

Message to Congress

(The following Special Letter was sent by us late last evening to every congressman representing the state of Nebraska. It may not represent the view of every university student—such representation would be impossible on the part of the DAILY NEBRASKAN. But it seems quite the fad these days. Maybe it will be read. Chances are 100 to one it may even be considered.)

How would you like to be a hero? How would you like to be picked out of a muddy ditch and placed in a flag-draped coffin? How would you like to be laid in a beautiful white marble mausoleum with a military salute and the sad, sweet sound of taps for a lullaby?

The last Unknown Soldier was a lad like us. He worked at his job, he studied, respected his elders, and built his shining dreams of the future. And then the Great Chance came. He grabbed it or had to grab it. Now he is one of the immortals. Now we are the lucky ones. We too can easily be unknown soldiers.

The Last Fling at War--Relief

MOST PEOPLE like war if it isn't too damn close. It's the one thing with almost universal appeal, especially on the other side looking in.

WHEN HITLER says "No" to Chamberlain the newspaper readers clap their hands in glee. They get up five minutes earlier to read the mobilization plans over the breakfast table. It's the most exciting continued story ever written and the audience hopes everlastingly that it will reach a smashing climax.

THE CANNON fodder likes war, too. Oh, for the life of a soldier, marching to martial music and fighting with strong right arm for a worthy cause in the name of patriotism. The problem of making a living in a dull world is gone and all cares are transferred to commanding officers. Carefree comrades and a job full of thrills.

WHY NOT have war and relieve the unemployment situation? Why not have war so we can see jobs opening up? Why not have war so that the million and one thousand can prosper on the stock market? Then we would all be happy. Perhaps, that's why we like war.

THE PSEUDO-SCIENTISTS want it. And some times it takes a fine distinction to separate them from the over-militarized mind. They all love to talk about radio-controlled bombing planes, new long range guns, new battle formations and other mysterious weapons of war. They're anxious to see exactly what will happen when these wonderful inventions are given their proper opportunities to wreck construction.

As for the women, they simply dote on war. The tears shed for sweethearts dressed in snappy uniforms. Heroic sacrifice. Women, sensational creatures, appreciate war as the greatest emotional outlet known to mankind. We all do—perhaps.

Morton reports quota of enrollment filled

More Nebraska students have applied for admission into the teachers college high school of the university this year than ever before, Dr. W. H. Morton, principal, announced Friday.

To date 350 applications have been received. Lack of space compels a limited enrollment of 200 students. Dr. Morton has accepted 102 boys and 100 girls filling the quota this year except for a few registrations which may be allowed in the 9th grade. Thirty-one freshmen have been accepted; 63 sophomores; 52 juniors and 56 seniors.

University of Nebraska Official Bulletin

INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS FOR THE AIR PILOT'S COURSE AT UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA.

1. Read the announcement concerning Air Pilot Instruction, a copy of which may be found at the Registrar's Office.
2. The Air Pilot Course as given at the University of Nebraska will consist of two parts—the Ground Instruction, and the Flying Instruction. The student is required to take both of these parts.
3. Before asking for an application blank, assure yourself that in all probability you can meet the requirements stated in our announcements. You are especially asked to observe that an exacting physical examination is required, and that parents or guardians must give attested consent to enrollment of minors.
4. If you are prepared to go on from this point, secure an application blank from Dean O. J. Ferguson (M 204, or U. Col. during registration days). Fill it out completely, having the Medical Examiner of the university give preliminary approval to that portion reporting physical condition.
5. Attach to this application your university credit book, showing all courses taken, with the grades received, as well as the high school transcripts, and the results of your psychological and classification tests.
6. File all with Dean Ferguson.
7. When tentative selections from the applicants have been made upon the basis of these credentials, you will be notified if you have been selected. If chosen you will next—
 - (a) Pay the instructional fee of $40.00 at the Finance Office, to cover extra class and laboratory expenses, physical examination, insurance, etc., and
 - (b) Take the full physical examination, under the direction of Dean Lyman.
8. A final selection will be made for admission, from all those who rank high in these several tests. Applicants who have made the deposit, but are not chosen for enrollment, will receive a refund of the full fee, except for that covering the medical examination.
9. When fully admitted to the course, such readjustment of your program of studies as may be necessary will be made in the regular way, in consultation with your adviser and your dean. Standard Drop-and-Add slips will be used.

Aspiring editors should report to managing editors Merrill Englund and Richard deBrown; advertising solicitors should see Arthur Hill, business manager.

Reporters desiring to cover athletics should report to Miss June Bierbower, NEBRASKAN sports editor. Bents and assignments will be drawn up the first part of next week after applicants have been given a chance to show their wares.

WANT FOOTBALL MANAGERS.

Sophomores and freshmen wishing to become football managers are notified to report to Senior Football Manager Richard McClymont at the north dressing room of the east stadium.

Men most wanted are those who don't have classes after 3 o'clock more than one day a week, and those who have scholastic standings of average or better. All those interested are asked to report.

COBS TO DISCUSS PLANS AT MEETING TONITE.

Corn Cobs will meet this evening at 7:30 in Union 512. President Ralph Reed says it is urgent that all active and officers be present. A discussion of the plans for the year, including pledge plans, will take place.

OFFICERS CHANGED.

Due to lack of space for several music classes, the space in the Temple formerly used by the University post office has been taken over by the school of music. The post office has been moved to Long Book store and the offices of Rev. H. Erick, Lutheran pastor are in room 102A of the Temple. Mr. R. E. Rangelier, Lutheran secretary, shares an office with Mr. W. G. Rembold, Evangelical pastor in what used to be the entrance to the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Soon the girls will be showing the new styles and the new styles will be showing the girls. This brings about the problem of what women should wear and how they should dress.

The way that it appears, the only way that a girl can dress to please a man is with the shades up.

-0-0-0-

Someone once said that in girl's clothing it is the little things that count. And the littler they are the more they count. But let's look over the well dressed girl from head to toe.

Women will continue to wear silk stockings for millions of reasons. Everyone of them a man. As for underclothes, I can say this. Not so long ago, underclothes were unmentionables. Today, they are nonexistent.

God gave women feet to walk on. Evidently, the shoe designers kept this in mind. The new shoes are all feet.

-0-0-0-

And the gowns. Some gowns are fitting and proper. Most of 'em are just fitting.

-0-0-0-

Hats? Good lord!

Sealskin is the thing in coats. Five skunks, three cats, a couple of Spitz dogs, and a stray muskrat and you have one sealskin.

Which can lead to put one conclusion. Women dress to displease other women and men are nothing but innocent bystanders caught in the onslaught.

Lament After Rush Week

BY ROBERT ALDRICH.

Where are the friends that once were mine?
What of the houses where I used to dine?
What of the promises bright as the rose?
(Could I be the guy that paid through the nose?)

Oh, where are my friends, the merry band,
Who slipped my back and shook my hand?
Who took me for rides and bought me cokes,
Who smiled when I didn't know the ropes?

Where are the fellows (I ask with sob?)
Who promised me dates and promised me jobs?
Where is their friendship, more solid than rock,
(At least till it was twelve by the clock?)

Alas, today I passed them and they no longer seized my hand
No longer flashed their smiles so fair
All I got was a vacant stare.

What have I done to deserve this fate?
Why do I no longer rate?
Is there an error in my psychics?
Should I do something for hilltopps?

Alas, it's true what the cynics say!
The friendships of rush week are gone with the day
The fellows who know you and called you by name
Seem never again just quite the same.
