Friday, November 17, 1939

The DAILY NEBRASKAN

MUSIC

Art exhibit brings works from east

20 New Englanders

By Lee Taylor.

Striking an entirely different note from the recent Lincoln Artists Guild exhibit is the one featuring New England artists which will open Nov. 19 and run thru Dec. 5 in gallery "A" at Morrill.

There are 20 artists represented in the show with two or more paintings each so the visitor may see the difference in his subject matter, style, and technique.

Not like old school.

Another striking note is the fact that the conservative element so prominent in paintings of New England artists 15 or 20 years ago is entirely gone. The outstanding thing of the show is that the paintings do not achere to this old school and present an intangible freshness. They are alive, alert, and have plenty of zip.

Time was when artists of this region did nothing but sea pictures such as waves splashing on the rockbound coast. Altho there are some marine scenes it is a very minor group. The subject matter is more extensive some, pictures show a definite French influence.

Paul Sample, John Whorf, Molly Luce and Carl Zerby are the best known artists included in this exhibit.

Judge to talk at law forum

Carter plans legal lecture for Tuesday

Judge E. F. Carter, of the Nebraska State Supreme Court, will speak at the next meeting in the series of vocational forums Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 7 p. m. when he will tell pre-law students of the ups and downs of the legal profession, Judge Carter's topic will be "Law as a Profession."

Any student interested in law is invited to attend the meeting. Following Judge Carter's address, students will be allowed to ask questions about law as a career.

Following the forum, the students attending the meeting will discuss the feasibility of forming lean Alps, his finding a warm ma-a pre-law group similar to the terial devotion in Sister Maria,

Union picks picture-ofthe-month

BOOKS

"Peggy Bacon and Meta-December's picture-ofphysics, display paintings, show the month to hang in the Union during that month, is especially interesting for two reasons. It was painted by Alexander Brook who is this year's Carnegie International Exhibit winner for his picture "Georgia Jungle."

The painting is a portrait of his wife, Peggy Bacon holding her pet eat, Metaphysics. The interesting turn comes in here for Peggy Bacon is an illustrator whose favorite subject is cats.

The picture was bought by the Nebraska Art Association after being exhibited in their show last spring. It is now exhibited in a local department store window.

First German

film Nov. 22

'Sigende Jugend'

opens annual series

"Singende Jugend" will be presented Wednesday in the Union by the German department. The dialogue is in German with superimposed subtitles in English. This show is the first of three to be given during the year. "An Orphan Boy of Vienna," the English title of the picture, is a Viennese musical masterpiece which features the vienna choir boys and is accompanied by the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra. Finest among many The film is accredited by critics as being the finest of recent Austrian productions that have reached these shores and which deserves high rank in the European tradition of outstanding juvenile films. It is characteristically Viennese in its rollocking pace, its delightful music, and its irrepressible charm.

The story depicts the adventures of Toni, a homeless waif who is befriended by Hans Olden, a lovable and happy-go-lucky street singer. Discovering that

Toni has an exceptional voice,

Olden contrives, after several amusing adventures, to have him admitted to the world-famous

Toni's adventures with his new friends in Vienna and the Tyrolean Alps, his finding a warm ma-

Sanger-knaben choir.

New book tells . . How America can best fight the sinister Fascist march

By Margaret Ann Osborn.

In the book "The March of Fascism" the author ties up the sinister onward march of Nazism-Fascism in Europe to the situation in the United States in a manner calculated to shape even the most confirmed case of complacency on this side of the ocean. Germany, Italy and other counvanish when normality reasserts itself in the future. It is something rooted deeply in post-World for our way of life war events; moreover it is something sure to take root in the United States unless prompt and drastic countermeasures are taken, by believers in democracy, to defeat it. These are no times for lethargy. To stand still will be

Same as Italy.

Raushenbush, the author, sees this country as in much the same position as Italy before Mussolini's Black Shirts conquered her for Fascism, as Germany before Hitler's Brown Shirts imposed upon her their dictatorship. Another depression, he thinks, may bring complete Nazi-Fascist turns from inertia to militancy. Turning to the United States, Mr. Raushenbush insists that our best defense against the inroads of Fascism is attack. An attack is imperative, since Fascism finds tively and resolutely. There must be, he writes:

DRAMA * *

A rediscovery of a sense of values about life, human personality and dignity. Only a profound conviction and determination to give reality to equality and fra-ternity as well as liberty will give us immunity to the values of the totalitarian States — represented To him the rise of dictatorship in by their indifference to freedom of the, mind, the sanctity of human tries is no mere wave of terrorism life, and by the indignities they in-unrelated to the past and bound to flict upon personality. A faith and flict upon personality. A faith and confidence of our own values will enable us to recapture the world

Must give them food.

Above all, we must not stand still. We are in an era of action. Words alone have been, are and will be powerless to stem the tide of Nazi-Fascist. The nations of the lethargy. To stand still will be world, including dissatisfied ele-fatal. The enemy is on the move. ments in the United States must be given work and food and hope for, as Mr. Raushenbush significantly says, "people cannot eat freedom." The other new books are:

Poé, Man, Poet and Creative Thinker, by Sherwin Gody. Leslie Stephen and Matthew Arnold as Critics of Wordsworth, by John D. Wilson.

The College Charts its Course, by R. Freeman Butts.

Economic Development of the United States, by C. M. Thompson and F. M. Jones.

Youth in European Labor Camps, by Kenneth Holland.

Grant.

THE ARTS Players hold adjustment rehearsal

Actors, stagehands practice with actual properties last night

Members of the cast of "Fam-ily Portrait," University Players' next production, went through first dress rehearsal last their night. It was a rehearsal of adjustment-when actors got adjusted to costumes, and stage hands got accustomed to scenery and properties.

With only a 23 foot stage to work on, perfect co-operation be-tween actors and stage crew must be maintained if the production is to be smooth. Stagehands have to erect five sets during the course of the play, and during this time extra actors would be about as welcome as a stagehand with a ladder during a dramatic climax, Therefore, if things do not move along smoothly chances are that they were meant to move that way, for the rough spots are usually climinated during the first rehearsal.

P. A. Schilpp. Grand Whiggery, by Mrs. Marjarie Villiers.

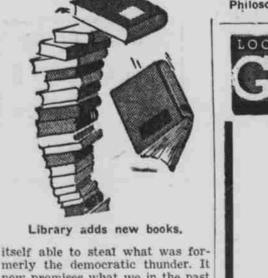

Pencil Drawing, by Ernest W. Watson.

Rise of American Naval Power, 1776-1918, by Harold and Margaret Sprout.

Montana, by Federal Writers

Story of the Political Philosoph-

Old Age Security, by Marga et project. Philosophy of John Dewey, by ers, by George E. G. Catlin.

merly the democratic thunder. It now promises what we in the past not only promised but to a large extent fulfilled: a gradually rising standard of living for all. Now that we have stopped fulfilling that promise Fascism endeavors to usurp it. People have discovered that the democratic state will not raise it. They prefer the hope which goes with action to the helplessness of inaction. What to do?

pre-med society. If enough interest and his exoneration from a susis shown in the project, plans for pected theft in which he had accithe formation of such a society dentally been implicated, all prowill be made Tuesday night, vide an unflagging humorous and Original request for such a club dramatic foundation for the superb came earlier this semester from a music and photography which emgroup of pre-law students.

bellish the film.

What can we do? Act, answers the author-act quickly and effec-

Regler's files show campus cop leads exciting career

Duties (and trials) in the life cop was called. The sergeant and prowler's gun, and searching the their own good. stadium for a fugitive skunk. These are some of the tasks that keep Sergeant Regier from becoming mored with his job.

Into his files since 1927, when Regler was appointed head of the campus police, has gone a record of all university police activities, Students themselves have caused a very minimum of the violations. From his files, we give a few of the interesting cases.

Woman!-Pitchfork!

gas into her house to subdue her, gypsy concert in the Temple. she leaped from a window and ran.

dents that they have lost or have tioned students were detected by had stolen. There really was frightened under the stadium by a aiding the march of science. grounds keeper. So, the campus An annual problem of Sergeant on university problems.

of a campus cop-disarming a his men, altho they may be good woman carrying a pitchfork and manhunters, could not capture the revolver, ducking bullets from a animal-it probably ended for Almost no Regler here.

Patrolling the campus one night, Regler happened upon a prowler, whom he ordered to halt. The man ran and Regler gave chase, Regler was not allowed to carry a gun at this time and so barely escaped with his life when the man turned Horner, Marian Percy, Malcolm and opened fire with his revolver.

Not all of the work of a campus officer lacks humor. Last year an Regler is the policing of the staalarm was sent to the city police saying that a band of gypsies was year he is assigned a large group A woman with a pitchfork and on the campus, Regler wishing to of men whose responsibility it is revolver for protection, throwing apprehend them waited for the to keep everyone in the stadium bricks and bottles at houses police car because he feared if he orderly and sober. caused a police alarm in Lincoln approached them they would leave one day. Regler, among other of- their car. Well, anyway, it turned cohol during games have been ficers, answered the call. While out that the "gypsies" were only thwarted by the stadium police. ficers, answered the call. While out that the "gypsies" were only the officers prepared to shoot tear club women participating in a

The sergeant has even aided in Regler jerked the loaded gun from administering psychology tests. her grasp just as she was to use When the instructors decided to it on the officers who caught her. give the test they had Regler ques-For the 13 years the sergeant tion a number of students regardhas been here, his main task has ing an alleged theft. These stubeen to see that drivers respect dents then returned to their class the 18 mile speed limit, stop signs, room in a highly nervous state. and parking laws. He also recov- The whole class then took an exam, ers a great many articles for stu- the result being that the ques-

One afternoon a skunk was no theft, however; Regler was just

Music students in weekly recital

The weekly recital for students enrolled in the school of music was presented Wednesday at 4 p. m. by the Temple high school students studying with faculty members of the school of music. Those taking part in the recital were: vocalists, Vera Salzman, Dorothy Huffman, Lucille Beck, Ruth Ferguson, Marian Hunt, Elaine Lebsock, Bob Smith; violinists; Johnson Beam, Betty Jean Vaughn; pianist; Margaret Rosborough. Accompanists were Edna Sutorious, Betty Jean Hayes, Cecil Richman.

dium during football games, Each

Many methods of drinking al-A trick, unique at first but more or less common now, is the syphoning of alcohol out of a bottle in the pocket with rubber tubing. Some hide bottles in boxes of popcorn, One man, caught drinking from a bottle once, was drinking milk, not alcohol. He was doing so under a doctor's orders. Liquor violations, however, seem to be growing less. Students are almost never seen drinking at a game.

During the last few summers the university, state sheriffs and the federal bureau of investigation have conducted a police institute