Music groups to make tour

Orchestra, men's glee leave spring vacation

The University Symphony orchestra and the Men's Glee club will tour Nebraska communities in their annual spring trip March 26 and 27. Forty-two members of the musical organizations will make the trip.

William G. Tempel will take the glee club and male ensemble to Columbus and David City March 26, and to Osceola, Stromsburg and York March 27. Lynn Myers of Lincoln, baritone; Cleve Genzlinger, Burr, baritone; and Nate Holman of Lincoln, tenor, will be the soloists.

In Nebraska City and Pawnee City March 26, Don Lentz will conduct the orchestra in public concerts. Don Hartman, Vermillion, S. D., flutist, and Henry Brankins, Kansas City, Mo., violinist, will be soloists with the string ensemble. Tchaikowsky's Symphony in E Minor will be the longest selection on the program.

Nebraska bar topic of address by court clerk

"Nebraska's Integrated Bar" will be the topic of a talk by George Turner, clerk of the Nebraska Integrated Bar and of the supreme court, to be addressed to the Young Advocates, pre-law organization, this evening at 7 p. m. in 201 Social Science building. Mr. Turner is also clerk of the state law library.

He will tell the pre-laws about the work of the integrated bar, which under the supreme court regulates the practice of law in Nebraska, and will also explain the use of the law library in the capitol.

Popenoe advises students on love, marriage problems

Technically, love means nothing

... to science

DR. PAUL POPENOE.

By Marjorie Bruning.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles and expert on life problems, addressed a Union audience Sunday afternoon on the subject, "How Do You Know It's Love?"

"Love," said Dr. Popenoe, "means nothing from a scientific point of view. It means something different to different people and ages." The five periods in people's lives which he listed as times when love means various things are, infancy, childhood, age of socialization, adolescence, and maturity.

It comes from movies.

According to Popenoe, the general concepts of love today are derived from the movies, radio, and magazines. College graduates, he said, are usually most concerned with falling in love, as the average age for marriage is 22 for women

Don't marry until after graduation

... he warns

By Wally Provost.

Altho the investigations of his institute showed that 70 percent of all college marriages were found to be happy ones, Dr. Paul Popenoe, family relations counselor, in a special interview with the DAILY said, "I would not urge college couples to marry while yet in school, because after graduation circumstances would undoubtedly be better for this im-

Eberly talks at 'Y' meeting

Boy's work secretary gives leadership advice

Mr. Alden Eberly, boys' work secretary of the YMCA, will speak at a meeting of teachers college students today at 3:30 p. m. in Ellen Smith hall. This is the second of six meetings which will be held giving training to prospective teachers in how to lead a girl reserves group. Those who attend the meetings will receive a certificate stating that they are able to lead such a group, which should be a definite aid in helping them to obtain a teaching position. The program is being sponsored by the university YWCA and teachers college.

On 11 other campuses.

This plan is being carried out on 11 other campuses in this region, and was begun here under the supervision of Pris Wicks, retiring president of the YWCA. Jean Simmons, vice-president of the YW, heads the committee.

Eberly will speak on the advantages of working with groups, the characteristics of high school groups and will enumerate the qualities of a group leader.

'Government agencies are here to stay'

Law professor concludes faculty scholarship lecture program

Administrative agencies of the federal government are here to stay, hence it is imperative that their decisions be made in terms of social and economic policy, declared Prof. James A. Doyle of the law college in the concluding faculty scholarship lecture program last night in the Union.

"Collective needs are inextric—" (See DOYLE on page 4.)

The hopes of six university coeds will be decided today as junior and senior women vote for May Queen. The candidate receiving the most votes will be presented at the annual Ivy Day ceremonies, May 7. Second highest will be the maid of honor.

Candidates trying for the throne are June Bierbower, unaffiliated; Virginia Clemens, Pi Beta Phi; Faith Medlar, unaffiliated; Selma Hill, Sigma Delta Tau; Maxine Lake, unaffiliated; and Priscilla Wicks, Delta Delta Delta.

Voters will also indicate from five to twenty choices for Mortar Board, the 30 receiving the greatest number of votes being considered by this year's Mortar Boards in the selection of the thirteen for next year.

Eligibility rules.

Candidates for May Queen must have an average of 80 or above, must have attended school at Nebraska four years, and have one B activity. It is necessary that candidates be carrying 12 hours this semester and that they made 27 hours in their junior year.

Voting will be from 9 to 5 in Ellen Smith on the city campus and in Home Ec hall on the Ag campus.

Candidates activities.

June Bierbower is sports editor of THE DAILY NEBRASKAN and last year served as a member. (See QUEEN on page 4.)

Mattern says painters rare

Kansas U artist speaks at association meeting

"Good painter are as rare as good beef stews," said Karl Mattern, well known midwestern artist and member of the faculty at the University of Kansas, in his address to the Nebraska Art association Sunday afternoon. Mattern stressed the idea that all people cannot like the same type of painting and carried his simile farther by saying that the same stew doesn't please everyone. A person should not feel inferior if he does not appreciate all first rate pictures.

Individual style.

Speaking of the artist, Mattern said, "don't expect a mild and meek individual to paint pictures to score people or vice-versa." Each artist has an individual style which he should develop. A man who paints still life is quite different from one who paints action portraits and landscapes. Mattern's particular aversion is the critic who sees things in pictures which the artist has not put there.

German born, Mattern came to this country at the age of 14 and a few years later studied at the Chicago Art institute under George Bellows. "Hot Spot," one of Mattern's paintings which is on display at the exhibit, is a composite of all the places which he has seen along the road thruout the United States.
