

Beta Theta Pi wins I-M grid crown

Beta's beat Farm House by 6-0 score

Bud Tallman passes to Jack Hyland for only touchdown

By Paul Dinnis.

Beta Theta Pi yesterday afternoon bagged the fraternity intramural football crown, dowsing a classy Farm House team 6-0 in the championship tilt. Jack Hyland proved to be the man-of-the-moment, taking a pass from Bud Tallman to score the only marker of the game.

JACK HYLAND

The touchdown came shortly after the last half got under way. The Betas kicked off over the goal line. Farm House tried a pass on the first play, but Sid Held intercepted it and got back to the Farmer's 4 before being chased out of bounds. Tallman was trapped for a loss when he couldn't spot a receiver, but Bud made everything o.k. on the next play with the touchdown toss to Hyland. Held's kick for extra point was wide.

Betas dominate play

The Betas dominated the play the rest of the way, although the Farmers penetrated enemy territory late in the game, getting a first down on the Beta 10. Hyland intercepted a Don Fitz pass to halt the rally. Held then got off a long punt which put the Farmers on their own 5 yard line as the game ended.

The football championship brought to three the Beta total of intramural championships for the current season. They have already annexed the tennis and golf titles.

Two mile team goes to Columbia

Nebraska's two mile team, beaten in its first start at Iowa State, will meet Missouri at Columbia Saturday, Coach Ed Weir has announced.

Bill Cook, North Loup sophomore, who won the first two mile race he ever ran when the Huskers faced Iowa State; Dale Garrels, Diller; Leroy Walker, Hoskins, and Al Kuper, Superior, will make up the team, along with Linville Prall, Weeping Water.

John Munski, great Tiger distance man will lead Missouri, while Marshall Reeves is another good man. Keith French and Bob Woodbury complete the Tiger team, which lost to Kansas State in its first start.

Big Six meet Nov. 18.

Iowa State, Oklahoma and Kansas State are favored to fight it out for the Big Six title this year, which will be decided at Columbia, Nov. 18.

Some outstanding freshmen runners may be uncovered in a freshman postal meet, when the Nebraskans are to run against the Missourians. Those included in this event will be Harold Brooks, Bob Ginn, Steve Lyons, and Bill Johnson of the Husker frosh.

D. X. Bible calls his team 'girls'; they win game

D. X. Bible, former Nebraska coach, and now head man at Texas U., was a fine psychologist, as witness the following clipping taken from the Reader's Digest, telling of an incident which happened when Bible coached at Texas A. & M. before coming to N. U.

"After being outplayed during the first half of a football game, members of Texas A. & M. college sat dejectedly around the locker rooms waiting for a tongue lashing from their coach, Dana X. Bible. He entered on the signal of the second half, looked around at each player, and turned to the door. Then he paused, looked back and said: 'Well, girls, shall we go?' They won the game.

Biff Jones and Wes Fry were impressed by each other's backfield men... Biff said Kent Duwe was the hardest hitting back the Huskers have faced this year... Fry says Herm Rohrig is one of the best he's ever seen... Dow Wilson, Husker second baseman was quite a track and field athlete in his high school days at San Mateo, California... his 9.8 mark in the 75 yard highs stood for four years until last spring in the tough P. A. L. league... at the same meet at which he set that record Wilson high-jumped 5-8 to win that event, and tied for second in the pole vault as he did 11-6.

A member of the Kansas State Collegian staff says that if they'd only move the goal posts in to the 20 yard line, the K-State team would go to the Rose Bowl... Kent Duwe averaged slightly over five yards a try on the 21 times he carried the ball Saturday against the Huskers but made both the fumbles that gave Nebraska opportunities for two touchdowns... an exact count shows that Notre Dame has won two 1 point victories, two by field goals, and one by one touchdown.

Clavelle Holden in the University Daily Kansan:

"Time after time Nebraska stole the ball from the Wildcats. The Cornhuskers are past masters of the ball tackling art. And when the pigskin got away from an Aggie ball carrier's hands you could bet that a crimson-jerseyed Nebraskan would be in possession of it when they unpledged"... Evidently then C. E. McBride of the K-City Star, who was wondering what Nebraska would do for scores if Missouri didn't fumble as much as K-State, needn't worry further... the Huskers can just yank a ball out of the Tigers' arms when they feel like scoring a touchdown Saturday.

Note to football fans: There's going to be a double feature attraction at the Union ballroom tonight as the rally for the Mizou game will be held after the showing of the K-State game pictures, which themselves should be interesting. There was much comment about the Baylor game being boring, but the Kansas State game, altho not close, didn't get uninteresting, because the Wildcats kept giving the impression that they were capable of doing something even tho they didn't, while the Bears couldn't even give an impression.

Among the names put on the Beta Gamma Sigma plaque for outstanding scholarship in bizad college were Forrest Behm and George Abel... Behm won a William Gold key as a freshman and has been on the university honor lists during his two years in school... Abel was in the upper 10 percent of his freshman class last year.

Mizzou football roster lists twenty lettermen this year

Twenty lettermen are listed on the Missouri roster which will face Nebraska this weekend at Columbia, among them being Capt. Ken Haas and junior Paul Christman, both of whom were put on several all Big Six teams last year.

Christman, star passer, who beat the Huskers last year, heads a fleet of veteran backs, others of whom are Clay Cooper, Bob Faurot, Jim Starmer, Jerry Notowitz, Clarence Hydron and Myron Council.

Cunningham stars

Bill Cunningham, who was out last year with a broken bone in his leg, is playing his first year with the Tigers, and is one of their offensive big guns. Jack

Biffer drills NU offense, defense for Missouri; squad to leave tonight

Nebraska's Cornhuskers took advantage of the brisk weather and held a long workout on Memorial Stadium field yesterday afternoon. The Huskers took their first hard workout of the week in prepping for the Missouri clash this week-end.

The first eleven was the same one that ran last night. However, Burruss and Francis were working out in sweat clothes. The first eleven was on the defensive in a light drill against the second outfit and the frosh who were running Missouri plays and were stressing passes and laterals that the Tigers have used to good advantage so far this season. Sam Schwartzkopf was taking it easy tonight, too.

The first team switched to the offensive later on and were throwing passes, working fakes, spinners and reverses. Practice wound up as Ad Lewandowski's frosh ran Tiger plays against the Husker varsity defense in a heavy session.

First string.

The first eleven running last night listed, Seemann and Ashburn, ends; S. Schwartzkopf and R. Kahler, tackles; E. Schwartzkopf and Alfson, guards; Burruss, center; backs, Luther Petsch, Rohrig, and Francis. The second eleven had Preston and Prochaska at ends, Herndon and Behm, tackles; Abel and M onsky, guards; Ramey, center; DeFruiter, Dobson, Knight and Hopp in the backfield.

The squad went through a heavy scrimmage to wind up the workout for the evening.

Tuesday evening in the Tiger lair the squad was working mainly on defense. The Missourians fear the deep sweeping reverses of the Nebraska backs, and are attempting to work up a defense that will stop the Huskers. The Tiger mentors believe that the Huskers will not revert to their aerial attack, but will try to bruise their way goalward. On the offensive side Coach Faurot had his two ace passers, Christman and Gale, throwing long passes, indicating that once again the Tigers hope to outmaneuver the Scarlet.

Line inexperienced.

The Tiger scouts claim that Nebraska has a line that is still suffering from lack of experience, but that the Scarlet does have eight backs that are on an equal basis. The main job will be up to the Mizzou forward line, which is supposedly stronger than the Huskers, but the Missouri forwards will be in for a long afternoon against Nebraska's "less superior" forward line.

The Nebraska squad will leave Lincoln shortly before midnight tonight for Booneville, Mo., from where they will take busses for the 25-mile trip to the Missouri field for a Friday workout. After the drill they will come back to Booneville to spend Friday night. After the game, the players will go by bus to Jefferson City, then take a train to Lincoln.

Of the 1,500 different types of positions for which the U. S. civil service commission offers examinations, only approximately 200 require a college degree or its equivalent.

Brinton, Rayburn Chase, Jerry Davis and Ron King are other sophomores who are helping out the vets this year.

Robert and Ronald Orf are taking care of the end positions, while another letterman, Stillman Rouse, is back. Walter Boain, who lettered in 1937, has dropped from the squad.

Guards strong

Bob Waldorf, Ray Schultz, Lowell Pickett, George Ellis and Jack Crocker give the Missourians great strength at guard, but the Tigers have lost their great center, Jack Kinnison. Charley Moser, 170 pounder, will probably start against the Huskers, although Don Duchek, 20 pounds heavier is another letterman and has started some games this season.

Southwick injured; gymnasts work

Gymnastics letterman Stan Southwick will be out for two more weeks with a crushed knuckle, having been injured two weeks ago, as the Husker gym team under Coach Charley Miller has been working out.

The gymnasts are working on individual stunts and exercises, and the squad will be selected after November 16. Five lettermen, including Southwick, are among those working.

The Huskers will compete against Rocky Mountain and Big Ten teams, give exhibitions at basketball games, and the best two or three men will be sent to the National Collegiates in Chicago.

Swimming group takes 20 pledges

Twenty-three active members of Tanksterettes pledged twenty new girls at a picnic in Antelope park Tuesday. The new pledges will wear red and white ribbons to distinguish them.

Miss Loize Montgomery is sponsor for the group. Other officers are: president, Mary Louise Morrow; vice president, Katherine Kellison; secretary, Jeanette Mickey; treasurer, Dorothy Mottley; publicity, Mary Louise Woodward.

Tanksterettes is an organization for all Nebraska women who like to swim. Its purpose is to perfect the form, to further friendships of club members and as a recreational sport. This year, in March, representatives will enter the Women's National Telegraphic Meet. Likewise in the spring the public will be invited to a water pageant. Following the pageant the pledges will be initiated. The pledges must attend all meetings and have speed, endurance and form, to be initiated.

In the infirmary

To be released from the university infirmary today are Hubert Knickrehm and Keith Howard. Other patients are Andrew Tattullo and Lorraine Wills.

As I See It

BY JUNE BIERBOWER

That touchdown Jack Dodd scored for the St. Louis Gunners Sunday was the first the Missourians had tallied in three games... and suppose everyone noticed Charley Brock set up another Green Bay touchdown by intercepting a Sammy Baugh pass and running 58 yards with it... that makes about three games in a row it's happened.

C. E. McBride, writing in the K-C Star says "The Schwartzkopf twins, Ed and Sam of Lincoln, are splendid linemen." The win part is new to us, but he's right about their playing ability.

Trustees of Portia college have changed the name to Coolidge college. There is something to be said for a Coolidge education.

Commanders win Barb League 1

Winners nip Stratford 7-0; YMCA swamps Brown Palace, 25-0

Commanders won a 7-0 victory over Stratford in Barb football last night to become champions of league 1. The Commanders beat every team in the league in their march to the championship.

The score for the champs came when Kenny Lord passed to End Bud Magnusson on the line of scrimmage; Bud lateraled back to Kenny and then knocked over the last man barring Lord from scoring. The play was good for 55 yards. Frank Protzman kicked the extra point. The Commanders started another scoring threat when Lord passed to Art Henrickson which was good for 50 yards. The only threat Stratford made came when they returned the ball for more than half the field on a punt.

Y's win

In another league game, Y. M. C. A. swamped Brown Palace 25-0. A pass by Ernie Peterson to Bill Luke accounted for the first touchdown with Campen making the conversion. The second score came when Peterson took the ball for a 60 yard punt return. Luke's passes to Hall accounted for the third and fourth scores.
