Huskers leave for Pitt tonight

Sooners play Missouri in big game

Saturday's game of games in the midwest finds Oklahoma going against Missouri as the Sooners will try to stop Pitchin' Paul Christman, who has been playing all-American ball this season. Christman completed 12 passes in 25 attempts against NYU Saturday for 146 yards, while K-State, whose passing is not exceptional, completed 5 of 12 aeriels against the Sooners for 87 yards Saturday.

K-State showed Oklahoma can be scored on as they got 10 points, and would have probably won the game with a last period touchdown but for two unfortunate fumbles.

Should Missouri win they will have only Kansas to beat for the Big Six title. If the Sooners win, the Huskers will have a chance to tie for the crown by beating Oklahoma.

Gonzaga university's athletic coaching staff is composed entirely of graduates of the school.

Jones names Seemann, Sam'l Schwartzkopf co-captains Saturday

Biff's regulars ease up as third stringers go against frosh in scrimmage; Panther stars injured

George Seemann, regular left end from Omaha, and Sam Schwartzkopf, first string right tackle from Lincoln, will lead Nebraska's Cornhuskers into the Pitt game Saturday, according to an announcement by Biff Jones yesterday.

Seemann captained the Huskers against Minnesota, while Schwartzkopf led them against Baylor as the Huskers won their two inter-sectional victories of this season.

The Huskers will take their last workout this afternoon as they en-train for Pitt tonight, after having taken it easy yesterday.

In sweat clothes.

The first two teams were in sweat clothes, and watched the third string line along with six backs go against a combination of fourth stringers and freshmen using Pitt plays in a scrimmage.

The varsity men scored on a 38 yard pass from Jack Vincent to Bob Kahler; on Kahler's 26 yard jaunt to paydirt, and as Ken Simmons went 25 yards for a tally. Dale Bradley, ex-Bethany High flash was impersonating Dick Cassiano for the opposition, while Don Rubottom who is being held out this year, was also doing a lot of offensive work.

After the scrimmage ended, Jones called all his men together and ran three teams through a short dummy pass drill. Hermie Rohrig, who is still suffering from a charleyhorse, was in there chucking passes, though. The workout was finished by 5:45, as the Huskers got off early after taking an unusually tough Monday drill.

Meanwhile word from Pitt indicates that the Panthers are looking for a kicker, as quarterback Ben Kish and fullback Ernie Bonelli are out for the season. They're the two best punters on the squad, and third string fullback Frank Goodell and sub half Bob Thurbon, who caught the game winning pass against Carnegie Tech are the punters left.

Mike Sekela will take Kish's place at quarterback, while Ted Konetsky, injured tackle, will be replaced by Jack Benz. Bowser still has a good starting lineup but is worried about his reserve strength.

Pitt's passing strength may give Nebraska trouble. They have scored 16 touchdowns, eight of them from passes. Narick, who heads the passers, has completed 21 of 39 tosses for 268 yards, while Dick Cassiano has a mark of 18 out of 40 for 243 yardage. Cassiano has accounted for 713 other yards on rushing, passes received kick returns and interceptions.

by June Bierbower.

"Pity Pitt," the Huskers' slogan the last time they went back to Pittsburgh seems to be the general tone of the news stories coming out of Panther Hollow concerning the Pitt team.

Granted that a team can't lose five regulars and still be pretty powerful, some of the moaning might be a little exaggerated. Kish and Bonelli, who are both out of the Husker game, had been doing the punting, so now there seems to be no punter in sight unless Bob Thurbon replaces Emil Narick at halfback or unless Frank Goodell comes in at full-back to replace a superior player. The Panthers, tho, will probably find someone who can kick them pretty capably—this fellow Thurbon may be the one. He caught that game-winning pass against Carnegie Tech, and they can use him very well in the backfield as Narick's replacement even tho the latter is a fine passer. Dick Cassiano and Edgar Jones can toss them from the other halfback position pretty capably, Cassiano's passing accomplishments being nearly as good as Narick's this year.

Seven men have been game captains for the Huskers this year—George Seemann, Bob Ramey, Sam Schwartzkopf, Ad Dobson, Jack Ashburn, Bill Herrmann, George Porter.

Last week if you read this column one day, you may have come to a part which concerned the Huskers' seniors, but which didn't make much sense because it was inaccurate, and also because a couple of lines had been left out.

Thing is that four of those seven started out as frosh four years ago, and that just two of them were freshmen three years ago. Seemann, Ramey, Schwartzkopf and Herrmann were the first four, while Ashburn and Porter started in together in 1936, Dobson, tho, didn't miss it by far, because he started the semester before Ashburn and Porter and got in two spring practices instead of one.

the free nitrogen in the atmosphere.

Dr. Georgi said that one of the foremost problems facing microbiologists and biochemists today is that of turning wastes and surpluses into valuable products to the people. He told of the work the government is doing in co-operation with the agricultural stations of the universities in finding new outlets for unused materials.

Roy Feber of Lincoln was presented the Phi Lambda Upsilon freshman scholarship award, given annually to the student making the highest average in first year chemistry.

Nine students, five graduates and four undergraduates were initiated into the chemistry honorary. These included: Gregory C. Myer, Homer Paxton, William Glassmire, Robert McGeachin, Carl Anderson, Theos Thompson, Charles Brockway, Charles Eberline, and Gordon Fisher.

In the Miami university chemistry laboratory there is a special shower for use when students' clothes catch fire during experiments.

Texans, Vols lead ratings

Texas A. & M. and Tennessee are the nation's grid leaders this week as the Vols still lead in the AP poll, and the Farmers are at the top of the Azzi Ratem rankings. The Aggies, in second place to Tennessee in the AP ratings, cut into the Volunteers' margin of last week.

Oklahoma is in fifth place in the AP rankings, as well as in the Azzi Ratem system. Members of the AP's first ten, after Tennessee and A. & M. are USC, Cornell, Oklahoma, Tulane, North Carolina, Ohio State, Notre Dame and Duquesne.

Mizzou twelfth. Missouri ranks twelfth, behind UCLA. Next ranking teams are Duke, Santa Clara, Iowa, Clemson SMU, Holy Cross, Oregon State, Minnesota and Dartmouth. Also-rans are Mississippi and Princeton, San Jose State and Fordham, Georgia Tech, Army and Georgetown.

Pitt is ranked 21st, Nebraska is ranked 17th on Board's Azzi Ratem list, and Missouri is 13th. Cornell U. is second after A&M.

The other teams, after the Big Red and North Carolina, Tulane, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, USC, Southern Cal, UCLA, Tennessee, Ohio State, Iowa, Duke, Missouri, Oregon State, Georgetown, Duquesne, Nebraska, Clemson, Holy Cross, Princeton, Pitt, Dartmouth, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Santa Clara, NYU, SMU, Penn, Michigan, Alabama.
