SPORT NOTES

By Norman Harris

Many Saturdays have passed since this corner has predicted a correct outcome of a Cornhusker football game. Not many more shall pass, however, for today's prediction (this is said with high hopes) will be born out. Just you wait and see! Nebraska over Kansas! Don't laugh. We're not predicting that result just out of loyalty to the team, but because the Huskers really should win. They've lost too many and are out for blood. The game tomorrow will be plenty rough, but still clean. It may be played in the rain, but the Jones Boys got used to that idea this week, for it has been raining at every practice.

Adolf J. Lewandowski may have a clumsy name to spell, or to pronounce, but his coaching methods and his ability to handle young men and boys is something to marvel at. In charge of over 120 freshman footballers, he has built up for most of them who were not high school flashers a valuable groundwork consisting of fundamentals and teachings about the little things that go into the making up of a real football player.

Aided by Bob Mehrling, Chill Armstrong and Harold Petz, "Lew" has week after week turned out fresh lineups that played good ball, considering their inexperience and lightness, against the Biffer's varsity.

Adding all the more to Lew's value to Nebraska athletics are his scouting assignments. The genial yearling headmaster brings back more news about future opponents than any one man can possibly learn about in a week's time. He has formations charted plainly, a few, crack plays outlined, and a little information on the ability of every man on the future Husker opposing lineup.

His addition to the Nebraska Athletic Coaching staff last year was one of the best things that has happened to N. U. athletic fortunes for a long time, perhaps, ranking alongside with the appointment of the Biffer, whose duties are now taken as a matter of course rather than one of discussion.

Our guess is that Lew won't have much trouble making himself a name in the coaching world. Nebraskagals should hope that he stays here, and is not lured away by any sparkling offers which in time he will be in a position to receive.

Improvement of Vernon Neprud at his tackle position has been one thing Husker fans should be happy about. At the first of the season, there were just a few real tackles on the squad, indicating that Link Lyman had plenty of trouble ahead. But Paul Gostowski, sophomore, proved his worth, and along came "Nep," 230 some pounds of beef, who blossomed into a first rate defender, hiking himself from the fourth squad clear up to the second, where he is destined for stellar service. Vernon is co-captain with Lloyd Grimm tomorrow.

Uncle "NEB" Says

"I hear tell that Saturday morning all the Corn Cobs and Tassels are going to migrate south for the Kansas game. They'll have lunch at Lawrence and then be met by busses which will truck 'em to the Kansas campus. Bet they'll all have their sweaters cleaned at the EVANS so that they'll look 'spic and span' when the Kansas bunch sees 'em. Shore hope we 'clean' Kansas!"

Rain Cramps Final N. U. Drills

Injuries Keep Out Wibbels, Bill Iverson

Jones Reports Squad In Top Shape for Battle With Kansas Saturday

BY JIM DE WOLF.

Major Biff Jones' gridders worked out inside under the east stadium yesterday for the first time this year. For the third straight day, rain put a cramp into the preparation for their contest with Kansas university's Jayhawkers tomorrow.

With the exception of Bill Iverson, who is out for the season with a broken leg, and Edsel Wibbels, out with a bad knee, the squad is in top shape to invade Lawrence Saturday. Hermie Rohrig's knee has responded to treatment and he is expected to be the spearhead of the Huskers' attack.

Seaman, Grimm at Ends.

Jones will bank on Seaman and Grimm at ends; Mills and Behm at tackles; Hermann and Muskin at guards; Brock at center; and Rohrig, Dodd, Hopp and Callihan in the backfield for his starting lineup. Bus Knight and Ad Dobson should see lots of service due to their good performances last Saturday.

Passing drill has been cut down this week due to rain and the over-ground attack has been worked on. Dodd, Rohrig, and Hopp have been carrying the ball for good gains and the blocking has been improved.

K. U. is still fighting injuries, especially in the backfield. Ralph Miller, one of the best sophomore backs in the Big Six, will not start and Paul Masoner is troubled with a sore leg.

Good Offense.

In previous tilts the Jayhawks have shown an offense that has made good yardage in all the games they have played. Long runs by Dick Amerine, passes by Ralph Miller and plunging by Bill Busen have been featured at all the Jayhawk games this fall.

In past performance the team has been an "in and out." Notre Dame steamrollered them 52-0, but they bounced back the next week to beat Washburn 58-14 and surprised Kansas State 27-7. Kansas State had beaten Indiana the week before.

Betting odds are in favor of K. U. because of their past record, but the Huskers have the tradition of no defeats by Kansas for 21 years.

Mel Pester To Play In Union This Evening

Mel Pester, Lincoln bandman, and his orchestra will furnish dancers at the Union ballroom tonight rhythmic beat and melody. The dance will be highlighted by rallies and pre-game enthusiasm before the mass migration to Lawrence Saturday morning.

Pester who has just returned from a trip through the midwest will feature Evelynn Belote as vocalist.

Admission has been set at a price of 25 cents, according to Union Director Kenneth Van Sant who hopes to make the pre-game dance a place to arouse enthusiasm and pep.

As I See It
by June Bierbower

Latest developments in the football scene appear to have turned from the football team dropping a player to that of a player dropping the football team, meaning, of course, the much talked of case of Dartmouth's "Heavenly" Gates, who didn't like profanity, commercialism and general ungodliness of the old game.

BERNIE MOORE
Lew's Sports Editor

First came Bernie Moore's dismissal of Young Bussey, Louisiana State ace, for refusal to obey training rules. Then Ted Bank, Idaho coach, dropped George Chrape, fullback, and Frank Reynolds, halfback, for what he called "disrespect" after the Vandals had lost a 33-0 decision to U. C. L. A. Then, along the west coast, gossip has it that the "throat infection" which is keeping a certain Stanford star on the bench is nothing but a case of that old malady of swellhead.

As to Gates, it seems strange that there should be any more ungodliness at Dartmouth this year than any other year. In fact, with the great season they're having, as well as his splendid record on the football field for the year, he had better concentrate on the points of the case. If you want to get down to an up or down case, let's see if you can't resist the game, and joined his team for Saturday's game. Maybe his long sojourn with the finer things of life, such as books and things, made the football atmosphere a bit uncouth to him.

Anyway, it seems a bit silly that he'd let it affect him in such a way as to leave school. Even the football might not be a cultured game, any sensible person would rather be a grid man than an outcast in a religious cult, and if he doesn't like to associate with other meanies on the football team, he certainly should be able to hold himself from it and concentrate on his studies for one more month until the season's over.

Nebraska hasn't scored a touchdown from deep down in its opponents' territory for its last six games—since the Iowa U. game when two touchdowns came from the 1 and 8 yard lines. A field goal was all they could get against K-State in the last game of the season, while those three precious touchdowns came on a 30 yard pass, a stolen ball, and a 96 yard punt return.

Tony Canadeo, Gonzaga sophomore, made one of the season's longest runs Saturday when he returned a Washington State kickoff 104 yards for a touchdown. They're calling Pittsburgh the Blue and Goldberg... Ohio State has brothers Esco and Eino Sarkinen... Inevitable nickname for Duke's, fullback, O'Mara is Scarlett... Fred Hutchinson, Seattle pitching ace, was nominated for secretary of the Freshman class at Washington U., but declined because he will be leaving school at the end of the second quarter for training camp.

DR. BENGTON TO EDIT CHAPTER IN NEW TEXT

Dr. Nels Bengtson, chairman of the Geography department, will again edit a chapter in the revised edition of the book "Our Natural Resources and Their Conservation" by Parkins and Whitake. Dr. Bengtson has written a chapter of the book entitled "Mineral Fuels." Copy of the material has been sent her for correction and proof-reading. The book is widely used in college geography courses and is regarded as an outstanding publication on this subject.

UNION TO FEATURE POST-GAME DANCE

After stay-at-homes assemble in the Union tomorrow to listen to the Kansas game over the radio, see an account of it on the grid-graph, or to take in the newly-named Corncrib, they will head toward the Union ballroom where the regular Saturday afternoon post-game matinee dance will be in session.

As at the Wednesday tea dances, the Saturday event is a "cut" affair with the U. Capehart furnishing dance music. The dance starts immediately after the close of the game and will continue for an hour.

Volley Ball Leagues Play

Sig Ep, DU, Beta, SAM Phi Psi, Sig Alpha Win

League I play in fraternity intramural volleyball last night saw the Sig Eps win a 2 to 0 victory over the Alpha Sigs, with Bob Elliott and Bill Kovanda appearing well for the former.

Delta Upsilon scored a 2-0 victory over the Pi K. A.'s, with Leonard Dunker looking good for the D. U.'s. "Bunky" Hill led the Phi Gams to a 2-0 decision over the Lambda Chis.

In League II, Sigma Alpha Mu won 2-1 over Delta Theta Phi. Norman Harris played to advantage for the Sammies here. Phi Delt outplayed Kappa Sigs 2-0, with Bill Ryan looking good for the victors, and Don Moore for the losers. Bruce Duncan helped the Sig Alphas to a 2-0 score over the A. G. R.'s.

Farm House won a 2-0 victory over Beta Sigma Psi in League III, and Theta Xi won, 2-1, over Xi Psi Phi. Sigma Chi led the Phi Sigma Kappas 2-0.

Betas outplayed Delta Sigma Pi to a 2-0 victory, while Theta Chi won, 2-0, over the Chi Phis in League IV. In an hour long game, Phi Kappa Psi pushed out the Sigma Nus, 2-1.

This was the second night of play. The tourney will be resumed Tuesday evening.

Numeds Hear Lecture Concerning Internship

Numeds attending a dinner in the Union Wednesday evening heard Dr. Verne J. Reynolds discuss internships. Dr. Reynolds gave general advice to the medical students on how to go about securing an internship and what to expect during the training period. Fifty-five attended the meeting which was presided over by Russell Cashen.
