A. W. S. held its second meeting of the season.

"Associated Women Students has the widest scope of any campus organization, with administrative, legislative and judicial functions," said the president. Administration of women students is through the A. W. S. board, legislation by the A. W. S. Council, which all house presidents and housemothers attend. The A. W. S. Court serves as judiciary.

Sale of "N" stamps to advertise Homecoming takes the spotlight in A. W. S. activities at the present moment. Also sponsored by this group are the Coed Follies, Ivy Day tea dance and the All Activities tea.

PLAYERS TALENT SOUGHT

Ag Formal Sports Dude Ranch Theme

'At Door' Ballots Pick Queen; Committeemen Choose October 22

Cowboys, farmers and their dates in cotton dresses will swing out to the music of Dave Haun at the "Susie Q Dude Ranch" Oct. 22. This has been announced as the theme of the Farmer's formal at the Student Activities building on Ag campus.

Roger Cunningham, co-chairman of the affair said, "You may dress as cowboys or farmers or either one or both." Cotton dresses are the vogue for girls. Novelty favors will be given to each couple and tickets will go on sale Monday, Oct. 17. They will cost 80c at the door and 75c if bought in advance. Queen of the Farmer's formal will be elected at the door by the men attending. One member of each couple must be an Ag college student.

Co-chairmen for the dance are Roger Cunningham and Ruthanna Russell. Will Pitner and Ann Gersit are co-chairmen of the presentation committee with Arch Trimble, Keith Gilmore, Marvin Kruse, Mylan Rasm, Marion Starlin, Marjorie Shannon and Helen Schene assisting.

On the ticket committee are Paul Fidler and Iris Johnson, co-chairmen, Eldridge Evers, Lyle Roberts, Ray McKee, Paul Sindt, Howard Sims, Lewis Klein, Wilfred Stonebraker, Harold Fausch, Orrin Marcy, William Boochell, James Saunders, Ople Hedlund, Edith Filley, Patricia McManon, Ellen Ann Armstrong, Lola Burce, Russell Pfeiffer, Harold Schudel, Merritt Boone, Arnold Peterson, and Mildred Baucher.

On Rhoda Chestly and George Gooding's orchestra committee are Denver Gray, Jesse Skinner, Lois Lichtner and Carroll Briggs. On the publicity and refreshment committee of Ruth Bander and Milton Gustafson are Rex Brown, Bob Rupp, Ruth Ann Sheldon, Esther Weichert and Marion Smria.

John Charles Thomas, noted baritone star of the Metropolitan Opera, will appear in concert here Friday evening on the opening program of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra association's 1938-39 season.

The concert will begin at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's church at 12th and M streets. Season tickets for the entire series of programs during the year may still be purchased by students at the specially reduced price of $3.50, one half the regular price. They will be available in Morrill hall, room 216, today and tomorrow.

In addition to the Thomas concert Friday, the season tickets are good for future concerts by Jose Iturbi, pianist, Robert Viroval, violinist, Lotte Lehman, soprano, and three concerts by the Lincoln Symphony orchestra with special soloists.

Student identification cards must be presented when purchasing tickets and also at the concerts. Students are asked to use the south door at St. Paul's Friday.

In a brilliant career, John Charles Thomas made his debut in London, Ontario, with the Savage Opera company. Rapidly rising to fame, he sang in the Royal Opera, Brussels, in 1925, and later in Covent Garden, London. Before joining the Metropolitan in New York in February, 1934, where he has remained, Thomas appeared with the Philadelphia Grand Opera, the San Francisco Opera, and the Chicago Civic Opera.

Cobs Plan Game Tasks

Pepsters Practice 'N' Formation Today

Occupied mainly with rally plans for tomorrow evening, Corn Cobs active and workers met last night in room 313 of the Student Union to discuss the part the pep group will play in the rally and to apportion tasks to workers for Saturday morning and afternoon.

Workers are requested to be present this afternoon at 5 o'clock to start work on the "N" formation, in which they will march in tomorrow night's rally. Twenty-four of them will carry torchlights providing the impetus to the street parade. Workers selected to participate in the formation will also meet Friday at 5 o'clock to practice.

Other workers are requested to report at the west stadium Friday at 2 o'clock to prepare the stadium for the rally. Saturday morning will find Cob pledges making the rounds of downtown business offices and campus houses selling flowers and other novelties, on which they have been given a selling monopoly.

All workers and activities will be treated to the 11 o'clock theater rally tomorrow evening upon presentation of identification cards, if they are wearing their red sweaters.

According to Louie Anderson, treasurer of the society, sweaters will be available this afternoon and tomorrow at Magee's. All Cobs must have sweaters by rally time tomorrow evening.

Among the articles to be sold by Cobs before the game will be field glasses, sun glasses, pennant and football buttons. Workers will meet at 9:30 Saturday morning to receive their allotments and again at 12:30 in room 313 of the Union.

Last week's sale of novelties netted the club a sizable amount of profit, with plans for a group activity later in the year showing up as a result.

Student Book Taste Improves

Poll for Union Library Continues 'Til Monday

Trend in student literature is definitely on the upward side as the returns from the polls show.

Many excellent suggestions were made, such as the Bible, "An American Doctor's Odyssey" by Victor G. Heiser; "Behind the Face of Japan" by Upton Close; "How to Win Friends and Influence People" by Dale Carnegie; outstanding selections of the Book of the Month club; and plays by George Bernard Shaw, Eugene O'Neill, Noel Coward and many others. The current magazines requested by many students can be found on file in the Book Nook.

Knock Opens Movie Series

Language Department Sponsors French Film

"As long as a person has money he can stand treatment by a doctor" is the profitable motto of "Dr. Knock," central figure in the French moving picture to be shown in Lincoln on October 22, sponsored by the romance language department.

In "one of the best frenchies to touch U. S. shores in recent years," according to Variety magazine, Dr. Knock buys the practically non-existent clientele of one Dr. Parpalaid, and sets out to improve his own methods to the town.

Using a combination of impressive medical jargon and auto-suggestion, he speedily renders the villagers conscious of the germs floating in the air—while he personally does a sensational cash business. The pay-off is when skeptical Parpalaid returns to check up on the fabulous stories of the new wonder doctor, and gets taken in himself.

FASHION SHOW

Escorted by Larry Cohn, ZBT, were Florence Myerson, in a beige leather jacket, and Miriam Rubnitz, in a knife-pleated plaid skirt and jacket. Both girls are SDTs.

Wearing a chic green costume suit was Betty Mallo of Raymond Hall. Shewas escorted by Jack McPhail, who hails from New Mexico Military Institute.

Genevieve Hyde, of Raymond Hall, wore a brown "chubby" jacket and rust dress, and Lois Drake, also of Raymond Hall, wore a brown and green afternoon dress.

Very collegiate in a teal blue afternoon dress trimmed with a cherry colored belt, was Phi Chi Charlotte Stahl escorted by Sigma Chi Art Mason.

AOP's Natalie Johnson was trim in her three piece suit and Grace Leaders was smart in an accordion-pleated skirt and clever bolero.

Camel-Hair Coat Brings Cyclones Good Luck

AMES, Ia., Oct. 12.—Beryl Taylor, Iowa State college athletic trainer, has an old camel-hair coat he's keeping under lock and key. It's not an heirloom nor a beautiful garment; it's the Cyclone good luck charm.

Taylor dug the coat out of the attic to wear on last fall's trip to Marquette. The Cyclones had lost six games in a row in 1937 when they hit their stride to bump off the Hilltoppers 3 to 0. Needless to say, Taylor wore the coat as the Cyclones polished off the season the following week with a 13 to 7 win over Kansas State.

By the time the 1938 season rolled around, Taylor's coat had become a tradition. It's been too hot for the Cyclone trainer to wear it, but he had it on the sidelines this fall as Iowa State bowled over Denver 14 to 7, Luther 32 to 7 and Nebraska 8 to 7 in succession.

"Don't forget your coat when we go to Missouri this week, Beryl," Cyclone players are warning Taylor.

SCHULZ DISCUSSES SUMMER FIELD WORK

C. Bertrand Schulz, assistant director of the museum, gave illustrated lectures at Bridgeport, Broadwater and Oshkosh, recently, covering the field work completed this summer.

The museum's field parties completed all odds and ends the past week of the summer's work, one group, under the supervision of Paul Burkholder of Fremont, remaining in the Broadwater vicinity through Saturday.

T. C. Middlewart, W. F. Chaloupka and S. R. Sweet, all of Bridgeport, will continue to unearth fossils for the museum the rest of the fall season. Many of the valuable finds recovered in recent years have been due to the combined efforts and interest of Here's what a large publishers' representative says about college newspapers . . .

"The college newspaper now occupies a position midway between an activity and a career. The happy-go-lucky days that marked the early college newspaper have ended. The student paper has set itself up in business, and it has had to assume the obligations of a business towards its customers—both readers and advertiers." *

Yes, the happy-go-lucky days are gone for good, and college newspapers are now responsible, important organizations.

Here at U. of N. the DAILY NEBRASKAN is the campus' largest and most important student activity—one that you can profit by participating in. Working on the business staff of the Nebraskan not only is interesting and important, but it gives you training and experience in the operation of an actual business enterprise—one of the nation's leading college newspapers.

The work of the Business Office is wide and varied, and probably a field you particularly like. See about it today.

Dorsey Injured Near Norfolk

Jimmy Dorsey well known orchestra leader was painfully but not seriously injured in an accident while enroute to Norfolk where he was scheduled to play.

According to his company Dorsey steered his car into a ditch to avoid colliding with a truck, which suddenly turned in front of him.

This accident occurred after Dorsey's engagement in Lincoln when he played at King's ballroom on Friday, Oct. 7.

Although he was painfully injured Dorsey directed his hand at the Norfolk dance as scheduled.
