Betas, Farm House enter grid finals

Phi Deltas, Phi Psi's lose games

Farmers win thriller, 7-6; Beta Theta Pi takes 12-6 decision by Harl Hunt.

Beta Theta Pi and Farm House, winners of yesterday's semi-final touch football games, tangle tomorrow afternoon for the fraternity intramural championship.

Farm House won a hard earned 7-6 victory over the Phi Psi's in an overtime fray, while the Betas turned back a fighting Phi Delt team, 12-6.

The Phi Psi's drew first blood in their tussle with the Farmers when "Monk" Meyer tossed a touchdown pass to Warren Radtke in the first half. This set up the pins for the fireworks, and Farm House promptly started a rally which looked touchdown-bound. Two passes, thrown by John Fitzgibbon to Norman Davis took the pigskin from the Farm House 15 to the Phi Psi 20. A few more plays put the ball on the 5 yard line, but the Farmers were unable to score.

In the third quarter Fitzgibbon flipped the ball to Don Fitz, who scored for Farm House and put the contest in a 6-6 dead-lock. In the extra period a 15-yard penalty against Phi Psi put the game on ice for the Farmers. With four downs allotted to both teams, the Phi Psi's unraveled 16 yards in their first attempt, but were stopped cold by the Farmers in the rest of the period. On the last play Fitzgibbon sewed up the game with a 10 yard pass to Fitz.

In the other semi-final skirmish, Lyle King chalked up the lone Phi Delt tally when he intercepted a pass deep in enemy territory and ran nearly the length of the field untouched.

Before this, King had intercepted a Beta pass to put the ball on the 5-yard stripe, but his team-mates could not score.

The Betas tied up the ball game when Bob Kube blocked a Phi Delt kick, picked it up, and broke away for the counter. Coming back after intermission, Bud Tallman threw a 30 yard pass to Sid Held which put the ball in scoring position. On the next play Tallman tossed another one to Held for the winning score.

In league I of Barb football, the Commanders won by a 12-0 score over Baldwin Hall. The first touchdown came when Hugh McKenna caught a pass heaved by Blaine Lord; the second score came when Bob Rouch received a pass from the same passer. Blaine started a threat in the last quarter when he intercepted a pass and ran 23 yards to put the ball on the Commanders' 11 yard line.

In league IV Cornhusker Coop swamped the KKK Klub, 29-0. Touchdowns were made by Paul Sprout and Bob Kubicek who received passes from Lynn Landgren. Lynn made one touchdown himself and another came when Lynn intercepted a pass and lateraled to Fred Uherman who ran over for a score. Three extra points were kicked by Chris Rosenberg while 2 points were earned on a safety.

Elmer Hackney, Kansas State's great fullback, was Vike Francis' sub when Vike was a freshman at Oberlin, Kas., high school, and Hack was a sophomore.

Them was the days when Hackney was a green youngster—in fact, when he reported for practice as a freshman and was told to get on the line of scrimmage he said "What line?"

He played center as a freshman, and was moved to the backfield as a sophomore, but didn't blossom until his last two years in school. Vike started every game over Hackney that year, but moved to Colorado the next season, so the two linebackers played together only one year.

We hear that the Missouri bench came in for a little bit of heckling the other day. Harold Niemann, of whom you may have heard, and Irv Sherman were returning from the press convention in Des Moines so decided to stop off in Ames and "scout" Missouri for Biff. They sat right behind the Missouri bench, and their taunts such as "You can't play like that against Nebraska" and "Don't put that guy in, Don—leave so-and-so in there, he's doing okay," had Faurot in a dither.

When it comes to those good old "crooshal" games this one with Missouri Saturday about takes the cake. When the season started Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma were rated as tops in the Big Six—the Huskers and Missouri being doped to fight it out for second place.

Well, it must be said, Nebraska has come along better than nearly everyone expected. Missouri has been all right, but their record is smirched by an inglorious three touchdown defeat against Ohio State, recently tumbled by Cornell.

All of which means that a defeat by Missouri would pull the Huskers way down in national rankings and smear any hope they would have of winning undisputed claim to the Big Six title when they meet Oklahoma. Nebraska was better against K-State than was Missouri, but Mizzou was far better against Iowa State.

However, the Huskers showed they could play football away from home, and although the play was spotty at times, any team which is alert as Nebraska at making the most of scoring opportunities has to be reckoned with. At times Nebraska looked so much like a Jock Sutherland Panther crew that it was too good to even imagine.

But there we go getting optimistic. Paul Christman passed the Huskers dizzy last year, and, with the exception of Harold Hursh of Indiana Nebraska hasn't met a passer this year who can rate with PITCHIN' Paul. However, the Husker pass defense undoubtedly has improved since that bad day at Indiana. Anyhow, it is interesting to think about what will happen Saturday, so we'll just wait and see.

Frosh cagers begin drills

All freshmen interested in freshman basketball are urged to report today at 3:30 to assistant frosh coach "Chill" Armstrong in the coliseum. Practice will be held every week night from 3:30 on throughout the rest of the football and basketball seasons.

Twenty-five men showed up last night, but many were absent because they had not gotten their physical examinations.

Five vets report for swimming

Chatt, Simmons absent as Hagelin drills tank prospects

Five lettermen are among those reporting to Coach Pete Hagelin for early season swimming drills, as prospects seem fairly bright for a good season.

Ralph Worden, who won the Big Six diving championship last year, as a sophomore is back, and has been working out. Dick Van Horn, a backstroker who is being used as a diver, also, this year is back, along with breaststroker Fred Rodenbeck, and Houghton Furr, a minor letterman in the distances. Barry Back.

Jack Barry, age 220 and 440 man of two years ago is back for another fling at Big Six competition, and should be good for many points in those events for the Huskers this winter.

Bob Chatt and Bob Simmons, who won minor letters last year, have not reported for practice as yet.

Nine other prospects.

Nine other varsity candidates look like good material for Hagelin's team, which will be out to improve its last year's standing of third place behind Iowa State and Oklahoma in the Big Six.

They are divers Bordy and Charles, backstrokers O'Neil and Foster, sprinters Edwards and Widfeldt, and distance men Fleisbach, Roberts and Firman. A number of promising freshmen are reporting, among them being Hilgert, Oldfield, Crancer, Swihart, Hall and Woods.

More CAA filings taken

Applicants for flying to be put on reserve

Although the university's quota in the civilian pilot instruction course, sponsored by the Civil Aeronautics authority has been reached, Dean Ferguson of the engineering college announces that further applications will be received and placed on the reserve file.

These reserve applications will be used to fill any vacancies that may come up as a result of applicants' inability to comply with physical requirements.

All students above the rank of freshmen who can pass the physical examination and who have a high scholastic standing may apply for the course. A $40 fee is required the second term. No scholastic credit will be given for the course, as it is considered an extra-curricular activity.

Art, Nu-Med forums this week

Two vocational forums will be held this week, the first on Wednesday, Nov. 1 at 7:15 p. m. in parlors XYZ, of the Union.

The topic will be "Nursing as a vocation." Miss Agnes Taylor, director of nurses training, Lincoln General hospital, will be the speaker. The discussion will be conducted regarding the various phases of nursing which she believes a student should know before deciding to enter nursing as a vocation. Any person attending the meeting may ask questions regarding nursing after she has finished the discussion.

This forum is sponsored by the Nu-Meds and will be preceded by a dinner for the members of the Nu-Med group. This forum constitutes the regular meeting of the Nu-Meds for November.

Mr. Leonard Thiessen, artist, decorator, and editor of the weekly art column in the Sunday World Herald, will speak on "Art as a Vocation," in Gallery A, Morrill Hall at 7, Thursday, Nov. 2.

Guard Bill Herrmann to lead Cornhuskers into important game Saturday at Missouri

Bill Herrmann, senior guard from Osceola was named to captain the Huskers in their all-important conference tilt with the Missouri Tigers at Columbia this week-end. Bill suffered a broken collar bone a year ago and has not seen a great deal of action until recently.

BILL HERRMANN

Journal & Star.

Last night the Huskers took things easy after their 25-9 victory over the Kansas State Wildcats. The squad watched the pictures of the game, and then listened to a long chalk talk before going outside and running through a light drill in sweat clothes. The team ran through a few spinners and reverses and worked on individual assignments.

Few injuries.

There were no serious casualties from the Wildcat game. Behm and Burruss suffered few minor bruises, Behm, a bruised hand and Bob a leg injury and will be in shape for the game this week.

Vike Francis, first string fullback, who was out of the fray last week will take things easy this week, and should be ready for action against the Tigers.

The Huskers are one of the eleven teams in the nation that are still undefeated and they are gunning for Paul Christman and the Missouri Tigers. Last year Christman passed the Tigers to a victory on Memorial Stadium sod. The Huskers will be playing to their third Homecoming through, and will be out to spoil the Tiger plans for a victory.

This game is the outstanding tussle in the conference this week, as Missouri showed power in defeating Iowa State last week.

Earlier the Cyclones had the Huskers to a 10-7 victory.

Passes click. The Husker aerial attack was clicking again last Saturday as the Scarlet completed all three of the passes thrown. However, one that took the Huskers to the ten yard line was ruled no good, and the Huskers were set back 15 yards for clipping. One of the other passes was good for a touchdown, DeFruiter carrying the ball over.

The first team lineup last night included Ashburn and Seeman at ends; Sam Schwartzkopf and Krieger, tackles; Ed Schwartzkopf and Alfson at the guards; Burruss center, and Petsch, Luther, Dobson and Rohrig were in the backfield.

Clark leads Big Six scorers

Luther paces NU; tied for third, fourth in conference list

Beryl Clark of Oklahoma went into undisputed lead of the conference scoring race Saturday as he scored twice against Oklahoma A. & M., while Bob Seymour, his teammate who had been tied with him last week, got only one touchdown.

Tied for third and fourth place are Nebraska's Butch Luther, who made his third touchdown of the year Saturday, and Paul Christman of Missouri.

Oddest scoring record is that of Dick Faver, Oklahoma's star place kicker. He hasn't made a touchdown but is in fifth place with 17 points by virtue of 11 points after touchdowns and two field goals.

Rohrig Gains.

Hermie Rohrig scored his first touchdown of the year and an extra point Saturday to bring his total to 14, and put him in sixth position with a touchdown, a field goal and five extra points. Ray Prochaska, Harry Hopp and Bob DeFruiter, the latter two having scored touchdowns against K-State Saturday, are tied with a multitude of other players at 12 points apiece in the next positions.
