

SOCIETY ...

Marriages, engagements make news

The love bird was a busy bird over vacation from all reports. Weddings, rings and pins fill the news. Ginny Shuler, Tri Delt, and John Goetze, Phi Delt; Helen McPherson, KKG, and Ned Steenburg, ATO, are now pinned, and Betty Dolphin, Pi Phi, and George Graham also join the ranks of those pinned. Eleanor Betty Isaacson, Tri Delt, is wearing a diamond, the gift of Herb Hillman, Phi Gam. Marion Kidd, Theta, is wearing a big new diamond—Merry Christmas from John Smith, ATO.

MARRIED

over the Christmas season were Betty Christenson and Elmer Dohrmann, Theta Chi alumnus. Surprising their friends with announcement of their marriage are Margaret Blaufuss, KKG alum, and Bob Hillyer, ATO alum. They were married at her home last April. On Dec. 27th Harriet Cummer, also KKG alum, and Bill Christenson, Phi Psi alum, were married in Omaha. Peggy Pascoe, Chi Omega alum, and H. W. 'Dutch' Castle, and Dorthea Fulton, KKG alum, and Gene Frantz, also Phi Psi alum, joined the married ranks. Dec. 30 Bob Fuchs, former Phi Psi, was married to Wylene Hall at the Dundee Presbyterian church.

NEXT

is the Delt formal, which is to be held on Friday night. Fifteen Deltas are entertaining at a 'dog dinner' beforehand.

ENTERTAINING

on Friday night are the Phi Psi's who will have as their guest Brother Buddy Rogers.

PATRONS

at the Kappa Delta house for the new semester will be Professor and Mrs. Lane W. Lancaster; Professor and Mrs. George M. Darlington and Professor and Mrs. W. E. Walton. These patrons will sponsor the sorority in various social events.

Weaver takes editorial position on publication

Prof. J. E. Weaver of the botany department was elected to the editorial board of Ecological Monographs during the meeting of the American Society for the Advancement of Science held at Columbus, O., during the Christmas holidays. Ecological Monographs is the official publication of the Ecological Society of America.

Interprofessional group elects Dr. Pool president

Dr. Raymond J. Pool, department of botany chairman, was named president of the Interprofessional Institute at the annual meeting of the group at the Lincoln hotel during Christmas vacation.

The speaker at the meeting was Dr. A. A. Reed who discussed progress of the university extension service during the past 25 years.

Capers--

"...they (the travelers) are assured that they will be dined and feted in style wherever they go."

Trouble

is not confined to one campus as a front page editorial, entitled "Politics in the Raw!" and published by The Daily Illini, shows. To be explicit, the editor gripes about the Illinois Junior prom of Dec. 8 and recommends (1) a complete investigation of the election of the prom queen and prom finances and (2) measures to prevent fraudulent election of future party queens. Charges of fraud are backed by claims of multiple voting and ballot box stuffing.

Says The Illini, "...the queen ... was 'named' by a caucus of junior politicians at the time the prom committee was selected—for work of the party." Call out the morals squad! American colleges are sinking into the depths of vice and depravity!

The Hendrix college news bureau last year sent out 850 stories about the school's activities and personalities.

Look out for the praetorian guard—or maybe Greeks

Some sort of strange ancient influence seems to be slowly settling upon our campus. Just why or what it is all about we don't know, but we'll tell you what we've seen.

One of the most recent and strangest implements of the ancients that we have seen is a large moveable tower in the stadium, of the type that once was used to scale the walls of unfriendly cities.

Just why such a thing should be on this peaceful campus is a matter for conjecture. (Some say it is used by workmen for painting and repairing the stadium, but this explanation ruins the story.)

The tower and the appearance of Greek columns that sprang up at the end of 12th street last year arouses suspicions of some deep, dark plot.

An armor-plated Roman soldier was seen in the Temple several weeks ago and has caused no end of apprehension. (Some people say that it was only an actor in a play.) Great, also, is the number of Greek organizations and societies on the campus.

Perhaps there is no cause for worry—it may only be some leftover ancient propaganda. However, if any chariot races occur on the campus in the very near future, we'll either call the campus cop or go on the water wagon.

Pool writes new text for botany courses

Prof. R. J. Pool, chairman of the botany department, has just completed reading proof for a new textbook, "Basic Course in Botany," which will be published this spring by Ginn and Co., Boston.
