WHITEHEAD OUT; TEAM TO SCRIMMAGE TODAY

Soph tackle ineligible; Huskers rest Wednesday
By John McDermott.

Ralph Whitehead, Minatare tackle prospect, who has been in scholastic difficulty, was declared ineligible by school authorities yesterday. Whitehead will remain in school and will report to the varsity next spring. The status of Ray Smith, backfield prospect, was not final, but reports are that he will be lost for the year. George Seemann, veteran end, who has been on the sidelines with a knee injury, worked out in sweat clothes Wednesday, and it is hoped that he may rejoin the squad by the end of the week. Yesterday the Huskers took a rest after Tuesday's scrimmage and the Biffer went through a fundamental drill. The four squads worked on both offense and defense in an effort to smooth out the aerial attack. Major Jones stated that the squad will engage in regular scrimmage on both Thursday and Saturday afternoon. The Huskers, who were a bit dull in Tuesday's workout seemed to relish the light practice and should be ready for more contact work Thursday.

Pair of all-American six man prep football stars enroll here

Listed among registrants at Nebraska U. this fall are two members of last fall's all-American high school six man football squad, Henry Sather, a 155 pound halfback from Presho, S. D., and Raymond Czirr, 185 pound center from Hardy in this state.

The six man game, invented only a few short years ago by Stephen Epler, a former Nebraska U. man, has spread like wildfire throughout the country, and for the past two years All-American squads have been named.

Strangely enough, Nebraska, where six man football was originated, had never drawn any material from six man football schools, but judging from the high school performances of Sather and Czirr, they are going in for quality in a big way.

Louis KO's Bob Pastor in eleventh

45,000 crowd Briggs stadium to view 8th 'Bomber' title defense

Joe Louis knocked out Bob Pastor in the eleventh round of the 20 round championship bout, fought before 45,000 onlookers last night at Briggs stadium in Detroit.

After hitting the mat three times in the first round and once in the second, twice to the count of nine, Pastor sought to keep away from Louis' devastating blows.

In the fifth, a volley of head blows momentarily dazed the champion, giving the New Yorker courage to make a desperate attack.

Pastor began for the first time in the fight an aggressive onslaught, this starting in the eighth and lasting through the tenth rounds. Bob charged Louis, throwing hard punches and landing a few as the stadium roared. Louis was driven to the ropes.

Anybody's fight.

As the eleventh and last round opened it was anybody's fight. Pastor and Louis met in the center of the ring, threw a few jabs and danced around with the freshness of the first round. Louis at last finding the chance for which he had been waiting stepped in and threw the punch that sent Pastor to the mat. The latter lifted himself to his knees, but on the count of eight gave up and fell back onto his elbows. Joe Louis remained the champion of the world.

As I See It

BY JUNE BIERBOWER.

Ineligible at Indiana is Joe Nicholson, the Hoosier passer and ball carrier who looked good against the Huskers last year... they're touting Bob Nelson, Baylor's junior center, as the best in the southwest after "KI" Aldrich's graduation from TCU... Nelson, whose team plays here Oct. 21 is a fine place kicker... three Nebraskans are among the starting linemen at Colorado U. this year... they are Harold Saunders, end from Benson High in Omaha, and Panches, brothers Max and Lyle, guard and tackle from Wymore... Hooker Herring, the giant Princeton discus thrower who was here for the AAU track meet this summer, is a regular guard on the Tigers' team... he weighs around 235, and is the son of a former Princeton football star... in the last two years, Fred Thomsen's

Arkansas team has lost five southwest Conference games in the last half-minute of play.

While speaking of eligibility, etc., this column gives three big rahs for Vike Francis, who made some of this state's more prominent sports squawkers look a little foolish when he cleared his scholastic standing. As we remember the odds on Vike's being eligible were supposed to be 1,000 to 1 or something like that.

Chatter: This is about football—Bob Toof, of Aurora, who made Gregg McBride's second all state team at fullback last fall, has an athletic scholarship at George Washington U. . . . Bob gets room, board, tuition, etc. for his athletic talent . . . Bob Faris, former Fremont high great, who graduated from GWU last spring, was one of that school's best basketball players in history . . . altho several of the state's ace athletes are going elsewhere than to NU, there is a pretty potent crew headed for Lincoln . . . Oh, year, then there's a 240 pound lineman who gets everything in addition to a show a week at a state normal college . . . but we'd never tell his name or anything.

Edsel Wibbels to quit school for this year

Edsel Wibbels, Big Six discus champion, is laying out of school this year, he announced early this week. Wibbels, a great football prospect whose grid career was halted last year when he suffered a knee injury, is staying out of school in order to have a knee operation which he hopes will enable him to play football eventually for the Huskers.

Huskers Huston, Rundle to defend Lawlor cup

Johnny Huston and Harold Rundle, Husker tennis stars, are in the finals of the state Lawlor cup competition, as they defend their trophy probably Sunday against Omaha.

The Omaha Tennis club, represented by Leo Cassidy and Paul Guerin, eliminated Hastings from play Sunday, and will come here to try to gain the cup from Huston and Rundle.

Rundle, a senior this year, has been runnerup twice in the Big Six singles championships, and was state champion in 1938. Huston, state high school champion for three years, is a sophomore this year.

Football to be faster

PHILADELPHIA.—College football this fall will be faster than ever, with more touchdowns and more passing, according to Francis Wallace, noted sports authority, in his annual "pigskin preview" today in the Saturday Evening Post.

"The accent for 1939 is on speed—more speed from opening to closing whistles, more plays per game, more scoring plays, fewer time-outs, less lagging all along the line," says Wallace. "Everything I've been able to gather from a ground crew composed of the best football coaches in the country adds up to this conclusion."

Wallace, as is his annual custom, lists players from the more important colleges who, in his estimation will be this year's stars. Wallace reports that there is powerful sentiment in favor of rule changes to speed up the game and some suggestions would restrict time-outs, especially in the closing minutes of play, and others would deal with unorthodox defense.

Pass may be overdone
"The great danger is that the trend to passing this season will be overdone," says Wallace. "Passing may be overdone, as razzle-dazzle was overdone. The wise coach will go all the way out on passing only when he has the passers and receivers. He will continue to fit his style of play to his material. But he will also try to get backs able to pass and ends able to snare the heaves."

"Another trend which may speed the game is a movement away from the huddle and back to signal calling. This is very slight as yet.

"Wider use of linemen as backs also will make for more big gains and more scoring.
"In the field of subsidization there is a general settling process. The national trend is definitely away from excess, except in the south."
