Women students . . .

Register vocational choices: Miss Weesner to speak

Every woman student in the university is being given an opportunity to register or indicate her choice of vocational field in which she would prefer to have a speaker appear on the vocational guidance series being sponsored by the office of the dean of women and the AWS board. From this registry of preferences, summaries are being made and at the present time the greatest number of requests is for information regarding the field of personnel.

Due to this, the sponsors of the series announce that Miss Marie Weesner, personnel and employment director of Miller and Paine department store will speak on "Personnel in Business" Thursday in Ellen Smith at 4:00.

Well-acquainted with work.

Miss Weesner is well-acquainted with personnel problems as she has more than 500 employees under her direction and is also the director of the women's division of the School of Commerce, director of the Lincoln Ad club and a member of the Lincoln Community Chest board.

An alumna of the university, she has assisted many Nebraska students in preparing for this field and giving them the necessary background to enable their entrance into personnel work.

Individual conferences.

Miss Weesner will hold individual conferences in the office of the dean of women between 3 and 4 and students are urged to sign up immediately.

Other high rating choices will be met by the securing of speakers later in the series. For those with only a few choices, private conferences will be arranged to accommodate.

Everyone interested in vocational guidance is welcome to attend the talks and hold individual conferences with the speakers.

Counselors aid etiquette

Coeds to publish hints on campus manners

Campus manners will be covered in a book of etiquette now being worked on by the Coed Counselors organization heads which will be published next year. It was written by Agnes Wanek and Ruth Clark, co-directors of the Charm School.

The etiquette book will be in the form of a small illustrated book-

RISE STEVENS
from the Metropolitan

Rise Stevens, gifted young mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan opera, will appear as soloist with the Lincoln Symphony orchestra Wednesday night at St. Paul church.

Miss Stevens has sung with the Vienna State opera, the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires, and with the Prague opera. Following these engagements, she received a New York Metropolitan contract. Since her first appearance with the Metropolitan, she has been acclaimed by critics as one of the most promising of the company's younger singers.

The date of the final concert of the season has been changed from March 25 to April 1.

Clothes specialist gives ideas on spring fashions

Here's an item of interest only to the ladies—Miss Helen Roocke, clothing specialist at the college of agriculture, offers a few comments today on spring fashions.

She reports that prints which are being shown to wear under winter coats are bright and gay. Designs are medium in size and many crosswise patterns are shown. Black and navy accented with white and sometimes a third color will be used to make up many costumes.

Coat fabrics are lighter in weight than in past seasons because there are many dress-like details on the spring coats. Twills are important and ribs and striped effects of all types, such as diagonals, chalk stripes, hairline stripes and wide ribbon effects are shown. And remember, Easter comes very early this year—March 24, to be exact.

Dr. Van Wagenen visits local teachers honorary

Dr. Beulah Clark Van Wagenen, national president of Pi Lambda Theta, teachers college honorary for women, will visit the local chapter Wednesday and Thursday. Dr. Van Wagenen is Dean of Women at Hampton Institute. A luncheon will be given in her honor Thursday and she will speak at a meeting of the active chapter Thursday evening.

Society . . .

We mustn't say it, of course but we still hope it's here

By Mary Jean McCarthy.

What is the most common word used this season? What is on everyone's mind? What has everyone been looking forward to? What kind of clothes are the kiddos looking for? What season comes before summer? What makes you not want to study? I know you have heard the word too often perhaps, so I am making a solemn promise to merely inform you as to what this outstanding, well known, talked-about word is, and then not mention it once more until tomorrow. That's right, that let, which will be sold for the sum of 10 cents. It will contain such sections as dating, how to go to and act at a reception, and appropriate clothes to wear in the classroom, at university functions, on dates.

Confused freshmen.

The publication will be for all university women, but particularly for incoming freshman who are often confused on what proper etiquette on the campus should be.

This project is one of the many which the Coed Counselors have been working on this year. Their work is helping unaffiliated new students orientate themselves to their university surroundings by use of the Big Sister system.

Charm School.

Charm School is another one of the organization's activities. It meets every other Tuesday evening in Ellen Smith hall, and offers speakers in a variety of fields, cultural and personal. Miss Elsie Ford Piper has charge as adviser, and there are two student directors, this year Agnes Wanek and Ruth Clark, who arrange the programs.

Besides these activities, the Coed Counselors sponsor three hobby groups. Tap dancing is supervised by Mary Bullock and Pat Herminghaus. Jane DeLatour and Lucille Marker have charge of the Book Review group, and Mary Sherburne and Mary Maxine Haney the Scrap Book group.

new, delicious, strengthening word is SPRING.

AND THE RAINS

CAME and Phi Delt Jack Lee got a wee bit involved. It all happened when he decided to go for a ride and instead of always going right he went left and as the familiar old story goes, "got stuck," in the mud, of course.

INSTALLATIONS OF

officers took place at the Kappa house Monday night and the new president is Mary Louise Morrow; pledge captain, Eleanor Lutz; treasurer, Virginia Stuhlt; and corresponding secretary, Marion Stenton.

HEAR YE—HEAR YE

and Mother Goose—beware. Many little hearts went pitter pat the other night when the ATO boys entered in their fairy tale garbs and read off the names of the lucky ones invited to their Story Book ball. So if anyone sees anything too, too queer Saturday night, it is just those silly kids—en masque.

THE SPONSORS

Club have issued invitations to their annual tea dance which will be held in the Cornhusker Ballroom Saturday afternoon. Honorary Colonel Elizabeth Waugh is in charge of arrangements.

THE BETAS

Want to know just exactly what the deal is between or among Pi Phi Shirley Scott, a Sigma Nu and four of their little brothers. So won't someone please turn on the light?

CONVERTIBLES,

porch furniture—everyone holding hands, green grass, chirping birds, are all signs of continued good weather. If we all hope hard enough IT may stay, just until summer comes, of course. I hope "y'all" noticed I didn't mention the word spring once—did I?

Girls! Here is your chance to grab an eligible bachelor

By Elizabeth Clark.

Come spring—come love—come picnics. And so as the winter hunting season closes, and score of the catch is taken, it turns out that all the base game was not bagged, and there are still some good fish in the sea. For the edification of girls starting out on the new season with new clothes, and possibly a new line, nothing could be more useful than a list of the best game to be caught and where to find it.

And the DAILY, always alert to campus trends and demands, decided to publish its own little Burke's Peerage of the most eligible bachelors on the campus.

Telephone Rings.

From the ATO house comes the insistent ringing of a telephone, and guess who for. The brothers all answer with a single shout, "JOHNNY MASON."

We don't know whether or not clothes make the man, but the Sammies nominate that man with "the rows and rows of tweed suits hanging in his closet, "NORMAN BORDY." And the Acacias join in the general spirit with their carefree, "Gnat in the eye of the administration" HAROLD NIE-MANN.

Journalist from ag is LEO COOKSLEY, AGR, whom the brothers think should make good hunting for any girl, if she's good-looking, has good personality, and money.

'Killer-diller.'

"Killer-diller" JERRY SPAHN, is appointed Adnois by acclamation. This member of the species Phi Gam may be found in its usual haunt and habitat, the den of iniquity, the Awgwan office.

Another haunter of Union holes, and pastmaster of that line known as the comeback is Cornhusker business manager IRV SHERMAN ZBT.

As a result of a fight between DU's RALPH REED and Clyde Martz, Reed, the man with That car and That smile, is chosen as most eligible. (Ed. note: Reed won the fight.)

And that super politician from the house where politicians abide is glamour boy BOB FLORY, Kappa Sig. And Phi Delta Theta, of the house of "Capital City" fame, nominates the former pride of every sorority on the campus, CLIFF MEIER.

Love veteran.

BUD RHODE, of the Deltas, that veteran of many love affairs, is footloose and fancy free once more, the brothers say, and among the best of the catches, the brothers say.

And even without the fame gathered by the co-chairman of the ill-fated Prom Committee, the Pi KA's say they would still have nominated DWIGHT BURNEY.

Chief carrier-on of the torch of the herald-of-spring boys who fly kites and sit on the steps and whistle is JACK MEYER of the Phi Psi's.

Self-nominated for absolutely the most eligible bachelor from his house or on the campus is LOWELL MICHAEL, Theta Xi.

And now that basketball is over, there are no training rules to hamper that tall, handsome, athletic man from the Farmhouse, DON FITZ.

From the great big dog house comes JACK STEWART. The Beta's say, that like the rest of them, he is definitely the nice boy type, and he was a simply wonderful Boy Scout as a child.

A 'good guy.'

And the Sigma Nu's turn out en masse to say "JOHN SPENCE is a good guy," but a skeptic adds, "He has a line you can cut with a knife." Oh, well, at least he has the first requisite for every bachelor.

And the Sig Alph brothers keep close track of their glamor boy ALEX MILLS dates, and add that he's very eligible, since he's had only eight dates since last May.

ACE RAWALIT, another campus politician (well, he's on the Student Council) gets the call from the Sig Ep house.

Moonlight serenade.

Perfect for the moonlight serenade (if he's at least a block off when he's singing), is the Alpha Sig president WALTER CROWPER, who gets the nod from the boys out on South Seventeenth.

And the only pledge of the lot, who will evidently be the man the girls of 1942 sigh over is BOB M'NUTT of the Sigma Chi house. An eye on the future is what the Sigma Chi's have.

Coming business executive and senior too is the Beta Sigma Psi's BOB SEIDELL. And the girls who sigh for muscles and a he-man should go into ecstasies over MILT KUSKA, wrestler from the capitol-view Phi Sigma Kappas.

'Divine' pipes.

People who think that pipes smell "simply divine" in the great outdoors should line up for CECIL HALLOWELL, Chi Phi.

Last but not least, on the list of men who can dial a number and start a riot is Delta Sigma Phi's BILL ALBRECHT.
