PLAYERS SCORE HIT NEBRASKA'S OFFER
Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," main stage properties, arouses imagination of first nighters

The 21,000 ton British training ship that was attacked by German planes last week, as well as 50 cattle that were reported as the German air force followed them to the Firth of Forth and the Scottish coast last night, were attacked in the morning and again at night. The air force, however, was not successful in accomplishing anything significant.

The British was still mounting the defenses of the remaining ships that were attacked yesterday. As a result, the surviving ships were attacked again this morning, but there were no significant damages reported.
